Carter vs. The Monster

President Carter has been in office for eight months. He is quickly finding out, like most of his predecessors, that fulfillment of campaign promises is much easier said than done. Nearly every time he attempts to tackle a campaign promise, he is stopped dead in his tracks either by the remainder of the government machine or by the power of unions and big business.

Inflation continues to rise as does unemployment. Taxes are certainly not on the decrease. The President's welfare plan is being ripped apart by criticism. The nation's economic indicators have shown decline for three consecutive months. There was no tax rebate. Energy problems are mounting. Day to day life goes on with little change for the better, regardless of who is in the White House.

Of course, eight months is not nearly enough time in which to solve these mammoth problems. It's doubtful that four years is enough time either. Time is not the principal factor, however.

The point of this writing is not to slam President Carter's administration. Nor is it meant to be a doomsday message.

The question at hand is, has the office of the Presidency lost its effectiveness? It appears that the power of the President has dwindled more and more every decade. The government has become so complex and so bogged down with checks and balances, that the force of the President is fading.

It is possible that over the past 200 years we have slowly created a government "monster." Though it is still made up of people, the control of it seems to be out of the hands of these same people. It is as if there is an underlying force that has become invulnerable to everyone and everything. The idea that it makes no difference who is elected President, unfortunately, may be true.

On the other hand perhaps editors down through the ages of our young country have written similar words and reached similar conclusions. Hopefully history will show that, like so many other things, this problem has existed all along and that Presidents still do have a say.

Man Arrested For Rape And Battery

A 24-year-old man who recently moved to the Underwood area has been lodged in the county jail in lieu of $15,000 cash bond after he was charged with rape and battery in an incident Saturday night.

Arrested by the Garrett County sheriff's department was Larry Allen Lipscomb, previously from Terra Alta, W. Va.

Lipscomb was arrested about 9:30 p.m. approximately a quarter mile from where the alleged rape occurred. The victim, a 26-year-old woman, was taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and later taken to a Cumberland Hospital for additional tests.

The incident took place in a residence along Underwood Road, according to the police.

After receiving the complaint, deputies responded and located a car matching the description of the assailant's vehicle. Lipscomb was then arrested and held in jail until the bond hearing Monday morning.

A pistol used during the incident was later discovered to be a pellet gun by the investigating officers.

Mr. Lipscomb was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital Tuesday evening following an apparent attempt to slit his wrists. His right wrist required stitches, and he was then returned to the county jail to await trial. He is thought to have kept a razor blade supplied by the jail for shaving in the suicide attempt.

An Aurora man was arrested following the theft of a speaker from the 219 Drive-In Theatre August 28. Value of the stolen speaker was set at $10.

Arrested was David Rumer, 20, who was released on his own recognizance pending a trial.

Acting Governor Lee, Other Officials Tour Deep Creek Lake, Mine Sites

The State Board of Public Works, headed by Acting Governor Blair Lee III, spent Tuesday in Garrett County, and county commissioner Don S. Bender reported that the group was very pleased with the trip. Mr. Bender added that the visit was better than 1,000 letters, to describe the county and the changes which have been proposed and which are taking place.

Acting Gov. Lee, State Treasurer William S. James and State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein started their day at 7:30 a.m. with a breakfast meeting at the Wisp with local officials.

The group then went to Deep Creek Lake, to visit the two major sites where the Department of Natural Resources expects to manage a recreation area.

The recreation area represents the culmination of seven years of effort by the Department of Natural Resources, the Pennsylvania Electric Company, the county commissioners, Garrett County Planning Commission, Deep Creek Lake Business Association, the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association and other civic groups and individuals to seek a solution to a Federal Power Commission mandate for a public recreation plan for the lake.

The state officials visited one of the sites Tuesday, at the breast of the dam, where a beach area, picnic facilities and boat launch are planned. Also proposed is a boat launching facility at Green Glade Cove.

Penleece owns a strip around the lake which averages 50 feet in width. The company originally put access points into the area in direct conflict with existing use, such as a proposed launching site 50 feet away from a marina or picnic sites at residential areas.

County Commissioner Wayne B. Hamilton had appeared before the Board of Public Works earlier this month to discuss the recreation area. At the suggestion of Mr. Goldstein, the board decided to visit Garrett to have a first-hand look.

Mr. Hamilton had asked the state board to approve the drafted management plan, which he said was developed to avoid government competition with private properties and businesses along the lake.

All parties now apparently feel difficulties have been worked out and feel the plan will be acceptable to the governmental agencies as well as the lake property and business owners. The Board of Public Works must make final approval.

The lake tour was made on a pontoon boat owned by Wendell Beitzel, who acted as guide for the tour. Lunch was served at Will of the Wisp.

Next, the group visited a working Delta Mining Company coal stripping site in the Bittinger area, and also saw land reclamation results.

Later in the day, the party went to the Mettiki deep mine site on Backbone Mountain south of U. S. Route 50. There, the group was shown an 11-story high coal cleaning plant which is now 50 percent complete. They also viewed preparations for installing mine headings for the Mettiki operation.

County officials discussed the coal severance surcharge with the state board, noting that the present tax calls for both Allegany and Garrett Counties to receive 7 1/2 cents of the 15-cent tax on each ton of coal mined in their counties. Mr. Hamilton said despite this, the counties have yet to receive any of the tax revenue.

The two counties are now proposing that each receive 10 cents of every 15 cents per ton collected and that the mine operators pay the tax directly to the counties rather than through state channels.

Mr. Hamilton told the board that with the coal mining boom about to blossom in Garrett, the county needs the surtax revenue. The increased coal mining and employment will put a heavier burden on services such as schools, water and sewer, housing, and highways, and without the surtax the county would be hard put to finance improved services.

The county also asked the board to support efforts the county has been making to have sanitary facilities installed in a rest area just east of Friendsville on the National Freeway.

Included in the party Tuesday were Commissioner Don S. Bender, State Treasurer William S. James, and State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

Trail Ride Against Cancer Being Planned

The first Trail Ride Against Cancer for the benefit of the Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society is now being planned.

All interested persons throughout the tri-state area are encouraged to participate. The ride is to help in the support of cancer control programs of research, education, and patient services.

The event will be held at Western Trails, Deep Creek Lake, on Sunday, September 11. Registration will be from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. and the ride will be from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The trail will be approximately ten miles long and the object is to solicit as many sponsors as possible to benefit the American Cancer Society.

Trophies will be awarded to the rider turning in the most money and to the rider soliciting the most pledges.

Sponsor sheets can be obtained from many area businesses. For further information persons should call Mrs. Cliff H. McCormick between 7:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m.

A CHECK PRESENTATION was made this week to the Garrett County Cancer Society treasurer, Earl Clark, center, who is flanked by Jack Jones, left, and Ray Beard, coordinators for the Mt. Lake Park Tennis Cancer Tournament held last weekend at the clay courts. The event netted $248 for the Cancer Society and, according to the coordinators, next year's event will be even bigger and better.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I arrived in Oakland this past Sunday evening about 11:15, just in time to hear the following sound of the fire alarm. Somewhat surprised and just a bit curious as to what happens next, I pulled my car over to the side of the road and glanced down at my watch.

What was about to happen occurred within a time frame inadequate to cook a three minute egg. In slightly more than one minute (60 seconds), ten men, racing from all directions had arrived at the fire station, stepped their cars (although some were still jockeying back and forth), grabbed their gear and sprinted into the fire hall.

Fifty-eight seconds later (2 minutes, 3 seconds from the initial sounding of the alarm) the first fire truck was going up Route 219. Shortly thereafter a second truck followed.

It is very comforting to witness such a well organized, dedicated fire fighting force change valuable minutes into seconds. It's hard to imagine a quicker or more alert response than displayed by Oakland's finest.

It is a relief to know you're in good lands. I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Kenneth A. Richmond

Dear Mr. Richmond,

Believe it or not, that was one of Oakland's slower response times.

Editor

Dear Sir:

The Health Department is on the move!

We feel the taxpayers of Garrett County should be aware of where their tax dollars are going. It was recently announced that several sections of the Health Department will be exchanging quarters in the near future. This move will undoubtedly result in lost personnel time and efficiency, not to mention the unnecessary cost involved to move such a volume of equipment and furniture. The cost is accelerated due to the fact that the higher paid employees are expected to assume the task of moving, even though they were not given any justification or an opinion opportunity.

Sections of the Health Department moved from the hospital to the Garrett Co. Medical Center two years ago. We feel the public is just now becoming aware of where their public services are being offered. What is the meaning of yet another move? Perhaps the Health Department's public services should be entitled "Scattered Services" directed by "Find Us If You Can."

Fire Protection

National Fire Protection Association
Fire outdoors can be dangerous. Barbecuing, camping, and boating trigger thoughts of recreational fun that good weather and leisure time bring. But any one of these good times can become a fiery catastrophe. Take outdoor cooking. Flammable liquids (the use of which happens to be forbidden to the Boy Scouts) can be used safely as long as you remember that they can cause explosions, serious burns and even death because the vapors explode near heat or flame.

For outdoor safety, flammable liquids rank well behind other charcoal starters. Safest of all are chemicals in cake form or a charcoal igniter which is labeled by a nationally-recognized testing laboratory such as Underwriters' Laboratories.

Using gasoline to start a fire is asking for explosive trouble. Trying to get more pep into a charcoal fire by dumping any flammable liquid onto hot coals is asking the fire to reach right out and burn you. If a slow fire needs help, tuck dry kindling underneath it.

Camping in the backyard has always been great fun for

How to fix up a fixed income.

Just buy United States Series H Bonds. They pay interest every six months.

So if you buy an H Bond a month for six straight months, you'll get an interest check every month for the next ten years.

And that's guaranteed.

You can buy H Bonds in denominations starting at $500. Or you can convert your E Bonds and enjoy a tax break on the interest.

Either way, H Bonds can help keep a fixed income running smooth.

Now, the H Bonds are even easier to buy than ever before. Just call 1-800-451-1234, toll-free, and you'll be on your way to a fixed income. H Bonds are guaranteed by the U.S. Treasury. In application through your bank.

youngsters. Make sure the tent is flame-retardant. Paraffin-coated tents are great for keeping rain out — but they can burn up in minutes with a child trapped inside.

Under no circumstances should any flame be used inside a tent. Flashlights are the answer. Supervision of backyard camping is a must for parents. Too many children have been seriously burned experimenting with campfires, candles and flammable liquids.

Boating demands fire safe activities, too, and they are simple. When fueling, don't smoke and don't fill up if the motor is hot. Leave a touch of room in the tank for fuel expansion and wipe up all fuel spills.

The same goes for fueling power mowers and saws. After you fuel, move the mower or saw away from the fueling spot before you start the motor.

You will enjoy good boating, camping, cooking and living in the outdoors if you just "Learn Not To Burn."

The wheelbarrow race provided excitement during the United Saddle Club show Sunday at Potomac Park near Bayard, W. Va. Riders were to gallop up to a wheelbarrow loaded with a human passenger, dismount, roll the wheelbarrow load to the far end of the ring as fast as possible, and stop at the finish line. However...

sometimes the wheelbarrow ride had an unexpected ending for the passenger, as in this instance when the overzealous competitor overturned his load. Approximately 40 competitors were in the show which began at 11 a.m., and continued throughout the day despite a light rain shower in the mid-afternoon. Use of the park was provided by Island Creek Coal Company.

Dilly Beef

Cool refreshing sandwiches make light of summer meals—no matter what the weather. So, relax and enjoy. No wonder August is sandwich month! What better time to savor the dazzling sensation that captured top honors in 1977's National Sandwich Contest, Dilly Beef?

This, a crunchy sandwich, makes a breeze of hot summer days. But be sure you use enriched breads for all your sandwiches. Then you get the essential B-vitamins—niacin, thiamin and riboflavin—plus the mineral, iron, a nutritional bonus when you're trying to beat the heat with simple meals.

6 sandwiches

3/4 cup dairy sour cream	12 slices enriched rye bread
1 teaspoon prepared mustard	1/2 cup fresh bean sprouts, washed and drained
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish	12 slices tomato, cut 1/4-inch thick
2 tablespoons dry onion soup mix*	6 slices dill pickle, cut lengthwise 1/4-inch thick
18 ounces thinly sliced roast beef

Combine sour cream, mustard, horseradish and onion soup mix; mix well and let stand 30 minutes or more. Place 3 ounces of sliced roast beef on each of 6 slices of bread. Season lightly with salt. If desired, spread 1 1/2 tablespoons of sour cream mixture on top of roast beef. Divide bean sprouts into 6 parts and place on beef. Add 2 slices tomato to each sandwich and a slice of dill pickle. Close sandwiches with remaining bread slices. Cut diagonally in half. Sandwich can be plated or wrapped in clear film for carry out service.

*May substitute 2 (1/4 oz.) packages instant onion soup mix.

Stuffed Tomatoes

Good Summer Fare

Great in Salads, soups and stews, tomatoes serve well as edible containers for pasta dishes. Just scoop out the center and combine them with a convenient canned macaroni with beef in tomato sauce. Stuff the scooped-out tomatoes with this macaroni mixture; sprinkle on some grated cheese and corn chips; then bake. What a jiffy summer treat! Hot and tasty, it will lure everyone for lunch on those lazy, hot days.

TOMATOES-ROTI

6 large, firm tomatoes	1 can (15 oz.) Beefaroni® (macaroni with beef in tomato sauce)
1/4 cup chopped onions	1 cup crushed corn chips
1/4 cup chopped green pepper	1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 packet G. Washington's® Golden Seasoning and Broth

Scoop out tomatoes. Save pulp. Sauté onions, green pepper and celery in butter. Add tomato pulp to sautéed vegetables. Drain off excess liquid. Add G. Washington's, Beefaroni and corn chips. Stuff tomatoes with Beefaroni mixture. Top with cheese. Bake in 375° F oven for 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

If green peppers are in season, why not stuff these with Beefaroni mixture. Cut tops from peppers; remove seeds. Blanch peppers in boiling water for 10 minutes. Stuff blanched peppers with Beefaroni mixture; top with cheese, cover with aluminum foil. Bake in 375° F oven for 25 minutes. Serves 4.

Baked To Pear-Fection

Take it easy this summer with a refreshingly light main course that features the delectable partnership of poultry and fruit. "Chicken Bartlett Bake" combines chicken and fresh California Bartlett pears, both baked to crusty perfection with wine and a buttery Parmesan coating. The flavor and texture contrasts between the pear, chicken and cheese are superb, especially when served with a tossed green salad and a cooling summer beverage to complete the evening meal.

Chicken Bartlett Bake

1/4 cup butter or margarine	2 or 3 fresh California Bartlett pears
1 broiler-fryer (about 2-1/2 pounds), cut up	1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Garlic salt
Pepper
1 cup dry white wine (or 1/2 cup canned pear nectar plus 1/2 cup water)

Melt butter in baking pan. Turn chicken in butter to coat; arrange skin-side down in pan. Sprinkle with garlic salt and pepper; pour wine over chicken. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Turn chicken skin-side up. Sprinkle with more garlic salt and pepper. Quarter and core pears; arrange in pan with chicken. Sprinkle pears and chicken with Parmesan cheese; return to oven and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer, until chicken is tender. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

CHECK OUT OUR WAGON AND YOU MIGHT UNLOAD YOURS.

Our Volvo wagon is built to overcome the disconcertment common to wagon owners. It's no bigger than a Volvo-size sedan. So handling it in a crowded parking lot is no big deal. You don't feel like you've got your car to fight as well as all the other parkers.

And loading is a pleasure. Not a trauma. The rear door was designed knowing some objects are high as well as wide. They fit inside in 77 cu. ft. of usable load space. Instead of sitting outside on the roof.

Bring in your wagon and go home in ours. We'll sell or lease you a Volvo wagon and, either way, de-gruntle you.

The Kitchen Almanac

It's a fact! There is NO difference between white shell and brown shell eggs except the color of the shell. (The shell color is determined by the breed of the laying hen.)

Keep unripe tomatoes at room temperature—away from direct sunlight. Too much sunlight prevents development of even color.

Fresh mushrooms are available year-round and can add a delicate flavor to many dishes.

Rib roast and ribeye roast are the most tender cuts of beef roasts. Canadian bacon is cut from boneless pork loin, cured and smoked. It is usually quite lean.

How to judge the temperature of a charcoal briquet fire:

- to tell when it's cooking time—In daylight, the coals are ready for cooking when they are covered by a layer of grey ash; at night they'll have a bright red glow. At this stage, spread the coals into a single layer with tongs and place food on the grill.

- quick temperature test—Hold your hand at the cooking height, palm side down. If you can keep it in position for only two seconds, the temperature is high or hot; three seconds, medium-high; four seconds, medium; five seconds, low.

- to lower the temperature—Raise the grid, or spread out the coals.

- to raise the temperature—Tap ash from coals, or push them closer.
- when more coals are needed—Add to the outer edge of hot coals.

The consumer question box: "Just exactly what is a hot-water dispenser, and how does it work?"

The hot-water dispenser is a small kitchen appliance that mounts directly on the sink. At the turn of a knob, the unit provides up to 190° hot water for everything you normally need to heat a teakettle.

Home economists for KitchenAid appliances say the dispenser is great for making quick, fresh hot weather beverages that require starting with hot water—iced coffee, iced tea, etc. And, say these experts, it's ideal for thawing frozen foods, providing a quick start on meal preparation and dozens of other uses.

times. Wars have been fought over salt deposits and Roman soldiers were paid in salt. Even today, salt is so scarce in some parts of the world that it's considered a delicacy. In the U.S., however, salt sprinkles in abundance and it is the prime ingredient in many seasoning blends.

Whirlybirds Are Helping To Keep America Green By Seeding Strip-Mined Areas

Environmentalists everywhere would rejoice at watching a helicopter crew spraying grass seed onto a strip-mined area that would normally be left to wind and weather elements.

One of a few service-oriented companies remedying this situation, is the Penn Line of Scottsdale, Pennsylvania, which has been engaged in Garrett County reclamation of land projects for some time. Currently, they are aerial seeding a strip-mined field located between Loch Lynn and Gorman off Rt. 560.

Usually, land that has been mined is reverted back to the original owner to do with as he pleases. After an area has been stripped of the coal, huge piles of rock and dirt are left by the mining companies. It is no easy job to smooth the area for replanting, but after this task is completed, the Penn Line Crew sets up camp at the designated site to begin in the restoration of the land.

At first, soil samples are taken in the area and sent to the West Virginia University for testing purposes. If the soil needs lime or fertilizer, the helicopter is the primary tool used in spreading it onto the project area. After this phase of the reclamation is accomplished, the crew loads gallons of mixed grass seed into a special tank attached to the rear of the helicopter. Several trips are required by the copter in order to spray a field consisting of 100 acres.

According to secretary, Dottie Pritts, of the Grafton Coal Company, "The whirlybird technique is much faster and more economical. It can seed 50 acres in approximately two days as opposed to the conventional method, a hydro-seeder, for instance, which requires several days." Grafton was an early supporter of the whirlybird project.

Bill Hull, supervisor for Grafton Coal at the Bethlehem Road site stated, "We have had excellent results from aerial seeding. We began using the Penn Line Crew back in the spring of '75, and already can see that some fields that were seeded have produced much better hay fields than some farmers have in their natural meadows."

Before an area is strip-mined, the small trees are cut down and turned into pulp wood or charcoal wood. This is all part of the preliminary work that goes into a strip-mining project. Logs, of course, are carried away to lumberyards where they are sold.

Today state laws require a ground covering operation to take place following a strip-mining project. The whirlybird, although not considered a new method by forest personnel, is rapidly growing in popularity by landowners of sizeable acreage.

The mixture of grass seed consists of four different types and includes red clover, Kentucky 31, birdsfoot trefoil and annual rye seed. It has proven to the crew of Penn Line to be the most effective ground covering.

Upon completion of the whirlybird's tasks, a ground crew moves into the area and covers the seed with emulsion to protect the seeds from blowing or washing away. Hay is designed to carry large loads of grass seed mixture to strip-mined areas and is sprayed out of the bottom of the cab of the copter through a series of valves.

TAKING OFF AFTER REFUELING has been accomplished is this helicopter operated by Jim Lawrence, pilot for Penn Line. Note the size of the specially made tank situated behind the dome of the whirlybird. The tank was used as the cover and aids in drawing and keeping moisture on the seeds.

According to crew leader, Tom Long, of Dawson, Pa., other services are provided by Penn Line which include constructing power lines, repairing and constructing guard rails and seeding roadsides. Because of the helicopter's flexibility, areas too difficult to reach by ground crews become an easy day's work.

Other members of Penn Line include Kenny Gillespie, John Miller, Joe Kruczkiewicz and Barry Stewart. The pilot for the outfit is Jim Lawrence, who has been operating the helicopter for almost three years for the company. Of the company's tours of duty he remarked, "We've come a long way. We've learned a great deal about seeding and through mistakes we've made in the past, we are approaching the stage of expertise. It is rewarding to see our efforts grow greener and taller."

OVERLOOKING A STRIP-MINING AREA between Gorman and Loch Lynn just off Rt. 560 is Bill Hull, supervisor of the Grafton coal mining site. The scene is typical of an area being mined for the black gold with its terrain unevenly stacked in pursuit of coal. This area will be leveled, fertilized and seeded for grass once the coal has been exhausted at this site.

STANDING AMID A CLEARED section ready for aerial seeding is supervisor Bill Hull, of the Grafton coal site. Note how smooth the terrain is after ground crews have leveled the area. This section of land has been soil tested and spread with lime and fertilizer during the week. Aerial seeding is now progressing at the site and is expected to be completed by the early part of the week.

FILL 'ER UP WITH GRASS SEED — Because of the heavy weight of fertilizer and grass seed, the helicopter makes frequent trips back to camp to take on more gallons of the mixture. Pictured at left atop a mixer truck is crew leader, Tom Long, who is responsible for pouring and mixing the grass seed into the tank that feeds into the helicopter.

HIGH ABOVE A STRIP-MINED AREA between Loch Lynn and Gorman, off Rt. 560, a reporter can easily see first hand what a lifeless pit of sand and dirt looks like before the efforts of the crew of Penn Line takes effect. Aerial seeding in areas such as this is rapidly gaining in popularity among farmers and coal miners who have large tracts of land requiring reclamation.

A TRAFFIC JAM occurred during a scrimmage game held at the Southern High football field last Friday evening between visiting Mountaineer High School from Thomas and Davis. The home team battered away at the Mountaineers before a crowd of fans who showed up to support the Rams in their pre-season effort. The Rams open their schedule next Friday evening, September 9, against Beall.

Southern Band Boosters To Meet

Members of the Southern High Band Boosters organization will meet next Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the band room at the school.

Number Released For Annual Jerry Lewis Telethon

The Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon is being sponsored in the Cumberland-Oakland area for the third year by the Mountain Council Pioneers, a service club within the C&P Telephone Company.

The Pioneers and other employees volunteer their time to answer the telephones and accept pledges to benefit the nationwide Muscular Dystrophy Association. Last year $3,600 was collected during the twenty hour period.

People wishing to contribute to Muscular Dystrophy can call 387-6000 from 10 p.m. Sunday, September 4, through 6 p.m. on Monday, September 5. Headquarters this year will be at 6 Pershing St., in Cumberland.

This is the first year Garrett County has had a local number to receive calls. All funds collected are turned over to the state, and will be sent to the central collection point at Las Vegas for the national collection.

No. 98, owned and driven by Frank Lewis of Oakland, got the checkered flag five times in the feature races at Morgantown Speedway this past summer. This past Saturday, Dewey Wakefield's car, operated by Bob Arsenberger, won the semi-late model feature and was a winner in the heat race at Morgantown. Mr. Wakefield is a Friendsville native. Frank's car did not finish the race. Other drivers appearing at Morgantown this past weekend were Ivan (Red) Frederick, Mt. Lake Park, who finished third in the heat and eleventh in the feature for car owner Al Hannis, Clarksburg. In the dune buggy class were local operators Randy Murphy, Skip McCartney and Randy McCartney. Racing will conclude for the season this weekend at Morgantown, with races on both Saturday and Monday. So far, Frank Lewis is third in point standings for the season at Morgantown.

Miss Nancy Collier, second from right, accepts a plaque from the Oakland Rotary Club honoring her for accumulating the most points in 4-H exhibits at the county fair this year. At left are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Collier, Nancy's parents, who live in Accident. Presenting the plaque was Brad Stewart, Rotary club president. Crime Alert

SOME CRIME RESISTANCE TIPS FOR YOUR HOME

Think about the shock, the heartbreak and the anger that you would experience if you came home one evening and found that your residence had been burglarized. Think about your valuables — including mementos that you've collected and cherished over the years — being stolen or wantonly destroyed. Think about the possibility of walking in on a burglar while he was ransacking your home at night!

Most burglars won't take a second look at a house or apartment that appears to be occupied. To discourage these criminals from selecting your residence as a target, consider using the following anti-burglary procedures to help create the impression that someone's home when you're out during the day or evening.

1. Don't leave messages on the door or mailbox indicating your absence.
2. Use electric timers to turn house lights and a radio on and off during evening hours.
3. Enlist the help of neighbors to keep mail, newspapers and ads from collecting while you are away.
4. Remember that unattended yards and unmowed lawns over an extended period of time are signs that the residents might be away.
5. Consider also that when empty trash cans or when no trash cans are set out on collection day, it is an indication that the residents might not be home.
6. Advise your local police, as well as a reliable neighbor, when your home will be unoccupied for any length of time and where you can be reached.

In addition to these crime resistance tips, your local police may have other useful anti-burglary suggestions.

INSTALLING THE ANTENNA on the communications tower took expertise provided by employees of Westmar Communications. Floyd Harper supervised the installation. This equipment, placed on the tower last week, provided the local control link for the county-wide communications system. All equipment has been installed now, according to George Comp, overseer for the project, and the system will be put into operation around September 15, after considerable testing shows all systems to be functioning properly.

August Is Even On Temperature, Short On Rain

August turned out to be a normal month temperature-wise but in contrast to July, rainfall was below normal.

Rainfall for the month totaled 2.8 inches or 1.7 inches below normal. Although at least a trace of rain fell on 18 days, it was less than a tenth of an inch on many days. The heaviest was .91 inch on the first. The next highest was .32 inch on the 24th. Thunder storms occurred on six days mostly the first part of the month.

Temperatures averaged just normal with highs 1.1 degrees below normal and lows the same amount above. Highs averaged 78.3 degrees. The highs, 85 degrees on each of three days, occurred the last week of the month. It was in the 80s 14 days during the month. The coolest day was the 18th with 68 degrees. Lows averaged 55.7 degrees. The coolest, 41 degrees was registered on two days, the 20th and 25th. It was in the 40s five other days. The mercury remained above the 60-mark on 14 nights.

The third week of the month was very Autumn-like with most lows in the 40s. There were no 80-degree readings that week.

Statistics are based on information received from Logan Weber, local observer for the National Weather Service.

Board Submits Two Names To Replace Catherine Eggers

Various people made appearances at the County Commissioners' office this past Monday to present views on county business.

Two names were submitted to the state for consideration to replace Mrs. Catherine Eggers on the Assessment Appeals Board. Members of the Board are appointed by the governor.

Randy Durst, from the Co-operative Reimbursement program, discussed accounting methods with the commissioners.

Msgr. Farrell, of the Washington diocese, an owner of property on Beckman's Peninsula, brought trash collection and road maintenance matters to the board.

John Farmer, administrator for the Solid Waste Bureau, told the commissioners of the bids submitted to purchase 16 one-cubic yard waste boxes which the county acquired when it purchased the second compactor truck. The boxes, too small for county use, were sold to Don Nine.

Herbert McCrobie, administrative engineer for the County Roads Department, and the commissioners accepted a bid for eight trucks from Grantsville Ford. Each vehicle was bid at $18,300.

Lostland — A Seldom Seen Part Of The County

Between Shalimar and Steyer lies 12,400 acres of woodland, split by a creek bearing the name Lostland Run. Although a part of Garrett County, and part of the state-owned lands here, many people are not aware of the existence of this seemingly-untouched primitive area. Lostland comprises 1,223 acres of Potomac State Forest.

With its virtually impassable roads, this is not surprising. This is certainly no Swallow Falls, manicured picnic spot, although the beauty is comparable to the famed Swallow Falls area. Many rugged rock formations are definite reminders of the more accessible park.

Camping is permitted in the area, although it is wise to check in with the state forest headquarters located on Potomac Camp Road. This precaution is especially warranted during peak fire seasons.

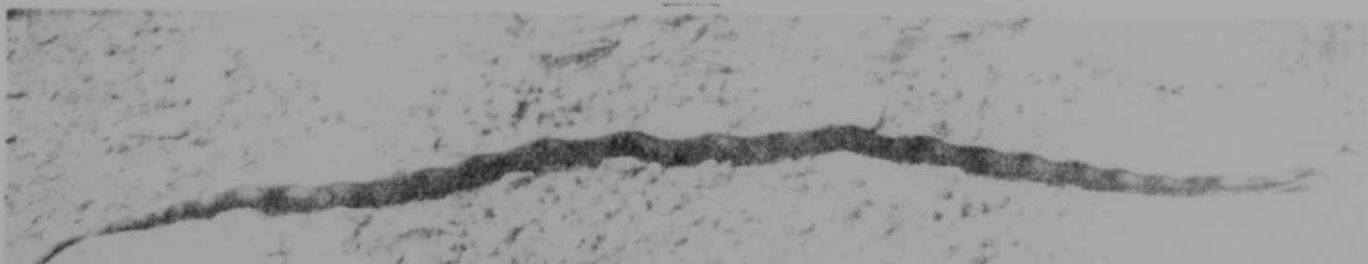

Although lack of roads, rugged terrain, some thick underbrush and laurel, and a large snake population keep down visits from tourists, the area is a popular drawing card in the fall and winter when hunters tramp nearly every foot in search of turkeys or whitetails.

For those in search of primitive areas, who do not mind keeping a cautious watch for snakes, and who can traverse steep rocky hillsides, the scenery is worth every painstaking step.

Looming cliffs on the right remind hikers of Swallow Falls. The county road to Oakland was once located at the foot of the cliffs, and can still be tracked through most of the area. Directly across from here was a high drop-off to the Potomac approximately 100 feet straight down. Road users were protected by a stone wall at the very edge of the precipice.

A guardian to one of the entrances to Lostland did not prevent foot traffic, nor did he seem worried about moving from the pathway.

These cliffs were hollowed out by the Potomac, with the darker area above forming a large cavern. The county road ran over top of the caverns.

Lostland Run is a beautiful small stream, as shown above, near its junction with the mighty Potomac.

A hawk keeps a watchful eye on photographer and guide Mike Brady as they begin the trek in to Lostland from the Short Run area.

A spur for the Western Maryland Railway provides a walkway for pedestrians across the Potomac, the only way across the river this far upstream, except for swimming or wading.

Black and white pictures cannot begin to do justice to the Potomac River, flowing red-brown from mine pollution caused years ago by careless mining procedures. Even though the river is uninhabitable, it is still a visually attractive waterway.

Beautiful brick ruins grace a shady glade, the only reminder of the largest and showiest buildings in the long-fest town of Gleason, W. Va. The town, now abandoned for more than 50 years, was located upriver from Harrison.

BUILD BEFORE YOU FLY

We know an airline pilot who used to make model planes. Yes, and we know a doctor who was "first aid man" in his scout troop. And we know an engineer who used to build the best bridges ever built with damp sand at the seashore.

There isn't any important role in life that doesn't have to be rehearsed before the curtain goes up!

Now in every field there are men and women whose Christian character is admired, respected and relied upon by all who know them. You can be sure they didn't suddenly wake up one morning with that kind of personal "nobility." Where then did it come from? How did they acquire it?

Through experience — just as the engineer, the doctor and the pilot acquired their "feeling" for the vocation they would one day pursue!

The church at the corner can't manufacture noble Christian souls. But it can go a long way toward developing in you and me — and in our youngsters — a sense of the potential with which God has endowed us.

SOUND DOCTRINE

Lesson for September 4, 1977

Background Scripture: Colossians 3:15-17
Devotional Reading: Colossians 3:12-14

Most people don't even know that there is a book called Titus in the New Testament, let alone have any idea what it's about. Its contents are not likely to be found on anyone's list of favorite Bible quotations.

That's unfortunate, for the Book of Titus, despite its brevity—its three brief chapters require a page and a half in my Bible—deserves its place in our New Testament. It has something quite important to say to us, and although its content can be found in either similar or different language in other books of the New Testament, it is clearly and significantly stated in Titus.

Teach what befits
A hasty examination of Titus has often led people to assume that this epistle is mostly about doctrine. In the first chapter the writer alludes to the correction of those who hold incorrect beliefs.

"that they may be sound in faith, instead of giving heed to Jewish myths or to commands of men who reject the truth" (1:13b-14). He also begins chapter two.

There may have been a war going on in Europe in the spring of 1940, but other than occasional letters from places like Keeler Glade, Steyer or Gortner, little news of the war campaign was visible in this paper.

Apparently one person was alarmed to the extent of offering a million dollars for the "delivery of Adolph Hitler, alive, unwounded and unhurt." The offer was made by the president of the Carnegie Institute and was said to be, "in good faith."

An interesting news item appeared in the Oakland personals in March of '40 which went as follows: "On Saturday night, the 'Grapes of Wrath' was shown. It seemed to me that it was not the wisest choice. The crowd was so great the film had to be shown twice."

A United States Civil Service Commission report showed that the Roosevelt Administration had added workers to the Federal payroll at the rate of 60,000 per year. If that trend has continued, then today there would be 1,620,000 persons in Civil Service. Or, an average of 32,400 civil servants in each state. Now then, wasn't that dull?

Imagine getting your locks cut for only a quarter. That's what a haircut cost in the spring of '40. When the sixties arrived though, you could hardly expect a barber to whack away for only a quarter with the mops the guys were wearing in that era.

An item in the Deer Park personals as well as a front page news item appeared about the only Civil War veteran left in the county. His name, of course, was George Marley, who celebrated his 104th birthday in April, 1940. Born in England, he was one of the first settlers in that town.

Up in the northern part of Garrett County, the Grantsville mayor and town council members were actively trying to restore the old stone arch bridge east of Grantsville. The bridge, near Little Crossings, was said to be more than 100 years old, and that the rubble stone masonry structure was indeed a landmark. It is today called, the Casselman River Bridge.

How about a reduction in electric rates? Well, the residents of Oakland and Kitzmiller, in February of 1940, were getting just that. Could it be that all those black-outs actually saved energy? Today, we have to experience a brown-out in order to conserve energy. Just short of frequent air-raid alarms, I wonder when America will believe there is an energy crisis.

Uncle Sam was making things difficult for the average alcoholic who, on occasion, delved into drinking pure rubbing alcohol. The substance was taken out of grocery stores and allowed only in pharmacies. It was done to, "take away the bum's champagne."

Popular happenings in the early part of '40 were Leap Year Parties, sewing circles, quilting parties and listening to a wide variety of local bands playing favorite melodies.

A Nancy Drew Club was presenting a play called, "That Awful Letter," in March of '40, inside the Episcopal parish. And, once more the Butterfly Club was doing its thing locally in Oakland.

At the Maryland Theatre, there seemed to be no main theme for movies in 1940. Some of the offerings included, "Eternally Yours," starring Loretta Young and David Niven, and "British Intelligence," starring Boris Karloff. "Private Detective," hit the screen starring the beloved Jane Wyman. Robert Taylor and Greer Garson were making a film called, "Remember," something to remember for avid fans, and advertised heavily in the news was the coming of "Gone With The Wind" to Oakland.

According to a news report, the authoress of the novel, Margaret Mitchell, was expected to gross well over a million dollars for her idea, starring the inimitable Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh. Of that sum, the government was standing by to take an estimated $900,000. Sobeit for genius and hard work.

Speaking of theatres, it was in the spring of '40 that the Liberty Theatre in Cumberland burned to the ground.

"Another egg was brought into The Republican office this morning from Gortner. It measured 8 1/2 inches in circumference the long way, 6-5/8 inches the short way. We forget the size of the previous eggs brought here, but this one is sure to be a winner." That was in April, 1940. They neglected to say what kind of egg. It may well have been laid by an ostrich (A Gortner ostrich, of course).

Excavation was being planned for the new post office on Second Street, Oakland, in late April and a new schoolhouse was on the drawing board for Hutton, replacing the one that burned.

Speaking of energy problems earlier, a chassisless automobile with a smaller engine, better gas mileage, air conditioning and puncture-proof tires was envisioned by auto experts at a convention. Wouldn't it be nice to have that same crystal ball? In my own crystal ball, I see a network of conveyor belts stretching from New York to California, and throngs of people simply riding back and forth... It's called mass transportation, 2001.

At the Republican convention, Dewey, Taft and Wilkie, were all trying to sway enough votes in their camp to win a first-ballot victory for the Republican nomination for President. At first, it looked like a Dewey win, then it went to Taft and back again for Dewey. Wilkie was gaining on every ballot. It was on the sixth ballot that Wilkie became the party's choice. Sheer stick-to-it-tiveness won out in that race. That sort of thing can almost not happen today, as newscasters promptly predict a winner moments after the contest has begun. Californians often know who the next president will be before they've even had time to get to the polls. That certainly wasn't the case in 1976, when the nation waited well into the wee hours of the morning before seeing the peanut farmer out the All-American center from Michigan.

If the slogan, "Ford Has A Better Idea" is true, Miss Lillian's boy may have to return to the farm in 1980. Stoney

TIMES

Sunset, sunrise, moonset, and moonrise are reported in this article. The times are corrected to Local Time from Standard Time. Corrections are made for both latitude, and for longitude. In this paper, the times are corrected to the location of McHenry. These rising and setting times are the times at which the upper edge of the moon, or the sun appears above, or disappears below the sea horizon. We cannot observe the sea horizon in Western Maryland; therefore, the reported times will be earlier than the observed times.

Monday, the moon will pass through its Last Quarter phase at 10:33 a.m. This week, the moon is waning. Moonrise will be at 9:54 p.m. tonight. Delayed about one-half hour each evening, moonrise will not occur until 1:18 a.m. Wednesday morning.

The greatest separation between earth and moon, during September, will occur at 2:00 p.m. Monday afternoon. This apogee is 404,200 kilometers (251,200 miles) from earth.

Venus, Mars, and Jupiter are visible in the predawn sky. Rising about three hours before the sun, Venus dominates the eastern sky with its brilliance. Jupiter rises, about an hour before midnight, with the stars of Gemini. Mars rises shortly after midnight. It, too, is in the constellation, Gemini.

Sunrise was at 6:45 a.m. this morning. Tonight the sun will set at 7:48 p.m. Wednesday.

there will be 15 minutes less daylight than there is today. Sunrise will be at 6:51 a.m. on Wednesday, and 12 hours 48 minutes later, at 7:39 p.m., the sun will set.

State Offering Vehicles To Non-Profit Groups

The Governor's Interagency Committee on Specialized Transportation is inviting private, non-profit organizations in Maryland to apply for federally subsidized vehicles to be used to transport the elderly and handicapped.

In a recent letter to 220 agencies, Frederick L. Dewberry, chairman of the committee, outlined a program in which the federal government provides 80 percent of the purchase price of a vehicle, while the non-profit organization contributes 20 percent.

The Maryland Department of Transportation will procure the vehicles through competitive bidding and will make them available for use as soon as possible after purchase.

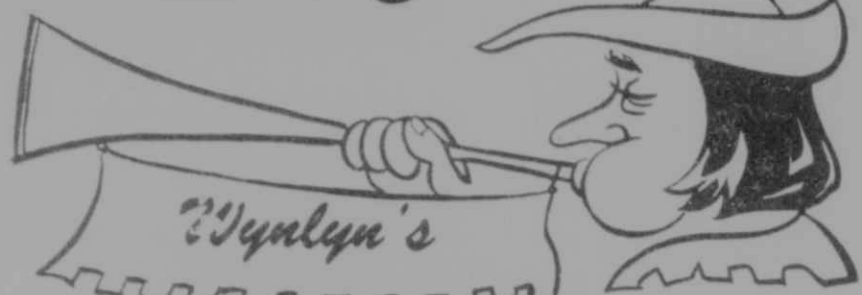

The department also will administer the project and will act as liaison with the federal government. The grant applicant will be responsible for all operating costs.

Preliminary application forms and instructions may be requested from the Interagency Committee on Specialized Transportation, care of Thomas Schockley, Mass Transit Administration, 109 East Redwood Street, Baltimore, 21202. Deadline for submission of applications is September 15.

The Interagency Committee membership includes representatives of the state departments of Transportation, Education, Human Resources, State Planning, and Health and Mental Hygiene; the Maryland Office of Aging, and the Central Maryland Area Agency on Aging.

Welch Denied Bond

An escapee from the Garrett County jail, Welch was found by Maryland State Police at the residence of Francis McElwee in Homewood Addition near Cumberland. When police entered, they reportedly found Welch hiding in a closet, and when he came out, he allegedly struck officer Bernard J. Chabot.

Water Management Meeting Scheduled

There will be a water quality management meeting for the Upper Youghiogheny next Tuesday, September 6, at 8 p.m. at Garrett Community College, in Room 155.

Topics for discussion will include the new statewide water quality regulations and the 208 priority listings.

Drug Addiction, Alcohol Programs Under DHMH

An agreement between the Federal Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has been signed which places referral and monitoring of all drug addicts and alcoholics receiving or eligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) in Maryland under the jurisdiction of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), according to an announcement made this week by Dr. Neil Solomon, Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The Secretary explained that this program, entirely funded by the Federal government, had been previously under the aegis of the Maryland Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (Department of Education) where it was considered one of the most successful programs of its type in the country.

The Secretary said the advantages of the new agreement are several: The State agency responsible for treatment (DHMH) is now also responsible for referral and monitoring; more people in need of care will be found and treated; the agreement recognizes the fact that drug abuse and alcoholism are a true disability; and finally, Secretary Solomon said that his Department will now be working closely with the Social Security Administration (which administers SSI) to attempt to erase the stigma attached to alcoholism and drug abuse.

Work-Study Program Available For Vets

Full-time veteran students who foresee money problems at fall enrollment time should look into the Veterans Administration's work-study program.

VA Regional Director, Mr. John W. Rue, advises that new GI Bill payment procedures might leave students who don't have savings from summer jobs in a bind to pay necessary enrollment and subsistence expenses. To help offset this financial headache VA has directed that more work-study jobs be made available.

GI Bill students can work up to 250 hours per semester for VA and receive $2.50 per hour in addition to their usual education assistance allowances. An advance of up to $250 is available as soon as the employment agreement is processed. The advance covers the first 100 hours of work.

Mr. Rue said that jobs are usually available for VA-related work on a given campus or at a VA facility. Priority is established on the basis of service-connected disability, financial need, motivation and the nature of the work. After the first 100 hours, VA pays work-study students after each 50 hours of work.

Details are available from campus veterans counselors or at any VA office.

Another Wreck At Rt. 135 And Old 219 Noted

Another accident occurred at the intersection of Md. 135 and old 219 at Browning's Foodland last Friday afternoon. There were no injuries in this or several other mishaps noted.

Willard E. Cole, Terra Alta, W. Va., was driving west on Md. 135 about 4:15 p.m. Ralph M. Fauber, Westernport, pulled from southbound old 219 and was struck by the Cole truck. Fauber was charged with failing to grant the right-of-way by Tfc. E. J. Upole.

Mark D. Burnie, Kingwood, W. Va., was traveling south on U.S. 219 just north of Oakland about 2:15 a.m. last Saturday. At this time a deer ran onto the road and was struck by the Burnie car. Tfc. R. B. Westmoreland made the investigation.

Later, about 11 a.m. the same day, a two-vehicle rear-end collision occurred on U.S. 40 just west of Grantsville. Willard F. Broadwater, Grantsville, was driving west and followed by Diane J. Tanski of Brownsville, Pa. Broadwater stopped for slow moving traffic and the Tanski car struck his in the rear. Tfc. Garry Resh made no charges.

A collision occurred on Md. 40 at Sky Valley road Saturday afternoon. Jeffrey S.

Barcase, Westernport, was northbound, preparing to make a left turn onto Sky Valley road. Robert A. Piri, Huntingdon, Pa., following the Barcase car, drove into the rear of it. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant charged Piri with failing to reduce speed.

Gary L. Bowser, Hill Top, Grantsville, was westbound on U.S. 40 just west of Long Stretch about 9 p.m. Sunday. Bowser failed to negotiate a right curve, ran off the left shoulder and struck an embankment. He then crossed the road to the right side and struck the guard rail. Tfc. R. C. Georg charged him with negligent driving.

Information was supplied by

Sgt. Howard Graham of the Maryland State Police.

The Public And The Energy Crisis

By Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

During the Senate's 4th of July legislative recess, I had an opportunity to visit many parts of Maryland and, specifically, to hold public hearings in Baltimore and Cumberland on public reaction to President Carter's energy program. The hearings were very productive. They were well attended, and I am very grateful to all of those who took the time and trouble to prepare testimony and engage in a dialogue on how the President's energy program will affect our daily lives.

There is, of course, a lot of high-flown rhetoric around the country on what the energy program can do for us and what the energy program can do to us. However, there is very little down-to-earth common sense, primary information about how the program will affect the lives and the businesses of average Americans. I thought it was important to get into the record, which can be submitted to the Senate, exactly what will happen to the kinds of small businesses that most people are familiar with.

One of the dominant themes of the hearings was expressed by Ralph Strock of Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, who said that the only thing worse than high prices for fuel is no fuel at all. I think we all have to recognize that fact. If we needed an example or an illustration of it, that was provided by the Strohmann Brothers Bakery in Cumberland which was forced to close down its bakery operation on an hour's notice because of the failure of the natural gas supply during the past winter. This resulted in the loss of 300 jobs in the Cumberland area, a graphic illustration of how our economy is tied to the energy supply.

I think it was also notable that the hearings further confirmed what should be obvious to all of us . . . that the energy supply relates to almost everything we do. For example, a glass of milk that appears on our dinner table is the result not only of the contribution of the cow, but also of the application of energy at many points along the way. These include the electric milking machine, the electric refrigerator in the farm dairy, the truck which carts the milk to a processing plant, the operation of the processing plant, and, finally, the distribution to wholesalers and retailers . . . all of it consuming substantial amounts of energy. Bread is an obvious example, and hospitals also consume a substantial amount of energy. From the staples of life, like bread and milk, to the most sophisticated hospital care, we are at the mercy of those who control the supply of energy.

This, of course, is getting more and more problematical for America because in March of this year we had to import 55% of our energy. This means that if the tankers don't get to our shores, half of our oil supplies will not be available. This begins to impact not just on what we would like to do but on our very means of survival itself.

One of the things that became clear as a result of these hearings is that not very many people know how real this crisis is. Not many people know that if they drive up to a filling station and say, "Put in ten gallons," that five of those ten gallons have to come from overseas. There is still a big educational job ahead of us, and I think that the President will have to renew his efforts to acquaint the public with the nature of the problem. If he does, I'm sure that the American people will respond.

Garrett B.P.W. To Meet September 8

Members of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's club will hold their first meeting of the club year on Thursday, September 8, at Will of the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

Following dinner at 6:30 p.m., James Stanton, of the county health department, will present a program on "Women and Alcohol." A question and answer session will follow his talk.

Prospective members are also invited to the club, which meets on the second Thursday of each month. Contact Mrs. Carol Canan or Mrs. Eugene Flinn for further information.

Civic Association To Hold Special Meeting On Park

It was announced by Deer Park Civic Association president, Jerrold Statham, that a special meeting will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. William Madigan, Church Street.

At a meeting held last week, several members suggested ways in which to involve the association in civic improvements, however, there was not a quorum present to vote on projects.

Officers reports will be given at the meeting including a discussion on a Robert B. Garrett Memorial for the town of Deer Park.

The 23-channel CB radio is to disappear from the market by the year's end.

This column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with my fellow residents of central and western Maryland. Send your questions or comments to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While I'll be unable to print all replies, I will answer each of you who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

Would you please provide some information on home buying?

If you are thinking about buying a house, make sure that you ask all the right questions to be certain you are getting a good deal. When you think you've found the right house, check it carefully. If you have any doubts about the soundness of the house find a reputable inspection firm to examine the house and give a detailed report. It will be a $50 or $100 fee well spent.

To help you know more about home buying, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has a free booklet. For your Copy of WISE HOME BUYING, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Department 636-E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

I've found the Government Publications from your office to be very useful. Are there others available?

By the time you are reading this, each household in western and central Maryland should have received a postcard I sent concerning these publications. Listed on the card are a number of federal government and checked the publications you wish to receive, you should do so and return the card to me so I can forward the book-lets you want.

What is the status of Veterans' Benefits passed through Legislation?

The legislation which is pending in the House would make sure that increases in Social Security payments would be passed through to recipients who also draw veterans' pension benefits. Since many of these people depend on these two benefits as their sole means of support, they are denied protections against inflation which social security increases were designed to afford them. I disagree with this situation where we have the federal government giving money with one hand and taking it with the other.

There are more than 200 other Members of Congress, besides myself who are sponsoring or cosponsoring legislation to correct this inequity.

A town in Alaska was demolished to keep it from becoming a tourist attraction.

Former FSC Head Named To Assistant Director's Position

Robert R. Grooms, Ph.D., formerly Professor and Head of the Department of Psychology at Frostburg State College, has been appointed Assistant Director of the Mental Hygiene Administration, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, for the Western Maryland Region which includes Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties. In addition, the new Assistant Director has full responsibility and authority for the Mental Hygiene Administration programs of the new Thomas B. Finan Center (a multi-purpose facility which will open in 1978).

The announcement of the appointment was made by Gary W. Nyman, M.D., Director of the Mental Hygiene Administration. Dr. Nyman appointed Dr. Grooms upon the recommendation of a screening committee which included representatives from community mental health programs and members of local mental health advisory committees.

"Dr. Grooms' appointment completes our choice of four Assistant Directors for the four mental hygiene regions in Maryland. We feel Dr. Grooms is a fine addition to an able quartet of mental health administrators," Dr. Nyman said.

The new Assistant Director's position carries responsibility for approving and monitoring, planning, direction and coordination of mental health services to the residents of Western Maryland.

Dr. Grooms, who is 53, was born and raised in Pennsylvania. He holds a B.S. degree in Psychology, in addition to an M.S. degree and a Ph.D. degree in Clinical Psychology — all from Pennsylvania State University.

In his former position as Head of the Department of Psychology at Frostburg State College, Dr. Grooms has been involved extensively in teaching, counseling and academic-administrative activities. He is a member of many professional societies, ranging from the American Psychological Association to the National Psychology Honorary Society.

Dr. Grooms has been actively involved in community mental health concerns in Allegany County for the past ten years. He has served as Chairman of the Mental Health Advisory Committee in the county and participated in the early and subsequent planning for the Thomas B. Finan Center. The new Assistant Director has published extensively in the field of psychology and is the author of many papers and articles on the subject.

A resident of Allegany County, Dr. Grooms is married and the father of six children.

State Highways Claim 11 More Lives Last Week

Eleven persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed six were drivers, two were passengers and three were pedestrians.

Two of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

If you are always the first car away from a stop sign, that habit is pouring your fuel dollars down the drain. Jack-rabbit starts use much more gasoline than a smooth start, and gain nothing but attention. Maintaining a steady speed is ideal for fuel economy, so anticipate them and ease up on the gas. It is smart, economical and safer.

It may prevent a fatal accident within an intersection with another vehicle or enable the vulnerable pedestrian to clear the roadway without mishap.

Persons killed through August 28 total 422, ten less than for the same period last year.

A MATTER OF POLICY

On the basis of published information, we believe that our firm has a sales record second to none on a sale to listing ratio during these first seven months of 1977; however, as a matter of policy we do not publish listings as "SOLD" for these reasons: First, properties often sell at a price different than that advertised, and therefore to convey the impression that the properties sold at the advertised price would be false; Secondly, to indicate the actual sale price of a certain property may be a premature disclosure of facts understandably not desired by many sellers; and finally, this practice is not regulated within the real estate profession as to when a property is actually sold (when a deposit is placed or when settlement takes place), or how many times a broker may advertise as being sold (one, two or four weeks). For these reasons we simply refrain from this practice, but do not feel that our colleagues in the profession who engage in this practice are obliged to share our opinion — it is simply our viewpoint.

Solomon Pleased With Juvenile Detention Facility

Maryland's Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene, Dr. Neil Solomon, said that he is "pleased" with the operation of the State's first juvenile detention hold-over — short stay — facility which opened in Cumberland on August 2.

The facility, which is being operated by the Department's Juvenile Services Administration (JSA), is located in the Central Y.M.C.A. and was developed to comply with a State law which will become effective January 1, 1978, and prohibits the placement of juveniles in jails with adult offenders.

The Secretary stated that he is highly gratified by the growing network of services and facilities available in Maryland for juvenile offenders or those alleged to be offenders. He added that the Juvenile Services Administration has moved rapidly in developing and planning these new services. Much effort and innovative thinking has gone into planning for the facility, he said.

The project, said Dr. Solomon, is financed by a grant from the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice. The facility will house up to six juveniles, awaiting court hearings, for periods from overnight to 72 hours. Intake Workers from the Court Service Division of the Juvenile Service Administration will authorize the placement of youngsters in the facility following their arrest and verification of the need for secure custody pending a court hearing.

Five staff persons, who will provide supervision round the clock seven days per week, have been assigned to the facility, which will be utilized by Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. The Cumberland Detention Hold-Over Facility is under the supervision of the Juvenile Services Administration. Michael C. Woolford, of Hancock, has direct charge of the program.

Evaluation of the effectiveness of the project will be made by Juvenile Services Research staff.

The Juvenile Services Administration is presently looking into the possibility of establishing similar type programs on the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland.

The Outstanding Young Women of America program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their home, in their professions and in their communities.

SUMMER HEAT

You can't really beat the heat.

Whether it's the heat or the humidity, or both, it's hot in almost all of the United States in July. After weeks of sweating and steaming, it's not uncommon to find the heat is beginning to wear you down.

You can't do anything about the outside temperature. You can avoid it if you're fortunate enough to work and live in air-conditioned comfort, but it still will be hot outside.

The American Medical Association points out that there are some things you can do to be more comfortable — things that can help you beat the heat.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing. The ladies have the edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on your physician's advice, particularly if you have liver or kidney trouble or a heart condition.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet and don't go overboard on cold cuts and salads, unless you like them anyway.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk in the evening, but try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day. There is sound physical reason behind the siesta custom of the tropics.

You need exercise in the summer as well as in the winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days. Don't overdo physical exertion, whether at work or at play.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense and you can beat the heat — at least somewhat.

PE Ranks Fourth In Fuel Efficiency

Potomac Edison and its associated companies in the Allegheny Power System ranked fourth in the top 100 electric utilities in the country last year in efficient use of fuel to generate electricity.

The rating was made by a utility industry publication, Electric Light and Power, which compared the largest electric utilities in the country on their fuel efficiency, Allegheny Power System, of which Potomac Edison is a part, ranked No. 4 last year, up from a ranking of No. 8 in 1975. The government-operated generating plants of the Tennessee Valley Authority ranked 13th in 1976.

More than 98 percent of the electricity produced for Potomac Edison customers comes from coal.

"We have been able to convert more of the energy in a pound of coal to electricity since PE and the other APS companies began building large, more efficient generating stations near the mines in West Virginia, Pennsylvania," McCards pointed out.

Dentist's Mailbox

By Harris Heyden, DDS

Q. Can filling a baby tooth cause a second tooth to come in crooked?

A. NO! In fact, by filling the first teeth, you help preserve them until they are lost naturally to make way for the permanent teeth. This is very important because one vital function of the first teeth is to maintain space for their permanent ones. The most common cause of malocclusion (bad bite, crooked teeth) is too early loss of the primary teeth and the subsequent decrease in the space for the second teeth.

The first teeth are therefore important for 3 main reasons: 1) to preserve the space and guide the second teeth to place; 2) to aid in chewing and digestion for growth and development, and, 3) to aid in speech and developing speech patterns.

Q. What causes white spots on the teeth?

A. White spots, that are not removed by toothbrushing, may be areas of decalcification which can lead to tooth decay or gnarled, hardened areas of enamel.

These white spots that form within the tooth cannot be easily removed. If they are near the outer surface, they may be removed mechanically and the area filled, like an area of tooth decay.

New bonded or adhesive materials and techniques may be used to cover the surface of stained enamel. Teeth that are extensively discolored but otherwise healthy, may be crowned (capped).

An examination by your dentist will enable him or her to determine the type of white spots that are on the teeth, the probable cause and possible treatment alternatives.

Q. I saw recently a dentist on TV who said that you should not allow a child to go to sleep with a bottle of milk or juice in its mouth. How about if I take the bottle out as soon as he is asleep?

A. Sorry, that is still not recommended. There would still be a tendency for the milk to sit in contact with the teeth for a prolonged period of time. It only takes seconds for the bacteria to produce acid after ingesting carbohydrates, like sugar. During drinking, fluids do not remain in contact with the teeth for any length of time. But when a child lies down to sleep with a bottle, he is not actively drinking, so the fluids tend to pool (collect) around the teeth, leading to acid formation, decalcification of the teeth, and, finally, decay.

Q. Is an electric or battery toothbrush better than the regular kind?

A. It really doesn't matter whether your toothbrush is the old-fashioned kind of toothbrush that uses handpower, or one that is battery or electrically powered. What counts is that all the plaque gets removed. The important things to remember are that 1) a softer brush can be used for both teeth and gums; 2) the direction of brushing is significant; and, 3) if a mechanical brush is used, the brush head must be moved by hand and directed into various areas because the vibrating action is not enough.

Whatever it takes to remove the plaque (the soft sticky material that causes decay and gum problems) without injuring gums and teeth is o.k. So use the easiest way for you. Your dentist will tell you if you are cleaning well enough. Disinfecting tablets or stain can also be used to see if you are removing all the plaque.

Brushing does not remove all the plaque from between the teeth so you should also clean between the teeth. Ask your dentist how to best remove plaque.

Q. My 8 year old's 2 front second teeth have become loose. Should I take him to a dentist?

A. If they are his second teeth, then, yes, at once!!! I suspect that at age 8, they may be his first teeth just now being lost. Although, the usual age to lose the front primary teeth is 5 or 7, I have seen children as old as 9 without their permanent front teeth.

So, if he already has lost his primary front teeth and these are his second permanent teeth that are loose, then you must take him to a dentist at once. Do not delay.

Q. What causes plaque?

A. Plaque is the soft sticky material that forms on the teeth every day. It is produced by bacteria normally found in the mouth. The bacteria then live in the plaque which most commonly forms around the gum line and between the teeth. As the bacteria feed on sugar and other carbohydrates, they produce acid as a waste product. The acid attacks the tooth and thus, tooth decay begins.

The plaque with the bacteria also irritates the gums and then can harden into calculus (tartar), that irritates the gums even more. The plaque/tartar builds up, pushing the gums back and leading to periodontal (gum) pockets and periodontal infection. As the condition gets progressively worse, the bone support of the teeth is gradually lost and the tooth may become loose.

All of this does not happen overnight, but may take years, however, it all begins with plaque.

Q. I had a root removed, but part of the root went into the sinus because it was an upper molar and the sinus was large. The dentist did not want to remove it surgically, and said he wants to observe it first. Won't the root cause a sinus condition?

A. Not necessarily. Your dentist's decision is a good one. Sometimes the root may be expelled through the nose during a sneeze. Or the root may drop back over the soft palate, and be spontaneously removed or swallowed where it is unlikely to cause harm. It should then be passed through the intestines in a few days. If it is to be expelled normally, it will occur during the first 7 to 10 days.

If the root remains in the sinus it must be watched to see if it causes any inflammation or infection. In that case, it has to be removed.

However, if there was no abscess at the root end, and if there is no indication of inflammation or infection, the root may be left alone and watched in the x-ray pictures on a regular basis. Some dentists believe that surgery is necessary, but the procedure is not of major proportions and usually has well.

Q. Is it important for infants to take fluoride treatments before teeth appear?

A. The only fluorides that infants need before their teeth erupt, is the kind that is ingested (swallowed). If the drinking water contains fluoride, then no additional fluoride is needed, provided the child drinks some water every day. Should your drinking water not contain fluoride, then fluoride can be prescribed by the physician or dentist. To determine if your water contains fluoride, call your health department or environmental control unit and ask.

Once the teeth erupt (come into the mouth) they should be cleaned every day with a soft small toothbrush and a fluoride-containing toothpaste. Read the label to see if the paste contains fluoride and look for the American Dental Association seal of approval.

At about age 2 or 3 the child should be taken to a dentist who will probably apply fluoride topically to the teeth as part of the child's regular dental examination.

If you have any questions about Dental Health, send them to: Dr. Harris Heyden, Maryland State Dental Association, Box 261, Linthicum, Maryland 21090.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah E. Wakefield, who passed away one year ago, September 1, 1976. She left a beautiful memory. A sorrow too great to be told. And to us who loved her and lost her.
The memory of her will never grow old.
She did not fail to do her best. Her heart was true and tender. She worked so hard for those she loved.
There's so much to remember. Please, God forgive the secret tears.
The constant wish that she were here.
You took her home, it was your will.
But in our hearts she liveth still.
We thank the Lord for letting us have her for all those precious years.
Sadly missed by husband, children and grandchildren.

Serious Crime Is Down In Maryland

Figures compiled from police reports throughout Maryland show that serious crime was down by one per cent for the first half of 1977. The largest decrease was in the murder category where there was a 21 per cent drop. The report issued by the State Police Criminal Justice Information System indicates that the Baltimore and Washington metropolitan regions remained the high crime reporting areas although serious crime continues to decrease. The Washington metropolitan region of Montgomery and Prince George's Counties reported a four per cent reduction in reported serious crime. The Baltimore metropolitan region of Baltimore City, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Harford and Howard Counties reported a decrease of 1 per cent.

The Eastern Shore region of Caroline, Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester Counties reported a decrease of six per cent. The Western region of Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties and the Southern region of Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's Counties each reported an increase of two per cent as compared to the first six months of 1976.

Farmers Urged To Submit Reports

Garrett County farmers are urged to report their 1977 acreage of barley, corn, grain sorghum and wheat to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. "The importance of correctly reporting acreages cannot be over-emphasized," Granville P. Halterman, County Executive Director said. Crops should be reported on a field-by-field basis.

He explained that the information may be needed to determine eligibility for participation in 1978 programs. If a set-aside is required for 1978, proposed farm legislation provides that it may be based on a specific percentage of the acreage planted in 1977.

It is anticipated that the 1978 programs will apply to all producers, those without allotments as well as those with allotments," he said. "All 1977 grain producers should report their acres, even if they have not had cause to do so in the past because they had no allotment."

ASCS previously asked for crop acreages before harvest. However, barley and wheat farmers have not been able to comply in many cases. "Farmers who have harvested barley or wheat should report the acreage as soon as possible, while evidence of the crop is still apparent," Mr. Halterman said.

Applicants for all ASCS programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin.

Forest Service Fire Crews Return Home

Maryland Forest Service fire crews have returned home after spending two weeks fighting one of the largest fires in California's history.

Fire crews from across the United States went to the aid of the U.S.D.A. Forest Service in an effort to contain fires in national forests on the West Coast. Fresh crews have been called in as the hot, dry weather continues to thwart suppression efforts. Maryland's thirty-eight men were flown from Harrisburg, Pennsylvania to join other states in suppression efforts. They returned to Baltimore-Washington International Airport two weeks later after assisting the U.S. Forest Service in their effort to save National Forests from devastation by fire.

Marylanders were among 540 fire fighters who fought the Marble Cone forest fire in California's Big Sur. More than 180,000 acres of forest land were destroyed in that fire.

Maryland Forest Service employees from the Western Region (Frederick, Washington, Allegany, Garrett Coun-

Long Live The Volunteer!

One of the many blessings of Garrett County is its highly sophisticated network of volunteer activities and organizations. There are relatively few Garrett Countians who are not involved in some form of volunteer work, either directly or indirectly. To list all of the different types of volunteer work in the county would take this editor way past press time and most of this front page. There are also many people who don't necessarily belong to a particular organization, but are ready to pitch in and assist when they see they are needed.

In this day and age when money carries such a tremendous influence, volunteer work is at an all-time high. This seems to be a real paradox.

Why, then do people engage in volunteer work? Perhaps because it is something almost everyone can do in some form or other, regardless of sex, age, physical appearance, popularity, economic or social status. In addition, maybe it is because of the exhilarating feeling of pride, self-worth and satisfaction gained upon completion of a volunteer task. Seeing others lives made more comfortable provides a thrill much greater than a monetary reward could ever do. This gratification seems to be a greater reinforcement than that of dollars. That is a pleasing thought. In fact, statistics would probably show that efforts of a volunteer are often stronger than those of paid personnel.

So much of life depends on volunteer work. Every page of every newspaper carries article after article about the labors of volunteers. The reader should think for one moment what it would be like without volunteers.

The more active the volunteer, the more enjoyable and rewarding life is. That must be another reason life is so splendid in Garrett County.

The program will feature approximately a dozen representatives of coal mining industry who will comment upon various issues relating to the growth of the coal industry in our community. Presentations will also be given by Tim Dugan, Garrett County Planning Director who will comment upon the community impact of expanded mining in Garrett County, and Dr. J. W. Farm Tour To Be Conducted By Extension Service

A farm tour of "forage production" will be conducted at the farm of Charles Mason, Jr., Thursday, September 15 from 1:00 - 3:00 p.m., according to James A. McHenry, Extension Agent, Agriculture.

Forage production is the key to successful farming in Garrett County said McHenry. The term, "corn is King and alfalfa is Queen" still holds true.

Representatives of Hoffman seed, Southern States Cooperative, and Extension Service, University of Maryland, will be on hand to discuss various phases of forage production.

Mr. Mason has been successful in establishing and maintaining direct seeded alfalfa. Fertilization, weed control, insect control, and harvest techniques will be covered.

This has been an excellent year for forage production, according to McHenry. Farmers who followed approved management practices will have higher than average yield.

David Nuzum, Regional Agronomist of Southern States Cooperative, and Dr. Neil Clark, University of Maryland Agronomist will be on hand to answer questions.

The theme of the meeting will be "Coal and Our Community."

5,713 Pupils Are Enrolled In County Schools

There were a total of 5,713 pupils in the county schools on Tuesday, September 6, the third day schools were opened for the 1977-78 season. The number enrolled is expected to reach 5,800 for the year, according to Dr. William H. Buser, county superintendent.

Schools opened September 1 in both Garrett and Calvert counties, earlier than in other county systems in the state. The earlier opening will allow two extra "snow" makeup days if needed this year.

As a result of school board policy and staff follow-up, major program emphasis will be given this year to the areas of reading and language arts. School board members Herbert G. Harman, president; Clarence Sten, vice president; Robert Dield, Brooks Hamilton, and Troy Greely will receive reports and take necessary action at the first regular board meeting today, September 8.

Working copies of a K-8 reading curriculum are being developed, as well as working copies of a K-12 Language Arts program including spelling, writing and other important communications skills.

These documents, along with the addition of county textbook adoptions, are expected to give teachers better tools to use with students in improving these programs.

For many students, their learning environments had changed over the summer with freshly-painted classrooms or new flooring in cafeterias, accomplished by the maintenance staff.

Members of the Garrett County sheriff's department investigated several breakings and entries and destruction of property incidents during the past several days. In one instance, over $600 worth of items were taken from a summer home.

Joy Freundschuh, College Park, reported that their summer home on Cranesville Road had been broken into sometime between August 3 and 20. Missing were antiques and kitchen utensils valued at $800. Entry was made through a rear window.

The summer home of Donald Wenzel, Deep Creek Lake, was entered sometime between August 3 and September 2. Items taken included guns, clothing, and kitchen utensils, valued at $650. Entry here was made by breaking the glass in a front door.

Four people reported destruction of property incidents. Robert Ferguson, Lech Lynn, said that during the night of September 4, someone threw a rock through his living room window. He also noticed that a toy tractor and a skateboard were missing, valued at $39.

Daniel Rensch told police the door facing at a cabin on Deep Creek Lake had been damaged and the building entered. So far the only items noticed missing were foods from the freezer. The entry occurred between August 15 and September 3.

John Garker, Friendsville, reported that a vehicle drove over a hedge on his property August 13. The incident was not reported until August 31.

B-choozy hair styling salon north of Oakland reported that the door facing was split and the door forced open, but it has not been determined if any items were taken. The entry occurred the night of September 2.

Garrett County Students To Receive Copy Of Student Discipline Handbook

During the week of September 12, 1977, each student in a Garrett County Public School will receive a copy of "The Student Discipline Handbook." At the time of distribution, teachers in every school will review the contents of the Discipline Policy with the students so that everyone will have an opportunity to become familiar with the document.

Since each student will have his/her own copy of the Handbook, parents should request that their child/ren share this booklet with them, according to Albert A. Covello, Supervisor of Pupil Services.

The following is a brief summary of the Discipline Policy. Attendance: A student who legally misses 20% of the school days during a grading period and has had sufficient time to make up work should receive an "I" (incomplete) so that he/she may have the opportunity to make up missed work. A student who unlawfully misses 20% of the school days during a grading period will not receive a passing grade.

Disruptive Behavior: Behavior which is unacceptable and/or impedes the learning process for himself and/or others cannot be tolerated. Suggestions of steps teachers may take are made, administrative procedures are outlined and guidelines for suspension, corporal punishment and expulsion are set up.

In the case of a suspension, the principal may exclude a student for a period of up to three days and must inform the parents in writing as to the causes and conditions. A longer suspension can only be invoked by the superintendent or his designee.

Only the principal or vice-principal may administer corporal punishment. When corporal punishment is being administered, a member of the school staff should be present. The principal or vice-principal has a responsibility to notify the parent of a child receiving corporal punishment.

The superintendent, upon a written request from the principal, shall decide whether or not a student should be expelled from school.

Board Informed Road Sign Vandals Expensive To All

The Garrett County Roads Department reported to the Board of County Commissioners that theft and vandalism of county road signs is becoming extremely widespread, and very expensive. The report was made to the Board at Tuesday's session by Herbert McCrobie and Clayton Smith of the Roads Department.

Each stolen stop sign costs taxpayers at least $50, according to their figures brought before the Board. Any cooperation in apprehending vandals or thieves would be appreciated by all those concerned, said Mr. McCrobie, administrative engineer for the Roads Department.

Among other reports given to the commissioners was one made by Gary Mullich, overseer for the Courthouse construction project. He noted that construction is proceeding on schedule in all phases, including work by the underpinning contractors. That crew should be finished in about 10 days, taking the foundation down to bedrock so that the building might rest on a firm foundation for the first time since its construction.

After work began on the remodeling and expansion project, contractors discovered that the Courthouse was aligned on clay soil, rather than bedrock. A subcontractor for Pevernik Brothers was in charge of the underpinning work.

Yoder's is on schedule with laying sanitary pipe as per their contract.

The Commissioners also approved the first of the payments to George Construction Co. for demolition work in the front yard of the Courthouse and the garage.

Debbie Lawton, administrator for the Housing Rehabilitation Loans program, requested that the Commissioners give their backing to her proposal to project officials that Garrett County in its entirety be designated a prime area for rehabilitation. Miss Lawton is making the request in view of the fact that according to current rules, a few target areas must be designated as those in most need of help. The Commissioners agreed to support her proposal due to the rural situation of the county.

Earl Savage, director for the Federal Manpower (CETA) program, told the Commissioners of the 131 enrollees employed through the CETA program, which is federally funded.

These enrollees are currently working at Community Action, the Board of Education, in all municipalities, and at Broad Ford Recreation area.

He requested that the enrollees at Broad Ford be allowed to continue their work there, constructing a pavilion and making additional improvements to the park. The Commissioners approved his suggestion.

Sheriff Issues August Report

A total of 207 civil, criminal, law, equity and other legal papers were served by Sheriff John Evans, Jr., and his deputies during August, according to the monthly report issued by his department.

Over 170 complaints were answered and 275 routine patrol checks made of homes and businesses throughout the county.

Six trips were made to the Baltimore area transporting prisoners.

There were 21 arrests during the month on charges ranging from rape, assault and battery, breaking and entering, larceny to possession of marijuana.

There were seven prisoners incarcerated at the beginning of the month, and 34 added. Thirty-eight were released and three remained in cells at the end of the month.

Work duties added over 18,000 miles to departmental vehicles in August.

Mrs. Goldsborough Named Chairman For C/F Project

Mrs. William M. Goldsborough, Mt. Lake Park, has been named Garrett County Chairman for the annual house-to-house drive of the "Breath of Life Campaign" by the Maryland Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. This campaign, to combat children's lung diseases, will take place in Garrett County the week of September 11 to 17.

Volunteers will call on local citizens to ask for financial help for children suffering from Cystic Fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases.

According to Mrs. Goldsborough, contributions to the annual Breath of Life Appeal help support patient care through 100 C/F centers across the country, many in teaching hospitals affiliated with leading medical schools. C/F Centers offer expert diagnosis and treatment for children with C/F, as well as those suffering severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and a condition sometimes called "childhood emphysema."

Funds are also used for research conducted by scientists throughout the world to find the causes and a cure or more effective control for Cystic Fibrosis. C/F strikes one in approximately every 1,500 newborns, the result of both parents carrying the recessive gene for Cystic Fibrosis. It is believed that about 10 million Americans are carriers of the gene for C/F, Mrs. Goldsborough said.

The following area chairmen will be working with Mrs. Goldsborough during the week of the campaign: Accident, the North Star Girls 4-H; Crellin & Hutton, Mrs. Edward Hinebaugh; Deer Park, Mrs. Corann Clatterback; Grantsville, Mrs. Edward Hasenbuhler; Friendsville, Mrs. Jane Fox; Kitzmiller, Mrs. George Brady, Jr.; Loch Lynn, Mrs. Ray Dintamon; Mt. Lake Park, Mrs. Harold Harsh; Oakland, Miss Ada May Welch; Poughville, Mrs. Pat Helmick; Pleasant Valley, Mrs. Troy Guey; Red House, Mrs. James Shank; Sand Flat, Mrs. Lowell Coddington; and Swanton, Mrs. Curtiss Miller.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
I think the death of Ellena Pendergast of Oakland deserved more than just a mention in your obituary column.

Here was a woman who influenced and guided the lives of many through her career as a school teacher.

Miss Pendergast did not stop helping "her children" when the school bell rang each afternoon. She was available and offered the guidance many of us young needed.

I feel a personal loss and I know the community will miss that warm and friendly personality. I miss her.

Sincerely,
W. Dale Ellis, Director
Senior Citizens Programs

Sir:

Yesterday I visited the kindergarten class at Broad Ford Elementary School. After completing the forms that needed signed, I was informed by the teacher that there wouldn't be any more field trips for the students. The reason they were being cancelled — Garrett County can not afford to pay for them. Can you believe that! The county can, however, pay to operate the Garrett Bus System, which runs all over the county empty; they can add on to the courthouse, both of which in my opinion and many others, are a total waste of the taxpayers' money!

However, when it comes to something as important and inexpensive as field trips which are, by the way, very educational for the students, Garrett County can't produce the funds!

Half of the taxes we pay each year are to the county in which we live. We drive on roads which aren't fit to drive on, we pay as much or more for everything we purchase in this area. Now surely Garrett County can afford to reinstate these field trips for the students of our schools.

Come on Garrett County, stop trying to act like you're poor and give these kids a break.

Law Requires Waiting Period For Payments

Social Security disability payments generally cannot start immediately after people apply for them because the law requires a five-month waiting period, according to James E. Robertson, Social Security District Manager in Cumberland.

Social Security pays monthly disability benefits to eligible workers and their families if the worker is disabled and not expected to be able to do any substantial work for a year or more. Payment generally starts with the 6th full month of disability. "The first check generally arrives early in the month after that," Mr. Robertson said.

"During the waiting period," he said, "examiners get your medical records from the doctors, hospitals, and other institutions that treated you for your disability. You pay for getting those records, if there's any charge."

"Later, additional medical information may be necessary, and you may be asked to undergo additional tests and examinations," he said. "The Government pays for those."

Medical decisions on whether or not people are disabled under the Social Security law are made by doctors and other disability experts in Maryland (or West Virginia). They evaluate the medical condition and consider the vocational factors of age, education, training, and work experience.

Work requirements are also checked during the waiting period.

"To be eligible for disability benefits," Mr. Robertson said, "most workers need 6 1/2 years of work under social security with 5 years of it in the 10 years before they became disabled. For workers disabled before age 31, the requirement scales down to as little as 1 1/2 years, depending on age."

People disabled since childhood can get social security disability payments without a waiting period when a parent starts getting social security retirement or disability benefits — or dies after working long enough under social security.

Disabled people who haven't worked long or recently enough under social security to get disability benefits may be eligible for supplemental security income (SSI) payments. The SSI program, administered by Social Security, makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are disabled or blind or 65 or over.

"There's no waiting period under the SSI program," Mr. Robertson said. "Payments start when eligibility is determined. In some cases, SSI disability payments may be made to people while they're waiting for a formal eligibility decision. And SSI disability payments can be made during the 5-month social security disability waiting period in some cases."

People can get more information about the social security disability program and the SSI program by calling or writing any social security office, Mr. Robertson said. The Cumberland Social Security Office is at 316 Paca Street. The office is open Monday through Friday, except National Holidays, from 9:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Bottle Collecting Is Nation's Third Most Popular Hobby —

For many years now, bottle collecting has quietly become one of the nation's fastest growing hobbies. People from all walks of life are pursuing the fascinating hobby with anticipation. Once the "bottle bug" has bitten a collector, he finds himself in curious places.

Some of the curious places are the local dumping grounds or alongside long forgotten roadways. Often the same person may be spotted at the same location for days on end. These people are bottle collectors and quite regularly net nice profits from their daily digs.

It is estimated that in America there are probably more than a billion dollars worth of the glass lying about in open fields, dumpyards and along highways. Regular diggers can make as much money on weekend diggings as they do at their regular jobs. This does not suggest, however, that persons should quit their jobs to become bottle hunters, but it is stated to point out the lucrative, as well as pleasurable, sideline bottle collecting can offer.

Such is the case with collectors, Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Cathell. According to Carl (Mitch), they have been spending much of their free time hunting for the treasures that come in a variety of shapes, sizes and colors. Particularly interesting in their collection are several Oakland and Terra Alta bottles uncovered in Garrett County and surrounding areas.

As an example, Mitch and Dorothy have found two old Sturgiss Drug Store prescription bottles as well as a Westernport bottle that has practically turned a violet color from the intense sun's rays over the years. According to Mitch, when bottles are made they are a green color because of the iron consistency found in sand. The more iron, the darker the green appears in the newly formed bottle. Chemicals have to be added to the mixture in order to neutralize the green before they are marketed.

For whatever reason a person searches for the glass containers, it is indeed an interesting hobby.

Often on bottle outings, one comes across collectibles quite by accident. One collector in Grantsville told me last March that, while digging in an abandoned mining area around Backbone Mountain, he stumbled onto a host of near-perfect arrowheads. That unexpected find didn't dampen his spirits as a bottle collector though, as he quickly traded his Indian relics for an equally valuable array of mineral water and sarsaparilla bottles.

They have been in the collecting world for a little over eight years.

AN OAKLAND SODA BOTTLE is held by amateur bottle collector, Mrs. Dorothy Cathell. Everyone has their favorites in their collection and the Cathells have many.

that collectors are finding more difficult to acquire each year. The insulators come in blues, greens, violet colors and white enamel and add to the already rainbow effect of a good bottle collection.

A TORPEDO BOTTLE is one of Mitch Cathell's favorite finds in his collection. According to Mitch, the bottle was designed and produced that way to prevent the cork from drying. Also, it was probably easy to stack the bottles in wine racks.

So, who knows what one can find on a leisure bottle-hunting outing in western Maryland? Try it, I'll bet you'll like it.

$3,837 Collected For M.D. Telethon

A total of $3,837 was collected for the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy telethon from Garrett and Allegany counties Sunday through Monday by local volunteers.

Spearheading the local volunteer collection effort were members of the Mountain Council Pioneers, a service club for the C&P Telephone company. Pat Burns, president, was overseer for the annual project. Al Meyer was the Garrett County representative who manned the local phone for calls.

Approximately $300 was collected from Garrett County, with the remainder coming from Allegany. News of the telethon was broadcast over radio stations WMSG, WCBC, and WCMD. For the first time, calls were received during most of the night, due in part to broadcast of the local telephone numbers by a Washington, D. C. television station.

Some $3,600 was collected last year from the two counties.

Market To Expand For VA Purchasers

Veterans purchasing new homes with VA financing may find an expanded market available to them because of recent changes in VA procedures for builders enrolled in insured warranty programs such as the Home Owners Warranty.

The Veteran's Administration recently announced to its local offices around the country the agency's intent to recognize the inspection system under HOW and the warranty program's insurance against major structural defects in place of some requirements still in effect for non-HOW builders in order to qualify for VA financing.

Several early steps necessary to secure VA financing have been eliminated for the HOW builder, including the conditional Certificate of Reasonable Value and VA inspections.

Under the Agency's revised procedures, when the house is trimmed and the HOW builder has an eligible buyer, an application can be made for the CRV without the builder having gone through the earlier procedures for VA approval.

The ultimate effect of these changes is not known yet, but HOW officials at the national headquarters in Washington believe there are two possible benefits. Since VA approval will be simpler for HOW builders, some who might like the option of selling to VA buyers but who have resisted in the past because of the paperwork, may make more homes available to veteran purchasers.

Additionally, the changes in the VA procedures provide a new benefit to builders who are enrolled in the ten-year protection plan. This could lead to even wider participation in HOW, which is a voluntary effort at industry self-regulation.

Under the HOW program, participating builders offer new home buyers a one-year warranty against faulty workmanship and materials. During the second year of coverage, the builder warrants against defects in piping, wiring, and duct work on the systems in the home and against major structural defects. During these first two years, the builder's warranty is backed by an insurance plan, if, for any reason, he cannot or will not meet warranty obligations.

Over the next eight years, the home is protected against major structural defects through insurance underwritten by the American Bankers Insurance Company of Florida (ABIC). HOW coverage is also transferable to subsequent owners.

A simple, clearly-defined procedure for handling those situations where the home owner and builder cannot agree on what is or is not covered is also included in the HOW plan. Working through the local HOW council, which administers the program, the home owner can request that a conciliator be appointed. This neutral, third party will hold an informal meeting of the home owner and the home builder and help them resolve any differences. If either party is not satisfied with the outcome, he or she can request that the case be arbitrated through the American Arbitration Association.

In order to qualify and register with HOW, builders are screened by the local council for technical competence, financial soundness and a history of fair dealings with customers. HOW builders also agree to build according to HOW's Approved Standards. These standards generally accept the criteria of local codes, but in those instances where no code exists, HOW builders are required to build in compliance with a nationally acceptable code and utilize fee inspectors. To assure continuous high quality building practices, builders must re-register each year.

In the three-year experience of the HOW program, over 200,000 new homes have been enrolled under the plan's extended protection by 5,700 registered HOW builders.

Currently, 98 local and state-wide HOW councils administer the 10-year protection throughout the country.

Sarbanes Commends Maryland Firefighters

Recalling the strong tradition of public service of Maryland firefighters, United States Senator Paul S. Sarbanes today commended the 38 Marylanders who spent two weeks fighting California's Big Sur fire.

"It is an honor to commend you for the fine work you did at Big Sur," the Senator said in a letter to the firefighters. "Your efforts to control the California fire have kept Maryland's strong tradition of public service and its tremendous respect for the wilderness alive."

Sarbanes also praised the Maryland Forest Service for its hard work and dedication all year here in the state of Maryland.

"The 38 men who went to California are exemplary of the extraordinary service that all of these firefighters render all year long," Sarbanes said. "The wilderness in America is a priceless treasure, and it is reassuring to know that we have people such as these firefighters who are seeking to preserve the land."

Maryland Forest Service firefighters came from 15 counties and Baltimore City to fight California's fire. Two of the 38 men were volunteers.

The men were: Joe Barley, Richard Burgess, Herbert Carwell, Doug Curtis, Dave Ebersole, Marshall Fletcher, Fred Friend, Jr., Owen Handwerk, Douglas Hanson, Larry Hardesty, Gary Hartsock, Robert Hersherberger, and Rob Hill.

Criminal cases were light in District Court for the week ending September 7. Only one person was convicted.

Charlene DeWitt, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty of larceny of goods of Mary K. Lestie. The plea was sustained. Two other cases were dismissed.

Phyllis H. M. Peterson, Confluence, Pa., had been charged with larceny of a car belonging to James C. Leese on Old Frostburg road in August. The case was dismissed as the car had been returned, undamaged. The victim then wished to drop charges.

An intra-squad scrimmage and a bonfire capped off the evening. The Rams will open tomorrow night on the home field against

Oakettes Corps Taking Members For Fall Classes

The Oakettes Majorette Corps is beginning its seventh year in Oakland, registering new members for fall classes which will begin next week.

Under the direction of Doris Eddy, who organized the group in 1971, members will begin practicing twirling, correct marching and strutting techniques and showmanship.

The fall classes are to begin next Monday, September 13, at the Broad Ford Road Elementary School gymnasium at 4 p.m.

In the past six years, the group has won over fifty awards as a parade corps and has placed first or second in every baton competition they have entered.

While in existence, the senior dance twirl team (Mod Squad) was undefeated both N.B.T.A. and U.S.T.A. competition. Included in the group were Karen Eddy, who is now teaching a baton in Florida while attending Flagler College; Brenda Snyder, head majorette at Southern; Gale Bosley, Southern majorette; and Colleen Eddy, who has since won over thirty gymnastic awards in U.S.G.F. gymnastic competition.

More than 1,500 trophies and medals have been won by individual members of the Oakettes in competitive twirling.

The 1978 season will see a completely reorganized marching unit. All girls five and over who would like to participate as twirler, pom-pom, banner girls or color guard, or boys for drummers or color guard are eligible. There are now twelve boys marching with the corps.

Those interested should contact Mrs. Eddy.

Northern High Varsity Cheerleaders Take Numerous Awards At Golden Eagle Clinic

The Northern High School Varsity Cheerleaders attended a four-day Golden Eagle Cheerleading clinic August 5-9, at Frostburg State College, and upon completion had earned several awards for their efforts.

An excellent ribbon was awarded the squad for two cheers they performed and received one of the two spirit megaphones given during ceremonies.

They received another excellent ribbon during third night evaluation exercises and on the final day of activities the cheerleaders were awarded a Golden Eagle ribbon for completing every requirement of the clinic.

In addition, they received an outstanding ribbon for their poster and a superior ribbon for their performance of two cheers.

The Northern squad earned first place honors when they received the Outstanding Squad Trophy and the Super Spirit Megaphone for their spirit and pep throughout the clinic.

The cheerleaders will be out on the line during their team's first home football game when they meet visiting Berlin High, September 9, at 8 p.m.

Southern Athletic Association Sets Meeting Date

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association's next regular meeting will take place at the Southern High School Sept. 14, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Interested persons wishing to join the association are invited to attend.

Only Christy Mathewson has pitched four shut-out Series games.

THE NORTHERN HIGH HUSKIES are eager for victory as they prepare for their first encounter tomorrow evening at the Northern field. The Huskies will take on visiting Berlin High beginning at 8 p.m., and all indications are "go," according to new head football coach, Jack Settle and assistant Joe McKenzie. Pictured above is a group of Huskies rushing a fence line, or an imaginary foe in this instance. The players are spirited for the occasion and have been engaged in practice sessions for nearly a month. Their first scrimmage game of the pre-season activity was played against visiting Terra Alta High, and the Huskies provided some nice surprises for first-year Coach Settle.

WVU Pharmacologist Discusses Use Of Animals In The Laboratory

The laetrile and saccharin controversies have raised anew the old question: How good are test animals in predicting the action of drugs on humans?

For example, should laetrile, the apricot seed extract promoted as a cure for cancer, be tested on humans even though it has shown no ability to reduce tumors in animals?

Should saccharin be taken off the market, after a half century of use, because some mice fed large amounts of it in a Canadian study developed cancer of the bladder?

In a more general way, to what extent can the results of laboratory experiments using animals be transferred to the human animal?

"In most cases they can be transferred," says West Virginia University scientist William W. Fleming, "although there are obvious exceptions."

Fleming is chairman of pharmacology, the study of drugs, in the West Virginia University School of Medicine. These questions were put to him in an interview at his Medical Center office.

Q. How close are mice and men in their reaction to cancer-causing or cancer-curing chemicals?

A. "Virtually all chemicals that induce cancer in man will induce it in experimental animals."

"In an individual animal, new cells are constantly being made to replace old ones. Each is just like the one it came from because the genetic code in its DNA molecules is passed on from one to the next."

"A chemical or other agent that induces cancer can alter the code and lead to abnormal cells. And the basic chemistry of the code is the same in all animals, from amoeba to man."

Q. Why are rats and mice used so extensively in cancer experimentation?

A. "A principal reason is their brief life span. It averages about three years, or a ratio of less than 1 to 20 compared with humans. Since the development of tumors is related to life span — their incidence increases with age — we can study tumor development in a practical time frame."

"Mice and rats also have the great advantage of being small and inexpensive."

Q. Can we discover much about man by using animals that appear so unlike him?

A. "At the cellular level there are many similarities regardless of the size and kind of animal. For example, much of what we know about the function of the axon — the long stem of the nerve cell — was learned by research on the squid. And the knowledge is applicable to nerve cells in mammals including man."

"The mechanism of controlling blood pressure is about the same in all mammals. If a chemical reduces blood pressure in rats and dogs — and especially if it does so in both — the probability that it will lower blood pressure in humans is very good."

"The vascular systems of all mammals are quite similar. The size of the blood vessel in man is the major determining factor."

The aorta of a rat may be only as large as a small artery in a human, but they would otherwise share many of the same characteristics."

Q. How does a scientist choose a particular animal for a research project?

A. "The choice depends to a large extent on what is being investigated. It may differ depending on whether the digestive, vascular, muscular, endocrine or whatever system is being studied."

"Monkeys and other primates, for example, are very expensive to use, yet they're invaluable for certain studies such as those involving the female reproductive system and its problems."

"For other types of research, for example in the heart and blood vessels, other animal models are as reliable and far less expensive."

"There are, of course, important differences between man and animals. Picking the right animal is an important part of a research project."

(Some 40 years ago Dr. Edward J. Van Lier of WVU used goats for part of his pioneering research on hypoxia — lack of oxygen — because goats have a normally low blood sugar count and the study included effects of hypoxia on blood sugar levels.)

"In recent years a WVU research team used opossums in a study of rejection processes in organ transplants. The choice was based on the fact that opossums have a brief gestation period and the newborn then remain in the mother's pouch for many days, available for study in a way fetuses are not."

Q. How much assurance can we have that a drug will work on humans as it did on experimental animals?

A. "We never have absolute assurance, which is why eventual testing with humans is needed before a drug is made generally available. As a practical matter, we are probably right about 95 percent of the time, but in areas like this involving human life and health we would like it to be 100 percent."

"Much depends, however, on the urgency of the problem. For example, a substitute for aspirin has little urgency because aspirin does its job so well. Thus many animal studies would be done before a substitute would be tried in man."

"A new chemical to treat cancer is an entirely different matter and side effects aren't as important. Less animal work would be needed before trying the chemical in man. Nevertheless, the new drug would not be tried in man until it was shown to be effective against tumors in animals."

Q. Could laetrile help control cancer in humans if it has no effect on cancer in animals?

A. "Up to this time, every drug or chemical we know of that works against cancer in humans will help control cancer in experimental animals."

Q. Will large amounts of saccharin cause cancer in humans as it did in mice in the Canadian studies?

A. "That's more difficult to say. The daily doses to which the mice were exposed were far higher than man is normally exposed to. The answer can only be obtained by an extensive, careful comparison of humans who have used saccharin for many years with those who haven't used it."

"My personal opinion is that the evidence obtained in mice is a warning that such a (human) study must be made — but not enough reason to remove saccharin from the market."

Q. Does most drug research with animals involve testing new drugs and how is the testing done?

A. "Many studies are being done on drugs already in use as well as on entirely new ones. We need to know a great deal more about how the known drugs act, how they produce their effects, so they can be improved and put to better therapeutic use."

"The first step in evaluating a new drug or chemical agent is to test its effectiveness, its ability to do a job. Next is testing for safety, learning the possible side effects. Only after a drug has passed both of those tests in animals is it certified for testing with human patients."

"I would estimate that in a year's time the U. S. Food and Drug Administration gives final approval, for full scale use and sale, to less than a dozen new drugs."

A young man from Accident who was injured last Thursday afternoon in a motorcycle-car collision on Route 219 has been released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Kenneth Beitzel, 25, was operating his motorcycle north on Route 219, near Sand Flat, when he hit the side of the car he was following, as the driver of the car attempted to make a left turn.

Roxanne D. Shope, 19, of Mt. Lake Park, was operator of the car. The accident happened about 1:45 p.m., according to state police who investigated.

Mr. Beitzel was taken to the hospital by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. He had first been listed in satisfactory condition following the mishap.

Garrett County Nearly Last In State Bond Sales

Garrett County is lagging in bond sales this year, ranking 23 out of the 24 counties and Baltimore City through July.

By the end of that month, the county had sold $372,128 worth of E & H bonds, 47 percent of the 1977 quota of $800,000.

Calvert county was first in the state, with 70 percent of its quota, while Caroline county was last with 46 percent.

At this same time last year, $409,985 in bonds had been sold.

The state has attained 54.1 percent of the 1977 quota of $199,100,000. Nationwide, Americans purchased more E and H bonds in July than in any July since 1962 when H bonds first became available.

Cub Hill Cloggers Plan "Stomp Down" Dance For Autumn Glory

Entertainment new this year at the annual Autumn Glory festival will be the kick-and-stomp dancing of the Cub Hill Cloggers, one of the few clogging groups in the tri-state area.

In gingham dresses or western shirts, the women and men pound their feet into the floor, in this instance a plywood platform they carry with them.

Clogging, which originated across the Atlantic in England and Ireland, has two basic movements, two shuffles and two stomps on each foot. Modern clogging is an offshoot from the Appalachian mountains, where it is said early dancers hammered tin cans tops to the soles and heels of their shoes.

The dance is also said to be the forerunner of jazz tap dancing, and is done to bluegrass and old time music.

The Cub Hill group rehearses sometimes in square dance patterns, sometimes in a line, in a defunct funeral establishment in north Baltimore. Reportedly, while some dancers rehearse new steps, others sit on an old coffin and watch.

This past summer they made an appearance at the White House, performing for the president and his guests. They have also brought their unique type of music to many festivals, fairs and other gatherings of down-home folks.

The Cloggers will be providing their unique entertainment Saturday, October 15, from 10 a.m. through 2 p.m., and again after the feature parade, in downtown Oakland. Their visit is sponsored by the Downtown Oakland Merchants and Businessmen's Association.

Garrett County's child abuse and neglect team has recently appointed a coordinator to assist them in their efforts to combat the effects of child abuse and neglect. Ms. Ann Abrahamson will be serving the team as coordinator of its activities.

The multi-disciplinary team was organized in the Summer of 1975. It is composed of representatives from the Department of Social Services, the Board of Education, The Health Department, Juvenile Services, Head Start and Child Development. The team meets each month to exchange information between agencies on the subject of child abuse and neglect. The overall team effort is directed toward the need for developing preventive programs, educating the public, and motivating individuals and organizations to take affirmative action on the problems of child abuse and neglect, according to Ms. Abrahamson.

One of the team's objectives is to inform the public that Maryland State law requires all citizens to report any suspicion of child abuse to the Department of Social Services or the State Police and that the person reporting is not required to identify himself.

"The team stresses that when you report you are not 'turning in' a parent or even just protecting a child — you may be saving a family — because child abuse has two victims — the child and the parent. Both need help," Ms. Abrahamson stated.

are Linda Giotfelty, Kathy Wright, Dr. Mark Sugar, Rudy Cvetnick, Mary I. Love, Wayne Witt, William Ferry and Kathryn Speicher.

Ours was one of those families. They all went to church but me, the broadwinner!

Sure, the others invited me. They coaxed me. Sometimes they almost pushed me.

But, let's face it: I figured I wasn't the church-going type. And I resented being urged. After all, it's a free country!

It's a free country. THAT is what got me started. We live in a land where men can believe in God and worship Him according to their conscience. People who believed and worshipped inside this country what it is. And millions are still trying to keep it that way.

So one Sunday morning I asked myself: Just which side are you on?

From that practical beginning I have gone on to find strength and happiness with my family in the church we attend every Sunday.

My problem was getting started. Maybe it's yours!

HOW CAN YOU TELL?

Lesson for September 11, 1977

Background Scripture: Titus 2:11-13
Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 5:16-21

A little boy was listening intently while the guest preacher was describing what he considered to be "true Christian disciples." As the preacher went on to indicate and illustrate qualities of love, understanding, kindness, and sacrificial service, the little boy turned to his mother and asked, "Mom, do we know any of those people?"

Apparently the Christians responded to her. The preacher was describing didn't sound at all like the ones the little boy knew. We can appreciate the little boy's confusion, for we would have to admit that often it is rather difficult to tell the Christian from the non-Christian on the basis of what we can observe. To be sure, some people wear ornamental crosses round their necks or in their lapels, some sport religious bumper stickers or badges, but for the most part it is often difficult to tell one from the other.

Stupid controversies

Actually, the Epistle to Titus gives us both a positive and negative model. It is ironic that many who consider themselves as "model Christians" Titus indicates as the wrong model. For example, as his negative model he cites the following:

Registration Cards Open To Investigation

Attorney General Francis B. Burch, in an opinion requested by State Administrator of Elections Willard A. Morris, has advised that any person is entitled to inspect and copy voter registration cards. He added that the law imposes no restrictions on that right unless the local election Board makes a special order or reasonable regulation to the contrary.

Mr. Burch said that registration records, such as registration cards, are clearly public records not privileged or made confidential by law and are subject to disclosure under the State's public information law.

Attorney General Burch said access to voter registration lists compiled from the registration records, is regulated by a different law which prohibits use of the list "for purposes of commercial solicitation or other business purposes," but otherwise permits disclosure and access. Responding to inquiries from Mr. Morris, on the application of this statutory ban on use of lists for solicitation by nonprofit organizations, Mr. Burch said that:

While this statute is obviously designed to provide easy access to voter registration lists for those interested in contacting the registered voter in a given precinct or precincts for political purposes, such as campaigning, surveying public opinion, etc., it explicitly prohibits the use of those lists only for 'commercial solicitation or other business purposes.'

The sweeping language of the law would appear to prevent even a private nonprofit, noncharitable organization from using the lists for commercial purposes, Mr. Burch said. Nonprofit charitable organizations are already prohibited by State law from soliciting for a commercial or business purpose, and thus could not use the lists for such reasons, he added.

Woman Has First Plane Ride On 89th Birthday Friday

A LaVale woman, formerly of Friendsville, celebrated her 89th birthday in the air Friday, as something she always wanted to do.

Mrs. Clara Grove, took off from the Cumberland Municipal Airport at 7 p.m. in her grandson's Cherokee airplane and spent about 15 minutes in the air, getting a bird's eye view of Cumberland and her LaVale neighborhood.

Part of the thrill came from outdoing her brother, Earl Bowser, of Accident, who took his first plane ride two years ago, on his 85th birthday.

Mrs. Grove, now an invalid, was born in Friendsville and grew up on a farm near that community. She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Mae Shrader, at the LaVale address. Mrs. Schrader's son Don is the one who owns the plane.

For her 65th birthday, Mrs. Grove had decided to find out for the first time what a motorcycle ride was like, and although she enjoyed it, she said the airplane ride was her biggest thrill.

Riley Completes Freshman Activities

Jack C. Riley, Oakland is among some 620 freshmen who completed "Knob Week" at The Citadel on Aug. 29. Upperclassmen registered Aug. 30 and began classes Aug. 31.

Following traditions evolved at the military college since its founding in 1842, freshmen cadets are indoctrinated during a week of concentrated training. This enables the new cadets to take their places as members of the South Carolina Corps of Cadets.

During "Knob Week" the freshmen underwent instruction in drill, college regulations, honor system, traditions of The Citadel, and other training necessary to assist each new cadet in acclimating himself well in the classroom and on the parade ground.

Riley is the son of Col. and Mrs. J. A. Riley, 321 North Third Street.

Association To Meet On Tuesday

The Deer Park Civic Association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Madigan, Church Street, Tuesday evening and unanimously agreed to meet on the first Tuesday of each month with time set at 7:30 p.m.

Various projects were discussed at the meeting including the possibility of sponsoring an ice rink for the town as well as assisting the mayor and town council in the annual Halloween party to be announced. Both projects were tabled until a committee could be formed.

Other discussions centered around a proposal to honor distinguished citizens with a memorial to be dedicated in the town park. An investigation will be conducted into the lives of names mentioned for possible memorials and will be available for discussion at the next general meeting.

In addition, the association hopes to meet with the mayor and town council to request permission to use the town hall as a permanent center for meetings. The request will be proposed at the next council meeting Monday evening.

News From — The American Lung Association

A great many unfortunate things can happen to infants - hyaline membrane disease, a foreign body in the throat, cystic fibrosis or near-drowning, to name just a few - that might cause them to stop breathing. In tiny babies it is often difficult to do the delicate procedures needed to save their lives when disease or accident threatens to end them, according to the American Lung Association of Maryland.

That's why Dr. Ralph W. Rucker, of the University of California in Irvine, was happy to report to a meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics that there are three new tools that baby doctors can use to aid infants in distress. The three have multiple applications.

One of the new gadgets is the fiberoptic bronchoscope. An ordinary rigid bronchoscope cannot be inserted into the throat and down into the lungs of an infant without anesthesia and a serious danger to breathing. The bundle of flexible glass fibers that make up the fiberoptic type can go down a tiny throat without seriously interfering with breathing. Its ability to bend easily can make visible to the doctor all areas of the pharynx, larynx and large breathing tubes.

The use of a radioactive gas that can be scanned with an instrument outside the chest enables the physician to tell how well a baby is breathing and how its air intake is getting around to all parts of the lungs. The older use of an X-ray for this purpose is not nearly as effective. The third new gadget is a membrane oxygenator - a machine that adds oxygen directly to an infant's blood flowing through it, to overcome the usually fatal failure of the lungs to do the job.

Saving babies with breathing problems is one of the interests of the American Lung Association, the "Christmas Seal" people. They Care About Every Breath You Take.

Smokers and nonsmokers are learning how to live - and work - together, with some help from their local Lung Association.

Mutual consideration is a relatively recent development between smokers and nonsmokers - in public places, at home or at work. However, attitudes are changing fast. One dramatic example of a voluntary effort to resolve the issue of smoking - no smoking on the job took place recently at an airport near Jacksonville, Florida. The 568 air traffic controllers worked out a trial compromise among themselves. The trial policy permits each employee to smoke no more than one cigarette an hour, either at his post or away from it.

The Federal Aviation Agency as well as management and union representatives asked the Florida Lung Association to help prepare the controllers for the new policy. Seven ninety-minute programs were held in a two-week period. The Lung Association presented facts about the physiological and psychological effects of tobacco smoke on smokers and nonsmokers. The association also suggested ways both groups can cooperate and live happier in the work situation. A guest physician conducted an open discussion with the controllers.

Air controllers are in a highly sensitive, extraordinarily skilled profession, and their instant reactions may affect the lives of thousands of people. The disturbing effects of smoke on nonsmokers and smokers include raised levels of carbon monoxide in the blood. Increased levels of this gas can affect the speed of reaction time, motor coordination, and visual perception in individuals. The issue of smoking in such sensitive jobs, including those in airplane cockpits, is especially critical. But it is important everywhere.

To find out more about how to resolve the dilemma between smokers and nonsmokers contact the American Lung Association of Maryland, Allegany-Garrett Council, P. O. Box 404, Cumberland, Md. 21502.

It was announced by Commander Earl Boyce, VFW Post #1077, Oakland, that a special business meeting will be held at the Oakland Post Sept. 10, beginning at 2 p.m.

A District meeting of the VFW is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 11, at the Friendsville Post #469 beginning at 2 p.m.

Thirteen Killed Last Week On State Highways

Thirteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed seven were drivers, two were passengers and four were pedestrians.

One of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

The summer's last long week-end saw fewer traffic deaths in Maryland than were recorded on many normal week-ends.

Newspapers, radio and television stations devote time, effort and many dollars to bring safety campaigns to the attention of the public. Many similar programs, on a smaller scale, are being carried out throughout the State. The results? Well, the holiday weekend came and went, leaving four traffic deaths behind.

A tragic toll, to be sure, but lower than last year when a total of six was recorded. In 1976 there were 14 killed. Many ordinary week-ends result in more than 25 deaths.

Persons killed through September 4 total 435, just four less than for the same period last year.

Adoption Will Be

Topic Of New Group

Adoptive parents, prospective adoptive parents, and others interested in adoption will meet Friday, September 16, at 9 a.m. in the basement of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The purpose of the group is to support families and provide information exchange before, during and after placement.

Children are welcome to accompany parents and wish to apply for adoption should contact the Garrett County Social Services department or private agencies. There should be an attitude of flexibility in making such applications, as most of the children who are being adopted today were previously considered unadoptable or hard to place. This includes older children, those from minority groups, the handicapped, or children from other countries.

Questions regarding the new group may be directed to Mrs. Richard (Barbara) Morris or Mrs. Richard (Sue) Seaks.

Hunting Regulations Listed For Parks

A limited number of acres of undeveloped State parklands will be open again this year for regulated hunting. The Maryland Park Service announced today that during the season, from October 15 to February 15, hunting will be permitted in designated areas of Calvert Cliffs, Chapel Point, Cunningham Falls, Deep Creek Lake, James Island, Patuxent River, Rocky Gap, Seneca Creek, Tuckahoe, Cedarville and St. Mary's River.

The areas designated for hunting are undeveloped, and in each instance where hunting is to be permitted, a buffer zone of at least 150 feet will be maintained between developed areas and open ground.

Visitors who wish to use the parks for other forms of recreation will be referred to places in the parks where hunting is not taking place.

Hunting areas will be adequately marked with metal signs, as will be areas where hunting is prohibited. Signs will be highly visible, and Park Service officials state that there will be no mistaking of the borders.

Hunting in State parks is subject to all State, Federal and local regulations that govern hunting elsewhere in Maryland, and in addition certain other conditions must be met. A valid hunting license and public lands stamp must be held by any person hunting in the State parks.

Park personnel and officers of the Inland Division of the Natural Resources Police will enforce the regulations.

All game birds and animals except fox and raccoon may be hunted; however, the construction of stationary blinds is prohibited. Use of shooting stands is limited to those of a temporary nature which must be removed at the end of each hunt. Trapping is only allowed by special permit.

Turkey may be hunted during the spring season established by the Maryland Wildlife Administration only at Cunningham Falls, Deep Creek Lake, Rocky Gap and Seneca.

Shotgun, black powder firearms and bow and arrow hunting will be permitted in the designated areas. Rifles and handguns will be permitted only at Cunningham Falls.

The number of hunters in any area will be controlled by the park superintendent who will limit hunting to one hunter per fifty acres. The Park Service will reserve the right to turn away hunters from areas where maximum numbers have been reached.

For general hunting information persons should call Maryland Wildlife Administration or the Superintendent of any state park listed where hunting is permitted.

Visitors who wish to use the parks for other forms of recreation will be referred to places in the parks where hunting is not taking place.

Hunting areas will be adequately marked with metal signs, as will be areas where hunting is prohibited. Signs will be highly visible, and Park Service officials state that there will be no mistaking of the borders.

AMA HEALTH TIPS

HOW TO CUT YOUR DOCTOR BILLS

The cost of treating a serious illness or accidental injury most often is unanticipated and always is unwanted. Often it is not included in the family financial plan and often it presents an extra expense on top of an already tight budget.

Like all other living expenses, the price of medical treatment has risen in recent years. But, says the American Medical Association, there are still a number of ways in which you can stretch your medical dollar and at the same time get better protection for yourself and your family.

Have a family doctor. He will keep a permanent record of your medical history, which may save duplicating many expensive and time-consuming tests. He will know your background and be better able to tell promptly if anything is wrong.

Don't wait too long. Many people try to save money on medical bills by not seeing the doctor until they are seriously ill. This not only defeats the purpose of preventive medicine, the only sound way to preserve your health, but it also is more expensive in the long run.

Have regular checkups. Early detection obviously offers a better chance to control and cure disease.

Go to the doctor's office. House calls are not only more expensive, they also are less efficient. Without his office equipment and his trained staff, your physician cannot perform a complete examination. The doctor can give you better care, sooner and at less expense in his office.

Use the telephone. This not only saves money but also often makes good medical sense. A family doctor who has examined you regularly can sometimes advise you over the phone about minor health problems. For anything that seems serious he will ask you to come to his office to be examined.

Follow your doctor's orders. If you refuse to follow the advice you solicit and pay for, you are throwing your money away.

Buy health insurance. Health insurance is a bargain considering the shattering effects on the family finances that prolonged illness can have. Buy as much as you can afford but especially protect yourself against the catastrophic expenses of serious illness.

Take allowable tax deductions. Doctor bills, hospital bills and drug costs not covered by insurance, and beyond a certain percentage of your income, may be claimed as deductions for tax purposes.

Short Run, Hoyes and Fike were among the letters printed in this newspaper during the spring and summer of 1968, and contributed a great deal to the pleasures of many who read the news from those communities. For instance, one item in particular from Fike went as follows: "Some unknown parties carried away one of Mr. Bert Watson's out-buildings a few hundred yards from where it was built and sawed off the roof." Fortunately the culprits chose nice spring weather to play a prank. Imagine having nature call in midwinter only to face the occasion without a covering?

span Cherry Creek on the road leading South from Oakland to Sunnyside. In Oakland, work resumed in April of '68, to construct a new courthouse on Third Street. Work had been halted due to the cold winter. The project was expected to be completed in the fall.

In Bittinger, a news correspondent aptly described an impending wedding in the community when words formed the following paragraph: "Judging from the breadth of smiles on certain faces, we predict a wedding in the near future which will be making two Garrett County teachers into one."

Advertised in The Republican were comforts offered by the Maryland Agricultural College located at College Park. "Steam heat, lights, good books, laundry, board and medical attention are available at our college. Also available is a sanitarium for isolation of any student patient with contagious diseases." Now, that last statement certainly makes a prospective scholar want to rush out and sign up, doesn't it? The college is now part of the University of Maryland.

At the Opera House in Oakland, the "Modern Remedy Company" was booked and a full house was expected to see the show. The company was said to have the very best traveling medicine show and that they had every cure imaginable in their bottles. The lucky person holding a winning ticket was supposed to receive a diamond ring and gold watch. Following up the story, this reporter was unable to find a winner's name, nor mention of the ring or watch given away. According to news of the show, the medicine offering was well attended.

In 1968, seven passenger trains of the B & O Railroad were regularly passing through Oakland and the Mountaintop stations. Today, there are only two such stops.

An article written by the editor back in the spring of '68, was geared towards the subject of advertisement which stated, "Moses was the first journalist, because he wrote on tablets of stone, but Noah went him one better and advertised."

When the world you've always known,
Is shattered by the tears,
To watch the way he'd grown,
And loved him all these years,
You never said the way you felt,
Or told him that you cared,
Now all those years, they seem to melt,
You hurt, he isn't there,
You remember things when he was small,
And how you fought at times,
And how he stood so very tall,
I love you, brother of mine,
It's true, you've gone, and left behind,
The rest to carry on,
We'll meet again some other time,
We won't forget you, Ron,

This project is currently in the Department's Consolidated Transportation Program (1978-1982). However, construction activity is projected beyond the program period because of time required to complete project planning, project design and right of way acquisition. This meeting is one of the initial steps in meeting Federal and State requirements to progress the project in an expeditious manner to construction.

Farmers Warned About Spreading Noxious Weeds

Maryland farmers are warned to guard against spreading noxious weeds by using on-farm cover crop seed supplies this year.

Gus Day, Chief of the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Turf and Seed Section, says that samples collected so far of cover crop seeds being kept on farms show abnormally high levels of noxious weed seeds.

The problem was first spotted by Inspector Carroll Zimmerman. Tests in the seed lab confirmed Mr. Zimmerman's suspicions.

It is a common practice on many Maryland farms to retain cover crop seeds after harvest.

Farmers use the seed to plant a cover crop after fall harvests of corn and soybeans and usually aren't too particular about seed quality because they don't intend to harvest the cover crop for grain. The practice has grown in recent years due to Maryland agriculture's switchover to no-till cultural practices. Mr. Day says, "Farmers should make sure their cover crop seed supplies for use this fall are cleaned and tested. It would be false economy to unwittingly spread noxious weeds which would prove great trouble next spring."

The problem this year is a hangover for abnormal weather conditions earlier this year which saw the weeds — such as cockspur, quackgrass and thistle — set abundant seed quantities right at small grain harvest time.

Farmers who would like to have their cover crop seed supplies tested are asked to call Mr. Day at the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Maryland joined neighboring states in a war on cigarette bootlegging.

VOLUME 101 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1977 PER COPY 15c NUMBER 29

65 And Still Kicking . . .

A long, difficult struggle by many Americans will hopefully come to an end some time this month. A bill prohibiting mandatory retirement will reach the floor of the House in mid-September and sponsors of the bill predict that it will pass by at least two-thirds vote.

The passage of this bill seems long overdue. The fight against racial, sexual and religious discrimination has gone on for years, with great strides being made, and all the while age discrimination has thrived almost unchallenged.

To tell a person he can no longer work, using only his age as a basis for that order, is to deny him (or her) a fundamental human right. There is no written law that says a person becomes physically and mentally unfit for work on the morning of his 65th birthday. Arbitrary age does not define an end to productivity. With the ongoing march of science and improved health care, age 65 is becoming younger all the time.

Mandatory retirement often destroys incentive and creates a feeling of worthlessness, not to mention the shockingly real loss of income. Social Security can hardly make up the difference.

Given the free choice, most Americans will still probably retire at around 65. Retirement can be one of the finest periods of a person's, or couple's, life, if that is what is desired and if it can be afforded. However, it must be a free choice, regardless.

A quote from the September American Association of Retired Persons News Bulletin states that "Older Americans should be allowed to let their performance be a guide as to when they should retire."

We agree.

Volunteers Now Collecting To Help Fight Lung Disease

Volunteers to help collect money to fight Cystic Fibrosis, the leading inherited incurable killer of children, will be going door to door this month throughout the county.

Chairmen of the various areas are Mrs. Edgar Harman, Accident; Mrs. Janet Hinebaugh, Crellin; Mrs. J. J. Clatterbuck, Deer Park; Mrs. Jane Fox, Friendsville; Mrs. Edward Hassenbuehr, Grantsville.

Mrs. George Brady, Jr., Kitzmiller; Mrs. Ray Dintaman, Loch Lynn; Mrs. Harold Harsh, Mt. Lake Park; Miss Ada May Welch, Oakland; Mrs. Ray Helmick, Poadville; Mrs. Troy Goecky, Pleasant Valley; Mrs. James Shank, Red House; Mrs. Lowell Coddington, Sand Flat; and Mrs. Curtis Miller, Swanton.

Cystic Fibrosis is often misdiagnosed as pneumonia, chronic bronchitis, asthma, cellular disease, and malnutrition.

Signs of this lung and gastrointestinal disease in children are recurrent wheezing, persistent coughing with excessive mucus; pneumonia more than once; excessive appetite with poor weight gain; enlargement of the fingertips; salty taste of skin and persistent diarrhea.

Any child with one or more of these signs should be examined by a physician at a CF center. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Maryland chapter of Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, 941 Loch Raven Blvd., 2D, Baltimore, Md. 21204.

Proposal Requires Only A Portion Of State Overpayment

A Board of Public Works proposal now before a General Assembly joint committee could require that only a portion of overpayments the state made to Garrett Community College will need to be repaid.

The agreement which may be delayed until an attorney general's ruling is made — will mean that GOC will be responsible only for $109,380 instead of its total overpayment of $475,050.

At a meeting in Annapolis this week, the legislature's Joint Budget and Audit Committee reviewed the overpayments, which are the result of contracts four community colleges in the state had with the Regional Cultural and Education Development Association, Inc. (RCEDA).

The Board of Public Works has already reviewed the problem and endorsed a suggestion by the State Board of Community Colleges that the colleges be required to repay only a portion of the overcharges because of severe hardship full restitution would place on the colleges.

But Sen. Meyer M. Emanuel (D, Prince George's), chairman of the joint budget committee, raised a question about

Company Making False Claims Of Endorsement

The Garrett County Board of Education spent a major part of their regular meeting Thursday, September 8, in receiving reports on curriculum development in various aspects of the school program. A major emphasis is being placed on written curriculum development and implementation as a result of a needs and assessment project to which citizens, staff, and students provided input.

Following this study the Board adopted a resolution giving the staff of the superintendent guidance in establishing priorities for developing and implementing improved programs.

The major emphasis in developing written curriculum the past school year was in reading, language arts, and health education areas. The working copies of the reading and language arts programs were approved by the Board of Education to be used in the schools of the county. Reports were also given in science, physical education, career-educational education, and in citizenship by staff who are providing leadership in these areas.

Albert R. Ringer, Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction, indicated the emphasis on developing written programs as opposed to the conventional textbook approach has required a readjustment in utilizing the time of supervisory and resource personnel and that he is pleased with the progress being made in curriculum development.

Herbert G. Harman, school board president, expressed satisfaction with the reading and language arts guides and indicated his desire that a similar approach be used in evolving a science curriculum.

Mr. Harman also cited some concerns which he believed the newly formed Career-Vocational Education Curriculum Committee should seek creative solutions too. Among these concerns were (1) not all students get their first choice of vocational programs, (2) all boys and girls are not being exposed to some of the experiences needed to assist them in getting in appropriate vocational programs, and (3) there is a need for planned career education experiences designed to help students make wiser choices about future educational programs.

Dr. William H. Buser, Superintendent of Schools, in commenting this week indicated he is enthusiastic about the efforts being made by the staff in curriculum development and improvement. He also stated he believed the school system was responding in keeping with the local needs assessment study, the biases of the State Board of Education, and recently enacted legislation at the state level concerning the HAPPY ENDING — Cold and weary, but in good condition, were these four children early Monday morning after being lost for some 14 hours. The four wandered away from their homes in Loch Lynn Sunday afternoon and spent the sub-freezing night outside. This photo was taken at approximately 4:30 a.m. Monday, a few moments after the foursome was found walking along the Ben DeWitt Road south of Oakland. Pictured, left to right, are Jay Shawn Dixon, 7, Amy Lynn Dixon, 11, Brenda Ellen Rhodes, 9, and Rebecca Sue Rhodes, 11. (See separate story.)

Four Children Found Unharmed After Long Search

A sixteen-hour search for four Loch Lynn children ended on a happy note at approximately 4:30 Monday morning when they were found unharmed along the Ben DeWitt Road, some six miles from their homes. The four spent the 30-degree night under some loose hay in a field.

Lost were Amy Lynn Dixon, 11, Jay Shawn Dixon, 7, Brenda Ellen Rhodes, 9, and Rebecca Sue Rhodes, 11. Members of the CB Search and Rescue Team along with State Police, Garrett County Deputies and dozens of other volunteers began the search after their parents reported them missing at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The four had left their homes to play at 3:00 p.m.

Members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department were summoned to join the search at 5:20 a.m. Monday. Just as a large search party was being organized at daybreak at the Loch Lynn ball field, word was received that the children were found by Donald Giotto, of the Ben DeWitt Road. Mr. Giotto then brought the children to the ball field where they were checked by members of the rescue squad. All seemed to be in good condition.

Any Dixon stated that they were following a stream and then got lost. She said that they came to a road, "but some teenagers were hollering up and down the road and scared us."

Some time after dark the four approached a farm house, but were scared away by some dogs. It was then they decided to crawl under some hay and spend the night.

Jay and Amy are the children of Mrs. Barbara Dixon, Loch Lynn, and Paul Dixon, Jr., New Hope, Va. Brenda and Rebecca are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Rhodes, Loch Lynn.

County Receives $78,000 Grant Through HUD

A $78,000 Community Development Block Grant program for Garrett County was approved by the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development under the provisions of Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

In a letter to Don S. Bender, Chairman of the Garrett County Commissioners, Everett H. Rothschild, Director of the Baltimore Office of HUD, approved funds for structural rehabilitation and sanitary rehabilitation activities, as well as improvements to the Shalimar Water System and program administration. This is the second year that Garrett County has applied for and received funds under this program.

The primary objective of the program is the development of viable communities including decent housing, a suitable living environment, and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income.

Traffic Light To Be Installed Soon

It was reported by Senator Ed Mason this week that a traffic light would be installed at the intersection of Weber Road and U. S. Rt. 155, East Oakland, within the next month.

According to Senator Mason, Hawkins Electric Company of College Park was low bidder for the project that will begin in a few days. The work will be completed within the next month.

Grand Jurors Give One Indictment, Recommendations

The September term of the Grand Jury was in session two days, September 13 and 14, and concluded its investigations with one indictment and a report on county buildings.

The Jury examined three witnesses and returned one bill of indictment. The name of the person indicted will be released as soon as he is apprehended by law officers.

William D. Dressman had been appointed foreman of the 25-member Jury. Mrs. Anne Bell was appointed as clerk and Charles Thomas door-keeper.

A welcome opened Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer's remarks to the jury Tuesday, and he then went on to tell the panel something of the history of the Grand Jury, the duties expected of the group, and his appreciation of the service rendered the state.

He cautioned them that it was not their function to decide whether a person is guilty or innocent but simply to determine whether or not there is sufficient evidence against him to require him to stand trial. He advised the group that the State's Attorney, Ralph M. Barnett, would be their legal advisor to help with information and procedural questions which might arise, and he also told them of their obligation to keep all deliberations secret.

Judge Thayer then called the attention of the group as a representative body of citizens, to a serious social problem, that of child abuse.

The Judge stated that child abuse is far more widespread than cases which are tried in

Man Charged In Shooting Incident At Stonehenge Inn

A Frostburg man was injured early Saturday morning during an incident at Stonehenge Inn, six miles west of Frostburg.

Robert Gene Passarelli, 26, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital suffering from a gunshot wound in the right foot. Charged with assault with intent to murder is Robert Larry Rush, 42, of Route 2, Frostburg.

Rush was taken to the Garrett County Jail following the 1:05 a.m. incident, and was later released on $2,500 bond.

No date has been set for the trial.

According to the state police report, the shooting apparently occurred as the result of an argument which was begun earlier inside the tavern.

Witnesses said both men left the building and went to the adjacent parking lot where the disagreement continued. Those watching said that at one point in the fracas, the accused went to his vehicle and got a rifle.

Investigating the incident were Tfc. D. E. Sharp and Cpl. T. G. Landler.

SEARCH PARTY — Volunteers from the Search and Rescue Team, Oakland Fire Department, and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad congregated Monday morning in Loch Lynn just before daybreak to continue the search for four lost children who wandered off Sunday afternoon from that area. This shot was taken just minutes before the children were found along the Ben DeWitt Road south of Oakland by Donald Giotto. All four were in good condition after spending the 30-degree night in a field under some hay. In the photo, left to right, are Donny Davis, Livergood, Sarah Garner, Linda Friend, Ed Hershman, Bill Butler, James McCartney, Mark Durst (partially hidden) and Steve Ashby. (See separate story.)

Maybe you're missing out on a good thing because nobody's explained what it's all about.

You've heard of "Certificates of Deposit," but do you know what it means? Well, it's just this simple. You invest your money for a specific time period. It could be 90 days. Or a year. Or longer. The bank gives you a Certificate with the amount and terms of your deposit clearly stated. Since we know exactly how long your money will be on deposit, we have more flexibility in investing it. And that means that we can pay you a higher rate of interest for the use of your money. More than you'd get on regular savings.

So, if you can let your money stay put for awhile, you ought to put it into Certificates at The Garrett National Bank. We have five different types of Certificates, and we'd like to explain them all to you. So come on by to see us. You have everything to gain.

COUNTRESS

but not tried, and for every case reported there are four cases which are never brought to attention of the authorities.

He asked the group to make it their business to inform friends and neighbors of the problems, and to get involved if a particular case came to their attention.

He also urged them to take action if they knew of child abuse, by calling the state police, the department of social services, or the sheriff's department to report information.

In the Grand Jury's report on conditions of county building, they recommended that the building maintenance program at the Court House be carried on as planned since renovations of the Court House and adjoining structures will take place in the next two years. The renovations will help crowded conditions and removal of the old photostat copier in the clerk's office should take place at once as it is occupying valuable office space.

At the jail, the committee found shower and bathroom facilities in extremely poor condition, dirty and unsanitary. Walls are very damp and maintaining of painted walls appears impossible.

They declared the kitchen facilities neat and clean. Sheriff John Evans requested more cars for his department as several vehicles have more than 110,000 miles.

The committee to visit the county road garage made an inspection but had no suggestions for improvements. The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Committee found the hospital to be in very good condition and kept exceptionally clean. They commended administrator Ken Richmond for his job at the hospital.

The committee then urged everyone in court to support the hospital plan to obtain a greatly enlarged wing for new beds. Mr. Richmond informed the group that the hospital is now self-sufficient financially and has not asked for any money in the new budget for the county.

A committee visited Boys Forestry Camp No. 4 located off Route 135, and reported that the grounds and buildings were well maintained and facilities cleaned on a frequent basis. However, trash is stored in old freezers outside the kitchen and classroom group discussion facilities were extremely crowded. There was also a lack of textbooks and educational materials in general. The sanitary facilities need some maintenance and modernization.

The committee commended the Ruth Enlow Library for the active and beneficial Bookmobile program and services that are provided.

The Grand Jury heard testimony from Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon, regarding renovation of the Garrett County Court House, sheriff's residence and jail. They presented drawings of the proposed construction and informed the group of the schedule of construction. The commissioners also told the Jury that the basic local costs for the new building have been paid and the forthcoming costs will be by federal funds, and that no increase in taxes can be seen as a result of the project.

The Grand Jury also heard testimony on September 13 from Ken Richmond and Tom Earley of the hospital in regard to present and future operations of the hospital.

That same day, they heard testimony from Ken Metheny of the Roads Department, in regard to road conditions, maintenance procedures and working conditions in the county garage. The county workers are to be praised for their work, especially snow removal during the recent winter.

Sheriff John Evans, Jr. gave his testimony to the Grand Jury regarding qualifications of deputies, services provided by his department to residents and control and enforcement of littering laws. On the basis of the testimony, the Jury recommended that the sheriff's department be allowed to hire two additional deputies.

George Comp also addressed the Grand Jury, telling the members of the responsibilities of the Civil Defense Agency of the county and the new County Communication system. The Jury commended Mr. Comp for his efforts with the new communications center which will be put into operation in the next few weeks.

The Grand Jury also heard testimony from Roy Arnold, dog warden, regarding crowded conditions at the county animal shelter and the Jury recommended that the commissioners investigate alternate solutions to the problems.

James Margroff appeared and gave testimony about the Department of Taxation and Assessments.

Dr. William Buser, superintendent of county schools, gave testimony regarding the county school building program and introduced the new school discipline publications. The Jury gave the Board of Education its support in the new disciplinary plan.

Proposal Requires

whether the committee's support was necessary and whether the committee's lack of endorsement for the proposal would require the colleges to repay the full amount.

A deputy attorney general attending the meeting said he did not have the answer to Sen. Emanuel's question. The committee then decided to delay action on the proposal until the attorney general's office could make a ruling.

Allegany and Garrett Community Colleges found themselves in trouble after a state audit found that some state funds had been paid to the colleges for students who were ineligible for state educational aid.

Community colleges in Maryland are funded on the basis of a full-time equivalency formula, a system which allows parttime participants of workshops, seminars and other instructional programs to be counted as students at the college.

The overpayments resulted from the colleges' counting elementary and junior high school pupils in college enrollment figures because they participated in college-sponsored programs. The accepted age for persons participating in college functions funded by the state is generally from 11th and 12th grade high school levels through adult education.

Garrett Community College was involved in the RCEDA program for three years. The state says overpayments during those years were: 1973-74, $117,458; 1974-75, $199,100; and 1975-76, $159,380.

Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden, (R., Garrett, Allegany), a member of the House Appropriations Committee, was invited to sit in on this week's joint budget committee hearing. Del. Bolden said last week that the RCEDA program was "laudable" in that it provided students in rural areas with cultural, drama, art and dancing programs not normally available to them.

But he added that there was a "mistake in judgment" on the part of the presidents of community colleges in allowing ineligible students to be counted in the formula for state education financing.

He reiterated that forcing the college to repay the amount in full would be a hardship on the colleges and would force them to submit higher budgets which taxpayers would end up paying anyway.

Finally about 8 a.m. some- one heard his calls for help and Garrett, Allegany), is a member of the joint committee and was also in attendance. He criticized the presidents of the four colleges saying they seemed to be out "to pull a fast one" when they overstated the enrollment figures at the colleges.

He is also one of several members of the committee who are asking a renewed investigation into the ineligible funding by the Attorney General's office and legislative auditors. He said that the attorney general's office should also investigate RCEDA.

He also said that although it was a difficult decision for him publicly to criticize the college presidents, he feels a responsibility to seek answers to some unresolved questions.

However, he said he agrees that requiring the colleges to repay the full amounts due would create a hardship on the colleges, and stated that he would prefer that the colleges be required to repay no money.

He also called for guarantees that such abuse will not recur. Dr. W. Ardell Haines, ACC president, is the only one of the four college presidents involved who is still a community college president.

Under the proposed agreement, GCC would have eight years to repay the $159,380 it would be responsible for. No interest would be charged the colleges by the state.

Meeting Set By Delegate Bolden

A meeting has been arranged by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden with the regional staff of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, the local ASC Committee and the local farmers who participated in the fence stabilization program.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 21, at 8:00 p.m. at the First National Bank community meeting room in Oakland. The purpose of the meeting is to explain and answer questions regarding the payment for fences that had to be replaced or repaired as a result of damage to them from the severe winter and snow removal. A member of U. S. Senator Charles M. Mathias' (R-Md.) staff, Dan Zaccagnini, and Senator Edward Mason will also be present.

Swallow Falls Man

Is Hurt In Cycle

And Car Incident

A young man from Swallow Falls is in satisfactory condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a motorcycle mishap on Swallow Falls Road near the Swallow Falls Inn Tuesday night.

According to Bernard Loony, who was taken to the hospital by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, he had spent the chilly, rainy night lying pinned underneath his motorcycle in a small clearing off the road.

He related that he was operating his motorcycle about 11 p.m. when a motorist approached in the wrong lane. The car then swerved, with the bumper catching the rear wheel of the cycle and flinging the bike and its operator first into a ditch, then on into a small clearing.

The operator of the car called out that he would get help, but never reappeared, nor did any help arrive, Mr. Loony went on.

Finally about 8 a.m. some- one heard his calls for help and sent the rescue squad. The squad almost picked up three patients — Mr. Loony, a snake which had crawled under the motorcycle operator to keep warm, and one female member of the squad who does not care for reptiles.

Mr. Loony sustained a leg injury in the mishap, but it was not immediately determined whether his femur was broken. The incident is under investigation by Tfc. E. J. Upole of the Maryland State Police.

Letter To The Editor

We were happy to read in the last issue of The Republican that Mr. Rinard, Executive Director at Community Action, has maintained Mr. Ellis, on his staff as Director of Senior Citizens Programs. Mr. Ellis has proven his ability to co-ordinate programs for the inactive Senior citizen as well as the active Senior Citizen. He and Mr. Rinard have great empathy for the inactive Senior Citizens and have been a great help to us, who are inactive to some extent. We have greatly appreciated this assistance in time of need.

Brennemans Return From Oriental Tour

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brennenman, Accident, returned in July from a two-week good-will delegation of National Water Well Association leaders to Japan, the Republic of China, the Philippines, Thailand and Hong Kong.

During the diplomatic program, delegation members met with American Embassy officials and local counterpart representatives.

The trip allowed the group to see and inspect typical water well operations and to compare methods and procedures, and was part of an official program of People-to-People International, a non-profit, non-governmental organization founded in 1956 by then President Dwight D. Eisenhower to promote world peace through international understanding.

Other highlights of the tour included a rice barge cruise on the Chao Phya River in Bangkok, a cable car ride to the top of Victoria Peak in Hong Kong, and a ride on the world's fastest train, the Kodama Bullet in Japan.

Mr. Brennenman, owner of Brennenman Well Drilling Co., has been in the well-drilling business for 27 years. He served two years on the Accident city council, and is a former mayor.

New Coaches at Southern and Northern

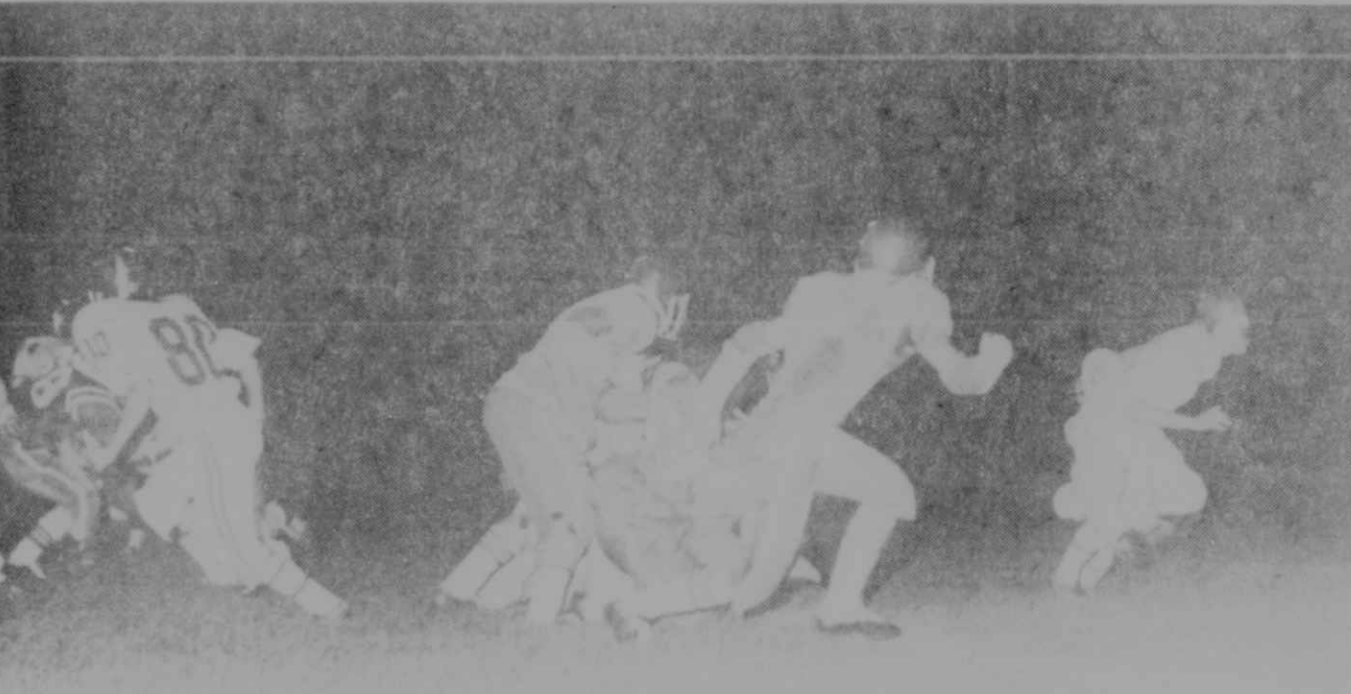

Watch Rams, Huskies Bow in Grid Openers

No. 10. The Huskies' strong defense held Berlin at the goal line until their opponents managed a field goal attempt in the third quarter. The first game of the season ended in Berlin's favor, 3-0.

The Southern High Rams came alive a quarter too late in a Friday evening game against visiting Beall to put 12 points on the board before yielding to the official clock and bowing to the Mountaineers, 29-12, before several hundred fans at the Southern field.

The Mountaineers totally dominated the game in the first half, though final statistics later proved to be about equal.

Jim Blake scored Beall's first touchdown on a four-yard run in the first quarter and also dashed for the two-point conversion.

Brock Arnone caught a Mark Ekard aerial and scored on a play that covered 19 yards in the second quarter. Blake again went over for the two-point.

Moments later, after the Rams' offense was again stopped, Bryon Arnone went over from the one for a touchdown. The two-point try failed.

The Mountaineers led at the half, 22-0.

The Frostburg squad's last tally came in the third quarter when John Adams intercepted a pass thrown by Fred Gregg and returned it 70 yards for the score. Brock Arnone kicked the conversion.

The old saying, "If we only had more time," couldn't have been more applicable to the situation in the fourth quarter.

The Rams garnered their two touchdowns in the last of the fourth on a one-yard run by John Toston and a 29-yard pass play from Fred Gregg to Reggie Messenger.

Gregg passed for 127 yards on nine successful aeri-

Brock Arnone led the Mountaineers with 17 carries for a gain of 62 yards while John Toston carried 19 times for the Rams for a total of 48 yards.

Reggie Messenger received three times for a gain in yardage of 70, while mate Steve Liller received five times for a run of 30 yards.

There was one fumble by the Rams but they recovered it in time for the save.

Penalties marked were nearly the same for both camps as the Mountaineers were penalized nine times for a loss of 85 yards to the Rams' 10 for 98 yards loss.

Southern will take on Kingwood at home tomorrow evening beginning at 8 p.m.

It was another story in the northern part of the county, when visiting Berlin High was forced to kick a field goal in the third quarter against a tough Husky defense line that repeatedly blocked Berlin's efforts to go over for a touchdown.

Larry Hankinson made the field goal for the Pennsylvanians.

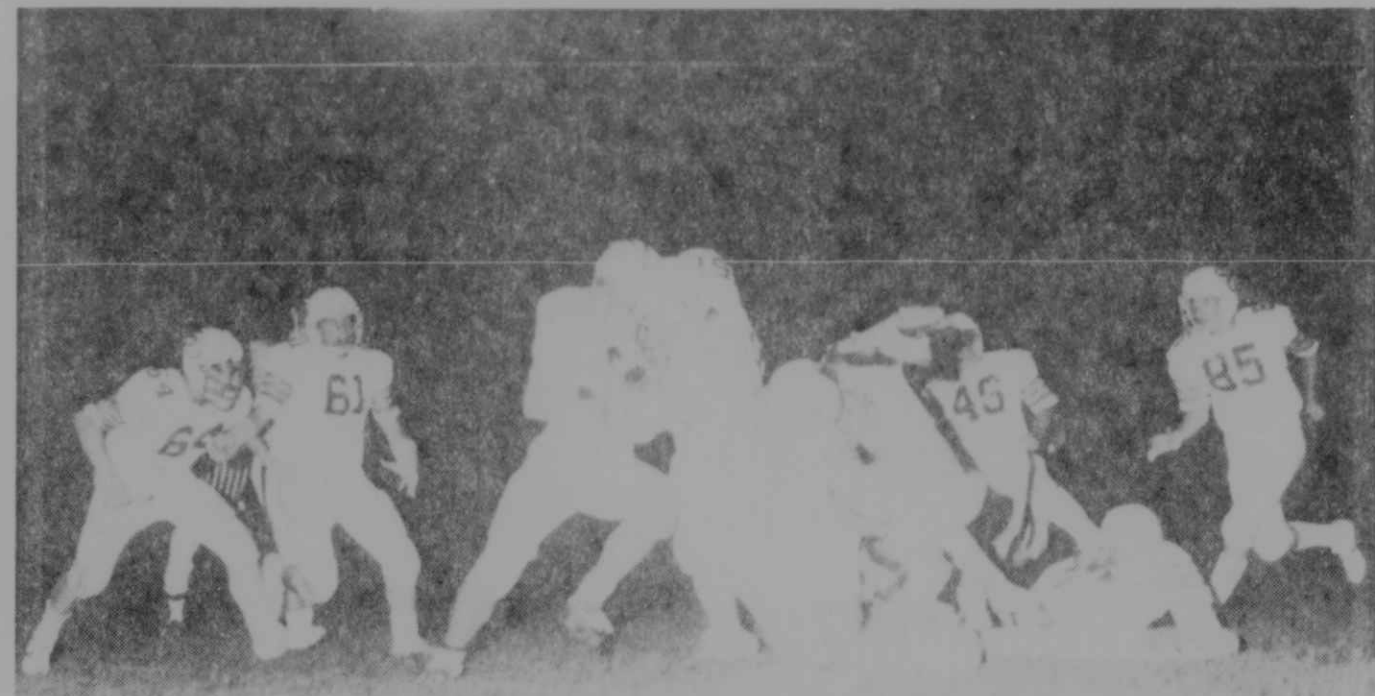

Although Kurt Lear of the Huskies team managed only 27 yards for the team's total offense, Berlin did a little better stacking up a total of 129 yards.

Excelling on the Northern squad's defensive line were Terry Brenneman, Dave Frazee, Bob Thomas and Randy Spear.

Total yards gained by the Northern Huskies were limited to 20 while Berlin racked up 99 for their tally. It was Berlin again on top in passing yardage when they recorded 30 to Northern's six.

Lakers Open Fall Season With Wins

The Garrett Community College Laker baseball team, which piled up a 31-9 record last year and a trip to the Region XX tournament, in which the team wound up in fifth place, continued its winning streak Saturday by beating South Campus of Allegheny Community College in a doubleheader, 10-5 and 9-2, at the McHenry diamond.

In the first game, it was Garrett exploding in the bottom of the third with Bill McGarvey, Mike Filosemi and Bob Varner all hitting singles. Tim Hornick sacrificed, Terry Barkey and Mike Martini singled to bring home two more runs.

Hornick started things out right again for GCC when he homered in the fifth inning. Later in that inning, Greg McGory doubled to bring home a run.

Filosemi doubled in the sixth frame and Varner singled. Barkey tripped to bring home Filosemi. Kevin Kline singled later and allowed Varner to score.

GCC racked up 15 hits in the first game with Barkey getting three, Varner three, Filosemi two and Hornick two.

Winning pitcher was Pat

Pockstaller. Relieving Pockstaller in the seventh inning was Ron Kauffman who struck out the last two batters with two men on.

In the nightcap, Fred Griffin held the visitors scoreless for three innings.

A triple was hit in the first frame by McGory and in the sixth inning Terry Barkey walked a home run. Hornick had two hits and Rex Walbaugh recorded another two for the Lakers.

Bret Hillegas relieved Griffin in the last two innings and gave up no runs or hits from the mound.

According to coach Dennis Fearnow, "I was very pleased with the team's first showing this season. The fine defensive work of the infield was super."

The GCC Lakers meet New Kensington of Freeport, Pa., at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Penn State campus.

Senior Bowling Tournament Set

The third annual Garrett County Senior Citizens Bowling Tournament will be held September 28-29 at 1 p.m. at Paramount Lanes at Oakland.

W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs for Garrett County Community Action said the championship round with the top five from the men's and women's divisions will begin at 10 a.m., September 30.

Mrs. Pearl Parsons, bowling lanes owner, said the seniors, 55 and over, will be allowed to bowl each day for only $1.50 and a dinner will be available for $1.75 each day. The entry fee for the final roll off will be the price of bowling.

Mrs. Parsons said bowlers may enter both days and the highest score would be taken for the finals.

She said seniors will bowl a three game set: 9 pin, no split and Lucky 3-6-9.

Ellis said that prizes will be awarded to the top five in each division.

Entries are available at Paramount Lanes and bowling establishments in Cumberland, Keyser, Elkins and Kingwood or at Community Action.

Last year's first place winners were James Matthews of Oakland and Mrs. Elsie Cross of Elkins. Harold Schell of Oakland and Anna Polce of Masontown finished second. Third place went to John Lafferty of Cumberland and Rose Harris of Elkins.

Some 100 bowlers are expected to compete in the tourney.

Ellis also reminded Senior Citizens of a trip to the Americana Museum in Terra Alta September 21; Wheeling, October 1, to see the Staller Brothers at Jamboree USA, and Cass, October 8, to ride the scenic railway and to see the fall foliage.

Ellis said seniors interested in a trip to Williamsburg in late October should call his office immediately.

Fall foliage trips through Garrett County will be available by calling his office.

Ellis indicated also that all services: housing, transportation, information and referral, recreation, education and others are still available through his office and urged Seniors to call him at anytime.

D.A.V. To Meet September 19

Members of the Mt. Top Disabled American Veterans Chapter 29 will hold an unscheduled meeting Monday evening, September 19, in the Oakland fire hall at 7:30 p.m.

This meeting will replace the regularly scheduled meeting of September 26.

Main topic for discussion will be participation in the Autumn Glory parade, using the same float as last year but with different decor.

The executive committee had previously discussed this idea at their meeting in Accident September 12.

DAV Auxiliary To Meet
Members of the Ladies Auxiliary will also meet that evening, September 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Judge Orders Restoration Of Right Of Way

Associate Judge James S. Getty, Allegany County, filed an opinion and order in Garrett County Circuit Court requiring the respondents in an equity suit to restore a right of way severed by the construction of a driveway across it.

Frankie W. Piper and Ruby Piper, his wife, instituted this action against Harold J. Lowdermilk and Mary Jane Lowdermilk, his wife.

Judge Getty came to Oakland to hear the case after Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer disqualified himself to hear the testimony.

The parties to the proceeding own adjoining tracts along State Route 39 just west of Oakland.

Judge Getty pointed out that all of the houses are on land 10 to 15 feet above the level of the highway. Access to the land is gained by entering an unpaved roadway north of the properties in question and traveling a 20-foot road that is parallel to State Route 39.

The road passes in front of an improved tract of land owned by McKinley Stephens and in front of the Lowdermilk dwelling and terminates at the Piper property. This roadway is about 150 feet long.

On March 30, 1955, the Lowdermilk purchased their property from McKinley Stephens and Edna Stephens, his wife. Judge Getty noted in his opinion that the deed expressly reserves the 20-foot right of way along the front of the lot conveyed to the Lowdermilk.

"The Pipers enter their home property from State Route 39 at a point south of the right of way in question. They use the right of way infrequently for vehicular use, but regularly in walking to church or to a store in a northerly direction from their home. This pedestrian use has now been rendered hazardous, if not impossible, by the depth of the cut made by the Lowdermilk," Judge Getty wrote.

"The right of way was reserved in the deed to Stephens and in the deed from Stephens to Lowdermilk. In the deed from Dilley to Piper, dated July 21, 1958, the right of way was conveyed unto the Pipers. It is axiomatic that the owner of a servient tenement cannot obstruct the easement against those who are entitled to its use in such manner as to prevent or interfere with their reasonable enjoyment," Judge Getty concluded his opinion.

His accompanying order stipulated that all the Lowdermilk "shall forthwith restore the right of way running parallel with State Route 39 to its condition prior to June 16, 1976, and they shall complete such restoration within 30 days."

Hospital Officials

Address Merchants

Kenneth Richmond, administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and Tom Earley, assistant administrator, were guest speakers at the September meeting of the Downtown Oakland Merchants and Businessmen's Association Tuesday at noon.

Mr. Richmond presented alternate proposals for hospital expansion, and explained the costs of the various proposals. He and Mr. Earley have been presenting their information to various groups and organizations in the area, and indicated their willingness to speak to any county group to explain the expansion proposals.

The administrators requested a letter of support from the Association, and this topic was deferred until the October meeting so that all members may be made aware of the proposal.

Mention was made of the Cub Hill Clogging group which will perform in downtown Oakland October 15, the day of the Autumn Glory parade. Performances will be held prior to the parade in a downtown location which will be announced later.

Autumn Glory bunting for businesses is available from Emile Germain for $25 per set. Rev. Manning Smith gave the treasurer's report, and Jerrold Stonham, chairman of the window decoration contest committee, noted that Ed Walthall was now a member of that committee.

The next meeting will be held one week earlier than usual, at noon on October 4.

Our energy-conscious world can learn an important lesson from the candle that flickers out. The problem is not that its fuel is all gone. The fuel has been dissipated so it is no longer in a usable state.

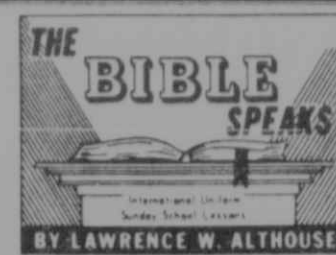

The flickering candle conveys a religious lesson, too. Some of us burn out spiritually. Not because we lack God-given resources. Because we let those resources dissolve in a hodgepodge of confusion and doubt.

The ancient Psalmist called God's Word a lamp for his feet and a light for his path.

Keep close to your church and its teaching. The spiritual resources we constantly renew cannot melt away.

BLESSINGS OR WOES?

Lesson for September 18, 1977

Background Scripture:
Luke 6:12-26
Romans 8:18-36
Devotional Reading:
Romans 8:1-11

The Beatitudes of Jesus as found in both Matthew and Luke are known and loved throughout the world. Even believers of other religions have often heard these great words and respected them. But of the four "woes" that immediately follow the four beatitudes in Luke, people know little or nothing.

One reason might be that there are no matching "woes" in the Matthew version, only in Luke. But the most likely reason is that people can much more easily identify with the Beatitudes than the "woes." It is human nature to be more attracted to promises of future prosperity, satisfaction, happiness, and approval than predictions of poverty, hunger, unhappiness, and rejection. Of course the Beatitudes appeal to us much more!

Already consoled

Yet, when we read the Beatitudes and woes in Luke 6, the so-called Sermon on the Plain, good common sense tells us that, for the most part, the woes are much more relevant to our present conditions than the Beatitudes. For example, although there are multitudes of poor people in the world, few people who read this column have ever known real poverty. Few have ever known true hunger—not the kind we feel when we deny ourselves a second helping or a rich dessert, but the kind that accompanies one to bed with an empty stomach. Few of us have ever been hated, excluded, reviled or cast out because of our adherence to the Christian faith. So, for the most part, we can hardly appreciate the promises of "the kingdom of God," of being "satisfied" of hunger, of experiencing ultimate laughter, of being vindicated in what the world judges to be humiliating discipline. One can hardly come back from a place they've never been!

The woes of middle class

But the "woes" that immediately follow the Beatitudes seem to fit our situation in life much more readily. Most of us would hardly think of ourselves as "rich," yet in the standards of the day in which Jesus spoke these words we would, most of us, be considered quite rich in material things. Today we might admit to being "middle class" or even "affluent," but let's not quibble. Jesus would have called us rich!

"Woe to you that are full now," warns Jesus, "for you shall hunger" (6:25). How many of our readers do not have enough and more—perhaps much more—than enough food? And, at least in terms of our religious affiliation, don't "men speak well" of us, isn't our religious persuasion largely accepted? It is perhaps only the category of mourning and weeping that we may not qualify for the "woes." Jesus pronounces and even that is questionable in light of the continuous and abject misery of those whom Jesus spoke of.

For the poor of Jesus' day the Sermon on the Plain was a ringing assurance of future blessing. But what might it be for us?

It was reported in one of the news columns dated June, 1921, that persons in Accident were drilling for another kind of black gold. That other kind was none other than oil. According to the column, a group in that town had drilled for days and had reached a depth of 2,770 feet before finally reaching a crude substance resembling oil. Beneath it, great quantities of salt water were found.

A new dance hall was opened at the National Inn on Negro Mountain, but one lady was noticeably absent from the opening festivities. According to a personals column, she was suddenly struck in the mouth by an automobile crank as she was engaged in starting the motor for a friend, and the band played on.

The traffic on the National Road through Grantsville was said to be the heaviest ever recorded in the early summer of '21. The Victoria Hotel, Casselman and National Hotels were all booked to capacity and many tourists had to be turned away.

Grantsville was also raving about the track and field meet held in Mt. Lake Park, of which its youth competed.

Some excerpts stated:

"Out of a total population of 300 people residing in Grantsville, nearly a third of its residents attended the track and field meet at the Park. The Grantsville girls did wonders in the volleyball contest until in the final game when they seemed to lose spirit, and allowed the Kitzmiller girls with their smiling faces to put one over on them, lost. The boys' dodgeball contest was almost a complete failure with the saving grace being a lone boy who rarely was ever given the chance to play, entered in the last few minutes and was the last to be knocked out of the ring."

And, as if the writer of that column drew a deep sigh, continued with a reference to the foot races — "Even though our boys were left in the dust, they had spirit."

Letters during the year 1921, were being received from places like Chadderton, Short Run, Hutton and McHenry. Is there a correspondent out there?

A little news item from Bloomington probably helped banks, especially in their savings department. The article stated, "A double house on Gobbler's Knob, belonging to the Silver Coal Company, burned to the ground. It was reported that quite a sum of money in greenbacks, hidden away in an old trunk, added to the brilliancy of the tall flames."

Automobiles were still rather unique to a great many people in '21, as advertised for the Amphitheatre in Mt. Lake Park was a movie showing how a Studebaker was built from bottom to top. Tickets to the showing of the film were said to be "going fast."

Speaking of shows, at the Maryland Theatre was a variety of old time favorites such as Otis Skinner in "Kismet," Harry Carey was doing his thing in "The Freeze Out," and Dorothy Dalton was starring in "Guilty of Love," a Paramount aircraft picture. With a name like Louise Lovely, film critics could hardly stay away from a movie she was starring in called, "The Little Grey Mouse."

Advertised in The Republican was some good, Gulf gas for 28 cents per gallon at the Independent Gas Station located across the street from the B&O Railroad Station in Oakland.

Also in the ads was a Mt. Lake Park drug store property that was said to be, "the best stand in the Park. With 25,000 persons booked into the hotels for the summer at the Park, the offer is fantastic." Another section of the boardwalk was being completed from the Mt. Lake Park post-office to Pilgrim's Rest. Does anybody know where Pilgrim's Rest was situated?

Big news came in June of '21, when the West Virginia University Mountaineer football squad released news of their setting up camp in Deer Park for the summer practice drills. Facilities were said to be more favorable there than at Mt. Lake Park.

Now, something for the ladies. Advertised in the personals column of Oakland, was the following request: "ATTENTION LADIES — A young, well-to-do bachelor farmer with dark curly hair and blue eyes, wishes to get acquainted with ladies who like the farm. Write to Box X, Albright, W. Va."

If you're still interested fifty-six years later, don't bother to write Box X. There's no telling what response you might get.

Mathias Bill To End Threat To Appalachian Trail

Senator Charles McMathias, Jr. (R-Md.) has introduced legislation to preserve and partially restore the Appalachian Trail, the country's most famous long distance hiking trail that travels through some of the most primitive and scenic areas of fourteen states from Mt. Katahdin, Maine, to Springer Mountain, Georgia. The Mathias bill is necessitated by the Atlantic seaboard's spreading megalopolis, which threatens parts of the trail with development that would be incompatible with the greenbelt corridor the Trail provides.

Congressman Goodloe E. Byron has also introduced similar state legislation.

Parts of the Trail are fragmented and need to be re-established where and when land is available. Several states have not been able to provide the money to acquire and maintain the Trail right-of-way. The Mathias legislation would ensure the protection of the Appalachian Trail as a continuous foot path for present and future generations to enjoy. Areas now unprotected and threatened by development could be acquired, after which the costs of operation and maintenance are minimal.

A unique feature in the development and operation of the Trail is the Appalachian Trail Conference, a federation of 63 trail clubs which devotes hours to clearing the trail, rebuilding and marking it. Members of the Conference voluntarily maintain the Trail in cooperation with the States and Federal government, performing the yeoman's part of the job without cost to the government. In fact, the cost of maintaining the Trail has been minimal.

Mathias believes now is the time to protect the trail, while parts of it can be rerouted to desirable locations without causing relocation of homes or businesses.

Senators Edward W. Brooke (R-Mass.), H. John Heinz (R-Pa.), and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) have joined Mathias in cosponsoring the bill which would amend the National Trails System Act. It would increase the present $5 million authorization level for Trail right-of-way acquisition to $89 million. The larger figure is the National Park Service's best estimate for mapping, surveying, title searches, acquisition and payment in lieu of taxes for those portions of the Trail most threatened by encroachment. Eminent domain property that could be acquired in any one mile is increased from 25 to 125 miles, permitting a much wider trail right-of-way depending on the surrounding land uses. But Senator Mathias emphasized that, "... these amendments are not intended to take any land out of active farming or timbering. Both uses are compatible with the Trail and help to enhance the Trail experience."

The bill would also reconstitute the Appalachian Trail Advisory Council to conform to requirements of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, and make the Council's Administration consistent with most other National Parks advisory committees in the payment of travel and attendant expenses, term of appointment of members, and termination date. The fourteen state members, one from each state, presently are not reimbursed when they travel out of their respective states to attend the Council's meetings.

A pioneer of regional planning, Benton MacKaye, put forth the original concept of the Trail in 1921 as a link of wilderness areas along the Atlantic seaboard that would be easily accessible to people living in nearby metropolitan areas as a "back to nature" respite. Mathias noted that, in that regard, "... the trail must be deemed an unqualified success ... an estimated four million hikers use the trail each year."

Zuckerman Presents
Solo Show In NYC

Michael Zuckerman, Instructor of Art at Garrett Community College, recently returned to the college from New York City. Mr. Zuckerman was in New York to present a solo show of drawings and sculpture in a new gallery, the Kolodny.

A New York City paper, the East Side Express, reviewed the show, commenting that "the message of the work can best be described as sensual romanticism. It is obvious that Zuckerman is well grounded in his sculpture and drawing techniques."

Assault, Battery
Draws Stiff Fine

One person received a stiff fine for assault and battery in District Court, Tuesday. All other cases were dismissed.

Darrell Rexrode pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Robert H. Hicks at Fireside Inn in Oakland on August 13. Judge Lewis R. Jones found him guilty and fined him $200 and costs. A three-month jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year under supervision.

All other cases were dismissed for various reasons.

Thomas M. Hickey, Randallstown, had been charged with assault and battery on a 15-year-old boy at Vindex on August 13. The case was dismissed as the complainant did not wish to pursue the case, there being no one hurt.

James R. Robison, Jr., RD 1, Lonaconing, had been charged with false pretense by passing a worthless check in Grantsville on June 22. Full restitution had been made and the complainant wished to drop the case.

Ira Burns, Thomas, W. Va., had been charged with false pretense by passing a worthless check at Food Rite, Mt. Lake Park, in March 1975. The case was dismissed as restitution had been made.

James Kisner, Star Route 1, Oakland, had been charged on three counts: destruction of property at Bradley Manor in Oakland August 8; assault on Mary Kisner and disorderly conduct. All three charges were dismissed as the wife refused to testify.

Bard Rosenberry, Hagerstown, had been charged with disorderly conduct at the Country Meat Market on U. S. 219 on August 23 and wanton trespassing at the same time. Both charges were dismissed at the request of the complainant.

Electric Utility Rate Structures To Be Investigated

Thomas J. Hatem, Chairman of the Public Service Commission of Maryland, announced this week that the Commission has issued a comprehensive and innovative order in the case instituted by the Commission to investigate electric utility rate structures. Mr. Hatem and Commissioner William S. Baldwin concurred in the decision and Commissioner Michael Darr Barnes filed a separate and concurring opinion.

Among other findings in the decision, each electric company with gross annual revenues exceeding $25,000,000 (Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, Potomac Electric Power Company, The Potomac Edison Company, Delmarva Power & Light Company of Maryland, and Southern Maryland Electric Cooperative, Inc.) was directed to file, on or before January 1, 1978, representative samples of rate structures which are based upon marginal cost principles. Presently, the rates for electric service from these companies are based upon average embedded costs. Marginal costs, however, are the costs to the utility of producing one more unit of electricity or the cost which will be saved if that unit is not

In addition, each of these electric companies was ordered to file plans with the Commission, on or before January 1, 1978, which provide for time-of-day price differentials and time-of-day metering on a voluntary basis for all residential customers and on a mandatory basis for all large commercial and industrial customers. Under a time-of-day rate structure, the price of electricity to a customer would vary depending upon the time during the day when the electricity is consumed. For example, the price for electricity which is consumed on a summer afternoon (when the demand for electricity reaches its peak) would be greater than the price of electricity at 3:00 o'clock, a.m., when the utilities' demand is significantly smaller. These differences in price reflect differences in the cost of generating electricity on or off peak.

Each of the five electric companies was also ordered to submit to the Commission on or before January 1, 1978, (1) its plans for the experimental sample testing of 200 large residential consumers for the time-of-day usage; (2) a report on the practicality of end-use tariffs for air-conditioning usage by large residential customers as well as for office buildings and shopping centers; (3) recommendations with respect to possible changes in present seasonal rate differentials; (4) a report which relates to the feasibility of establishing an off-peak discount for large commercial and industrial customers; and (5) a summary of its plans for load management.

This Order concludes Case No. 6808, which began on November 27, 1974. The record which was compiled in this proceeding contained many thousands of pages of testimony and hundreds of exhibits. The Commission feels that all of the actions which were taken today are positive steps toward producing a more fair and equitable pricing structure for sales of electricity in today's economy.

Three Operators Sustain Injuries In Car Accidents

Minor injuries resulted in two of several accidents investigated during the past week by members of the Maryland State Police.

Lewis Tichnell, Swanton, was injured and transported to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser following a one-car accident September 11 about 12:40 a.m.

Mr. Tichnell was proceeding west on Route 135 near Seldom Road, in the Bloomington vicinity, when the right front tire of his car dropped to the shoulder. He lost control of his vehicle and struck an embankment.

He was taken to the hospital by members of the Tri-Towns Ambulance service.

On September 9, about 5 p.m., Fred Scheeren, Indiana, Pa., was traveling east on Route 40 and collided with a vehicle operated north from Chestnut Ridge Road. Operator of the second vehicle, Leo McDermott, Carrier Mills, Ill., failed to grant the right of way at an intersection at Route 40. Both operators sustained minor injuries.

On that same day, at 4:10 p.m., Hobart Shillingburg, Mt. Lake Park, was operating a vehicle eastbound on Route 135 and was attempting to pass a vehicle stopped in the traffic lane by passing on the right shoulder of the road. Mr. Shillingburg's vehicle was then struck by the other vehicle, operated by Dennis Wade Gank, as Gank also attempted to pull to the right to pass a third unidentified vehicle stopped ahead.

A 1969 Mack pulling a loaded trailer had a similar accident September 8 at 7:45. The operator, Clarence Willard Gano, Romney, W. Va., was traveling south on Route 500 and pulled to the right shoulder to pass a vehicle making a left turn.

Due to the weight of the truck and trailer, the shoulder collapsed, causing the vehicle to roll down an embankment. Ronnie C. Spicher Grantsville, was traveling north on Foster Inn Road near Route 40 about 3:30 p.m. when she lost control of her Datsun and struck an embankment. Damage was to her car only.

By Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with my fellow residents of central and western Maryland. Send your questions or comments to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While I'll be unable to print all replies, I will answer each of you who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

What major pieces of legislation do you expect action on this fall in the House of Representatives?

I expect the next few weeks to be very busy with a lot of important legislation being voted on. As I've stated before, this has been one of the more active sessions of Congress so far, and I believe the pace of work will continue.

Among the legislation we will be working on very soon are bills such as Appropriations — or the Department of Defense; the Marine Mammal Protection Act and the G.I. Bill Improvements Act, which would increase the monthly rate for individuals going to school under the G. I. Bill. Other legislation would create an independent Office of Rail Public Counsel to assure public participation and representation in decisions affecting rail service.

What problems and opinions do you find most on people's minds during your recent tour throughout western and central Maryland?

Recently I did visit more than 35 towns and communities all over the 6th Congressional District and talked to more than 200 individuals. I was happy to have the opportunity to visit with so many of my fellow residents of western and central Maryland and, in many cases, to be able to help them with problems concerning such federal matters as Social Security and Veterans' Benefits.

I found that among the important issues which are of concern to the people of our area are energy, employment, national defense and a more responsive federal government. Every opportunity I had, I discussed the progress Congress has made so far in these areas and listened to the suggestions concerning what more needs to be done.

For example, I found that most western and central Marylanders support efforts to find and develop new and alternate energy sources in a sound national energy policy.

On my visits throughout our district, I'm always happy to help the residents clear away any problems they are having in dealing with the federal government. But, I also find very valuable, the opportunity to sit down and discuss the national issues with these individuals. This gives me a better picture of what the residents want and a better opportunity to support their interests when I vote in Congress.

What advice and suggestions do you have for preparing a child for school?

A new pamphlet from the Office of Child Development, Department of Health, Education and Welfare gives parents some good advice about how to prepare their child for the first day of school. You can get a free copy of the pamphlet, which is called "When a Child Begins School," by sending a postcard to Consumer Information Center, Department 635-E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

During your recent tour of the 6th Congressional District did you find an improving employment picture?

During my visit around central and western Maryland I did find an improving jobs picture. In Garrett County, for example, growing coal production is opening more jobs. And, in Washington County, continued production of the A-10 airplane is providing a bright employment picture at the Fairchild plant in Hagerstown. These are just a couple of examples of an improving job market. We have to keep in mind that when employment improves at major plants, the economic and jobs picture grows brighter throughout the area.

Tri-County Action Plan Introduced

A condensed introduction and overview of the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland's area-side action plan was presented at 1 p.m. yesterday at a meeting at the National Guard Armory in Oakland.

Edward I. Heath, executive director, made the presentation, assisted by James Rowe and Ray Carignan, economic development specialists.

The document, which has been in preparation for 18 months, contains background information on the tri-county region and assesses needs concerning economic development, community development, transportation, housing, older Americans, education, health, early childhood development and the environment.

A discussion of each of these areas of regional importance was held, and the plan distributed to council members and other interested agency officials.

The plan will now be reviewed for a 30-day period with recommendations for adoption planned for the council's October 12 meeting.

Western Maryland Folks Featured At State Festival

More than seventy Western Maryland's traditional musicians and craftspeople will take part in the third-annual Maryland Folklife Festival at Catocin Mountain Park, near Thurmont, this weekend. This year's festival will offer a program of continuous crafts demonstrations and musical performances between the hours of 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily.

Among the more than twenty folk crafts to be presented are basket-making, wood and iron-working, rug-making, chair caning, and apple-butter boiling. The musical program features gospel, bluegrass, and string band music in concert and workshop performances.

As of the first phase of a new regional Festival plan, all of the participants in this year's Maryland Folklife Festival are drawn from the state's four westernmost counties: Frederick, Washington, Garrett and Allegany. Festival participants are identified through fieldwork conducted by the Maryland Arts Council Folklife Program each spring and selected by Festival Director and State Folklorist Charles Camp in order to present a balanced and accurate picture of the folklife of the featured region. In coming years the Festival will present similar programs of traditional crafts and music from other areas of Maryland.

The Festival this coming weekend will take place at the Round Meadow Crafts Center at Catocin Mountain Park and is free and open to the public. The Park crafts program will be in operation during the Festival weekend, as will be all other Park facilities.

The Maryland Folklife Festival is produced by the Maryland Arts Council, an agency of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, in cooperation with the National Park Service. The Festival is part of the Council's Folklife Program and is supported by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Council for the Traditional Arts.

For more information contact Charles Camp or Diana Parker at the Maryland Arts Council office, 15 W. Mulberry Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201, (301) 685-6740.

Clary Receives Two-Years Suspended Term In Allegany County

A Garrett County man received a suspended two-year jail sentence Tuesday in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of an earlier conviction on one count of receiving stolen goods.

Sentenced was Curtis Richard Clary, Mt. Lake Park. Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton suspended the sentence but ordered Clary to make restitution of $655.29 to Reeves Motor Company, Westernport. Clary was placed on probation and ordered to refrain from use of alcoholic beverages and illegal drugs.

Clary was convicted last May in Circuit Court as a result of charges lodged in connection with a breaking and entering at the motor company in December 1976.

To Perform At Folk Festival

A Gorman girl has been invited by Acting Governor Blair Lee to participate in the Maryland Folk Festival this weekend near Frederick.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilkins.

News From

The American Lung Association

A program entitled "An Update On Black Lung" will be presented on September 21, in room 202 of the Lane Center on the campus of Frostburg State College. The program is being presented by the American Lung Association of Maryland and the office of U.S. Congressman Goodloe Byron. The program is designed for mine workers, their families, or survivors.

Dr. Donald L. Rasmussen of the Appalachian Pulmonary Laboratory, Beckley, West Virginia, will be the day's first speaker. He will discuss physical aspects and problems of black lung disease.

Following Dr. Rasmussen Robert E. Dorsey, Chief, Branch of Claims Determination, and June E. Patron, Associate Director, Coal Mine Workers Compensation, both from the Department of Labor in Washington, D.C., will present an update on black lung benefits. They will discuss recent legislation and its effects on current and future programs for persons qualifying for black lung benefits.

James E. Robertson, District Manager of the Social Security office and Frank Tomko, Assistant District Director, Social Security, both from Cumberland, will be hosts at a work session. During the work session those present will be given an opportunity to begin filling out appropriate paper work to file for black lung benefits. This will be an opportunity for them to work under close supervision to ensure the correct filing of forms.

This is a free program and will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. The program will begin promptly at 9:00 a.m.

All residents of Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, are urged to attend and may call John Heavener at the American Lung Association of Maryland office for more information.

Association Awards

Bruce J. Shenker has been awarded a research grant by the American Lung Association of Maryland to direct and carry out studies on the pharmacological modification of inflammatory lung disease.

Mr. Shenker, a Ph.D. at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, hopes his research will help prevent cell death caused by bacterial infections within the lung.

The 27-year-old pharmacologist is one of several to receive fellowship and scholarship awards from the Lung Association as part of its medical education and research program.

The Lung Association has provided nearly half a million dollars during the last decade for the training of physicians, medical students and therapists, according to Dr. Michael G. Hayes, President of the Maryland Thoracic Society, the medical section of the Lung Association.

"These funds have come entirely from the Lung Association through its annual Christmas Seal Campaign.

Pediatric Points

This is the sixth in a series of articles on different areas of pediatrics written by Dr. Mark S. Sugar. Pediatrics is the branch of medicine dealing with the care and treatment of children, their development and illnesses. Dr. Sugar is a local pediatrician, residing in Mt. Lake Park.

Fever is one of the chief clues parents have that their child is sick; yet fever is not as serious a condition as most parents think.

Several facts need to be stressed:

1. Fever is only a symptom, not an illness; the underlying cause must be considered.
2. Fever is rarely life threatening.
3. Fever does not cause brain damage. There is no evidence that an incipient seizure can be prevented by giving medicine to lower the temperature.
4. High fevers do not necessarily mean a worse infection than low grade fevers.

Treatment of Fever
Recent studies have shed light on the scientific basis for fever. It is known for instance that infection and allergies cause fever by raising the brain's fever set-point. They are both treated with aspirin or acetaminophen (Tylenol, Tempra or Datril) which lower the set-point. Hyperthermia, exposure to industrial heat, overuse of sauna, overdressing and heat stroke all respond to physical removal of heat and cooling measures. Aspirin should not be used in these cases.

Should a child with high fever be given a cool bath or sponge bath to bring down the fever? The answer is that the child with a temperature of 105 degrees should first be given aspirin or acetaminophen and only afterwards should cooling measures be instituted. The cooling measures are primarily for comfort. The temperature will rebound readily after the cooling measures are stopped.

One note about the use of aspirin. Aspirin is the most widely used medicine for fever but is far from being completely safe. It may cause gastrointestinal bleeding, aggravate asthma and interfere with platelet (clotting) function. Overdose of aspirin chronically can itself cause fever.

A fever below 101 degrees rectally does not need treatment unless the child is uncomfortable. For high fever 102-103 degrees encourage fluids because the baby tends to lose more water at a higher temperature. Treat fever with either aspirin or tylenol but only in the recommended dosages. There is now a chewable tylenol for children (80 mg.) that is 1/4 strength of the regular tylenol (325 mg.). Liquid preparations vary greatly so dosage must be checked accurately. For infants less than nine months old 0.3 of the recommended dosage is appropriate.

The next meeting date was set for December 1 at the Extension Aid Office with a covered dish luncheon at 12:00 noon.

Since 1776, we've grown by leaps and bonds.

You had to give our forefathers a lot of credit. After all, they didn't have a lot of cash on hand. Not after a costly revolution.

But Americans bought over $27,000,000 worth of government securities.

And that was only the beginning.

New territories had to be settled. A navy equipped. Railroads built. A country to be run.

But the money was always there. Thanks to folks taking stock in their America.

Today, over 40 million Americans still take stock in their land by buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

They know this country's future depends on them.

And they know they can depend on Savings Bonds for their own future.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

You might call it giving credit where credit is due.

U.S. Savings Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity. If you cash them in before they are paid, you will receive 90% of the face value. When you cash them in before they are paid, you will receive 90% of the face value. When you cash them in before they are paid, you will receive 90% of the face value.

Mathias Asks Amtrak For Cutback Data

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) has asked the National Railroad Passenger Corporation (AMTRAK) for the data used in its recent decision to curtail rail service in the Northeast Corridor.

In a letter to AMTRAK President Paul H. Reistrup, Mathias sought "all relevant information including cost, revenue and ridership data on which these cuts were based."

Moreover, he requested AMTRAK to provide comparative data for all passenger lines within the AMTRAK system.

"The Northeast Corridor route serves the highest density markets in the country," Senator Mathias said, "while providing relief from intercity traffic congestion, air pollution and diminishing energy supplies. The Washington-to-New York segment has been estimated to have the most promise of financial viability, thus any reduction in service is troubling."

Earlier this week AMTRAK announced it was dropping 22 trains of the 120 trains which it operates in the Northeast Washington-Boston Corridor, the most heavily traveled segment of the AMTRAK system.

Mathias said he wants the data in order to determine if AMTRAK has made the wisest choice in responding to the Congressional directive to reduce system operating costs.

"The Northeast Corridor is the heaviest-traveled and least costly segment of the AMTRAK system," Mathias noted. "The question is whether it is smart to reduce service in the Corridor, or to look for savings in less-traveled, long-distance routes with significantly high operating costs."

Southern Speaks

By Patti Keefe

The new school year got underway Thursday, September 1, for a half-day orientation. Student adjustment to their schedules was stressed during the first week.

A pep assembly held last period, Friday, readied the student body to support the Rams for the first home varsity game of the season against Beall. This was also the kick-off of the new school year's schedule of extra-curricular activities. Following the game, the Varsity Cheerleaders sponsored a sock-hop.

Clubs are beginning to reorganize for another year of activities. The American Field Service and Southern Ski Club have already met for their first meeting of the season. Other clubs have conferences planned and new-member drives are underway.

New teachers this year include: Mr. Woods, (also football coach), Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. McLaughlin, and Mr. Hogan. Mrs. Woods also helps as an aid.

The next game is at the home field against Kingwood, with the contest beginning at 8:00 p.m. The cheerleaders will again sponsor a sock-hop following the game for student admission only.

Auxiliary To Meet

There will be a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Proctor Kildow Post #71, at the Post Home on Monday, September 19, at 8:00 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

St. Ann's Catholic Church Dedicated

Archbishop William Borders of the Catholic Diocese of Baltimore officiated at the dedication ceremonies at the newly-constructed St. Ann's Northern Garrett County Roman Catholic Church Sunday at 3 p.m.

The parish was formed by the merger of two historic mission churches, St. Ann's of Grantsville, and St. Stephen's of Avilton.

Both churches have been served for years by priests from the Order of Friars Minor, Capuchin, who have been based at St. Peter and Paul Monastery, Cumberland.

Rev. Aidan Lucko, OFM, Cap., was named pastor of the new parish in July 1976 and the two mission churches at Avilton and Grantsville were officially closed.

The first mass was offered in the church July 25, 1976.

The architect was Bender Associates of Camp Hill, Pa., and the structure was built at a cost of $174,000 by the Walter C. Growden Construction Company of Cumberland.

The complex includes the church, which seats 275 persons, has a basement level for classrooms, and a rectory for the resident pastor, and parking facilities.

At the dedicatory ceremony, Bishop P. Francis Murphy, vicar for Western Maryland and Father Lucko were concelebrants of the Mass with Archbishop Borders. Master of ceremonies was Rev. Paul A. Byrnes, associate pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Cumberland.

Lectors were Terrence McKenzie and Susan Wiley. A student choir from Capuchin College, Washington, was accompanied by Merla Murray, organist.

The Ladies Group of St. Ann's hosted a buffet meal following the ceremony.

The church is located on old Route 40 approximately two miles east of Grantsville and four miles northwest of Avilton.

Byron Introduces Bill To Protect Appalachian Trail

Congressman Goodloe Byron has introduced legislation to protect and maintain the Appalachian Trail. Byron's bill, H.R. 8803, is designed to protect the famous hiking trail and encourage other states to follow Maryland's lead in preserving this great recreational facility.

In 1969, while serving as Maryland State Senator, Byron introduced and helped coordinate the passage of one of the first pieces of state legislation in the nation to guarantee the protection and maintenance of the Appalachian Trail for future generations.

Byron stated, "The Appalachian Trail is the best known long distance hiking trail in the world, covering 14 states from Maine to Georgia. The 1968 National Trails System Act has failed to offer the protection it was designed for. Currently, 800 miles of the 2000 mile trail are unprotected and threatened with development. Maryland led the way in preserving the Trail and this federal legislation will encourage the remaining 13 states to follow our example. Having hiked the trail myself, I know that we cannot afford to allow the trail to fall victim to the bulldozer and shovel."

Under Byron's legislation, the states would continue to acquire land to complement federal acquisitions and would be encouraged to manage the federally acquired lands with the help of Trail Clubs and the Department of the Interior.

Byron is optimistic about the legislation. "Realizing the dangers to the Appalachian Trail, conservation groups, the states and the Department of the Interior have joined forces to protect and maintain this great natural resource."

H. R. 8803 is pending before the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, of which Congressman Byron is a member.

Grantsville Given

$18,000 For

Park Development

The Maryland Board of Public Works has authorized $18,000 to Grantsville to enable the town to complete phase 2 of the Community Park.

The funding, from Program Open Space amounts to 75 percent of the total cost of the phase 2 work according to Department of Natural Resources officials who administer the funds under terms of the Outdoor Recreation Land Loan of 1969.

The Program Open Space funds will enable the town to complete the second stage of the park development while construction equipment is still on the site, in order to achieve significant cost saving.

The total cost of the Park's 2 stages of development amounts to $67,500 with the State paying 75 percent. $32,000 was previously approved. With this $18,000 approval, a total of $50,000 in Program Open Space funds will be used and $17,000 will come from other sources.

The Community Park is at Miller Street and Hershberger Alley in Grantsville.

One-Room Schoolhouses Quietly Fading From Garrett County Landscape

ONCE UPON A TIME students attending the Bethlehem School spent many a free period swinging on these handmade ropes and chains that still hang ominous against a backdrop of Backbone Mountain landscape. The school is one of several remaining in Garrett County that has stood the test of time although weather and neglect is slowly beginning to take its toll on the building.

The "Little Red Schoolhouse" is rapidly becoming a memory in Garrett County and all across America, as time and weather's element quietly erase it from the landscape.

According to the Garrett County Board of Education, the county boasted of 151 schools throughout the county prior to 1940. Consolidation of schools began to take place even before that time.

For instance, Harland Lewis who resides on the Sang Run Road about two miles from the Hoyes Run Road Schoolhouse, stated he attended the school for only a month when students were then shuttled to Oakland for the three R's, that would put the consolidation date at about 1934. Mr. Lewis said everyone walked to school in those days even through high snow drifts.

The Hoyes Run Road School is typical of the early one-room schoolhouses found in Western Maryland. A neighbor, who lives across the street from this little red schoolhouse said the school has been used for storage and, most recently, for housing chicken feed. The exterior still appears to be in good condition, nestled among rhododendron and hemlocks.

At Tasker's Corner near Bethlehem Road, south of Loch Lynn, is situated a one-room schoolhouse that now is private property. Like so many of the small schools, the Bethlehem School is also in need of repair. Handmade shutters are still attached to the windows, however, many are missing or hang-warped in the wind and rain.

Almost all of the schoolhouses burned wood or coal in

THE BETHLEHEM SCHOOL situated near Tasker's Corner off Rt. 560, is another example of the one-room schoolhouses found in the county. Note the two windows on the right side of the school. This part was added on to the main building as the student population grew in that area.

a Burnside stove housed in the middle of the room, or sometimes two were necessary to keep the students and teacher warm during typical Garrett County winters.

Another one-room school is located on Pleasant Valley Road, between the Paul Friend Road and Norris Welch Road in Pleasant Valley. It too, is privately owned now and is used for storage or wood-working.

The frame building is set on a small hill and is very picturesque. It is surrounded by rolling hills and overlooks a dark blue pond nestled at the bottom of the hill. It is possible though that the pond was not present at the time the school was built.

According to records at the Board of Education, most of the single and dual teacher-schools were present prior to 1897. Some of the names of schools prior to the turn of the century sounded quite poetic and descriptive and included Fairview, Shook Shop, Prettyman, Cherry Meadows, Mars Hill, Red Oak and Manadier, to mention but a handful. Imagine being able to say you graduated from Bear Hill or Pine Swamp. Those were also schools located within Garrett County.

Found in the records of the Board of Education offices were pages of education budget information written in 1915. For instance, the Garrett County superintendent's salary was a meager $166.66. However, that figure might well have been a respectable one in that year.

A request from the West Vindex school in the spring of 1930 was for a new water dipper. The teacher had requested the Board to supply them with a new one as the old one was probably lost or battered. At that time spring water was drawn from wells. Today, it's a quick flight down a shiny hallway to a silver fountain.

Interesting was the fact that for students living too far to walk in the region of Kitzmiller, an early morning train was utilized. The Western Maryland train, which had

THE LYNN DALE SCHOOL located in Pleasant Valley between the Paul Friend Road and the Norris Welch Road was used by students until it closed in 1952. According to Mrs. Inez Kildow, a teacher at the school for many years who now resides in Oakland, students had to carry water up to the school as there was no pump on the school property. Consolidation of the county schools took place about 1952.

A POTBELLIED STOVE was used in the early one and two-room schoolhouses throughout the county as their primary source of heat for the classrooms. This one is in the Pleasant Valley Grange building with samplings of student chairs scattered about the main room. Wood and coal were burned in the Burnside stove which was in ample supply throughout western Maryland. Although the Grange was never used as a schoolhouse, it was typical of the architecture of the late 1880s and early 1900s. The Grange, located at the curve of Norris Welch Road and Pleasant Valley Road often held spelling bees and special school functions there as the building housed more people than some of the area's smaller schools.

four passenger cars, picked up the students along the route and returned them home later in the afternoon. The same train also took students to and from the Three Fork Run school.

One can't help feeling a sense of belonging, of one's roots, standing on the same schoolyards as our early pioneer families. The pines and oaks surrounding them seem to whisper a story of those days when the boys pulled the girls' pigtailed, the teacher stood at the helm with a brand new ruler in hand, and the burnside stove sizzled and crackled with each new log added. Outdoors, the familiar roars of children engaged in playing "London Bridge is Falling Down" and perhaps a tug-of-war on the new cut lawn can be envisioned.

It seems as though a slice of American history is soon to yield into oblivion from wind and weather's element. The little one-room schoolhouse is all but a memory today.

Most of the new generation of students have seen only pictures of the early schoolhouses. Maybe it would be a worthy endeavor to salvage one before time erases it from our landscape forever. It would certainly add to the mounting attractions list Garrett County already offers tourists. Perhaps a civic minded person or organization has been searching for just such a project.

THE HOYES RUN ROAD SCHOOL located at the end of Hoyes Run Road and Sang Run Road, Swallow Falls, is a little red schoolhouse that pupils occupied until about 1934. At that time, some of the larger schools were ordered to accept students from smaller one-room schoolhouses throughout the county. According to Harland Lewis, a student at the school until 1934, buses were put into service to transport the pupils to Oakland to attend school.

THE SWALLOW FALLS SCHOOL as it looked in 1923 gives one a true picture of the early one-room schoolhouses found in Garrett County. Note the outhouse located on the side of the school. It must have been a brave world then for a student to raise his hand for permission to use the unprotected shelter during a January blizzard. This photo was loaned to The Republican by Garrett County Board of Education.

Join the peanut craze with a tasty African chicken dish!

You thought you'd heard everything about peanuts this year, right?

Well, if the following isn't the p-nuttiest recipe you've ever seen or tasted, you must have some culinary repertoire!

A most unlikely combination of ingredients, this dish is a truly sensational one. The Western taste is not generally geared to such a mixture of chicken, peanut butter, garlic, tomato purée and crushed red pepper — but wait 'til you try it!

Save your judgment until after the taste test, which this recipe will pass with flying colors.

The origin of this dish is in Cameroon — in equatorial West Africa. There peanuts and chicken are abundant, and combining them in recipes is both common and popular. The chicken dish pictured here is a true luxury in Cameroon, where there is no peanut butter so peanuts must be ground and puréed by hand.

In this country preparing the dish is a pleasure. With the Wear-Ever Pokey Pot slow cooker no time is lost lingering around the stove waiting to stir or add ingredients.

The steps are easy, preparation time is short, and the slow cooker does all the work. You're free to go off to work or play while the Pokey Pot is busy cooking the dinner.

POKEY PEANUT CHICKEN

3½ pound chicken, cut up
4 medium onions, thickly sliced
2 cups tomato purée
1 12-oz. jar smooth peanut butter
1 clove garlic, crushed
1½ teaspoons crushed red pepper
½ cup Spanish peanuts
Place chicken and onions in crock of 3½ quart Pokey Pot. Combine tomato purée, peanut butter, garlic and crushed red pepper; mix well. Pour over chicken.
Place crock in outer shell of slow cooker. Cover; cook on low setting for 4 hours.
Remove cover. Stir in peanuts. Replace cover. Cook ½ hour longer.
Garnish with tomato wedges, parsley or Spanish peanuts, as desired.
Makes 6 servings.

AN UNUSUAL BUT TASTY combination of chicken, peanut butter, garlic, tomato purée and crushed red pepper are cooked slowly in the Wear-Ever Pokey Pot in this recipe for Pokey Peanut Chicken.

PIQUANT PORK CHOPS

Too often pork chops come to the table overcooked and dried out. The best way to avoid this problem is to cook them in a sauce. This will keep the meat moist and succulent, and if the sauce adds interesting flavor to the dish, so much the better.

Pork and mustard are one of the most natural combinations in cooking. In this pork chop recipe, mustard is an important element in the sauce, and capers are added for extra tang.

Serve this dish with potatoes and peas and a California chablis or chenin blanc.

Piquant Pork Chops

Degree of difficulty: Moderate Time: 60 minutes Servings: Four to six Cost: Inexpensive

Ingredients:
8 pork chops, 1 inch thick (they will weigh about 1 1/2 pound each)
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup beef broth
2 tablespoons tomato paste
3 tablespoons parsley, finely chopped
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup white wine (you can use the same wine you plan to serve with the dish)
1 tablespoon Dijon style mustard
2 tablespoons capers, drained

Put the chops dry with paper towels and season them lightly with salt and pepper. Gently press the seasoning into the sides of the chops.

Put the flour into a plate or bowl and dredge the chops by coating them with flour and tapping off the excess.

Heat the oil over moderate heat in a skillet or casserole with a cover. Brown the chops in the hot oil for about 5 minutes on each side.

While the chops are browning, melt the butter in a sauce pan and sauté the chopped onions and carrots until they are softened but not brown.

Add the wine, beef broth, tomato paste, 2 tablespoons of the parsley, the mustard and the capers. Mix well.

When the chops are sufficiently browned, pour off the fat from the skillet and then pour the entire mustard and caper sauce over and around the meat. Cover and simmer over low heat for 45 minutes.

When ready to serve, place the chops on a warmed platter or put them 1 or 2 to a portion, on plates.

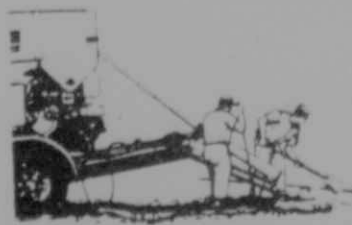

Give the sauce a stir. If it is too thin, boil vigorously for a minute or two to reduce it. Spoon some sauce on each chop and garnish with the remaining parsley. Serve immediately.

Homebuilding, Purchases Buoy State Economy

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein told the State Mortgage Bankers Association this week that home building and purchases contributed significantly to the state's $48 million General Fund Revenue Surplus at the close of Fiscal Year 1977 and said that deposits in Maryland State and National Banks and Building, Savings, and Loan Associations had nearly doubled since 1970 — all pointing to a healthy state economy and reflecting the national trend of a housing boom.

"Maryland home construction activity increased dramatically in the last quarter of Fiscal Year 1977. This activity is important since the State Treasury receives approximately $2,000 in Sales and Use Tax Revenue for each home that is built and furnished," Comptroller Goldstein said. Maryland Sales and Use Tax collections exceeded expectations by more than six million dollars and reflected substantial increases in construction-related categories.

The Comptroller also related that deposits in Maryland State and National Banks and Building, Savings, and Loan Associations had grown from $7.5 billion in 1970 to nearly $18.1 billion at the end of 1976.

He also noted that other economic indicators, such as per capita income, show Maryland's economy continues to grow. "The Doomsayers are wrong. We don't have all our eggs in one basket. We benefit from a varied economy and an ideal location between the east coast megalopolis and the growing sunbelt."

Cholesterol Update

You are probably aware that one of the ways people vary is in the amount of cholesterol in their blood. Generally high blood cholesterol levels go along with more atherosclerosis (deposits of cholesterol in the arteries) and increased risk of heart attacks. However, there are some interesting exceptions to this rule.

Scientists have gradually discovered how cholesterol is carried in the blood. Since cholesterol is a fat-like substance, it is not soluble in water. (Blood is mostly water.) However, cholesterol combined with certain proteins in the blood (the combination is called lipoprotein) moves about more easily.

Two important types of these cholesterol-movers are low-density lipoproteins (LDL) and high-density lipoproteins (HDL). Scientists now think that cholesterol in LDL is more dangerous than that in HDL. Continually high levels of LDL cholesterol can spell trouble.

Generally, but not always, people with high blood cholesterol levels have high LDL levels. These are often middle-aged men who get little exercise and eat meals high in saturated fats and cholesterol. In fact, the blood LDL-cholesterol level generally rises when people or experimental animals are given diets rich in saturated fats and cholesterol.

As a rule, the LDL level is lower in women than in men and lower in animals which are known to be resistant to atherosclerosis.

Researchers have become increasingly curious about certain individuals who have high blood cholesterol levels yet show few signs of coronary heart disease. Since their LDL level is usually low in comparison with their HDL, the feeling is that they might be benefiting from a protective factor. HDL may help police the arteries, protecting the arterial walls from damage and thus reducing the chance of cholesterol build-up.

Can the proportion of LDL in the blood stream be lowered? Although young people and women before the menopause are likely to have better ratios, everyone, but particularly middle-aged men, can benefit from these sensible guidelines:

Eat fewer dairy and meat (saturated) fats.

Limit foods rich in cholesterol — organ meats and eggs.

Substitute polyunsaturated fat like Mazola corn oil and margarine for saturated shortening and butter.

Exercise. At least half of a person's fat calories should be from polyunsaturated fats.

Smoke. Recent data being collected by the NHLBI show that smokers have lower LDL cholesterol levels.

As cholesterol levels are lowered, the risk of heart health becomes less puzzling. The net result of recent research is to emphasize the importance of a well-selected diet.

For a primer of definitions on fats and oils as related to coronary heart disease, write to the makers of Mazola corn oil for "Questions and Answers About Fats and Oils In Your Food." Dept. QAO-GN, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

Two Arrested For Pizza Pub Larceny

Two area young people were arrested in connection with a $600 larceny of two cabinet speakers from the Glen Haven Pizza Pub September 1.

Jackie Garland Friend, Jr., 19, of the Deep Creek area, has been charged in connection with the larceny, and has been released on his own recognizance pending a trial. Also arrested and later released was a local juvenile.

The property has been recovered, according to the sheriff's department which investigated the incident.

Three destruction of property incidents occurred side by side in Pleasant Valley the night of September 10, when mailboxes were destroyed.

Ray Gnegy, Sebastian Terrant and Robert Shank all reported that their mailboxes had been ruined. Value of each mailbox was set at $15.

Harvey Brothers Farms, Swanton, reported larceny of a tool box valued at $175 from a tool shed September 2.

Owen Frazee, Route 1, Oakland, told the sheriff's department that someone had taken a Ford truck, lowboy and a backhoe from his property September 10. Value of the stolen machinery was not listed in the sheriff's report.

Commissioners Fill Vacancies On Board Of Social Services

Very little formal action was taken by the Board of County Commissioners at Tuesday's meeting this week, and much of the afternoon was spent in discussion with members of the Grand Jury.

The Board acted to fill the vacancies which had occurred on the Social Services Board, appointing Rev. Fr. Martin Feild and Mrs. Kaylen Carlson to the positions.

A group from Bloomington discussed the unsatisfactory water situation in that town with the Board. The volume of water is not up to standards, and the group explained that water is presently bought from a private utility company from Westport, and comes from the Savage River reservoir.

The company had at one time expressed willingness to turn over the company to some organization so the system could be rehabilitated for better service.

No action was taken by the commissioners, who encouraged the group to find a solution to the problem on a community basis.

The Commissioners received a letter from the Department of Employment Security, releasing figures which indicate that the county unemployment rate has gone down another tenth of a percent, to 5.2 percent. The rate in Allegany county is 7.4 percent and the national rate is said to be approximately 7.5 percent.

On Wednesday afternoon, all commissioners took part in the Tri-County Council meeting at the Oakland Armory. Don S. Bender and George Edwards are members of the Budget and Personnel committee, while Wayne Hamilton is chairman of the Planning and Economic Development Committee which prioritizes the funding of projects.

ORBITER RE-ENTRY

When small rock-like particles in space collide with the earth, they heat up due to the friction of the atmosphere against them as they fall through it. These objects are known as meteors or shooting stars. Why haven't spacecrafts burned up too? The secret is that spacecrafts have been constructed with incandescent heat shields which shed tiny pieces as the spacecraft passes through the air. Shedding heatshield particles also sheds heat. Orbiter Enterprise has been designed differently. Its heat shield is made to radiate heat back into the atmosphere.

369,100 kilometers (229,400 miles) will separate the earth and the moon on Sunday. This perigee is the closest the earth and its satellite will come to each other during September.

Occurring at 2:18 a.m. Tuesday morning, the First Quarter phase of the moon will be visible after 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. Moonset varies from 8:47 p.m. tonight to 9:58 a.m. next Wednesday morning as this week passes. The moon will be visible about 40 minutes later each evening.

Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible this week and until the end of the month. Mercury may be found low in the eastern sky just before sunrise. Venus is not far from Saturn. They are visible among the stars of Leo for at least an hour and one-half before sunrise. Mars and Jupiter are among the stars of Gemini. Jupiter is the brighter. They rise before midnight.

Sunrise was at 6:58 a.m. this morning. At 7:26 p.m., 12 hours 28 minutes later the sun will set. Wednesday there will be 15 minutes less daylight. Sunrise will be at 7:04 a.m. followed by sunset at 7:17 p.m. for a day length of 12 hours 13 minutes.

CHECK OUT OUR WAGON AND YOU MIGHT UNLOAD YOURS.

Our Volvo wagon is built to overcome the disgruntlement common to wagon owners. It's no bigger than a Volvo-size sedan. So handling it in a crowded parking lot is no big deal. You don't feel like you've got your car to fight as well as all the other parkers. And loading is a pleasure. Not a trauma. The rear door was designed knowing some objects are high as well as wide. They fit inside in 77 cu. ft. of usable load space. Instead of sitting outside on the roof. Bring in your wagon and go home in ours. We'll sell or lease you a Volvo wagon and, either way, de-gruntle you.

Community Action Begins Miniature Center For Youth

Garrett County Community Action opened its doors to youth this summer, when a small office and conference room was turned into a miniature youth center for youths ages 12 to 25.

The center contains a pool table, with removable ping-pong top, a stereo, card table, table games, hula hoops, frisbees, volleyball equipment and football. The parking lot is roped off for basketball and other games.

Young people from the Bradley Manor community are free to use this equipment as well as participate in other activities. The RIF program and youth employment program each had activities centered in the room.

The youth center was developed upon the request of VISTA youth worker Dwight Harvey. The idea was approved by and remains under the direct control of G. Bradford Rinard, Executive Director of CAC. The youth center, open on Wednesday and Friday evenings, averages 15 in attendance each evening, and is staffed by VISTA Volunteers.

The Appalachian Adult Activities Center, under the direction of David Kooztz, has made available its center for the showing of movies. Movies are shown free to anyone from the Bradley Manor community on most Friday evenings. Average attendance is 45 persons.

The Activities Center also loaned the pool and ping-pong table for use by the youth center.

Dwight Harvey, who usually staffs the center, thinks the project a success. "We have some kids who show up almost every time," Dwight said. "The pool table is the big attraction even though it's in bad shape. The kids seem to have a lot of fun anyway, and I really enjoy them. They're a great bunch of kids."

Children adopt various poses while waiting for the Friday movies to begin in the Activities Center of the Garrett County Community Action building on Liberty Street. VISTA volunteers run movie programs for children at Bradley Manor on most Friday evenings, and usually gather an attendance of over 40. Other activities are also held at the center for young people.

"C" Company Takes Part In Training

"C" Company of the 121st Engineering Battalion, Oakland and Frostburg elements, took part in a command mission exercise recently, supported by members of the 224th Aviation Co. and four of their Loach helicopters.

The air support and mission oriented training is part of the National Guard's new training program, which is more decentralized and featuring unique training exercises.

Anyone interested in joining the local National Guard unit may contact the Oakland Armory any time during the week.

The members of the Maryland National Guard are planning a sky diving exhibition during the October Autumn Glory festival. Most of the show will be in the vicinity of the Oakland Armory.

Londoner Is House Guest Of Paughs

Steve Cantlow, a young man from London, England, was a house guest for the past two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Paugh and children, Michael and Mary.

Steve met Kenneth, who is stationed with the Armed Forces in England, during the past year and was invited to the U. S. for his first visit.

They arrived in the U. S. on August 26, and spent several days in Michigan visiting relatives of the Paughs, returning home by way of Canada.

In addition to meeting many local people, Steve had the opportunity to sing with a local band, "Us," last Friday night at Windy Knolls, adding some very British vocals to the music.

In commenting about his stay in the U. S., Steve remarked several times on the hospitality and friendliness of the people every where, and is making plans to return to the United States in a few years, perhaps as a permanent resident.

Lifeline To The Small Businessman

By Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

For years, there have been predictions that Americans would drown in a sea of paper. Those predictions may be coming true very soon. Last year, the United States government printed over 11 billion forms for all of us to fill out. This averages out to about 50 forms for every man, woman and child in the United States. And, if you figure the cost of filling out all these forms, evaluated in terms of the manpower and time it takes, it is costing our economy about $20 billion just to fill in the blanks. Then, it costs the taxpayers about another $20 billion to read what the people have filled into the blanks.

This gets to the point that it may be ridiculous, but I'm not suggesting that it's the fault of bureaucrats alone. Congress has a very large share of the responsibility. In order to keep track of what's going on in the government, exercising what is known as the oversight function, the Congress has about nine thousand laws, each of which requires some kind of reporting. It seems to be necessary, if we're to keep track of what's happening to the people's money and whether the government is doing what it's supposed to do. But, it is helping to create this sea of paperwork in which we're all drowning.

Here is one of the horror stories which appears to be wasteful in every sense of the word. In Oregon, a company which had three small TV stations made an application for a renewal of its licenses, and the amount of paperwork was so horrendous that they actually put the forms on the scales. It came to 45 pounds of paper just to apply for a renewal of licenses. Now, something has to be wrong when we get to that stage. It recalled to me the instance of the Washington County, Maryland, Board of Education, which about ten years ago applied for a Headstart program and brought their application to my office. I was so shocked at its size that I weighed it, and it weighed only five pounds, which I thought was bad in those days. But in a ten year period of time, we have seen paperwork inflation from five pounds for an application for a Headstart program to 45 pounds to get TV licenses renewed. This is an alarming form of inflation which I think we should try to do something about.

But, I must confess it's difficult to stem or put an end to this rising tide of paperwork; yet, I think there has to be some sort of lifeline thrown out to American business, particularly small business. The corporate giants — General Motors, General Electric, Westinghouse, and others in the Fortune 500 — all have lawyers and whole staffs full of accountants who are ready to grapple with the forms and the accounting that needs to be done, and the statistics that have to be furnished. But the average small businessman doesn't have that kind of assistance. He has to go out and hire a lawyer and an accountant for each new problem that arises and, when he gets into trouble, he either has to plead with the bureaucrats, or, he has to go into the United States Federal Court, both of which are expensive, time-consuming operations. So, I have proposed, in a bill that I've introduced in the Senate, a special Small Business Administrative Review Court. It is a court of limited jurisdiction, a court which deals with problems of average citizens. It should give an answer to their problems quickly, inexpensively, and efficiently. It's the lifeline that we can throw out to all of us who are threatened with drowning in the sea of paper; and, I hope that the Congress will enact it, and the President will sign it into law very soon, because we need it.

BACKACHE

Oh, my aching back!
How many times have you heard someone say that? Or said it yourself?
Backache is such a common ailment among civilized man that there are very few adults who haven't had a touch of it now and then.

Some physicians credit soft beds, soft chairs and other comforts of modern civilization with an increase in the number of persons suffering from low back pain, the American Medical Association points out. Once called lumbago, back pain is often caused by poor posture, obesity, ill-fitting or inappropriate shoes, a sedentary life, overly strenuous work, or participating in sports. It may also be caused by disease not directly relating to the back, or to injury or strain.

Low back pain may occur at any age, but it seems to bother middle-aged persons most. It occurs in both sexes and in all races, and is more common among people who do work that requires stooping or lifting.

Good posture of the entire body is important in preventing low back pain. Sit with head, shoulders and trunk erect. Stand straight. Not the military ramrod posture, but straight.

A soft, saggy bed and low, soft chairs contribute to backache. Chairs ideally should be firm, straight and have the contour of a normal back.

A low-heeled shoe is best for standing or walking. High-heeled shoes throw the posture off balance and increase strain on the lower back. Loafers, ballet slippers or sneakers may contribute to backache if worn extensively.

In lifting heavy objects, keep the back straight and lift with the knees and thigh muscles, rather than bending over and straining the spine.

Like most other ailments, backache may be aggravated by emotional tension or anxiety.

Treatment of backache varies with the cause. When it's due to strain, usually rest, heat and a pain reliever will help. Massage in moderation may relieve discomfort. Your doctor also may recommend exercise to strengthen the muscles of the back and to improve posture.

Eleven Perish Last Week On State Highways

Eleven persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed eight were drivers, one was a passenger and two were pedestrians.

Two of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

School is back in session and motorists need to get back in the habit of stopping for school buses when the flashing red lights are operating. Don't let impatience tempt you into risking children's lives. The bus driver only uses the flashing red lights under certain conditions, warning us of danger and protecting his passengers. Let us all be reminded that the red lights mean children are in the process of getting on or off the bus.

Children can easily forget caution during the hustle and bustle of returning to school.

Parents are urged to discuss safety rules with their children.

Persons killed through September 11 total 446, just three less than for the same period last year.

Park-A-Tot Meals Service To Be Offered By GCC

Garrett Community College will once again offer the Park-A-Tot service at the Oakland Center. This program is designed to care for children while the parent is in the classroom. The service is open to students and instructors at GCC with preschool age children (3-5 years of age). The service operates Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and only costs $3.00 per hour. This cost includes any meals that the child might receive during the hours of the program.

Linda Chaffey, Project Director, has also announced a policy for free and reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price in the Child Care Food Program. The income scale whereby the cost is ascertained is available at the Child Development Center, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland.

Children from families whose income is within the specified categories shown on the income guidelines are eligible for free and reduced price meals. Families not meeting the guidelines but with other unusual expenses may also apply. Applications are being sent out to homes in a letter to parents and additional copies are available at the Center. In certain cases foster children are also eligible. No child will be discriminated against regardless of ability to pay, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

For more information persons should contact the Child Development Office at the Oakland Center.

Citizens Urged To Protest Amtrak's

4-Day Schedule

Members of the United Transportation Union and other citizens are being urged to write to the U.S. Senators in both Maryland and West Virginia to protest the proposed limitation of the Amtrak passenger train Shenandoah to a four-day per week schedule.

The protest is urged by Harold Ritter, state director of the United Transportation Union.

Protesters are also urged to write Rep. Goodloe Byron (D-Sixth Maryland) and Rep. Harley O. Staggers chairman of the House Commerce Committee to register their opposition.

Mr. Ritter was also asking the officials of Allegany and Garrett counties, along with officials of Oakland and Keyser to protest the move.

Inflation is said the cause of the cutbacks in UMW health funds.

Charles W. Stinson, Mt. Lake Park, is in satisfactory condition at the Mountaintop unit of Centre Community Hospital, State College, Pa., following a truck accident north of Unionville September 8.

According to Philipsburg state police, Mr. Stinson was injured after he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his truck and the vehicle ran into a ditch and overturned, pinning him beneath the truck.

Mr. Stinson was first listed in serious condition in the hospital unit. His truck was considered a total loss, valued at $5,000.

Meeting A Crisis . . .

Everyone will surely agree that the citizens of Garrett County, like everyone else, need and deserve first class, up-to-date medical and health care. We are pleased to see that Garrett County Memorial Hospital so strongly endorses this viewpoint.

With much work already completed, a lot more down the road, some public support and a little luck, the ground will be broken for a brand new hospital and health care facility some time next year.

The administration of Garrett Memorial is showing great forethought, hoping to tackle a crisis before it gets started.

The present facility is often overcrowded. What used to be solariums have been wards for nearly two years. With the projected influx of coal miners, the situation can do nothing but worsen. More beds and services will be essential.

The present hospital is inefficient in countless areas, not due to personnel, but simply to the structure itself.

More doctors are a necessity throughout the county now, even before the population boom. A new facility planted in beautiful Garrett County would be a real drawing card for new doctors.

Upgrading of health care through new equipment and facilities always increases the chances of survival for the patient, which is of universal concern.

Unknown to many, the hospital is no longer supported by county money. It operates as any other business corporation. Funding for the new hospital will come from some federal sources (what better way to spend federal money), donations and the bulk will be borrowed through FHA.

There is no better time than now for this jump. The population increase is just around the corner and the cost of building is certainly not going to decrease.

There are still many "ifs" and unknowns that stand in the way, but with public support, the administration is confident that the new building will become a reality. We are happy to see it evolving and support the efforts of the administration wholeheartedly.

Van Harris Will Be Guest Speaker At Friends Of Garrett County Dinner

Van Harris, called the "thinking man's comedian," will be the guest speaker at this year's Friends of Garrett County dinner to be held October 12 to kickoff the annual Autumn Glory celebration.

Mr. Harris has been cited as a raconteur, comedian, and excellent master of ceremonies. Dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. at Wisp Ski area at McHenry, following a social hour starting at 5:30.

Harris has appeared on the Johnny Carson show, and with Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin and Joey Bishop. He has toured with Enkebert Hamperdink, Tom Jones, Marlene Dietrich, Rosemary Clooney, and Leslie Uggams.

Others at the head table will include Wendell Beitzel, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council which sponsors the Autumn Festival; Page Shanklin, Friends of Garrett County Dinner chairman; Edwin Walthall, Promotion Council executive director; Teresa Hinebaugh, Autumn Glory queen; Scott Schweng, Queen escort, and Rev. James Remley, who will give the invocation.

Hearing On 560 Relocation Set

An Alternates Public Meeting has been scheduled by the State Highway Administration at 7:30 p.m., Monday, October 10, 1977, to discuss the planned improvement and relocation of Maryland Route 560 in Garrett County.

State Highway Administrator Bernard M. Evans announced that the meeting will be conducted in the cafeteria of the Southern High School located at 1100 East Oak Street, in Oakland, Md.

The proposed improvement involves the relocation of Maryland Route 560 in the vicinity of Loch Lynn Heights, and the provision of a grade separation with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The section of the existing route proposed to be relocated extends between Garrett Road and Maryland Route 135, along Third Avenue and Paul Street, a distance of approximately 1/4 mile.

The project is currently in the Department's Consolidated Transportation Program (1978-1982). However, construction activity is projected beyond the program period because of time required to complete project planning and engineering design and right of way acquisition. This meeting is one of the initial steps in meeting Federal and State requirements to progress the project towards construction as quickly as possible.

During the course of the meeting alternatives developed to date will be displayed, with their advantages and disadvantages discussed. The ultimate type of facility and right of way requirements for the proposed improvement will be developed as a result of these study efforts.

Citizens are urged to attend this meeting to discuss the proposed location and alternatives of the project. A brochure describing the alternatives will be mailed to all persons on the project mailing list. Others may receive a copy by writing Frederick Gottemoeller, Director, Office of Planning and Preliminary Engineering, State Highway Administration, 390 West Preston St., Baltimore, Md. 21201.

Comments and recommendations will be noted and recorded during the course of the meeting. Written comments and/or requests to be included on the project mailing list may be submitted to Frederick Gottemoeller at the above address.

High Speed Chase Involves Town Police, Deputies

A high speed chase early Sunday morning involving two Oakland City Police and two sheriff's deputies led from Liberty Street in Oakland through the Swallow Falls area and out Cranesville Road before the operator of the speeding pickup came to a sudden halt at the base of a tree.

Willis Junior Savage, Friendsville, has been charged with nine motor vehicle violations and two criminal counts, but has been released from the county jail on his own recognizance.

One passenger in his truck, Michael Casteel, Friendsville, was slightly injured. Other passengers were Savage's wife and a seven-month-old infant. According to the police report filed by Officer Roger Lewis of the town police, he and officer Dave Crossland attempted to stop the Savage vehicle on Liberty Street for a speeding charge. The operator of the pickup refused to stop, and continued through the Swallow Falls area onto Cranesville Road.

Savage kept his vehicle in the middle of the highway during the chase, but at one point Officer Lewis saw an opening and attempted to pass. His vehicle was forced off the road by the truck but did manage to get in front of the pickup.

The operator of the pickup then repeatedly rammed the police vehicle, despite the fact that a car containing two sheriff's deputies was immediately behind him. The police car was forced off the road for a second time before Savage lost control of his truck and rammed into a tree.

Savage was charged with failing to obtain Maryland driver's license; operating an uninsured vehicle, exceeding the posted speed limit; operating with tags issued to another vehicle (it was later learned that the tags had been stolen); reckless driving; operating an unregistered vehicle; fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer; leaving the scene of a property damage accident; failing to keep right of center; assault; and possession of stolen property.

Damage in excess of $1,000 was done to the police vehicle during the chase, according to police chief Hobart Shillingburg.

Four Arrested For Ruining Mailboxes

Four area young men were arrested Monday and Tuesday of this week and were charged in connection with destruction of four mailboxes south of Oakland last Friday night.

Charged with destruction of property were three juveniles and one other, young man whose name was not revealed by members of the sheriff's department. The case has been turned over to county juvenile officer Wayne Will.

The four allegedly destroyed mailboxes by burning them with a wooden club. Mailboxes were the properties of Jonas Kinsinger, A. A. Kaufman, Earl Beckmann and Larry Bernard, all of the Pleasant Valley area.

Chief dispatcher Ed Livengood makes a call on the county central communications center console, which provides direct links to the sheriff's department, county roads, forestry, and fire companies. Ed hopes the system will be completely tested and operational by October 3. See article on Page 10.

Meals On Wheels Plans Two Training Sessions This Week

The Meals on Wheels program, which begins delivery on Monday, October 3, has scheduled training for project volunteers.

Training will be held Sunday, September 25, at 2 p.m. and Wednesday, September 28, at 10:30 a.m. for drivers and visitors who will be working in the program. Both sessions will be held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland.

All volunteers are asked to attend one of these sessions in order to participate in the program. Anyone interested in this community service is welcome to attend.

Graham Completes Trust Studies At Banking Schools

Marvin G. Graham, Vice President and Trust Officer of the First National Bank of Oakland, recently completed the second year of studies at the National Graduate Trust School. The school, which is sponsored jointly by the American Bankers Association and Northwestern University, was held on Northwestern's campus in Evanston, Illinois.

The school enrolls some 540 bankers annually and is designed to provide extensive training for Trust Officers and those in senior executive positions.

Mr. Graham is continuing his studies for another year at Northwestern University. Upon completion of assigned problems and the writing of a thesis on a trust related subject, and attendance at the third year session, he will be graduated.

Mr. Graham also completed courses of The Cannon Association Trust Training School held at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, North Carolina, in June of this year.

Mr. Graham has been with the First National Bank of Oakland for over eight years. He has completed various other schools of trust, tax, and banking during his association with the bank. Prior to coming to Oakland, he was Assistant Cashier of the Bruceton Bank, Bruceton Mills, West Virginia.

He and his wife Vera and daughter Heather, reside on Memorial Drive, Oakland.

Firefighters Have Busy Week, Three Structures Burn

Garrett County firefighters had a busy week as three structures were destroyed by fire, all still under investigation by Robert Shimer, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Two county companies responded to a scene in Kitzmiller Friday night where fire destroyed a house belonging to Delbert Kitzmiller. Kitzmiller and Deer Park departments found the structure already collapsed when they arrived around 8:15 p.m. Oakland firefighters were called to stand by at the Deer Park Fire Hall.

The house, located on Short Run Road, was formerly owned by James Wilson and was in the process of being sold again.

Mr. Shimer said that arson is a possibility and the case is still under investigation.

A travel trailer at a campsite on Harvey's Peninsula at Deep Creek Lake was destroyed by fire Sunday evening. The Deep Creek Fire Department was called to the scene at 8:45 p.m. with three pieces of equipment and 16 men.

The structure was totally involved upon their arrival. No injuries or damage to other property resulted from the blaze. The firefighters were at the scene for about an hour and a half.

The trailer belonged to Russell Peranda Arson has not yet been ruled out, according to Mr. Shimer.

Later that night, at about 1:05 a.m. Monday, Oakland firefighters were called to the residence of Scott Sider just off U.S. Route 219 South, about one-half mile south of Oakland. The two-story, block structure, owned by Tom Sheehy, was completely involved upon their arrival.

Oakland responded with a pumper and a ladder and were at the scene for about two hours. There were no injuries. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined and is still under investigation. Mr. Shimer said.

Arson charges are to be filed today against two Friendsville men allegedly connected with a July 24 blaze which severely damaged a structure owned by Blaine Frantz Inc.

The two are Mark J. Johnston, 28, and Eppy E. Hook, also 28.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital Releases Building, Renovation Plans

The administrative staff of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the medical staff and the Garrett County Health Department have been conducting studies and meetings for the past several months to determine what type of expansion program is needed at the hospital to meet the ever expanding health care needs of the county. Some final conclusions have been reached and, depending on certain state and federal decisions, the hospital hopes to break ground sometime next summer or fall for a new facility.

Kenneth A. Richmond, administrator, and Thomas J. Earley, assistant administrator, are currently involved in presenting the hospital program to almost 40 civic, service and professional groups throughout the county. The purpose is to present the facts as clearly as possible and hopefully receive endorsements of support from the citizens, according to Mr. Richmond. He feels that those organizations spoken to so far have been "extremely enthusiastic and behind us all the way."

Mr. Richmond also stated that any group or individual who desires information should call the hospital and arrange for a presentation.

The following is a condensed version of that presentation.

By Kenneth A. Richmond, Administrator, Garrett County Memorial Hospital

It all started 2 1/2 years ago when the hospital made application for $225,000 from the Appalachian Regional Commission to replace obsolete laundry equipment, put in forty incremental patient air conditioning units, and upgrade our operating room air and humidity control system. Although approval was given for this money there was a catch. Government standards for hospitals were ever

The second area will be at Green Glade near the eastern tip of the lake. This area will contain only about two acres, and will be used primarily to provide access to the lake for owners of small hand-carried boats.

The agreement given tentative approval by the board Tuesday calls for the state to take over management of the lake from the Pennsylvania Electric Company, owner of the man-made reservoir. The power company has been ordered by the Federal Power Commission to increase public recreational facilities on and around the lake.

The company has agreed to give the state about 12 acres of land it now owns and to provide $480,000 to help purchase other land and to make improvements to the recreational areas.

Officials estimate that the total cost of developing both areas will be around $1.2 million, with the remaining $750,000 coming from state funds.

Assistant Attorney General Warren Rich of the Department of Natural Resources said the additional operating costs resulting from the two new areas would be in the neighborhood of $750,000 a year.

The power company has offered to contribute at least $25,000 annually toward operating costs, with the amount automatically increasing each year as the consumer price index goes up.

User fees should cover the rest of the operating costs. The agreement has the support of Wayne Hamilton, county commissioner, who said that the plan will benefit all Marylanders by improving recreational opportunities on the lake.

The board turned down an appeal to delay action on the plan by Del. DeCorsey Bolden, a Republican who represents the county in the House of Delegates.

Bolden contends that the current state park is adequate for recreational needs and that opening new areas could lead to overuse of the lake.

Twenty-three presidents of the United States have been in changing and the most recent standards (1974) found the hospital to be between $750,000 - $1,000,000 out of compliance.

At about the same time the hospital's consultant reported four approaches to the Board of Governors to overcome this problem it was announced that the mining industry would be returning to Garrett County in full force.

The Board had a major decision to make. Should the hospital take a "band aid" approach and just patch up its existing problems; should a new addition be built to replace those services currently cited or should a totally new facility be constructed?

Why should anything be done? was a question commonly asked. For four reasons: 1. Non-compliance with federal standards; 2. Inefficiencies of the existing building both structurally and those resulting from old age; 3. economic boom and related population growth projected by the late 70's and early 80's, and 4. the recent successful efforts and future energies toward physician recruitment.

The Board of Governors and the administration reviewed and selected an Architect/Engineering firm out of 27 screened. This firm, The Cannon Partnership out of Grand Island, New York and the hospital's financial consultants, Coopers and Lybrand projected certain basic needs by 1981. First, the hospital's bed capacity would have to grow from its existing 80 beds to 110 beds. Second, the square footage to support these beds would have to increase from 58,000 square feet to 92,000 square feet. An expansion program of this magnitude not only acknowledged the four points previously mentioned but it planned for now would prevent a crisis situation as the mines became operational and an increased population

Mrs. Martha Howard Celebrates A Happy 102nd Birthday September 17

Mrs. Martha Howard, Bloomington, is surely one of Garrett County's oldest citizens, as she observed her 102nd birthday Saturday, September 17.

Born in Shawnee, Ohio, she spent her early childhood in Mr. Savage and Cumberland. She is a daughter of the late John and Elizabeth (Whitehead) O'Neil.

On July 2, 1899, she married James Garland Howard in the Methodist Church in Piedmont. Their honeymoon consisted of a buggy trip up what is now New Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard reared six children, four of whom are now deceased. Her daughter Lela, now Mrs. James Mayberry, resides in Leesburg, N. J. Her other daughter, Alice R. Howard, resides in Bloomington with her mother. Mrs. Howard has 11 grandchildren and sixteen great-grandchildren.

Although catarracts impair her vision, she busies herself crocheting rugs which she gives to friends and relatives at Christmas. Last year she was featured in "The Bloomington Story" as the town's original lady. Her mind remains keen, and recently she said to one of her neighbors, "I don't suppose anyone will live to be 100 but I've got a good start on the rest of you folks."

Renovation Plans

demanded health services. Additionally a modern, up to date facility would serve as an attraction for new industry and more physicians and other hospital professionals. At the same time the hospitals planning was going on, the health department was similarly evaluating their needs and plans for the future. A relationship was entered into with the health department to discuss possible ways of working together to avoid duplication, keep total health costs down to a minimum and provide the patient with the widest variety of services at a central location. This concept along with valuable input from the Medical and Dental Society resulted in the formation of the Garrett County Health Complex.

Through discussions over the past 4-6 months involving the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Garrett County Health Department, Cannon Partnership, Coopers and Lybrand, the Medical and Dental Society, Planning Commissions, Health System Agency, Health Services cost Review Commission and all other health related agencies thru basic approaches to the Garrett County Health Complex were presented to the Board of Governors and The Medical and Dental Society.

Plan I called for a total renovation of the existing hospital (which has 58,000 square feet of space) with approximately 34,000 square feet of new construction needed to meet the 92,000 square foot requirement. In this plan the Garrett County Health Department would be located in some facility either adjacent to the hospital or at a location elsewhere off the hospital site.

Plan II sought to have the health department utilize the existing facility and have a totally new hospital with 92,000 square feet of space built next to the existing structure (the disconnection in this was that the health department only needed about 20,000 square feet of space).

Plan III more logically suggested that the health department utilize a portion of the existing facility necessary to house their services with the remainder being used for the hospital's indirect support services. The balance of space needed to support a 110 bed, 92,000 square foot facility (58,000 sq. ft.) would be accomplished by new construction that would tie the hospital, health department and medical center together under one complex.

It was Plan III that was approved and accepted by the Board of Governors and the Medical and Dental Society

Plan III allowed for maximum efficiency and the most flexibility to meet not only today's needs but those of tomorrow.

All three plans are expensive but to react to a future crisis instead of planning rationally today for tomorrow will be twice as costly. The total cost for Plan III is $2,500,000. The method of financing, although still being worked on, is hoped to be as follows: $2,500,000 from federal grant monies received from ARC; $300,000 from individual and corporate fund raising activities; and $8,000,000 borrowed from Farmers' Home Administration over a 40-year period at hopefully a 5% interest rate.

Outside of receiving all funds from federal grants, (which are no longer available) this approach to building, via borrowing is the most common throughout the country. As a matter of fact, if Farmers' Home monies become available this approach will be the most inexpensive method available. The future effect of a new patient facility with modern technology on the customer (our patients) will be about $10.00 per day. This throughout the hospital industry is way below the national average. "Through good planning, expert consultation and a multitude of efficiencies to be gained, the Garrett County Health Complex will lead the way in keeping health care costs down while providing a top notch medical facility to support our extremely capable and talented physicians, dentists and employee staffs."

The efforts of such an ambitious program are totally for the benefit of the community. The citizenry of Garrett County deserve the very best patient care possible. As these plans become a reality we can be assured that the dedicated and hard working physicians, dentists and employee staffs will have a facility and technology to support their efforts in providing top quality medical care to the community.

The program, from 6:15 to 7:45 p.m., is designed to introduce educators to the multi-dimensional characteristics of gifted and talented children.

Workshop activities will be delivered via satellite to 45 AESP receiving stations throughout Appalachia. Participants at each site will view selected media on gifted and talented education and then participate in a question and answer period with a panel of experts hosting the televised seminar.

Panelists include Bella Kranz, Professor of Education, Moorhead State University, Moorhead, Minn.; Dr. Alexina Baldwin, Professor of Education, SUNY Albany, N. Y.; Dr. Frank Williams, president elect, the Association of the Gifted, and Ellen Fiedler, parent/consultant.

The importance of identifying and providing for the gifted and talented students by the schools will be emphasized, and some insights into practical programming will be shared. The program will also include some information about parents of gifted/talented children and ways they can work in partnership with the school on behalf of their children.

Commissioners Ask HUD To Modify Grant Provisions

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has decided to ask the Housing and Urban Development department to modify provisions attached to a $78,000 federal grant to the county.

Eight conditions are attached to the HUD grant, and fulfillment of the provisions would require so much paperwork, according to county housing coordinator Deborah Lawton, that it would "take a disproportionate amount of time" from her normal duties.

Ms. Lawton approached the commissioners this week, asking them to request HUD to modify the provisions.

One of the conditions requires that Garrett County perform a survey of female heads of households. Another requires a housing plan and implementation schedule.

The HUD grant information also suggests that Garrett does not have fair housing practices.

Ms. Lawton told the commissioners that in previous dealings with HUD, she has informed the federal agency that aggressive housing projects have not been pursued because of the sewage moratorium in the Oakland area.

She also told the county commissioners that HUD should be aware that Garrett County has had no unfair housing complaints.

The commissioners decided to tell the agency that the county would fulfill as many of the conditions as possible.

A mid-September flood in Kansas City caused death and much destruction.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I would like to thank the people of Garrett County who have listened to my story of the "Health Hazard" we have on the west side of town in the city limits of Oakland.

Raw sewage is discharged into a small stream after it runs through the golf course on the south side of Fairway Drive that is open and unattended on the west side of Willow Avenue. When it rains the stream floods over the road leaving its deposits.

Golfers on the 16th fairway and residents of Golf Crest Manor and Country Club Acres invite those who do not travel this way regularly to drive by and be convinced of the "air we must breathe."

But the story has a bright side now as we have contacted some of the persons we have elected to public office and they have promised help as soon as possible.

I am a master plumber and retired contractor and "Health and Sanitation" is our motto. Presently, the sewage from thirty houses is deposited in the stream I speak of, within one hundred feet of my door.

Harry Bittering, Drowning Victim, Buried Sunday

Services were conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at Zion Lutheran Church, Oakland, for Harry Cecil Bittering, Sr., 76, of Star Route, Oakland, who drowned Thursday afternoon in a pond at his property.

According to his widow, Mr. Bittering had gone out about 1:15 to cut a limb from a pine tree near their garage. At approximately 1:30 she went to see why he had not returned to the house and found him face down in the pond.

She immediately called his brother, Walter Bittering, Mt. Lake Park, then the hospital and the Oakland police.

Walter Bittering arrived about 1:45 and tried to remove the victim from the pond but was unable to do so. By this time, Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad was at the scene and removed the body. Mr. Bittering was pronounced dead at the scene by Deputy medical examiner Dr. James Feaster and an autopsy showed death was due to drowning.

According to a report by the Garrett County sheriff's office, a leg on the ladder he had used had broken, causing the ladder to drop to the ground and flinging the victim into the pond.

Mr. Bittering was a native of Oakland, and was a son of the late Burchard and Amelia (Krause) Bittering.

A retired State Highway Administration employee, he had worked there 46 years. He was a member of Zion Lutheran Church.

Surviving in addition to his widow are four sons, Harry C. Bittering, Jr. and Wayne Bittering, Smithsburg; Edward Bittering, Bowie; Robert Bittering, Upper Marlboro; two brothers, Walter, Mt. Lake Park, and F. Harold Bittering, Oakland; three sisters, Mrs. Nora Ream, Oakland; Mrs. Pearl Georg, Silver Spring, and Mrs. Margaret Bernard, Mt. Lake Park; and nine grandchildren.

The body was taken to the John O. Durst Funeral Home in Oakland. Services were conducted Sunday by Rev. Fred Illick, pastor of the Zion Church, and burial was in the church cemetery.

Effects Of Mining On Garrett County Discussed at Meeting

A panel consisting of area mining operators, representatives of the Garrett County Planning Commission, and Chamber of Commerce members were among the distinguished guests at a meeting held Thursday evening at Southern High Cafeteria to discuss the impact of coal mining on Garrett County businesses, residents and tourism.

Guest speakers on the panel included Tim Dugan, Garrett County Planning Director; Dr. J. W. Janssen, president of Garrett Community College; Carl Rose, New Mineral Coal Co.; Carl DeSignore, Buffalo Coal Co.; Paul Dumire and Fred Toothman, Chessie System; James Morgan, Delta Mining; Lawrence Streets, Allegany Mining; Edward Jordan and Richard Dom, Hampshire Mining; Lonnie Waller, Metteli Mining; H. L. Kennedy, H. L. Kennedy Coal Co.; Richard Perando, Charles Keller and Fred Polce, Laurel Run.

During the first part of the meeting, Bradley A. Stewart, president of the Chamber of Commerce, served as host while the second part of the meeting was conducted by Courtney Tusing, president of the First National Bank, Oakland, and Thomas Jones, Garrett County Development Corporation.

Tim Dugan presented the audience, numbering approximately 150 persons, with projections in regard to potential growth, housing and public utility problems, effects on tourism and general changes in quality of life in Garrett County.

Dr. Janssen centered his remarks around a new program the college is offering to students interested in acquiring knowledge and skills in areas of coal mining. The college is being assisted by mining companies who will benefit from such a program, and are already involved in contributing heavy-duty machinery for practical learning sessions at the campus.

A question and answer session concluded the program for the evening and was centered around topics such as housing, social activities, road conditions and controversial regulations regarding safety requirements at mining sites.

Accident Creates Two More Mishaps Early September 18

Maryland State Police investigated several accidents during the past week, including one which knocked down C&P telephone cables. The cables then caused two more accidents before repairmen could remove the cables from the roadway.

At 12:03 a.m. September 18, Paul Stephen Sweitzer, Deer Park, was southbound on Route 560 near Oak Grove Road, at an apparent high rate of speed, when his vehicle ran off the road and struck a C&P utility pole. Tfc. E. J. Upole charged the driver in the incident.

At 12:15 a.m., Richard Earle Jessup, Oakland, was southbound on Rt. 560 when he struck the telephone cables across the roadway from the previous accident.

At 1:30 a.m., George Harvey DeSignore, Rockville, was traveling south on 560 when he, too, struck the C&P cables. Tfc. Upole made no charges in these two mishaps.

At 5:30 p.m. the 18th, Dwayne Richard Reckart, Oakland, was traveling on Boy Scout Road near Hoopole Road when he passed the road he wanted to turn into. He apparently stopped on the roadway and started to back up, striking a vehicle behind him. Operator of the second vehicle was Mary Ann Russell, Tfc. L. N. Smith charged Reckart.

A young Oakland woman was involved in a one-vehicle mishap September 19 at 2:20, when she apparently overcorrected when her vehicle ran off the right edge of the U. S. 219 ramp onto U. S. 48. Iva Morris was operator of the vehicle which skidded across the roadway and overturned onto the guardrails on her left. Tfc. Westmoreland made no charges.

An early morning accident, at 4:13 a.m. September 17, resulted in no charges. Jeffrey Frank Slautbaugh, Horse Shoe Run, was operating a vehicle south on Route 219 near the intersection of Gortner Road, when a northbound vehicle ran his vehicle off the road. Slautbaugh then struck an embankment. Tfc. E. J. Upole investigated.

Peter Ladnier, Greenbelt, was operating westbound on Mayhew Inn Road, and had stopped in the roadway about 11:45 p.m. Robert Edward Zinner, West Mifflin, Pa., operating eastbound on Mayhew Inn Road, struck the Ladnier vehicle head-on. Tfc. Upole charged both operators in this instance.

Doyle Realty Sold To R. J. Ruckert, Paul R. Shockey

Thomas E. Doyle, local real estate broker, has announced the sale of Doyle Realty to Robert J. Ruckert, Oakland, and Paul R. Shockey of Mt. Lake Park. The transfer of ownership was consummated last Thursday, September 15.

Mr. Doyle came to Oakland in January 1968, as an adjuster for Federal Mutual Insurance, and shortly thereafter opened a Strout Agency. Less than a year later, he passed the broker's examination and in a room set aside at his residence at Shady Acres on route 135, began a one-man real estate agency with his wife as secretary, trading as Doyle Realty.

In the summer of 1971 he added three salesmen to his staff, and the following spring purchased the Nora Yutzy property at 121 N. Third Street, where after a major remodeling operation, the real estate firm moved from Shady Acres to a suite of modern offices with a sales staff of seven licensed agents.

Mr. Doyle will continue on the staff at Doyle Realty as an associate broker, and appraiser for the Veterans' Administration, remaining active in the listing and sale of real estate. However, he plans to direct much of his attention to coal activities in the county and the field of appraising. Mrs. Doyle, who is also a licensed agent, will remain with Doyle Realty under the new ownership.

Mr. Doyle with his wife Peggy and their three daughters live on Pennington street in Oakland and will remain active in the affairs of the community.

Bob Ruckert, who obtained his broker's license in April, will be broker of record in the new partnership. Mr. Ruckert joined Doyle Realty as sales agent in the fall of 1971, and has been with the firm on a full-time basis since that time. He had since 1945 been associated with "The Republican." He completed the Maryland Realtors Institute, a series of intensified courses conducted at Towson University over an 18-month period. He is a member of the Cumberland Board of Realtors, President of the Garrett County Historical Society, member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, and American Legion Post #71. Mr. Ruckert has been a resident of Oakland since 1939 and with his wife, the former Adeline Sincell, lives at 323 Bradley Lane, Oakland.

Paul R. Shockey, who received his real estate license in 1976, was born and raised near Meyersdale, Pa. Before moving to Oakland from Howard county last spring he had been with United Airlines for more than 20 years, holding various administrative and management positions in customer relations; was a member of the Howard County Republican State Central Committee, President of the Howard County Council of PTA's, and a member of the Glenwood Lions Club. Mr. Shockey, along with his wife Janet, a daughter and two sons, resides on Broad Ford Road in Mt. Lake Park. Mrs. Shockey is also a licensed real estate agent.

Doyle Realty will continue to do business at the Doyle building at 121 N. Third Street. At present there are no plans by the new owners to change the name of the firm or to change the present staff.

Toston Scores Three Touchdowns, Rams Tame Central Preston 20-6

Although Phil Furman of visiting Central Preston put the first touchdown on the scoreboard against Southern High, the Rams rebounded immediately and drove on to defeat the visitors last Friday evening, 20-6.

Furman's score came on a 75-yard run from scrimmage early in the second quarter.

Late in the second quarter, it was Toston going over from the one and Steve Liller carrying the two-point conversion to put the Rams ahead 8-6 at intermission.

Third quarter action, like the first, was a defensive standoff. In the final 12 minutes of play, it was Toston again driving over on a one-yard run to add another six points, but the extra points failed on an incomplete pass.

Toston got the insurance touchdown with an exciting 65-yard punt return for the final score of the evening. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

Toston accounted for 97 of Southern's 134-yard total offense with good blocking provided by a fired-up Rams squad. Central Preston managed 83 total yards.

Greg Shockey, Jim Clark and Tom Harsh were defensive standouts for the winners. Both teams experienced two fumbles, however Southern managed to retrieve both as compared to Central Preston who lost one in a scramble.

The Preston County squad was penalized for 95 yards as compared to 65 yards for the Rams.

Earlier this week it was learned that John Toston had suffered a slight concussion during an unauthorized practice game. According to Toston, it is expected that he will be on the bench this Friday evening when the Rams will take on Bruce beginning at 8 p.m., at the Southern field. Toston said he feels "ready for action."

Punt, Pass And Kick Competition Set For Oct. 1

Garrett County youngsters will be dusting off their footballs and loosening up their throwing arms soon for the 1977 Punt, Pass and Kick competition to be held on Saturday, October 1, at 10:00 a.m. at the Southern High Football field.

Nationally PP&K is celebrating its 17th anniversary. It is sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. Since it was started in 1961, the program has attracted more than 14 million youngsters. Participation this year is expected to top the 1,300,000 mark.

Participants in the Punt, Pass & Kick program compete only against others their own age. Any youngster 8 through 13 years of age, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register to compete in PP&K at Shaffer Ford Sales in Oakland. There is no entrance fee and no body contact during competition. No special equipment is needed and participating does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Scoring is based on distance and accuracy with one point added for every foot the ball is punted, passed or kicked, and a point subtracted for every foot it lands off a center line.

Twelve national finalists will compete for the National Championships in their age group at Super Bowl XII in New Orleans on January 15, 1978. Winners will have their names permanently inscribed in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. Their trophies will be presented by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Lipscomb and Brenneman Score As Northern Blanks Hancock 18-0

After narrowly being edged out by Berlin in the Huskies' grid opener by three points, the Northerners, spear-headed by Ronnie Lipscomb, handed Hancock High an 18-0 defeat on the Hancock field last Friday evening.

Lipscomb scored on runs from the eight-yard line and the one-yard line, while Terry Brenneman added the other touchdown on a 20-yard run in the third quarter.

Lipscomb gained 144 yards on 16 carries while teammate, Brenneman picked up an additional 58 yards on five carries.

Workman was also credited with an interception and returned it for 10 yards.

Kurt Lear threw 3 for 15 attempts for 46 yards in the air, to players Mark Watson, 1-16 yards; Darrel Schrock, 1-15; and Dave Frazee, 1-15.

Leading defense players for Northern were Mark Watkins who managed six tackles and one assist; Bob Thomas, five tackles; Phil Workman, four tackles.

According to coach Jack Settle, "We had a good game. All of our squad got a chance to play, and that is very important to us as we have no junior varsity team here." Settle concluded by stating, "it was the kind of work we knew we could do."

The coach was pleased with Huskies' punter Gary Bauman who kicked a 36 yard average for the team, and noted Tim Artice's alertness when he recovered a fumble.

The Huskies will be at home tomorrow evening when they take on visiting Valley High beginning at 8 p.m. Both teams are now 1-1.

Central Alarm System To Begin Receiving, Dispatching, October 3

By Carol Canan

What "connection" can solid state circuitry have with better emergency care, fire and police protection, rescue work, or a warning system to tell residents of large-scale disasters nationwide?

Solid state circuitry within the control panels of the Central Alarm System, which will be put into operation October 3 in the county, will provide better links to all emergency units. All emergency calls will be routed to the central alarm system, where a dispatcher will then take the call and then notify the proper authorities to provide whatever assistance is needed. Dispatchers will man the center 24 hours a day.

The entire project has been carefully nurtured in the plans of George Comp, civil defense director for the county, for more than five years. Although modified, revised and even re-wired, the plan still follows his basic plan, to provide one central dispatch source for all emergency help.

The system is actually several components, including a console for county assistance, such as the fire department, sheriff's department, forestry and parks, county roads and health department.

At its side is a console for Emergency Medical Services which will include rescue squads. West Virginia units can also be received and messages transmitted on the EMS console.

Installing the county unit was Communication Control Centers, Hampstead, Md., a unit custom built for Garrett County. The other console was built per G.E. instructions at Van Nuys, Calif. by Comcenter Corporation, which built all consoles used by EMS in the state.

At right of the EMS console is a tape recording machine, seven feet high, which continually monitors and records all incoming calls and dispatched messages, 24 hours a day.

Across the room are various radio units to keep in touch with the Maryland State Police, State Highway Administration, Civil Defense, the C. D. emergency warning system, and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

On one entire wall is a huge map of the county, with lighted markers depicting such units as rescue squads, health department, and volunteer fire departments. Called an electrified status board, this can be used to plot emergency situations, keep track of roads blocked by snow or accidents, or other emergencies.

Above the radios is a projector which contains slides of various parts of the map, showing all roads and other information which could prove vital to police, fire departments or rescue squads in time of need. A CB radio is among the equipment, to monitor emergency Channel 9. A generator is included, which starts automatically in case of power failure, and will provide electricity to all equipment.

This complicated system of dials, lighted panels, digital numerals, whirling tapes and blinking push pins will be manned by five men from the county, who are currently in training to become qualified dispatchers. Ed Livengood, formerly with the sheriff's department, is chief dispatcher and in charge of filling their heads with the necessary knowledge and competence.

Working with him will be Brad Frantz, McHenry, and Terry Spear, Friendsville, both of whom were also former dispatchers in the sheriff's department. Jeff Frantz, Accident, and Lonnie Rodeheaver, Deer Park, fill out the staff which began training September 19.

General overseers and assistants will be George Comp and Ken Kenner, of the Civil Defense department.

The system is presently housed next door to Civil Defense headquarters in the basement of the county jail building, but will be moved into the new building at the front of the courthouse when this structure is completed. Target date is June 1978.

At that time, additional changes will be made in the system, providing a three-digit number, 911, for all types of emergency calls which will be routed into the Central Alarm system. Dispatchers will continue to notify proper sources of help.

At the controls of the EMS console in the central communications center for the county is J. Brad Frantz, no stranger to the county jail as he practically grew up in that facility. He is a son of James Frantz, former sheriff of the county, who lived with his family in the quarters provided in the building.

For the interim, telephone numbers for the present center will be announced at the time the system is fully operational. Changes to the 911 system will be explained after the move is made to the new facilities, hopefully sometime next year.

Funding for the improved communications system was through Emergency Medical Services, for the EMS console; the office of Civil Defense, Appalachian Regional Commission, and county funds.

Counties all over the state are presently installing similar central communications systems. Every county is presently installing EMS consoles.

How can this system provide improved emergency communications for the county? Through this basic system, any ambulance in the area can be in direct contact with the center, to call for assistance in getting directions or obtaining information via telephone from a physician concerning care of a patient enroute to the hospital. Ambulances going from here to hospitals throughout the state can now call other central systems for the same information.

An EKG may also be sent across the system, as an aid to patient care. Helicopter service through the state police will also be readily available, from the unit at Hagerstown.

With one dispatch center, there will be no duplication of effort and help will be notified more quickly by trained dispatchers who do such work as their profession.

Citizens may begin using this basic input point for any public emergency call beginning October 3, once all systems are tested and found operating efficiently. Notices will be made public concerning the exact date and time. Present phone numbers will continue to be useable for some time, until the public has time to become adjusted to the new system.

What the county has installed is a basic communication system with many features not presently available through the present method of placing individual calls to the needed fire companies, rescue squads, or police. Judging by the gleam in Mr. Comp's eye, however, this is not a finishing point but a starting point for a top-notch emergency communication system with infinite possibilities.

Lonnie Rodeheaver changes a tape in the tape recording machine which is part of the central communications system. Not pictured is Terry Spear, who will also be a dispatcher for the center when operations begin. The tape recorder monitors and tapes all incoming and outgoing conversations, 24 hours a day.

Cigarette Bootlegging "Catches" Pick Up

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein this week called for quicker congressional action on bills which would make cigarette bootlegging a federal crime, in the wake of the arrest of two cigarette bootleggers in Maryland in the past three days. "Maryland is in the very middle of 'Buttleg Highway' because of our location between the lower cigarette tax states such as North Carolina and high tax states such as New Jersey, Connecticut, and New York City. The crime of cigarette bootlegging has been brought to the very doorstep of our nation's capital and federal assistance is badly needed," Comptroller Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that an arrest by Maryland State Police on Saturday, September 17, 1977, in Prince George's County and an arrest by State Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Agents on Monday, September 19, 1977, in Howard County were both made on Interstate Route 95. "It is apparent that Interstate 95, which passes in sight of our national capital, has once again become a favorite northbound route for the 'Buttlegger' to travel," Mr. Goldstein said.

Maryland State Police Trooper Vernon Herron arrested a 48-year-old Jackson Heights, New York, man on Saturday on Interstate Route 495 at Allentown Road in Prince George's County, and agents from the State Comptroller's Office arrested a 30-year-old Norristown, Pennsylvania, man on Monday on Interstate 95 at Maryland Route 175 in Howard County. Both suspects have been released from custody pending trial. A total of 1364 cartons of illicit cigarettes and two automobiles were confiscated by officials.

The maximum penalty for transportation of cigarettes not bearing Maryland Tax Stamps is a fine of $25.00 per carton and/or imprisonment for not more than one year. Maximum penalty for possession of cigarettes not bearing Maryland Tax Stamps, is a $1,000 fine and/or imprisonment for not more than one year.

Bills now pending before Congress would make illegal interstate transportation of cigarettes a federal crime, enabling the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms to assist state authorities in the enforcement of cigarette tax laws.

Weather Mixed This Past Week

A mixture could best explain the weather on the Mountain during the past week. There was some sunshine with showers scattered here and there. Temperatures were about normal, generally.

Last Thursday was mostly cloudy with a rain shower before noon and again at evening. Friday was overcast with occasional light rain. Saturday was mostly cloudy. Sunday began mostly cloudy followed by much sun in the afternoon but becoming cloudy again later in the evening. Monday was mostly cloudy with showers early in the morning, about noon and again in the evening. Tuesday began with showers than became variably cloudy the balance of the day. Yesterday began overcast, becoming mostly clear then turning cloudy in the afternoon. There was fog this morning but skies were mostly cloudy after the fog lifted.

Temperatures averaged two degrees above normal, due to mild nighttime readings. Daytime temperatures averaged 71.4 degrees or 2.8 below normal, due to yesterday's high of only 62 degrees and 64 last Thursday. The highest reading was Monday's 78 degrees. Lows averaged 54.1 degrees or 6.7 above normal. The low was this morning's 46 degrees. It was a mild 61 degrees last Saturday morning.

Autumn begins late today with Autumn Equinox occurring at 11:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. At this time the days and nights are of equal length.

Bach Triplets Observe September 25 Birthday

Garrett County's triplets celebrated their 55th birthday this week, with a picnic on Sunday and a dinner at Cornish Manor on Monday evening.

The trio, born September 25, 1922 to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bach, near Bear Creek in The Cove, have been county residents all their lives.

Named Owen Henry, Orpha Hilda, and Ora Hester, they were among the eight daughters and three sons born to their parents in the family farm home.

Another set of triplets was born in the mid-teens in Cretin, to an Ashby family.

The triplets were the last babies to arrive for the Bachs, and caused a great stir in the Cove community at the time of their birth.

Oldest sister Nellie Collier remembers the morning well, as she tells it to Mrs. Mary Strauss, Accident:

Summer was over and autumn had begun. Soon the beautiful sugar maples would be showing their magnificent colors, ushering in the autumn. Near a little tributary of Bear Creek in the farm home of Henry Bach another event occurred which placed Rabbit Hollow on the map!

It was 5:00 a.m., on the Monday morning of September 25, 1922. Except for the parents and Mrs. T. O. Collier eight other children were asleep. The tranquility was soon broken when Mr. Bach went to his oldest daughter's room and called "Nellie, get up, we have a baby boy!"

"All right," but Nellie didn't move. She thought it was too early to get up in spite of the arrival of a new family member.

One half hour later her father came again. With a bit more determination he called, "Come on, get up, we have a baby girl!"

"Oh! My! It is time to get up," but the stunning news still didn't move Nellie.

Shortly Mr. Bach returned again. "Come on, get up, we have another little baby girl!"

"Pop! Don't come up any more. I'll get up!"

Nellie went downstairs to her parents' room and demanded, "Mom, what's going on?"

"We have three babies!" replied her mother.

Dr. Ravenscroft who attended the mother was still in the room when Nellie made her appearance.

"You can be proud. You can be the proudest family in the Cove," beamed Doc.

Nellie, however, couldn't understand why they should be so proud. There had been so many babies to tend before this, for theirs was already a family with eight children.

Mrs. T. O. Collier, who had served as midwife, helped the three older girls, Nellie, Cora, and Louise for three days until Nellie appeared able to take over the duties as chief nurse.

Nellie worked, sweated, and toiled, giving the babies her ablest services.

There simply weren't enough baby clothes for all three, so Nellie and her father went to Haentling's Store in Accident to buy material to make extra clothing. Mr. Bach was terribly excited and could hardly drive the car.

As they entered the store Prema Haentling jokingly said — for Doc had already brought the news to the village — "What in the world do you have out there and what do you want?"

"A whole bolt of outing flannel, three packages of safety pins, and a whole bolt of print to make kimonos," requested Nellie.

Mrs. T. O. Collier made the kimonos for the babies, and the Bach girls made the other articles of clothing.

When Anna Weber called on Louisa Collier there was exciting news to share. "Let's go over and visit the Bachs. They have triplets!" exclaimed Louisa.

"What! Triplets! I can't believe it. I just saw Aunt Effie a few days ago and she didn't look any larger than when she had just one baby!"

These two ladies were the first visitors to see the famous babies. Thereafter many, many people called at the Bach home.

"We hand-washed every day and gave the little babies our best care," explained Nellie. "We wanted them to look their best when visitors arrived. We sang, walked, and wore out three rocking chairs. It seemed to me that each triplet cried louder than the other."

Mrs. T. O. Collier helped to name the babies. It was OH, OH, OH: Owen Henry, Orpha Hulda, and Ora Hester, born in the order as listed.

Grandma Georg visited the triplets at the age of three days. She pondered the reason why there should have been triplets. She couldn't remember any multiple births in the ancestry before that time.

But regardless of Grandina's pondering, the triplets were a reality! Hear those voices!

More than 125 people attended Sunday's family picnic. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bach are parents of three children, Edward Eugene Bach, Allen Owen Bach, and Miss Janet Katherine Bach. They have one grandson, Matthew.

Mrs. Orpha Miller, has four children, Mrs. Betty Ann Miller, Mrs. Jean Purks, Mrs. Margaret Carlson and Paul Miller, and one granddaughter, Stacy Carlson.

Mrs. Ora Younkin can boast the most grandchildren. Her four children, Mrs. Kathleen Margroff, Kenneth Younkin, Carl Younkin and Richard Younkin, have a total of ten children. Included are Jill, Kevin, Steven and Troy Margroff, Greta and Mark Younkin, Tamara and Dean Younkin, and Sara and Christopher Younkin.

Three Injured In Vehicle Accidents During The Week

Three persons were injured in two separate motor vehicle accidents during the past week, but none of those involved required hospital treatment.

Arnold Charles Dumsha, Baltimore, was southbound on U. S. Route 219 near Keyser Ridge about 4:13 p.m. September 14. He struck the guardrails on the right side of the roadway and striking the guardrail on the left side of the road. Dumsha was treated at the scene by Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad but refused transport to a hospital.

Tfc. G. D. Rosh charged him with negligent driving.

A spectacular car accident involved two West Virginia men about 7:35 p. m. September 16. Gregory L. Myers, Aurora, W. Va., was driving east on Ben DeWitt Road when he apparently failed to negotiate a sharp left curve, ran off the right shoulder over a steep embankment, struck a culvert and a fence before overturning. Myers and a passenger,

Jeffrey Dumphy, Horse Shoe Run, were slightly injured, but refused treatment at the scene.

What is the story behind this "For Sale" sign? Is it just a house that's for sale, or is this a tale of happiness or sorrow—of success or defeat?

Let's hope this story has a happy ending! But this isn't a world of make-believe we live in. God made us human beings, not puppets. He has given us minds and bodies, nerves and muscles—and weakness as well as strength.

Maybe the story behind this house is a happy one. Maybe it's a sad one. Regardless, the people who lived here, like all of us, will be able to accept both good fortune and bad if there is yet another house in their lives.

The House of the Lord, the Church, has been built to endure through the ages. Here we will always have a home—during our lives on earth as well as throughout eternity.

LOVE, LTD.

Lesson for September 25, 1977

Background Scripture: John 6:27-36; Proclamation
Devotional Reading: Matthew 5:38-48

In the United States we use the designation "incorporated," or Inc. While in Great Britain and those parts of the world influenced by British culture and commerce, the term "limited," or Ltd is used. The concept behind the term is that the liability of the shareholders is limited to the extent of the shares they hold. Their responsibility goes on as far as the company is so far.

Of course Jesus himself realized that tendency in human nature. In the Sermon on the Plain he calls people to discard the limitations with which they surround their experience of giving and receiving love. In fact, for most of us, that experience may be so limited that what we experience hardly deserves the name of love.

For example, says Jesus, it is no great achievement to love someone who loves us in return. When we love on the basis of getting back an equal amount of love, we are not loving at all.

what we have given, or when we think only in terms of giving to the degree that we have first received, we are missing out on the real meaning of love. "If you love those who love you," he says, "what credit is that to you?" For even sinners love those who love them" (6:32). The best kinds of relationships are those in which we are willing to give without thought of what we are receiving. Isn't that what the cross was all about?

Enlarging the circle

Furthermore, our circle of loving is much too narrow. If we are truly to know the power of love, we must learn to love our enemies too: "...do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you" (6:28).

It is hard for me to read these words of our Lord, for they are continually a warning judgement both upon my own life and upon the church. It is only with rare exceptions that we have come even close to experiencing this kind of love. Most of us congratulate ourselves when we love our own families, a few friends and have a generally cordial regard for a limited circle of others. Many deny Christ's command to love their enemies, declaring it utterly unrealistic. Beyond that, there is so much evident hostility and outright hatred in our society, even among his followers.

Isn't it tragic that we Christians, for all our fine churches, for all our doctrines, liturgies, and traditions, still, very largely, eke out a threadbare existence on an experience of a limited love that bears little resemblance to the dynamic power that gave birth to the Gospel?

HOW TO BLOW YOUR NOSE.

Physicians advise that one should not stop up one side of the nose and then blow the other. Some of the force will back up into the throat. Also, germ-laden mucus might be driven into the middle ear with a possible infection resulting.

Blow your nose gently. It must last you a lifetime. Don't pick or pull hairs from it. A serious infection may be caused. And, if it troubles you and home remedies don't give quick help, don't delay. Go to your physician for inspection and skilled treatment.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people come to us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Local Governments May Not Engage In "Spot" Zoning

Attorney General Francis B. Burch, in an opinion requested by Annapolis City Attorney Eugene M. Lerner, has advised that local governments may not engage in "spot" zoning of property located in historic districts.

Mr. Burch said that Maryland law provides that the legislative body of a county or municipality may establish an historic district and that after its establishment all applications to construct, alter or demolish structures located within the district are heard and decided by the historic district commission. "There is no authority in the local governing body to veto or overrule the decision of the commission," he added.

Attorney General Burch said that in the typical case local governments are authorized to consider individual zoning applications only to effect a change or remedy a mistake in the locality's comprehensive zoning plan, but that the change or mistake rule does not apply to consideration of an application to delete a property from an historic district.

"We do not see how it would be possible for this change or mistake rule to apply to historic area zoning. The change or mistake rule is premised on the permanence of the zoning districts and this condition does not exist with historic area zoning. Second, the General Assembly has established a set of specific standards applicable to requests for changes within the historic district which would militate against a local power to spot zone in historic districts," he said.

"Although we do not believe it is possible for a local government to consider applications to delete sites and structures from the district, we believe it certainly is possible to change the boundaries of a historic district by an act which is legislative both in purpose and effect," Attorney General Burch said.

However, Mr. Burch said even if such means were adopted, "in our view the deletion of a single property from the historic district would, at the least, establish a burden of proof upon the local government to show that the action was not merely the means to decide a particular controversy. The difficulty in meeting that burden of proof would be far greater, and perhaps even insurmountable, if the boundary change not only involved one single property but also caused the removal of an interior property rather than the alteration of the perimeter of the district."

He added that, "we do not mean to suggest that there can never be circumstances in which the removal of a single property or an extremely limited number of parcels from a historic district can be justified and upheld. We are, however, of the opinion that any action by the local governing body which produces such a result must be the consequence of a process whereby the overall configuration of the district is considered and the impact on the entire district and surrounding areas of historic district regulation is taken into account. In essence, the process by which the historic boundaries are altered is analogous to the process of comprehensive zoning rather than the zoning or rezoning of an individual property."

One of the more memorable years for many Garrett Countians was none other than the year, 1932, not only for events occurring in the county itself, but also some national happenings that were of great importance.

The most famous News item was the kidnapping of Col. Charles Lindbergh's son, Tuesday, March 1, 1932, from their home in New Jersey. The child was taken from his nursery shortly after he was put in bed. A $50,000 ransom was demanded and the scandal was in full gear. The nation grieved for the boy and his heroic father and mother.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected to his first of three terms as president of the United States, and a heat wave struck Garrett County February 11, when the mercury climbed to a record 74 degrees. The heat wave was short-lived though, as featured on the front page of The Republican was a lengthy, detailed story of a boy's band caught in the middle of one of the worst snowstorms to hit the county. The story began, "The Gilbert-Brown Boys Band of Oakland, whose dream came true turned into a nightmare late Sunday night and Monday, have all arrived home safely. The band started out with 15 cars enroute to Pittsburgh to broadcast over the radio station there and were very pleased until returning home to Garrett County. A blizzard trapped the cars in various sections in and around Oakland. The snowstorm with winds of hurricane force hit the area and made traveling impossible. Some were forced to abandon their cars on Evans' Hill near Terra Alta, a few had to spend the night in Accident and McHenry and the remaining troupe arrived in town via the train. Oakland residents were very alarmed at the news. Some reported that the students had not eaten anything for nearly two days. The boys in Accident stopped a bread truck and bought rolls and pastries before making the trip into Oakland Tuesday.

In Hagerstown, the story was even worse, as all of the telephone and telegraph lines were downed by storm winds which completely insulated the town from the world.

Trouble struck again when a student group from Oakland High traveled by bus to see and hear Admiral Byrd speak in Cumberland about his ventures in the North Pole. The bus broke down and they narrowly made the rest of the journey by truck.

Letters were being received from places like Sines, Round Glades, Avilton, Lake Ford and Loch Lynn Heights. If there is a letter writer-reporter in those places, perhaps a few lines could be composed. I'm waiting...

A nice thing happened at the Order of the Knights of Pythias' Hall in Oakland, when it was reported that over 300 persons attended the 68th anniversary of the founding of that Order.

Valentines were said to be on the decrease in America because of the increase in telephones in American homes. In England, valentines and gifts were still being given in the usual numbers.

An historian was trying to determine where the first session of the circuit court was held. He mentioned two places as possibilities, one was the old schoolhouse on the site now occupied by the Center Street School (formerly the Oakland Grammar School), and the other was the dining room of the original Glades Hotel. The correct answer was left up to old-timers who knew the real answer.

To the delight of avid moviegoers, the Maryland Theatre was installing a new sound system that would come from the film itself instead of a disc. Showing at the theatre was Noah Berry in "Riders of the Purple Sage."

Quitting parties and community sings were quite popular in the county from Selbysport to Kitzmiller to Kempton. Everybody was singing or sewing in '32.

For bachelors who really pour on the salt while attempting to cook, a helpful hint was offered in one of the letter columns that read as follows: "If soup or broth is too salty, add a sliced carrot or potato; boil for a few minutes and remove slices. Repeat if necessary." After the third or fourth carrot or spud is tried, try a restaurant.

Questions?

In the list of persons that was named to serve on the Grand Jury last week we find that of Marshall Rickert, who is County Administrator, serving under the Board of County Commissioners.

This is something new. If something that has been done in the Commissioners' Office had been brought before the Grand Jury, would this member have been able to participate in arriving at a decision on whether to indict or not to indict. Would he likely have voted to indict his bosses, and perhaps himself as Administrator?

Surely there are enough qualified citizens that could serve on the Grand Jury without including officials that are already on the County payrolls. If this is to be the policy in the future, what is to prevent any County Official that has fear of indictment from trying to get appointed on the Grand Jury where he might be in a position to pass upon his own actions? Doesn't this make a mockery of our law enforcement machinery?

I believe that so long as we permit this kind of practice we are apt to find our Grand Jury is being used mainly as a propaganda organ for the benefit of our responsible officials.

B&O Administers "First Aid" To Oakland Station

One of the oldest landmarks in the town of Oakland is the B & O Railroad Station constructed in 1884.

While it may be listed on the Maryland Historical Trust, the actual maintenance of the building is handled by the B & O Railroad system who still owns the facility.

According to H. R. King, foreman in the B & O Railroad, Cumberland Division, presently assigned to Oakland, "The building is in remarkable condition, considering its age."

Mr. King was first associated with the B & O Line back in 1942 and recollected how busy the station was during World War II as compared to today's scheduled runs. "Then," King remarked, "there was a beehive of activity. Soldiers were in great numbers as well as passengers who rode to and from eastern cities on the B & O tracks."

In between regular assignments that come from Cumberland, Mr. King supervises various work projects at the station such as painting, repairing windows and eaves. According to King, "When we aren't out working on bridges or other railroad properties, we quite often get involved in small repair or painting jobs at the Oakland site."

Recently the wood trimming on the north side of the Oakland station was painted by B & O personnel. They are currently repairing a large window and painting the trim on the south side of the famous station.

With the exception of the absence of mortar between some bricks, and the need for paint on the eaves, the landmark is basically sound and sturdy.

For those who treasure historical places, it must be of some comfort to know that persons are involved in restoration projects even before an official proclamation is so declared.

Miss Greco Enrolled At Dartmouth College

Cynthia J. Greco, of Friendsville, was among the approximately 1,050 students entering the freshman class as Dartmouth College began its academic year in Hanover, N.H., in September.

Dartmouth, the ninth oldest college in the United States and the northernmost of the Ivy League institutions, operates on a four-term, year-round system. All four terms are equal and all entering students are required to attend at least one term in four years during the summer.

Miss Greco is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greco, Star Route, Friendsville, and is a 1977 graduate of Northern Garrett County High School where she was Valedictorian of her class. She won an award for excellence in American History and was the American Legion Oratorical Contest State Champion. Editor-in-Chief of the school newspaper, she was active in Drama and Dance, and was President of her class for three years. In addition, she was co-captain of the Varsity Cheerleading team.

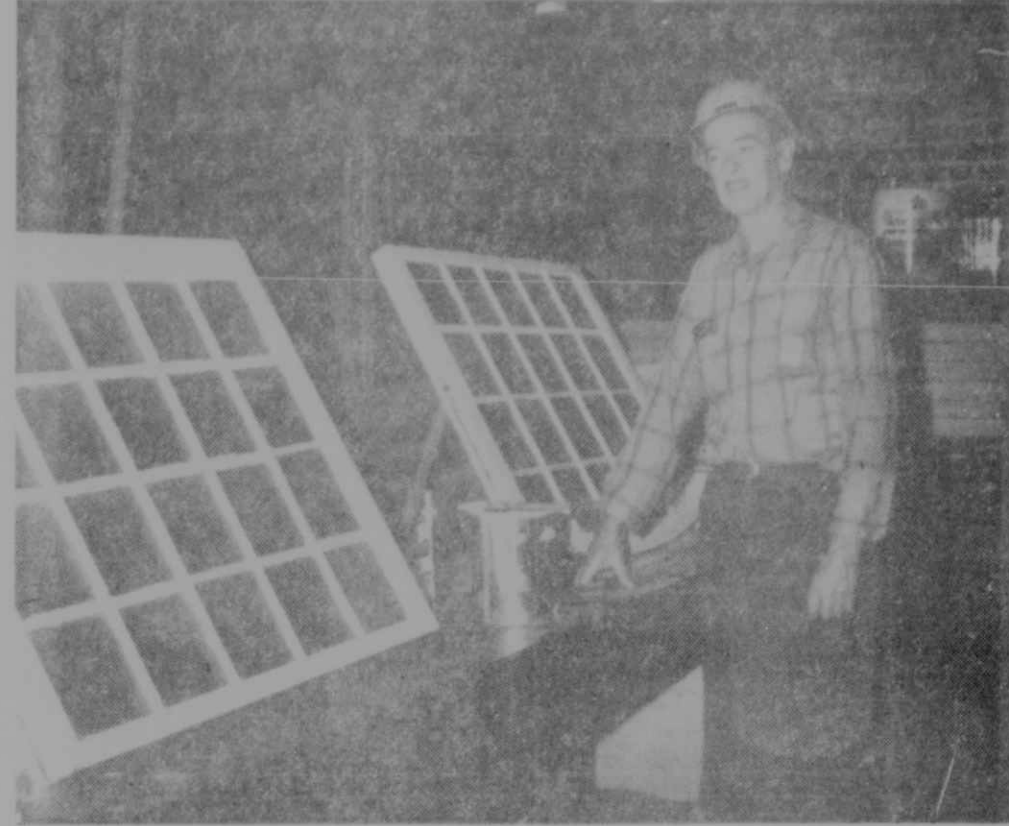

ONE OF THE MOST PHOTOGRAPHED landmarks in Garrett County is the famed B & O Railroad Station in Oakland. Built in 1884, it has accommodated such personalities as Presidents Grant, Cleveland, Harrison and Taft. Currently crew members of the Cumberland Division offices are engaged in small renovation projects at the historic site.

AT THE TOP OF THINGS at the B & O Railroad Station in Oakland are these two employees of the Cumberland B & O Division Bridge and Building crew who often take on repair and paint projects at the station while awaiting new assignments. Pictured on the south side of the Oakland landmark are left to right, Bobby Harsh and Robert Harsh, both of Aurora. The pair is currently engaged in repairing and painting the southern facade.

COLORLED GLASS WINDOWS at the B & O Railroad Station are being caulked and repainted by crew members of the Cumberland Division under the direction of Harry King, supervisor for the crew pictured above. Mr. King, of Deer Park, has been with the railroad for 38 years and has seen a great deal of change at the station.

POINTING TO A RESTORED PART of the B & O Railroad Station in Oakland, is Harry R. King, supervisor of the Bridge and Building crew of the Cumberland Division. The 93-year old landmark has been getting a lot of personal attention from the crew stationed in the Oakland area.

PENUMBRA ECLIPSE

Next Tuesday at 4:29 p.m. in the afternoon, the moon will be in the middle of a lunar eclipse. The moon will not pass through the darkest part of the earth's shadow; however, it will pass within 238 kilometers (148 miles) of the umbra of the earth's shadow. According to many texts, when the moon passes within 1126 kilometers (700 miles) of the umbra, the penumbral eclipse can be noticed by the eye. The penumbra is the outer, lighter part of the earth's shadow. The moon will leave the penumbra at 6:40 p.m.

This week the moon is waxing. It passes through its Full Moon phase at 4:17 p.m. Tuesday afternoon. Of course you already knew that from the previous discussion of the lunar eclipse. A lunar eclipse cannot occur unless the moon is at Full Moon phase. Moonrise varies during the week from 4:20 p.m. today to 7:52 p.m. next Wednesday. Will we be able to observe the moon before the eclipse ends on Tuesday? This Full Moon is called the Harvest Moon.

Visible to the unaided eye are the planets: Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn. Mercury may be found low in the east just before sunrise. Venus and Saturn are not far apart. Venus is brighter. They are in Leo, rising two to three hours before the sun. Mars and Jupiter are in Gemini. Jupiter is the brighter. These planets rise near midnight.

Sixteen minutes less daylight will be available next Wednesday than there was today. Sunrise was at 7:04 a.m. this morning. Sunset will be at 7:15 p.m. tonight just 12 hours 11 minutes later. Today the sun crossed the equator on its journey south. This event, the autumnal equinox occurs at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday the sun will rise at 7:10 a.m. and set at 7:05 p.m.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with my fellow residents of central and western Maryland. Send your questions or comments to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While I'll be unable to print all replies, I will answer each of you who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

What are the details of the legislation you've introduced to protect the Appalachian Trail?

The Appalachian Trail is one of the most beautiful, longest, and well-known hiking trails in the world. It stretches all the way from Maine to Georgia and covers 2000 miles. Each year thousands of Americans hike portions of the trail to enjoy the beauty and fresh air. For the last eight years I've worked to preserve and maintain the Appalachian Trail for our use and the use of future generations.

Maryland has led the way among the 14 states the Trail goes through. Back in 1969, when I was serving as your state senator in Annapolis, I introduced and helped to coordinate the passage of one of the first pieces of state legislation to guarantee the protection of the Appalachian Trail for the future.

The legislation I have introduced in Washington is designed to encourage the other states to follow Maryland's lead in preserving this great recreational facility. I've hiked the Appalachian Trail myself and can fully appreciate its beauty and the need to preserve this valuable strip of land.

Is information available on facilities in our National Parks?

Yes, such information is available from the National Park Service. They have a new booklet that lists the different services in more than 70 National Parks across the country. The booklet, called VISITOR ACCOMMODATIONS, FACILITIES AND SERVICES FURNISHED BY CONCESSIONERS IN THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM, is designed to give you a hand in planning and checking ahead because facilities differ from park to park. This booklet does cost $1.05 but it is useful. For your copy, send the $1.05 with your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Department 90-E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. By the way, the fall is a beautiful time of year to enjoy our National Parks. The summer crowds are gone and the leaves are showing their full array of colors.

Do you support Congressional Review Legislation?

Not only do I support such legislation, but I have co-sponsored legislation which will provide Congress with the authority to veto certain administrative rules and regulations issued by Federal agencies.

Time and time again the administrative agencies have usurped the authority of Congress through their quasi-legislative process of rulemaking.

We must keep in mind that Congressional review power is not meant to stymie the work of our federal government, but to make it more responsive and accountable to you, the people it serves. The procedure set forth in my legislation provides that whenever a rule or regulation is adopted by an administrative agency it will be referred to Congress for 60 days before it becomes effective. If either the House of Representatives or the Senate rejects the rule or regulation it becomes void.

VA Reminds Vets Of Burial Benefits

The Veterans Administration today reminded former servicemen and women that part of estate planning includes making sure their families are aware of the VA burial allowance available to eligible veterans.

VA Regional Director John W. Rue pointed out that the government allows up to $250 toward burial expenses and an additional $150 plot or interment allowance, if burial is not in a national cemetery or other government cemetery.

These VA payments will be reduced or eliminated in cases where the veteran's employer or a state agency has made such payments, Mr. Rue said.

In cases where a veteran's death is service-connected, VA will pay an amount not to exceed $800 in lieu of the usual burial allowances.

With the exception of Arlington National Cemetery, burial is available to eligible veterans at all national cemeteries having space, and may also be authorized for an eligible veteran's wife or husband, minor children and, under certain circumstances, unmarried adult children.

Eligibility requirements for burial at Arlington National Cemetery may be obtained from the Superintendent, Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va. 22211.

VA will provide a headstone or grave marker for eligible veterans, and memorial markers are provided for certain members of the armed services who die on active duty and whose remains are not recovered, or who are buried at sea.

An American flag will also be provided upon request for use in covering the casket.

Veterans eligible for the VA plot and burial allowances and burial in a national cemetery are those discharged under conditions other than dishonorable and who served in the Spanish-American War, Mexican Border period, World Wars I and II, the Korean Conflict, or the Vietnam Era. Also eligible are peacetime veterans entitled to service-connected compensation at time of death or discharge or who were retired for disability incurred in the line of duty, Mr. Rue pointed out.

Congressman Byron Supports Raising Of Social Security

Congressman Goodloe Byron has urged the Chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means to support legislation increasing the earnings limitations for Social Security recipients. In a personal letter to Chairman Al Ullman, Byron expressed his support "for the recent action by the Social Security Subcommittee to increase the earnings limitation from $3,000 to $4,500 in 1978 and $6,000 thereafter."

In his letter to Ullman, Maryland's 6th District Congressman noted, "This provision is similar to legislation I have sponsored for the past several years, and, if enacted, would be extremely beneficial for many senior citizens who find it impossible to live adequately on Social Security alone, yet are penalized too severely for working to supplement their Social Security."

Byron has introduced and supported other legislation to increase the earnings limitation, saying current restrictions are "unrealistic and unworkable." Our senior residents have contributed much to our nation and our state, and deserve the opportunity to live in dignity.

Byron has also introduced legislation providing that the first $5,000 of retirement income be tax exempt and that Social Security cost-of-living increases be computed every six months. A fourth bill, introduced by Congressman Byron, would ensure that when Social Security benefits are increased, those recipients also receiving Veterans benefits will not have their payments reduced as a result.

Consumption Down, Tax Revenue Up

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported this week that August, 1977, Motor Fuel Tax Revenues showed an increase over the same month last year, despite a 1.3% falloff in July, 1977, gasoline sales, on which the August tax receipts are based. Increased sales of diesel fuel, which is subject to the same tax as gasoline, helped to push Motor Fuel Tax Revenue above last year's level.

"Gasoline consumption in Maryland totaled 169,747,248 gallons during July, 1977. While that's not as high as the single month record consumption of 172,031,183 gallons in July, 1976, it is the fourth highest single month's gasoline consumption we have experienced," Mr. Goldstein said. The Comptroller noted that the record gasoline consumption occurred during America's Bicentennial Month.

Net Motor Fuel Tax Receipts for August, 1977, totaled $16,284,733, bringing total Fiscal Year 1978 Motor Fuel Tax collections to $33,443,825, up 1.75% over the $32,867,312 collected during the identical period of Fiscal Year 1977.

Of the $33.4 million in net Motor Fuel Tax collections for the first two months of Fiscal Year 1978, $33,001,329 has been distributed to the Maryland Department of Transportation. A portion of this money is redistributed to Maryland subdivisions by the State Department of Transportation.

Grantsville To Gain Woodworking Shop

A new woodworking and furniture production industry has been introduced in Garrett County, and two public meetings are scheduled to inform citizens of the project.

The Casselwood Corporation, a newly-formed non-profit organization, will purchase the property of the old pea canner on the River Road approximately one mile east of Grantsville.

Plans call for the training of 10 to 15 men in woodworking in the next six months, eventually training 35 persons. Furniture will be replicas of an authentic native design prevalent in this area 100 years ago.

Production should get underway by spring, according to Alta E. Schrock, vice president of the Corporation. The new industry is the fulfillment of a dream cherished by Dr. Schrock for over 20 years.

Both federal and state funds are available for a portion of the training program and bonds will be sold to take care of the remainder of the cost, including renovation of the buildings.

Meetings will be held September 23 at 7:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College and October 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the Grantsville fire hall.

Rockwell-Delta equipment has already been donated to The Highland Association, parent organization of the Casselwood Corporation, and is now awaiting installation in the new shop adjacent to The Highland Woodworking shop which has been in operation for three years.

Comptroller Says Fiscal Year Off To Good Start

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced today that Fiscal Year 1978 is off to an excellent financial start. "Our two largest sources of General Fund Revenues, the Income Tax and the Sales Tax, are producing more money than anticipated this early in the fiscal year and indicate continued consumer confidence," Mr. Goldstein said.

State and Local Income Tax Revenues for August 1977 totaled $117,021,308, up 18 percent over the $99,165,989 collected for August a year ago. The Income Tax Revenue exceeded expectations by more than nine percent.

Maryland's Retail Sales and Use Tax Revenue for August 1977 totaled $47,748,065, compared with $35,458,419 collected during August, 1976. The August, 1977, revenue reflects the second month of collection at the five percent Sales Tax Rate. Approximately $9.2 million of the August, 1977, Sales Tax Revenue is due to the increase in the Sales Tax Rate from four to five percent. Actual Sales Tax revenues exceeded estimates by 1.7 percent.

Preliminary figures show the furniture, fixtures, and appliances category and the general merchandise category experienced the greatest increase in consumer purchasing activity," Comptroller Goldstein said.

Fitness At 40-Plus

Many men over 40 fight their own physical fitness.

These are individuals who assume that because of their age they no longer are capable of much physical effort. One of the greatest dangers to men past 40, says the American Medical Association, is lapsing into sedentary ways, either because of job confinement or sheer laziness.

The male past 40 is advised to do two things with regard to physical exercise:

If not reasonably adept at a specific sport — bowling, golf, tennis, swimming — take instruction in at least one of these, or some other form of recreational sport. Learn to do it well and it will be fun to keep fit.

Take an inventory of physical activity in the course of regular daily schedule. This includes physical activity at home and on the job. It might include gardening and maintaining the home, sports activities, and regular workouts. Often these do not provide enough activity.

For the sedentary person who decides to become more active, a good start is walking. This means a brisk posture walk, holding the belt line level and raising the breastbone. Then, in addition to regular physical activity, devote part of the weekend to a pleasant physical activity like golf, bowling, dancing or swimming.

Fifteen minutes of regular exercise every other day is hardly enough to produce results quickly, but it is a good start. Over a period of time the benefits will be evident.

With regular exercise, the sagging, dragging middle-ager will begin to exhibit a total change in his attitude, enjoying meals more and showing more interest in home and work. Physical appearance will be more vital.

For the man past 40 who decides to begin an exercise program, a physical examination is advisable, to make certain there are no conditions that would limit exertion.

A plane crash killed 20 persons after taking off from Kirtland Air Force Base near Albuquerque recently.

Honored On 95th

Special services were held at the Laurel Run Church of God on Sunday, September 11, in honor of Grace D. VanSickle on the occasion of her 95th birthday.

She was presented a cake in the shape of a Bible by her former Sunday School class. A host of friends and relatives attended the service.

Mrs. VanSickle received some sixty birthday cards, including one from President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter.

A very REFINED Gentleman OR how NORBERT RILLIEUX was the original Sugar Daddy.

On August 26, 1842, Norbert Rillieux put a patent on a sweet idea.

It was a way to refine sugar.

To help the sugarcane juices evaporate more quickly, he enclosed condensation coils in a vacuum chamber. A process that's made things a lot sweeter ever since. You can make your future a little sweeter, too, by buying U.S. Savings Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan.

Traffic Fatalities Nearly Equal To Last Year's Total

Thirteen persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the National State Police. Of the persons killed were drivers, four were passengers and two were pedestrians.

Three of the deaths in the opinion of the investigating officer could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use. Ejected accident victims reveal, the life-saving habit of buckling on a safety belt is still far from a frequent practice in Maryland. Independent studies of both passenger and commercial vehicle accidents have shown that ejected victims are from two to five times more likely to be fatally injured than persons who remain in the vehicle.

This fact alone proves the value of safety belts. Belt use not only reduces ejections, it also diminished the severity of injury to persons restrained within the vehicle. The high percentage of ejections indicates that failure to use safety belts is still resulting in needless injury and death.

Persons killed through September 18 total 457, just one less than for the same period last year.

Crime Resistance Alert

Many police property rooms are crammed full of valuable items that the police have recovered but are unable to return to the rightful owners. TV sets, stereos, bicycles and other costly items remain unclaimed because they do not bear any identifiable markings. Had such property been etched with the owner's state license number, it may have been by-passed by the thief in the first place. But, if it was taken by a burglar and recovered by the police, the officers probably would have been able to locate the owner immediately. Think ahead. Consider these simple crime resistance rules about marking your property.

1. Etch a number that is unique to yourself. Your state's abbreviation and your state driver's license number is easily traced back to you.
2. Mark your items permanently in a place that is readily visible and difficult to remove.
3. Mark all your valuables. TV sets, weapons, jewelry, and stereo sets are popular targets of thieves. Small items such as rings and watches can be marked by a jeweler without defacing the property.
4. Photograph antiques, coins, stamps or other similar valuables that would be defaced by etching numbers upon them.

5. Keep an inventory of your property. How and where you marked it, as well as any manufacturer's serial numbers on the items, should be included on that inventory.
6. Contact your local police department for information on etching tools, window stickers advising thieves that your property is marked, tips on where and how to mark and other details of property identification programs.

The marking of property, like all of crime resistance, begins and ends with you! Don't be an easy mark—when marking is so easy!

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Navy Chief Interior Communications Electrician Richard T. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Jenkins of Mountain Lake Park, is serving as a crewmember aboard the Navy's newest nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser.

The USS Texas was commissioned Sept. 10 at the Naval Station in Norfolk, Va.

The Honorable Dolph Briscoe, the governor of Texas, and U. S. Representative George H. Mahon were the guest speakers for the ship's commissioning.

Jenkins is one of more than 40 officers and enlisted men assigned to the Texas. His ship is of a multi-purpose design, capable of conducting surface, anti-air and anti-submarine warfare. She is equipped with a fully integrated combat weapons system, which includes torpedoes and rapid fire guns in addition to her missile firing systems.

The Texas is the second ship in the "Virginia" class of guided missile cruisers and the fourth to bear the state's name. The first ship named for Texas was a sloop of war commissioned in the Texas Navy in 1840. The U. S. Navy's first battleship was named for the state and a second battleship with the name was commissioned in 1914.

Jenkins' ship is 385 feet long, displaces 11,000 tons and can cruise at speeds in excess of 30 knots. The Texas will be homeported in Norfolk.

He joined the Navy in January 1968.

Tube Trial . . .

An interesting criminal case going on right now in Florida involves a fifteen year old boy who has been charged with murder. The defense claims the boy was merely acting out a story he saw on television. His lawyer says his client was "intoxicated with violence."

At first glance, this particular defense seems absurd. However, after some more consideration, maybe it is not totally zany.

Television is satiated with violence. It unquestionably has an affect on people, especially young people. It is undoubtedly a detrimental affect. Even though the bad guy still normally loses, as time goes on, TV seems to be twisting things around to make him appear not so bad. He is given a certain appeal or glamour that could possibly influence, in a harmful way, an already unstable mind.

It's also true that television has some excellent education programs, documentaries and entertaining specials. But many of the series programs are just plain rubbish.

Sports coverage on all the networks is outstanding, but many sports enthusiasts spend too much time sitting in front of the set getting flabby instead of actually going out and participating.

Television can destroy creativity. A child's talents and skills many times remain unchallenged because he is too busy just watching.

Television is a cheap babysitter for parents. It takes up the slack when parents can't think of more wholesome activities to provide for their children. How many families can still really enjoy a weekend without turning on the tube?

God's gift of our eyes is only one of many. He has given us working bodies and a variety of talents which he wants us to use. He has also created a real world of natural beauty for us to relish, one which the phony, man made world of television can't hold a candle to.

So, build something, make something, paint, sew, read a book, go for a hike or bike ride, play a game of ball, visit someone . . . There are so many things healthier than constant patronization of the networks.

Miss Maryland Will Be Among Autumn Glory Parade Marshals October 15

Miss Maryland, Donna Maria Silvestri, will be joining parade marshals Blair Lee III, Acting Governor, and James B. Coulter, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, in this year's Autumn Glory parade Saturday, October 15.

Miss Silvestri is a sophomore at Catonsville Community College, where she is majoring in criminology. She intends to obtain a Ph.D. in criminology, specializing in juvenile crime.

Her talent is modern jazz dance, and she has also studied piano and ballet. Miss Silvestri's hobbies include needlework, gourmet cooking and karate.

Miss Maryland's annual appearance in the Autumn Glory parade is sponsored by Greg's Pharmacy.

James B. Coulter has been Maryland's Secretary of Natural Resources since September 22, 1971. He is responsible for the wildlife, fisheries, parks, forests, energy and coastal zone management, water resources, natural resources police, power plant siting and geological programs of the state.

He and his wife live in Crofton, Anne Arundel county. Another guest at this year's parade will be KIRA's Donna Rae, who is the health department head of Channel 2's "Evening Magazine."

Miss Rae is a model who will be recognized as the former hostess of WPGH-TV's "Body and Things."

The Cub Hill Choppers dance group will be dancing at various intervals prior to and following the parade from St.

Youth Charged In Beating Of Deep Creek Lake Man

A bond hearing was held yesterday for a 16 year old Accident area youth who allegedly attacked a 71 year old Deep Creek Lake man, striking him in the head numerous times with a hammer last Saturday evening at the latter's Green Glade area home.

D. Noel Obenshain suffered skull fractures in the attack and had to be transferred to West Virginia University Medical Center after transport to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. He was released from the center Tuesday.

According to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, the youth practically broke down the door of Mr. Obenshain's residence, made the attack and fled in Mr. Obenshain's 1973 Oldsmobile. Mr. Obenshain managed to walk to a neighbor's to summon help.

He was able to tell police about the attack and identify the assailant. The youth apparently worked for Mr. Obenshain this summer.

An all points bulletin was issued by the sheriff's office and the youth was located Sunday by Tennessee State Police in Knoxville, Tenn. The youth waived extradition and was brought back to this county by Garrett County Deputies Tuesday.

Bond was set at $15,000 cash at the hearing yesterday. The youth has been charged with assault with intent to murder, larceny of an automobile and robbery. He is presently lodged in the county jail. No trial date has yet been set, according to Ralph M. Burnett, State's Attorney.

Construction To Begin In October For Nursing Home

Thomas Cuppert, director of planning and development for Dennett Road Manor, Inc., announced this week that his company plans to start construction of a new 100-bed nursing home before the end of October.

The proposed facility will be located at the corner of 12th Street and Mary Avenue.

The new facility will be owned and operated by the Cuppert and Weeks family, which currently manages the 155-bed nursing home in Oakland.

The Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland has determined there are 34 nursing home beds needed in Allegany and Garrett counties. The 100 bed-facility to be constructed by Dennett Road Manor, Inc. only satisfies a portion of the demand for adequate health care for the elderly population in Maryland west of Cumberland.

Several other organizations have received certificates of need to construct nursing homes from the planning agency. If those facilities are constructed, the supply-demand factor for nursing home beds will be brought into proper balance by 1980 for the two westernmost counties.

The American Hospital Building Corporation is responsible for design, construction and equipping of Dennett Road Manor and also aided in coordinating financing of the project.

The Cuppert and Weeks family has been providing long term nursing care for many years, with the first nursing operation started by Besse Cuppert in 1948 with 12 patients in a small private home in Mt. Lake Park.

Board Approves School's Five-Year Construction Plan

Although it puts a larger financial burden on the County Commissioners, the Board voted Monday to approve the local Board of Education's five-year construction and renovation plan, according to W. Marshall Rickert, county administrator.

In the past, the local government was solely responsible for purchasing the land for new schools, but now the State Interagency Committee for Public School Construction is putting the architectural and engineering fees and a percentage of the equipment costs on the county.

A school for 360 children used to cost the county about $60,000, Mr. Rickert said. Now, the same school will cost local government about $200,000 because of the reduced rate of funding.

The commissioners endorsed the plan, anticipating a population growth in the county related to the growth of the coal industry.

The school system's plan calls for construction of a new school in the area south of Oakland, replacement of Grantsville and Accident schools, and renovation of Northern and Southern High Schools.

The commissioners will maintain ownership of the old Center Street school in Oakland in case there is a rapid population increase.

According to Mr. Rickert, the commissioners intend to dispose of old school sites through open, competitive bidding if there is no longer use for them as educational sites.

The commissioners recently took action to lease the kindergarten building at Friendsville to the Western Maryland Health Care Corporation to provide space for medical care in that community.

This year's Interagency Committee construction plan includes one change which moves up the planning date of Oakland Elementary School II, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, director of the administrative services for the Board of Education.

Oakland Elementary School II, also known as Pleasant Valley Elementary, will replace Loch Lynn Elementary and help with the possible growth of the southern portion of the county, Dr. Ryscavage stated.

He said the annual and five-year capital outlay program was developed by the Garrett County Board of Education and will go to the IAC.

In other board action this week, the commissioners adopted a proclamation designating October 2 through 8 as Garrett County Employ the Handicapped Week. The commissioners took the action to help recognize the needs and contributions of the handicapped through productive employment.

Clothing Factory May Be Locating In Friendsville

A sportswear production factory is making tentative plans to locate at least temporarily in the old Friendsville Elementary school, according to a spokesman for the Garrett County Development Corporation.

Negotiations between the company, with headquarters at Charleroi, Pa., and the county have been going on for some time, according to Commissioner George C. Edwards.

County representatives and the company officials are to meet again Friday to iron out details on leasing the old school building, which is still the property of the county.

Company officials recently toured the building, pointing out some changes which would be necessary before production could begin. The building has been empty for a year and a half, since completion of the new school.

The factory could hire at least 100 employees if the decision is made to locate in Friendsville.

A SPECIAL WEEK for special people has been set aside by the U. S. Congress as "Employ the Handicapped Week," so declared for October 2-8. Pictured left to right, signing and observing the local decree, are Wayne Hamilton, county commissioner; Tom Gearhart, member of the Committee for the Handicapped; Charlotte Griffith, Dept. of Social Services and committee member; and George Edwards, vice chairman county commissioners. Not present, but chairing the Garrett County committee is Mary Browning, director of the Maryland State Employment Service office in Oakland. A portion of the proclamation read, "We, the County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, do hereby proclaim October 2-8 as Employ the Handicapped Week, and urge all citizens of our county to remember the desires of our handicapped citizens to become contributing, productive and tax-paying citizens, and to assist them to realize that goal."

Col. J. H. Jackson Joins Child Abuse Named Chairman And Neglect Team Of Health Agency

Col. J. Haig Jackson of Garrett County was elected chairman of the Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland at the group's September meeting in Hagerstown.

The commissioners recently took action to lease the kindergarten building at Friendsville to the Western Maryland Health Care Corporation to provide space for medical care in that community.

This year's Interagency Committee construction plan includes one change which moves up the planning date of Oakland Elementary School II, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, director of the administrative services for the Board of Education.

Oakland Elementary School II, also known as Pleasant Valley Elementary, will replace Loch Lynn Elementary and help with the possible growth of the southern portion of the county, Dr. Ryscavage stated.

Oakland Assured Sewerage Project Has Priority

The Department of Natural Resources Water Resources administration has corrected an article which appeared in last week's edition of The Republican, saying that Oakland can be assured of funding for sewer projects.

Although Maryland faces a severe reduction in the amount of federal funds it receives for sewer projects because of a new Senate legislation changing the way sewer grants are distributed, Oakland should not be affected.

The new formula would drop funding in Maryland from $170 million to $130 million a year, and would cause some towns to have to continue to dump raw sewage into nearby streams.

Oakland will not be affected by the formula change, however, since funding has already been assured to start planning to correct the sewage problem.

There are three stages in rectifying sewage problems: obtaining funds for preliminary design, completion of the design and construction.

According to state regulations, any corporation presently in step one or two automatically goes to the top of the sewage amendment priority list.

Communities which may be affected include Lonscoring, Hackett and Midland, which are dumping into Georges Creek. At the present time, Oakland is dumping sewage into the Youghiogheny River.

Maryland officials said the funding reduction was inevitable since the state has been receiving a large proportion of the federal funds allocated for sewer projects in the nation.

Maryland was receiving 3.4 percent of the $4.5 billion national sewer program although it has just under 1.9 percent of the total U. S. population.

The state received this disproportionate share because the money had been given to states based on each state's assessment of its own needs. In 1974, the federal government asked each state to conduct a "needs" survey.

"Maryland went out and determined that every one of its old sewers needed to be replaced," one Senate committee aide reportedly stated.

The funding cut would apparently have been more — nearly $90 million — if Sen. Paul Sarbanes had not convinced the Senate to back a "hold harmless" clause which limited the reduction in funds for any state to 25 percent of the present level.

Lloyd B. Younklin Dies Of Injuries In Crane Mishap

Services will be conducted Friday for Lloyd B. Younklin, 43, of Grantsville, who died of injuries sustained last Thursday when the crane he was operating came in contact with some high-tension wires.

Mr. Younklin reportedly was working on a crane which was unloading cement blocks along U. S. Route 40 near Markleysburg, Pa. He was taken to the West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh, where he died Tuesday, September 27.

The service will be conducted at 2 p.m. by Rev. David L. Foster. Interment will be in Reformed Cemetery, Meyersdale.

A native of Elk Lick Township, Mr. Younklin was a son of Mrs. Beulah Briskey, Somerset, and the late Lloyd W. Younklin.

He was a member of St. John's United Church of Christ, Salisbury, Glade View Road and Gun Club, Salisbury Hunting Club, and Somerset Pistol League.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Ann (Werner) Younklin. The body is at the Thomas Funeral Home, Salisbury.

A "GOLDEN" SHOVEL was used in groundbreaking ceremonies for a new parish house at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Liberty Street, Oakland. The new building is expected to be completed sometime in the early summer and will house a spacious all-purpose room, pastor's office, Christian education rooms and space for the Newly Near Shop. DAV Field Service Unit To Be In Oakland October 10

Free assistance for veterans and their families will be available locally when a Field Service Unit for the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) visits Oakland on October 10.

A unit will be located at the corner of Liberty and Second Streets all day on the 10th, with DAV National Service Officers who will provide free counseling and claims service to veterans.

The traveling veterans' service facility will be at the Oakland location from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

This is the fourth consecutive year that one of these 26-foot mobile offices has toured the state, helping officers who are fully qualified to assist veterans and families in filing claims for Federal and State benefits to which they are entitled by law. This includes disability compensation, pension, employment rights, job training, educational benefits, hospitalization and medical care, social security, death claims and other matters.

During the first three years of the DAV's nationwide tour with its fleet of nine Field Service Units, 149,000 veterans and dependents contacted the mobile offices for assistance. As a result of these visits, DAV National Service Officers filed 7,600 new claims and reopened another 46,000 claims for veterans' benefits. A veteran need not be a member of the DAV to take advantage of this free service.

The DAV employs 280 full-time National Service Officers

—more than 80 percent of whom are disabled Vietnam era veterans—at Veterans Administration installations across the country. The DAV's urge all veterans of all wars, particularly disabled veterans, to take advantage of the free service to discuss any problems they may have concerning benefits. Special emphasis is placed on Vietnam veterans because large numbers of these young men and women are not taking advantage of the benefits they've earned, especially in the areas of education and vocational rehabilitation.

Local DAV members are cooperating with the national headquarters of the 550,000-member Disabled American Veterans in bringing the Field Service program to this area.

The governing body moved to accept the plan preparation schedule which calls for an October 14 public hearing notice and proposed plan distribution, followed by a November 15-30 interim for one public hearing in each of the agency's four counties.

The body also approved a recommendation that podiatrists as a professional group should not be denied practice privileges in hospitals and that is appropriate that qualified podiatrists may be granted practice privileges within the scope of individual competence.

Dr. Edwin Riley reported that two outstanding agreements remain with other health systems agencies and that there will be a meeting soon with the Western Maryland review organization and agency representatives to reconcile an agreement between the agencies.

The governing body also decided to begin monthly meetings on the third Wednesday of the month at 1 p.m. instead of 10:30 a.m., which will allow advisory committees to meet in the morning if they choose. The next governing meeting will be October 19 at 1 p.m. at the Will o' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

The group was notified that Scott Goodman, a senior at Frostburg State College, is currently performing a three-month internship at the Health Systems Agency office, and will analyze results of the Consumer Health Survey and other projects.

Present at the September meeting were Thomas J. Earley, Mrs. Marilyn J. Filemyr, Mrs. Mary E. Friend and Dr. Gilcin F. Meadows III.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I was very disturbed by the advertisement in last week's edition which called for the resignation of Herbert Harman from the Board of Education.

Although I have had differences of opinion with Mr. Harman concerning education in Garrett County, I know that he always acts in behalf of the students. His involvement in the education of our children is done at great expense to both himself and his family.

It is a shame that there are those who would twist the meaning of the events in a Board of Education meeting to their own selfish ends; obviously at the expense of quality education in our county. Morale has been lowered and division in the professional ranks has occurred.

Hopefully there are conscientious teachers who will work together professionally with Mr. Harman to insure the best education for our children. This in spite of the unthinking and selfish acts of those who would twist ideas to their own ends and of those who dare to advertise their twisted logic in a one-half page advertisement.

I am sure that some of the events I have referred to have occurred because of a lack of clear communication. The Republican has always been silent about the transactions occurring during Board of Education meetings. These are public meetings. Has the editor considered giving the regular Board of Education meeting impartial coverage in The Republican?

Sincerely yours,
Paul S. Frank, Jr.
Dear Mr. Frank,

It seems you didn't receive our September 15 issue. On the front page of that issue is what we consider to be an impartial informational story covering the latest Board of Education meeting. We always cover the Board's meetings, usually on the front page.

Unfortunately, the Board conducts its meetings on Thursday, right at our presstime. Therefore, not only is the coverage a week behind, but it is difficult for us to spare anyone at that time to actually attend the meeting. However, if there is a controversial issue at hand, we do have a reporter there, regardless. In addition, the Board has always been cooperative in communicating information to us about the meetings.

This latest heated issue originated from a not-so-well written article appearing in a Cumberland newspaper. We decided that any rebuttals or reactions to that article should go directly to that Cumberland paper, not to us.

We prefer to do our best simply to present the facts and not allow ourselves to become a battleground for two opposing forces. This is one of the damaging pitfalls in journalism today which we hope to avoid as much as possible. Should we decide to become involved and take a stand on a particular issue, we will do so through editorials, not news stories.

Editor

Dear Mr. Sinzell:

After the fervor of returning to school, most of us felt the dust had settled, but someone stirred it up again. I refer to a paid advertisement in this newspaper calling for the resignation of Herbert Harman, Garrett County Board of Education President.

The patrons of that obnoxious half-page of blatant poor judgment were the Garrett County Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), NOT Garrett County Teachers' Association (NEA). It is important to avoid confusing these opponents in teacher alliance.

The National Education Association is the most widely recognized teacher group in America, both professionally and politically. The Carter administration, while falling short of some public expectations, has greatly acknowledged teacher concerns largely through endeavors of NEA. Higher government echelons have been reached through massive support of NEA.

The American Federation of Teachers can't make this claim. Yet another branch of AFL-CIO, they haven't convinced the majority of U.S. teachers that teaching has much in common with labor union practices. In addition, AFT has only been a strong voice in localized decisions— isolated cases — and not a nationwide stronghold, not with their declining roster, anyway.

This applies equally on a local level. GCTA (NEA) represents approximately 220 of nearly 300 county teachers; the 80 remaining are not necessarily absorbed by GCTA. GCTA is also the exclusive bargaining agent for teacher contracts in Garrett County. Of course more variations exist in practice and philosophy than space allows here.

Last Thursday's ad glared a nasty and unwarranted proposal. It was published only because it was a business transaction between GCTA and The Republican. Apparently, GCTA money is as "good" as anyone's yet lacks no better purpose than to aggravate an otherwise healing wound. It's an elementary matter of tactics: GCTA requested an apology from Mr. Harman and received it; GCTA asked for a resignation, but I doubt they'll see their demand materialize.

For obvious reasons, I earnestly hope that GCTA cease furthering their cause via their characteristic tactlessness. Moreover, perhaps another apology is in order?

Sincerely,
Kristin Milne, GCTA

Southern Middle School

Dear Mr. Sinzell:

We are certainly living under a sad situation when, as soon as an individual speaks out on the faults of a system, that very system wants his removal. How much better it would be if the Garrett County Federation of Teachers would redirect its efforts toward improvement of our county's educational system and work for elimination of its many faults, rather than for elimination of those who want improvement.

Sincerely,
M. E. Beckman
Dear Mr. Beckman,

Your letter deserves a standing ovation.

Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

After reading the small advertisement-article published in last week's Republican by Clifford Friend under the title of "Questions", I feel it is necessary that I speak to the allegations and innuendoes raised by Mr. Friend.

I find it difficult to believe that a man of Mr. Friend's stature and involvement in civic affairs as well as his past history of legislative service, could be so unfamiliar with the manner by which the Grand Jury of Garrett County is selected. The law clearly provides, in Title 8, Section 201, Courts and Judicial Proceedings, that a Grand Jury shall be randomly selected from the registered voters of the County. In fact, in Garrett County, the names of the Grand Jury members are identified on a master list by numbers drawn from a wheel which is spun so the numbers are mixed. The numbers are drawn by the presiding Circuit Court Judge in order to insure impartiality.

The implication by Mr. Clifford Friend that the selection of members of the Grand Jury is controlled by certain officials within the County is a gross insult to those members of past Grand Juries who have so aptly served our community as well as its citizens by participating in the Grand Jury process.

I have served as legal advisor to many Grand Juries in Garrett County and have always been impressed by the honesty, sincerity and integrity of the members of those Grand Juries. This single attribute of people from the mountain top has been unchanging. It is my opinion that the statement of Clifford Friend contained in the September 22nd edition of The Republican is both inaccurate as to the law and incorrect as to the integrity of the people who have served on Garrett County's Grand Juries.

Sincerely,
Ralph M. Burnett
State's Attorney

County Members

Will Observe 4-H

Week October 2-8

More than 5.8 million young people and their families will be observing National 4-H Week October 2-8. Theme of this year's observance is "4-H - Freedom to Be."

National 4-H week is set annually by the Cooperative Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. The observance gives 4-H members, their leaders and parents a chance to review the past year's work and plan for the coming year.

It also focuses public attention on the values of 4-H as an informal educational program that enables young people to learn real-life skills, develop leadership abilities and become productive citizens.

The projects and activities are supervised by nearly 10,000 county agricultural, home economics and 4-H agents. These extension professionals are assisted by more than 570,000 volunteers who give leadership to local clubs, special interest groups and other activities.

There are 21 clubs in Garrett County with 307 members in the clubs and 200 more in special interest or short term projects.

There were four special interest groups in 1977, veterinary science, broiler, hunter safety and archery.

There were 200 young 4-Hers attending summer day camp this year in six communities, compared to 100 attending in three communities last year.

At the six-day resident camp, there were 85 youth plus the staff.

Fifty-three percent, or 163 members, live on farms while the remainder live in towns with populations under 10,000. There are 59 youngsters from farms in special interest groups, for a total of 222 youngsters from farms. A total of 285 4-Hers live in the small towns.

There are 218 girls and 289 boys in the clubs, with 172 girls and 135 boys in regular clubs and the remainder in special activity groups.

There are 105 pre-teens (9-11) in regular clubs and 48 in special interest groups; 110 in early teens in clubs and 94 in special interest groups; and 92 in middle and upper teens (15-19) in clubs and 58 in special interest groups. The largest percentage (40 percent) of the group is in their early teens.

There are presently more than 70 volunteer leaders in the county, serving as organizational leaders, project leaders and resource leaders.

Most popular projects in the county include beef, clothing, crafts, dairy, dog, baby sitting, foods/nutrition; gardening/horticulture; horse and horsemanship; junior leadership; hunter/rifle safety; photography, small pets, and veterinary science.

At its annual meeting in May, the board of trustees of the newly-formed National 4-H Council approved a budget of

LEARN BY DOING

$8,322,421, the largest in the history of 56 years of national 4-H private support.

The Council, with offices in Chicago and Washington, D. C., represents a merger of the National 4-H Service committee and the National 4-H Foundation. The Council administers numerous educational programs in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The Council also produces educational literature and visual aids, operates the National 4-H Supply Service, conducts National 4-H Congress, publishes National 4-H News and provides year-round information and public relations support to 4-H.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 9 and 19 who wishes to join the 4-H organization may contact the local county extension office in Oakland. Extension agents for 4-H and youth are Miss Alice Heyner and Lawrence Little. Young people interested may also contact the club nearest them for further details.

Awareness Week For Handicapped Is Proclaimed

Next week has been proclaimed National Handicapped Awareness Week, (October 2-8). The Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation Monday morning officially recognizing the special week in this county.

The Garrett County Committee to Promote Employment of the Handicapped is arranging window displays in downtown Oakland and in northern Garrett County to illustrate some of the activities and facilities currently available to help and satisfy the needs of the handicapped. The Appalachian Adult Activity Center, Camp Hickory, Special Olympics, Scouting, educational and vocational achievements and crafts and artifacts made by the handicapped will be the focus of the displays. The displays will be on view until October 15.

The Special Education Program of the Garrett County Board of Education provides a full school environment for handicapped children within a regular school program at the Accident and Dennett Road Centers. There are special education programs in all Garrett County schools from kindergarten through 12th grade and auxiliary services and special therapy classes at Swan Meadow and Yoder Schools. Camp Hickory provides a one-week outdoor education program during the summer for special education students. Arrangements for any of these services are handled by Sarah Wilson at the Board of Education.

The Special Olympics is supported through the Student Service Activity Program at Garrett Community College under the direction of Dorothy Leuba and Joan Crawford. The Special Olympics allows the handicapped to compete in athletic events with other handicapped individuals.

Boy Scouting for the handicapped is funded through the American Legion under the direction of Tom Bittinger. Besides their weekly meetings, the Boy Scouts also participate in overnight camping.

The Appalachian Adult Activity Center is a program sponsored by Community Action that provides daily services to the mentally, physically, and emotionally handicapped. The services include transportation to and from home, hot meals, homemaker skills, community awareness, practical living skills, functional reading skills, and work activity skills and training. The Center's overall approach is to provide the needed training for each individual so that he or she has the opportunity to reach maximum independence.

A SUNDAY DRIVE came to an abrupt stop shortly before 4 p.m., when a car driven by Mabel Lantz, Mt. Lake Park, turned south onto Fourth Street from Memorial Drive, jumped onto the sidewalk and then came to a halt after hitting a parked car head-on. Mrs. Lantz suffered facial lacerations and her daughter, Betty L. Fov, received a bump on the head when she struck the windshield. Both were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad. Both were treated at the hospital and released.

The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) Programs are federally funded job and job training programs that provide employment and training opportunities for unemployed individuals in cooperation with local agencies and municipalities. One of the high priority groups for these programs to employ are the unemployed handicapped.

The Garrett County Association for Retarded Citizens is a private, non-profit organization whose purpose is to promote the rights and welfare of the mentally retarded. The Association is made up of parents of the mentally retarded and interested individuals and representatives of different county agencies. The Association is currently promoting and raising funds for residential care facility for the mentally retarded citizens in Garrett County.

Vocational Rehabilitation is a service offered to the handicapped citizens of the State of Maryland. Services include physical restoration, job training, counseling and job placement. This program is under direction of Bill Wright and the Vocational Rehabilitation Office on Oak Street in Oakland.

North Star Girls See Ice Capades

Members of the North Girls 4-H Club, their friends and families, traveled by bus to Pittsburgh Friday, September 16, to see the Icecapades. Dorothy Hamill, Olympic gold medal winner, was the featured attraction.

Members of the club taking the trip were Christy Fratz, Libby McRobie, Vivian Richter, Rita Kolb, Connie Hutzell, Tawney Cowans, Jill Margroff, Amy Margroff, Sherry Kolbfleish, Sherry Golden, Jeanette Harman, Nancy Collier, Hilda Kolb and Helen Harman.

Local Cancer Board Makes Fall Plans

Members of the Board of Directors of the Garrett County unit, American Cancer Society, met Monday evening to make plans for fall activities.

Scheduled November 17 is a national campaign, "Great American Smokeout," requesting all smokers to stop smoking for at least that day.

Pledge cards will be placed at all stores and cigarette vending units for smokers to use, to help insure that they do not smoke for at least one day.

In the high schools of the county, posters and buttons will be distributed to aid the "no smoking" campaign.

For those in kindergarten through grade three, kits have been placed in school media centers for distribution to youngsters. Kits contain items relative to an "Easy start to Good Health," with posters, games and other informational material.

Guaic test kits will be distributed to 400 employees at Bausch and Lomb, with instructions for use. The Guaic test is a new procedure found effective in helping diagnose rectal cancer.

Mrs. Ruth Durst has been named an honorary life member of the Garrett County Board of Directors, for her many years of efforts in various offices and chairmanships.

Re-elected to the Board of Directors for two-year terms were Earl Clark, Pauline Fawcett, Dottie Greenwood, Dr. Gilcin Meadows III, Louise Messenger and Alana Winters.

New Board members are Pearl Daniels, Mary Lou Stemple, Annie Steyer, Pauline Partrick, Helen Carstens, Anne Emerson, and Earlene Evans.

'4-H-Freedom To Be'

During National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8, 4-H members will be exploring the theme, "Freedom To Be." Over the years, 4-H has helped millions of boys and girls grow into self-directed, productive and contributing members of society. It has done this through an informal, learning-by-doing approach to education, in which young people choose their own projects and set individual goals for achievement.

The strengths of 4-H come from several sources. The Cooperative Extension Service of the land-grant universities, state and local governments, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture provide substantial resources and versatility for the 4-H program. Private sector donors, businesses, foundations and individuals contribute significant financial and technical assistance. And parents who are involved in 4-H help to reinforce their children's learning experiences in the program.

But the real key to the success of 4-H lies in the hundreds of thousands of volunteers who lead organized clubs and special interest groups or serve as advisors at the local level. It is estimated that for every hour spent on 4-H by a professional extension worker, a volunteer leader spends 10 hours. This amounts to about 20 eight-hour days each year.

Volunteer leaders provide healthy adult-youth relationships, teach skills, and give supervision and encouragement. Although the number of leaders has doubled in the past decade, even more will be needed if 4-H is to offer positive educational opportunities to increasing numbers of youth. We can't think of a better way to invest in America's third century than by volunteering time and talents to help prepare young people for the future.

MRS. FULCHER P. SMITH
Mrs. Marie (Somerville) Smith, 84, died Sunday at Lions Manor Nursing Home, Cumberland. Mrs. Smith resided in Cumberland and on Glendale Road, Deep Creek Lake.

A native of Lonaconing, she was a daughter of the late Col. Robert L. and Katherine (Diley) Somerville. Her husband, Fulcher P. Smith, died in November, 1970.

Mrs. Smith was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, and while residing in Cumberland had been active in church work, the Girl Scouts and other community endeavors. She was the Western Maryland singles tennis champion in 1914.

Surviving are one son, E. Perry Smith, Jr., mayor of Cumberland; four daughters, Mrs. Fannabel Reider, Ormond Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Ann Smith, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Constance Franklin, Arlington, Va.; and Mrs. Patricia Erker, St. Louis, Mo.; 17 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Scarpelli Funeral Home, Cumberland. Services were conducted Tuesday at Emmanuel Church by Rev. Wayne Johnston, rector, and Rev. John Grant, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. Interment was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

The family requests that memorials be made to the Cancer Society, Emmanuel Church or to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Harvest Home Day For Masons Set

Masons from all over the state of Maryland will assemble October 15 at "Bonnie Blink," the Maryland Masonic Home in Cockeysville for their traditional "Harvest Home Day."

The event, which originated in the late '20s, was intended to minimize the cost of harvesting the corn crop used as feed for the dairy herd, by using Masons, most of whom had never been in a cornfield. When the dairy herds were phased out for economic reasons and the need for corn feed was no longer necessary, the Harvest Home Day was continued as a day of fellowship.

Lewis Marks, Worshipful Master of Oakland Lodge #192, AF and AM, stated that any Oakland members wishing to attend the Harvest Day should contact him by telephone. He said car pools will be organized.

The Council then approved the previous actions of the last three Executive Boards and heard reports from Jim Carlisle, Administrator, on information packets for new members; the status of 1977 projects, allocation for 1978, project package for 1978 and priority setting for projects.

Two new members were welcomed, Dr. J. Ramsey Farah

Huskies Bow To Valley, 44-22

Northern Huskies' Ron Lipscomb rolled up an outstanding 204 yards on 18 carries last Friday evening in a game against visiting Valley High, though stats proved inconsequential as the Knights battled Northern to a 44-22 victory for the visitors.

It was Mike Lewis of Valley leaping out ahead in the first half by scoring three touchdowns, one from 70 yard scrimmage. At intermission, the scoreboard read 30-6 in favor of the Knights.

Lewis tallied 134 yards with the other two of his touchdowns being run from the three yard line against the Huskies' defense.

In the second quarter activity Lipscomb's dash from the 32-yard line put the Huskies on the board before breaking for intermission.

The Huskies took to the air 11 times and completed three compared to Valley High's three completions in five attempts.

According to coach Jack Settle of Northern, "Terry Breneman was a key blocker during our encounter with a very tough Knights squad.

IT WAS A TWO-TO-ONE edge in a grid battle between visiting Valley High and the Northern Huskies last Friday evening as the final score read. Valley over Northern 44-22 in a Tri-Valley Conference clash at Northern. Although Ron Lipscomb rolled up an outstanding 204 yards for the Huskies on 18 carries, it wasn't enough to down determined Valley. Pictured, left to right, are Huskies Kurt Lear #10, passing; Tim Artice #62; Meredith Breneman #70; and Jamie Workman #24.

Lakers Now 7-1 in Region XX Tourney

The Garrett Community College Laker baseball team remained unbeaten as of Wednesday, Sept. 21, when they swept a double-header from visiting Boyce Community College 7-2 and 9-6 at the McHenry diamond.

Pat Pockstaller was on the mound for Garrett in the first game and tossed a three-hitter while fanning seven for his second win of the season.

Rex Walbolt had two safeties and Terry Barkey a homer for the Lakers while Wallace homered for the losers.

In the second tilt, the Lakers leaped out ahead 7-0 in the first inning of play and got five strong innings from freshman lefthander Fred Griffith (2-0) before he was relieved the seventh inning with a 9-2 lead. Griffith only allowed three hits from the mound.

Relief pitcher Mike Filosemi came on in the seventh to quell a last inning rally by the Saints.

Filosemi, Tim Hornick, Walbolt and freshman Kevin Kline of Bedford had two hits each for the Lakers.

Garrett's first loss of the season came Saturday when the Lakers split a double-header with CC of Beaver County at Monaca, Pa., winning the nightcap 4-3 and dropping the opener 6-3.

In the first game, Beaver went out ahead with two runs in the first inning, and added three more in the bottom of the third to Garrett's single run score.

A last-ditch effort by the Lakers was made in the top of the ninth frame when they added two final runs, but it wasn't enough.

Mike Filosemi, Brett Hillegas and Mark Martini all had hits for the Lakers.

Filosemi took the loss from the mound.

In the nightcap, Ron Kaufman, freshman at GCC, hurled all 13 innings in the 4-3 overtime victory for the Lakers. Kaufman, a right-hander from Rockwood, Pa., used his fast ball and curves and managed to stay out of trouble from the fifth inning to the 13th. Then, he allowed a two-out triple. Kaufman struck out the last batter to clinch his second victory against no losses. His first appearance was a seven-inning shut-out.

Bill McGarvey, sophomore at GCC, homered with two out in the top of the 13th inning to insure the win.

The long shot was a 375-foot one to left center, raising the Lakers' fall record to 7-1.

The Lakers will take on Allegheny Community College Monday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m. at McHenry.

Tomorrow afternoon GCC will travel to Monroeville, Pa., where they will meet Boyce CC at 1 p.m. in a doubleheader game.

CHECK OUT OUR WAGON AND YOU MIGHT UNLOAD YOURS.

Our Volvo wagon is built to overcome the disgruntlement common to wagon owners. It's no bigger than a Volvo-size sedan. So handling it in a crowded parking lot is no big deal. You don't feel like you've got your car to fight as well as all the other parkers.

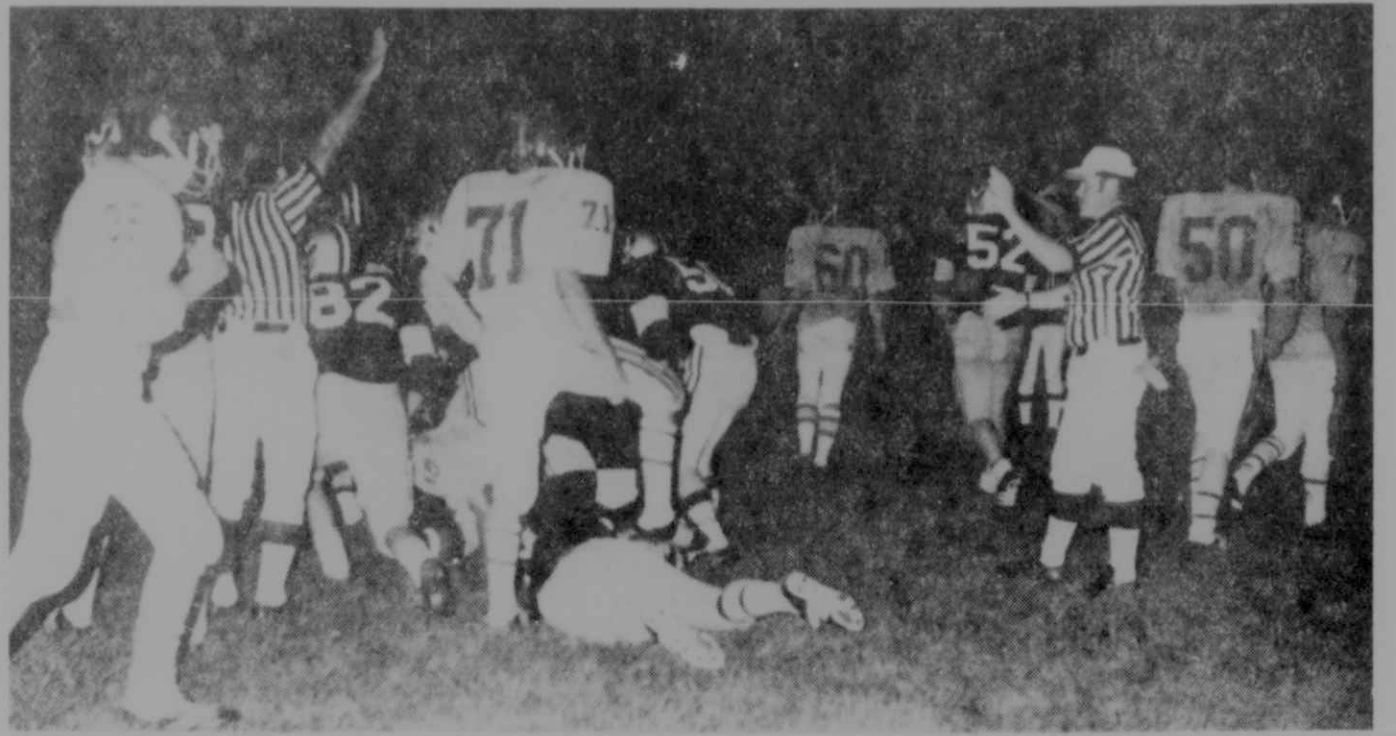

And loading is a pleasure. Not a trauma. The rear door was designed knowing some objects are high as well as wide. They fit inside in 77 cu. ft. of usable load space. Instead of sitting outside on the roof.

Bring in your wagon and go home in ours. We'll sell or lease you a Volvo wagon and, either way, de-gruntle you.

CONTROVERSIAL CALLS by one of the officials during last Friday evening's game between visiting Bruce High and Southern were prevalent during last half activity. This photo was taken seconds prior to Steve Liller being ejected from the game on a "spearing" call by an official. Apparently unknown to the official, Liller was attempting to recover a loose ball. Pictured, left to right, are Mike McHenry #32, Doug Cryser #71, Perry Clark #60, John Sanders #50, and Ed Roszell #70. Bruce were winless going into the grid battle but wound up on top, 20-14, after a late score was made. The Rams will travel to Musselman High tomorrow evening and will be looking for their second win.

Bruce Clips Rams In Final Quarter

Of Action, 20-14

The Bruce High Bulldogs won a 20-14 verdict over host Southern Rams last Friday evening, after a late score in the fourth quarter by Mike Marsh was recorded for the visitors at the Rams' field.

Bruce got on the scoreboard first in the opening quarter when Dave Morehead went over from the one. The conversion attempt failed, making it 6-0.

Southern bounced right back when Tom Upole scored from seven yards out and Steve Liller scrambled for the conversion making the score 8-6 for the Rams.

Later that period, the Rams widened their lead to 14-6 when Liller latched onto a pass from Fred Gregg on a play covering 49 yards. The conversion was unsuccessful.

Jim Llewellyn caught a pass thrown by Bill Ingram just before intermission and went in from the four for the second mark for Bruce. Again the conversion failed and the halftime score stood at 14-12 in favor of the Rams' camp.

Third quarter action was a standoff, but in the last quarter Bruce managed another six points and added a conversion.

With only seconds remaining in the game, the ball was hiked and Bruce's quarterback took no chances for a fumble and simply sat on the pigskin. The clock ticked to a stop.

According to Coach Tom Woods of Southern and most of the Southern fans, there were several questionable calls made by the officials during the second half.

Coach Woods stated, "The only recourse we have when an official does a poor job is to turn in bad ratings on him at the end of the season. We intend to do just that."

According to Coach Woods, defensive standouts for the Rams were Tom Upole and Jim Clark. On offense, Fred Gregg was mentioned along with Steve Liller.

"Tomorrow night, we're going to drive the ball and open up on offensive tackle. We're going to score fast and hard," the coach stated.

Southern will be looking for their second win against Musselman tomorrow evening at the opponent's field.

Association To Renovate Field

It was announced by Fred Colaw, president of the Southern Garrett Athletic Boosters Association, that work crews are needed to help renovate the Southern High baseball field Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m.

Members and non-members are requested to attend the work session.

Northern Garrett Athletic Boosters Meet, Sept. 20

The Northern Garrett Athletic Boosters Association held its monthly meeting at Hill Top Inn, Grantsville, Sept. 20, with the best attendance being recorded, according to president John Braskey.

Areas of discussion centered around making full payment on the recently acquired universal gym and the feasibility of purchasing a new wrestling mat for the program.

According to Braskey, "The wrestling program at Northern High School has been one of the most successful areas of competition during the past few years. In the last two seasons the Husky grapplers compiled a team record of 15-7-2, while three individuals completed last season with undefeated records during the regular season. Tony Artice is now attending Fairmont State College to further his education and wrestling interests. Keith Kamp, in the unlimited class, also compiled an undefeated record and is attending Shepherd State College and participating in the football program there. A third undefeated individual, Duane Bittinger, will be back at Northern contributing to the excitement experienced at the wrestling matches."

Braskey continued, "The Athletic Association recognizes the value of athletics and the need to improve the quality of equipment and to extend the opportunities available to both boys and girls within our school system."

A fund-raising event is now underway at the school to sell seat cushions to help pay for the new wrestling mat. Mrs. Delos Carpenter and Mrs. Harold Lipscomb were appointed co-chairpersons of the committee.

The second Monday of each month has been established as the regular meeting date for the association. The next meeting is slated for Oct. 10, at 7:30 p.m., in Room 112 at Northern. A football film will be shown at the next meeting.

Membership in the association is open to the public.

The Power of Positive Job-Hunting

by Harriet Miller

Go Hire Yourself an Employer is a book that is hard to find. Not because bookstores don't stock it but because its copies are sold almost as soon as they are put on the shelf.

Which makes us think that employment, or more specifically the quality of employment, is a topic of paramount importance to many, many people.

The book's thesis is that the best jobs—the "judgment jobs," in the words of the author, Richard K. Irish—are there to be had if the searcher looks in the right places. Among the wrong places are classified ads, employment agencies, and the like. They will only get you the jobs that no one else wants, says Irish.

The best place to find a good job is through other people, which seems a reasonable enough suggestion. Interestingly, however, relatively few job-seekers know how to make use of their contacts, or how to make contacts, or even how to recognize a contact when they see one.

We asked Dick Irish about the special problems of older job-hunters:

Q. Some older job-seekers have never worked, such as women who are widowed and have to seek jobs for the first time. Sometimes the salary requirements of older job-hunters are high. Some employers may feel that older people are out of touch. Doesn't this make job-hunting different—and possibly harder—for people over 50?

A. Yes, it does. Some people believe that because they're over 50 they're out of step, or because they've been out of the job market that they're not as able, or because they never got a college degree they can never have a professional position. It's a kind of psychological destruction that people go through at certain stages in their lives. Q. Doesn't this attitude hurt their chances of finding a good job?

A. Certainly. The plain fact is that the older you get the better you get—or at least you should get better if you're growing as a human being. If you think because you're 55 that you can't get what you want, then that, in effect, will destroy your chances of finding it. It's a mental attitude that you have to carry on your job search. Q. How can people develop a better attitude?

A. Well, what they can do is understand that this is a psychological problem and that they must cope with it before they put themselves on the job market. They have to learn to overcome their sense of low self-esteem. They have to focus on things in their life that give them pleasure, on their accomplishments, on their strengths, rather than on their presumptive weaknesses. Until they do that, they will carry with them an image of failure. This applies just as much to the obviously competent people in society, when they have to switch fields, when they retire, when they have to give up a way of life they've always had.

Not A Chore, But A Labor of Love ...

Quilting as a Tradition, a Social Occasion, a Learning Experience, and a Joyous Sharing

Four women from Accident attended an arts and crafts festival at Catocin State Park at Thurmont September 17-18, demonstrating and explaining the art of quilting.

For these four, the total experience was wonderful, affording them a chance to meet new people, see many types of usual and unusual crafts, talk with other craftsmen and women, and most of all, giving them a chance to quilt.

The four, left to right, clockwise, are Mrs. Selma Neil, Mrs. Rosalie Frazee, Mrs. Artie George and Mrs. Theresa Haentling. They form the core of a quilting group within the Ladies Aid Society at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, and truly enjoy every minute of stitching quilts.

They make quilts to sell, and also raise money by quilting tops other people have pieced together. All money raised goes for charitable purposes such as supporting an orphan child, donations to nursing homes, and other similar organizations.

Quilting is a tradition for these women, who all learned the art from close relatives while in their early teens. Quilting is also a tradition in the Ladies Aid, since there have been quilters in the group since its formation in the early 1920's.

When the group first formed, quilts were made for the orphanage supported by Lutherans in Cabot, Pa.

There are approximately 12 who quilt within the Aid, while the others of the 35-member group raise money in other ways. All join together for the meetings, congregational dinners and other church activities. Rev. Fred Illick is pastor of the church.

The appliqued-butterfly quilt above, property of Mrs. George, is the one the group took to Catocin, working there outdoors under a shade tree and a canvas roof. All types of crafts were represented, from those who did tatting, made unusual pictures, wove wool, made shingles, dried furs, made pottery, furniture, wool rugs, etc. There was even a man there who made brooms, growing the corn straws to produce the finished product entirely by hand.

The women were also impressed by the large numbers of young people who attended the festival, to ask questions and learn of their heritage. Many young men also were interested in the various crafts, and one young lady told the group that her school was planning to initiate a class in quilting in the near future.

Miss Ethel Grove, former county extension agent for home economics, was there displaying her braided rugs. Each of the women got an opportunity to renew an acquaintance with "Miss Ethel," as she is fondly called.

The entire Festival focused this year on craftsmen from western Maryland, with those from the four westernmost counties invited to display their arts. Others from here included Jim McCrobie, basket weaver, the Mennonite Mixed Choir from Grantsville and surrounding areas; and a stringed instrument group, also from the northern part of Garrett county.

Among the distinguished guests attending was Amy Carter, whose parents reportedly waited for her in the parking lot.

Since space was limited, the quilters took one of their smaller projects, and a small frame which would fit more easily into the trunk of a car. The quilting stands shown above were made by John Fresh for Mrs. B. O. Aiken approximately 25 years ago. Mr. Fresh was an uncle of Mrs. George.

All the women look forward to winter as a time for peaceful quilting, following summer's rush to plant and harvest gardens and put up and freeze all produce. Each of the women (except Mrs. George) makes nearly all of her own clothing, and all enjoy knitting and baking.

Other members of the Ladies Aid meet once a month, but the eager quilters meet once or twice weekly in each other's homes, sewing, talking quietly, enjoying the company and the rhythmic movements of the work beneath their needles.

For the past two winters, the group has been meeting in their various homes rather than in the church social room, ever since the energy crisis became publicized.

Selma, Rosalie and Artie live in Accident, not far from each other. Theresa lives approximately three miles from town. Mrs. Neil was born in McHenry and resided in Friendsville until the Freeway claimed her property. She then moved to Accident, with one of the prime reasons being "nearer to the church." This was an important point to consider, since she was a member of the church at Accident all her life. Her late husband operated a store in Friendsville.

Mrs. Neil can remember quilting at home and knotting comforters, both taught by her mother. Mrs. Frazee was born in Garrett County but lived in nearby Pennsylvania until ten years ago. She is the widow of the late Erman Frazee, a Cove native. Mrs. Frazee was taught by her mother the art of quilt making prior to her marriage to Mr. Frazee.

Mrs. George was born near Accident and attended church there all her life. Her present husband is a retired employee of Westinghouse at Pittsburgh. She also was taught quilting by her mother.

Theresa Haentling was born in Pennsylvania and loves all types of sewing. She and her husband, Carl, who is a rural mail carrier, have lived in the county since 1948, and farmed property near Accident until 14 years ago. Mrs. Haentling learned to quilt when she was twelve and visited for several months with an older, married sister.

The women use various patterns for quilting, getting ideas from seeing other women's work, from magazines, from their imaginations, from books. They will be busy for the next few years with orders already lined up, and probably gained many orders from their visit to Catocin.

They hope to teach young women of their parish their love of quilting, so that it does not become a "lost art." Since such work is not only beautiful but extremely serviceable, warm, and valuable, losing this art should surely never happen.

Century III Program Open To All Seniors

Seniors from Southern High School have been given an opportunity to win local, state and national awards by demonstrating their awareness, concern and knowledge about the nation's needs and challenges.

One high school senior in the nation will win a $10,000 scholarship as the top prize in the Century III Leaders Scholarship program. Two students from each state and the District of Columbia will win $1,000 scholarships and the opportunity to talk with national leaders in a conference at historic Colonial Williamsburg, Va.

According to Luther Par-rack, principal of the school, seniors are encouraged to participate "because the Century III competition is a fine way for youngsters to become more involved with the community and social issues."

According to Mrs. Pam Peddicord, guidance counselor, the Century III Leaders Scholarship program is a national future studies, writing, citizenship, and current events awareness competition open to seniors. Basically, the competition involves undergoing a current events examination and writing a brief essay outlining what the entrant thinks is a particular issue that America is likely to confront in the future and how such a challenge should be met.

Applications are due October 14, and the examination will be given October 20.

The Century III program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, funded by Shell Oil Co.

McConnell-Schildwachter Vows Heard

The wedding of Miss Eleanor Jane Schildwachter, of Durham, North Carolina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Schildwachter, Columbia, to Randy Thorne McConnell, Durham, North Carolina, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall McConnell, Mooresville, North Carolina, took place at Saint John's Episcopal Church, Ellicott City, on September 10, at 3:30 p.m.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Shelby Walthall, assisted by the Reverend E. Albert Rich, rector of Saint John's Church, and the Reverend Austin F. Schildwachter, uncle of the bride.

Prior to the wedding ceremony, Ms. Mary Fraley, Knoxville, Tenn., aunt of the bride, provided a program of cello music and Miss Marilyn McConnell, Mooresville, N.C., rendered a flute solo while the guests were seated. They were accompanied by Mrs. C. Tilghman Lang, the church organist, who played the processional and recessional compositions by Purcell.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was given in marriage by him. She was attired in the wedding dress worn by her mother at her marriage. The gown was fashioned of ivory lace and satin with a train. Her cathedral-length veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of satin bands and seed pearls. She carried a prayerbook covered with cymbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Carole Schildwachter, of Georgetown, D.C., attended her sister as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor-length gown of floral print in blue, beige and gold. She wore blue cornflowers in her hair and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Tennant, Ellicott City, Miss Leslie Ireland, Glen Arm, Md.; and Mrs. Tim Fremuth, Virginia Beach, Virginia. All of the bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the maid of honor, all made by the bride. They wore flowers in their hair and carried old-fashioned bouquets of mixed flowers.

Stanley McConnell, Charlotte, N.C., served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Thomas Colgin, Waterville, Maine; Gary Davis, Chapel Hill, N.C.; and Robert F. Schildwachter, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of teal blue and wore a corsage of orchids. The grandmother of the bride wore a floor-length gown of sea foam green and wore a corsage of carnations.

The mother of the groom was attired in a floor-length gown of pink polka-dots and wore a corsage of red sweet-heart roses.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Kittamaqundi Room in Columbia.

The bride graduated from Atholton High School and magna cum laude from the Duke University School of Nursing. She is currently enrolled in the Master's Degree program of that school. Her grandparents are Mrs. Neil C. Fraley of Alexandria, Virginia, formerly of Oakland, and the late Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, of the Fourth Judicial Circuit. Her paternal grandparents were the late Mr.

and Mrs. Charles William Schildwachter, Pikeville.

The bridegroom graduated from Mooresville, N.C., High School, and received an A.B. Degree in chemistry from Duke University. He also received a M.S. Degree in biochemistry from North Carolina State University at Raleigh.

The couple left for a trip to Montreal, Canada, and upon their return will live in Durham, N.C., where Mr. McConnell is employed in research for the Burroughs-Wellcome Pharmaceutical Company in the Research Triangle.

Prior to the wedding, Miss Schildwachter was honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Tennant, and the members of the staff of the Hill Haven Nursing Home where she had been employed as Head Nurse also honored her with a shower. Mrs. Frank Tiralla of Phoenix, Maryland, cousin of the bride, entertained members of the Schildwachter family.

Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell, parents of the groom, entertained the members of the wedding party and guests with a rehearsal dinner at the parish house of the church on the evening prior to the wedding.

On the morning of the wedding, Mrs. Wallace Benson, Columbia, entertained the women members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests with a brunch in her home.

Guests from nine states and the District of Columbia attended the wedding and the reception.

Both the Reverend Schildwachter and the Reverend Walthall are former rectors of Saint Matthew's Episcopal Church, here.

The mother of the bride is the former Evalyn Fraley, a native of Oakland.

The Indians could send a rallying call many miles by drums. Each drummer, stationed on a lonely ridge, would listen for the sound of distant drums, and relay the message to others waiting across the valley. Overnight a dozen tribes could be rallied to a common cause.

We don't need such crude methods of communication today. Men with a common purpose can join forces around the world at a pre-arranged time.

BELLS AROUND THE WORLD

World Wide Communion Sunday is such an expression of unity. In every Christian land the church bells will summon men and women to the Lord's Supper on this Sunday.

And the universality of this great religious event will not depend on bells relaying the message from town to town. It will depend on folks like yourself coming to their Church to receive this Holy Sacrament.

GUILTY JUDGES

Lesson for October 2, 1977

Background Scripture: Luke 13:31-35; Romans 14:1-12

Devotional Reading: Psalm 133

The scribes and Pharisees weren't fooling anyone, least of all Jesus, when they came to him asking, "Teacher, this woman has been caught in the act of adultery. Now in the law Moses commanded us to stone such a woman. What do you have to say about her?" (John 8:4-6). No one believed for a moment that they were perplexed by this question. It was an obvious trap, a plan to get Jesus to say something self-incriminating.

They knew Him

Obviously, they wouldn't have even asked him this question if they thought they already knew how he would feel about it. They had heard him often enough to know that, unlike many, he was a man who focused, not upon rules and regulations, but upon forgiveness, redemption, and mercy.

But if they knew him, he knew the woman, Oh, that doesn't mean he necessarily had ever met her or known anything personal about her, but that he saw her not as an adulteress, but as a child of God. He knew that she was a far better woman than the scribes and Pharisees would admit. He knew that there was something worthwhile in her to redeem.

Even more, Jesus knew them, the scribes and Pharisees. As he saw this woman as better than they saw her, he also saw them as not as righteous as they imagined themselves. None of them were as wonderful in the sight of God as they imagined. He knew that in every heart there lurked some of the same evil that the self-righteous legalists so despised in others. Thus, he knew what he was doing when he said, "Let him who is without among you be the first to throw a stone at her" (8:7).

He knew them

The scribes and Pharisees knew that Jesus' attitude toward the sinner was likely to be different than the traditions of their religion. They expected that he would show concern for the sinner, not the law. So they anticipated a different approach and they got it.

Just as last week I suggested that with all too few exceptions Christians have rarely "bought" Jesus' idea of love, so too I would say that we have rarely "bought" his approach to judgement and redemption. Someone recently told me that the atmosphere in his church is much more one of judgementalism than of redemption. It is one of the last places to which I would want to direct a sinner, he said.

At our own peril we forget that judgement belongs to God alone and the reason is that we're not capable of that judgement. Like the scribes and Pharisees who confronted Jesus, we cannot cast the first stones because we ourselves are not without sin. Our vision of our brother is too much obscured by the "logs" in our own eyes. As guilty judges, it is enough to focus on our own sins.

State Highways Claim Eight Lives

Eight persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of the persons killed five were drivers, two were passengers and one was a pedestrian.

Crashes don't just "happen," they're caused by people, usually plain, ordinary people like you and me. The worst crashes can often be traced to a driver who has problems adjusting to the world around him. Not just the one who rebels against any kind of authority, although they rank high in accident involvement, but the driver who can not adjust his driving habits to new conditions.

We know some drivers who are not used to driving in heavy, fast moving traffic. They become nervous and do not feel safe, so they wisely decide to choose lesser-traveled routes. There are others who feel the same way but keep driving in traffic they are unable to cope with, reasoning that by being extra cautious they will be alright.

Up to a point, this is true. We have all seen the driver who creeps down busy streets, stops on exit ramps while the traffic clears or makes unexpected stops in traffic. Or the driver who makes sudden, illegal turns because he missed the turn-off he wanted or wasn't in the proper lane to do so.

These drivers are just as dangerous as the one who deliberately takes risks. Other drivers do not expect unusual actions and often are not prepared to avoid them. Today's traffic demands, every driver follow the same rules.

Persons killed through September 25 total 465 compared to 476 for the same period last year.

Miss Turney Attending Western Maryland

Sixteen students from Maryland's western counties have enrolled at Western Maryland College this fall.

Western Maryland College, located in Westminster, is a liberal arts college offering course study leading to the B.A. degree for undergraduates, and M. Ed. and M.L.A. degrees for graduate students.

Local Banker To Act As Consultant To Education Dept.

An inn-keeper, a doctor, a banker, a reporter, a piano teacher, a druggist, and 17 other Maryland citizens will gather on September 26 at the Maryland State Department of Education to begin work as citizen consultants to the state agency on Project Basic, a new statewide program to insure that students achieve at least basic competence in a variety of skills.

Courtney Tusing, president of the First National Bank of Oakland, is among the 17 consultants.

Described by state school superintendent David W. Hornbeck as representing a "critically important alliance" in increasing the benefits of schooling to all students, the group will meet periodically to express its views on such questions as the necessary range of minimum competencies for effective adulthood. At the Monday meeting the group will receive its charge from the state superintendent.

The meeting is slated for 12 noon at the Holiday Inn at Baltimore-Washington International Airport.

If you think Garfield and Arthur were prominent in the world of comedy or that they were a traveling act with a circus, you're wrong again. History buffs will easily recall that they were candidates for the Republican Presidential and Vice Presidential campaign back in 1880.

The two received wide support across the land and locally, Garfield and Arthur clubs were gaining in numbers of supporters. James A. Garfield and Chester A. Arthur won. However Garfield was assassinated shortly after he took office. He lived several weeks after he was shot.

That was bad news. Good news was happening in Bloomington when it was disclosed that the Empire Mines would re-open after a long period of dormancy. The mines boasted of a six-foot vein of coal that would employ many Bloomingtonites.

Silver was taking the spotlight of attention away from coal in 1880, as several supposedly good ore veins were discovered about six miles from Oakland on the Youghiogheny River. The ore had the same appearance as silver quartz found in the Savage River region and was said to be as rich. The silver-rush was short-lived though, as there were not quantities sufficient for mining.

In the variety section of The Republican appeared a paragraph about an Oregon schoolmarm that may have interested many lazy young men in the '80's. The unusual item stated, "A schoolmarm has fenced a land-claim and raised 612 bushels of grain and says she will not marry until she can adequately support a husband." Now, there's a grand woman. And, speaking of N.O.W., wouldn't they be disappointed?

Some school aged children might well have been disappointed each time their mothers would return home from shopping sprees for clothing. In a Fashion News section was listed some up-to-date wearing apparel for young students. "Deep, round collars, formed of wide embroidery or bands of insertion and finished with lace, are the latest styles for children." Can you imagine the outcries from today's school kids if a Mom brought home that kind of stuff? How could they fit that garb over dungarees, anyway?

The men didn't have it any better though, as their neckties were made of Persian silk and edged in fancy lace. The only place where that tie could be worn today would be at a national convention.

Not so fancy was a wedding that took place near the Horse Shoe Run post office in the public road in March, 1880. All of those in attendance for the sacred rites were on horseback. The couple was Mr. John A. Mosser of Garrett County and Miss Caroline Root of Preston County.

At the Glades Hotel, President Garrett of the B & O Railroad was guest of honor at a Garrett Guards Drill and Exercise demonstration. Those entertained were said to be thrilled at the proficiency the Guard presented. A gala ball concluded the evening's affair. According to sources, the Garrett Guards preceded today's National Guard network.

Other organizations in the area at that time included the Band of Hope, Dunkard, Lodge of Good Templars, Garrett Literary Society and the Sparkling Dewdrop Glee Club.

Does anyone know where the Wing and Wing House was located in Deer Park? Several news items appeared in '80 about activities held there. For instance, "A children's ball took place at the Wing and Wing House, June 29, 1880, at which the little folks, under the care and direction of their older friends, had a very lively and happy time, until one after another the little heads commenced, 'nid, nid, noddin' droppin' off to sleep." It was reported that the Virginia Reel really did them in.

During the summer months in '80, Mr. Randall, the evangelist, engaged in the town of Oakland, painting short scriptural texts in prominent places on the sidewalks and fences. The town was said to be very colorful following his random decorating treks. Today, we call it graffiti.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer was being advertised as a cure for dandruff as well as the humors. Does that mean there may have been a cure for the giggles?

The following news item of interest appeared in the Oakland personals:

"On Saturday last, a large hawk, having a small bird in its talons, entered the door of the residence of Francis Martin, residing a few miles south of Oakland. The hawk made an attempt to escape by the window, but was seized by Miss Lizzie Martin and promptly dispatched."

In the September, 1880, Oakland personals was this note: "The observatory at the Beer Garden is in an awful and unsafe condition. Persons going on it should be very careful." Now then, who can tell us where the Beer Garden was?

The most fascinating news tidbit appearing in 1880 was this find:

"A 98-year-old woman, residing one mile west of Oakland near the B & O Railroad tracks, wandered away from her home early Sunday morning and was not found until noon the following day, when she was discovered on a rock in the middle of the Youghiogheny River. Two men saw her on the rock, but they were not satisfied whether it was a human being or animal — owing to the distance, but while looking at the object it swayed to and fro several times and then fell into the water."

No, that wasn't all. The senior citizen was warmly taken care of and returned to her home. Now, wasn't that a nice ending?

HARVEST MOON

Last Tuesday's Full Moon was the Harvest Moon for this year. Why is this particular Full Moon the Harvest Moon? It is because, it is the Full Moon nearest the autumnal equinox. When the moon is in this position its rising angle with the horizon is the least. This, in turn, enables the moon to rise early several evenings in succession, giving bright moonlight early, as an extension of the twilight assisting the busy farmer in gathering the harvest.

Moonrise will be at 8:26 p.m. tonight. Next Wednesday the moon doesn't rise; however, at 52 minutes past midnight Thursday morning it makes its appearance. Last Quarter phase will be at 5:21 a.m. Wednesday morning.

Monday at 10:00 a.m. the moon passes the greatest distance from earth it will be during this lunation (this time around). This apogee occurs 404,650 kilometers (251,490 miles) from earth.

Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible this week. Mercury may be seen too, just before sunrise. It is low in the east sky. Venus rises about two hours before the sun. Saturn rises about four hours before the sun with the stars of Gemini. Mars in Gemini, rises before midnight. Jupiter rises an hour after Mars. It is also among the stars of Gemini.

Fifteen minutes less daylight will be available next Wednesday. Sunrise was at 7:11 a.m. this morning. 11 hours 52 minutes later at 7:04 p.m. the sun will set. Wednesday the sun will rise at 7:17 a.m. and set at 6:54 p.m.

Council Receives $26,539 Grant

A grant of $26,539 has been awarded to the Tri-County Council to fund a detailed analysis of the economic impact of mining and mining-related activities to the economy of Appalachian Maryland.

The project, funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission, will include identification of the number and types of jobs generated by mining and mining-related activities and their impact on the economy of the area.

Other facets of the analysis will be existing local, state and federal taxes and other laws and regulations which affect mining; the extent and nature of research and development activities concerning the extraction, transportation, processing and/or uses of coal; the cost of land reclamation and the effect of mining on property values and assessments of both mined and reclaimed land; the level of capital investment in Appalachian Maryland generated by mining and mining-related activities; the extent of the area's coal resources, and the costs of preventing or correcting environmental damage caused by mining or mining-related activities.

The analysis will also include recommendations on actions which might be taken by state and local governing bodies and by private and commercial interests toward achieving a balanced and rational approach to development of the coal resources of the area.

The recommendations will include, as a minimum, reference to the number and kinds of additional local employment opportunities which might be developed; the extent of future demands on land in Appalachian Maryland which might be generated by the expansion of mining activities, and a listing of industries and activities in which future capital investment would generate the most social, economic and environmental benefits.

The recommendations will also include possible changes in laws and regulations which could encourage expansion of mining and mining-related activities; alternative methods of expansion of coal research and development activities; the environmental impact of the recommended actions and measures to prevent and control adverse impacts, and the potential for introduction of energy conversion and utilization enterprises in the area.

The Tri-County Council of Western Maryland is now on the lookout for a natural resources specialist to study the economic impact of coal mining and to determine the feasibility of establishing a research and development enterprise in Western Maryland.

Applications should be submitted to James E. Rowe, chief of planning, research and development for the TCC. Applicants should hold a B.S. degree in economics, geography or natural resources.

The successful applicant will work out of the Appalachian Environmental Laboratory of the University of Maryland at Frostburg State College for one year.

Sarbanes Urges Adams To Retain Rail Service

Declaring that Amtrak's decision to reduce service on the experimental Shenandoah line is not in accordance with provisions of the Rail Passenger Act, U. S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes today urged Secretary of Transportation Brock Adams to retain the present full service.

"Any reduction in service would create a severe hardship for those people in suburban and western Maryland who rely on this train for service westward," Senator Sarbanes said. "A cut in service by Amtrak would obviously lead to declining passenger use and would undermine attempts to establish long-term service."

The train makes stops at Silver Spring, Rockville, Brunswick, Cumberland, and Oakland.

Senator Sarbanes, in a letter to Secretary Adams, said that the short period of time that the Washington, D. C. to Cincinnati, Ohio line has been running is inadequate to judge the level of support for this service.

Congress, in the 1970 Rail Passenger Service Act, mandated that experimental lines be run for two years. Amtrak has requested from the Secretary that such a requirement be waived on the Shenandoah line.

Amtrak has asked Adams to allow a reduction in service from seven times weekly to four.

"I strongly urge your support of the full two year test and retention of the present service," Sarbanes told Adams. "The full two year experimental period should be allowed to run its course in order to gauge more accurately the potential and actual ridership."

County Officials To Discuss 20-Year Transportation Needs

County officials will have an opportunity to discuss their long range highway and other transportation needs at a series of meetings from September 19 through November 1.

One of the meetings in this series will be held at the Garrett County Commissioners' office, Courthouse, on Thursday, October 6, at 10:00 a.m.

Representatives of the Maryland Department of Transportation will review in each county both the draft Maryland Transportation Plan and the 20-year Highway Needs Study.

The Maryland Transportation Plan states the department's transportation goals and discusses transportation issues which the state faces over the next twenty years. It also discusses anticipated 20-year revenues and construction priorities for each transportation mode — aviation, ports, railroads, mass transit and highways.

The Maryland Transportation Plan is an overall guide to identifying construction projects for implementation in the department's five-year Consolidated Transportation Program (CTP). In early October, the department will begin a series of meetings with county officials to discuss the 1979-1983 Consolidated Transportation Program.

Appalachian Adult Group Attends Camp

Functional Living Skills and fun were the topics at a three-day camping trip for 27 participants and 10 staff members of the Appalachian Adult Activities Center of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., at Camp Galilee near Terra Alta last week.

Because of the inclement weather, many of the planned outdoor activities had to be moved inside according to Ms. Jodie Bennett, who coordinated the event for the Center headed by David Koontz.

Ms. Bennett said the participants planned menus, purchased food and prepared the meals under the supervision of Mrs. Maureen Sweitzer and

Ms. Ruth Marley, Center staff.

The Center staff and participants attended a picnic Friday. The picnic and games were arranged by Fraternal Order of the Police at their picnic grounds on Meadow Mountain. The picnic is being held for all the mentally and physically impaired of Garrett County.

Ms. Bennett said that the Center staff is now arranging winter activities which will include visits to the indoor pool at Alpine Lake near Terra Alta, Par-Matt Bowling Lanes, Tri-R Roller Rink and Garrett Community College Gym.

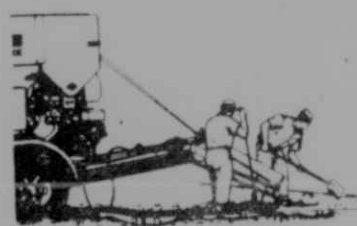

The Center has 35 participants and can serve five more now. Applications can be obtained from the Center at 360 W. Liberty Street in Oakland.

Mt. Top Promenaders Skip, Turn & Glide To Keep American Tradition Thriving

The Mt. Top Promenaders is one of the many organized groups in the United States doing its part in keeping alive one of America's great traditions, that of square dancing.

A century ago the square dance was usually confined to the barn or some other small, rustic quarter. Today, square dancers meet in polished auditoriums or recreational centers where they can be comfortably accommodated, without having to dodge the chickens and promenade through the straw.

A square of dancers is made up of four couples. There is a "caller" who shouts out signals for the couples to follow. Years ago, the typical caller could hardly be understood, as it seemed customary to signal with a twang. Today, thanks to modern equipment and callers aware of the importance of being understood, square dancers can glide more smoothly through the various steps and turns. In other words, it is more sophisticated.

For the many members of the Mt. Top Promenaders, square dancing provides a special evening of socialization, exercise and fun.

According to caller, Al Schwinabart, "No type of dancing can claim so many different styles as that of square dancing. In addition, it is wonderful exercise, it sharpens the mind and improves the reflexes. Most of all, it's just plain fun."

Schwinabart added, "Sadly enough, many people think square dancing is a run-hop-skip-and-jump affair. Actually, it should be a smooth process of walking, turning, swinging movements to music. It takes the combined efforts of both dancer and caller to make square dancing a pleasant experience."

Members of the Mt. Top Promenaders come from various parts of Garrett County and all segments of life. The club was originated through the efforts of Mrs. Shirley Ramsey, a member of the Rappahannock Twirlers of Fredericksburg, Virginia. Mrs. Ramsey resided in Mt. Lake Park and was on the teaching staff at the Center Street School in Oakland.

Gerald and Helen Glatfely of the Double G Ranch, McHenry, also assisted in organizing the local promenaders. They were members of the Maple Swingers, Salisbury, Pennsylvania, and the Belles and Beaus of Cumberland before joining the Mt. Top club.

The club meets regularly on the second and fourth Mondays

at 8 p.m. at the Dennett Road School gymnasium.

The Annual Autumn Glory Square Dance Festival is slated for Oct. 9, from 2-5 p.m. at Broad Ford Elementary School where spectators are welcome.

An invitational evening is on the agenda for Oct. 10, at Dennett Road School beginning at 8 p.m. It is called a "mixer," night and is open to anyone interested in learning more about square dancing. The only requirement is that persons bring a partner.

I'll bet there are dozens out there who have always wanted to twirl and shuffle but were never given the nod. Put on your western wear and ride over to Dennett Road. You will enjoy the American dance as much as you do apple pie. . .

Dentist's Mailbox

Q. I am 32 years old, and have a bad bite. My dentist recommends braces. Am I too old?

A. No, you are not too old for orthodontic care. If your teeth, gum tissues, and bone support are healthy enough, the orthodontic treatment is possible.

Treating malocclusion may help preserve your teeth longer, as well as improve their appearance, improve chewing ability, and make the teeth easier to clean.

Q. Our daughter's two lower front permanent teeth are coming in behind her baby teeth. Our Dentist said he would remove her baby teeth if they are not lost in about one month. He also said that her second teeth are too large for the space and suggested we see an orthodontist. What can be done to correct this problem now?

A. Your daughter's problem is not unusual. After the first teeth are lost or removed, the tongue will move the second teeth forward to a great extent. The tongue is a strong natural mover of teeth and may improve the alignment somewhat by lining up the teeth.

Should there be insufficient space, then it may be necessary to remove the next primary tooth on each side.

However, to be certain that this is indeed the needed treatment, you may consult another family dentist, orthodontist, or periodontist (children's dental specialist).

The removal of primary (first) teeth to make room for permanent teeth is not unusual and will usually relieve crowding at least temporarily. If there is insufficient space for her second teeth, then the crowding will reoccur farther back in the mouth in 4 to 6 years. At that time, orthodontic treatment (braces) would be needed. This procedure requires timing and regular evaluation, but can help to minimize the overcrowding and orthodontic care that may be needed.

Q. Is it a painful procedure to have plaque that has hardened removed?

A. It is not painful. It may be a little uncomfortable if the hardened plaque is very thick and hard and the gums are irritated. The thicker the build-up and the longer it is on the teeth, the harder it is to remove and the greater the harm done to the gum tissues and bone support.

Some dentists use ultrasonic-type instruments to remove calculus (hardened plaque or tartar) which is usually, but not always, more comfortable than pulling the hard material off, especially when the accumulation is very thick. Topical anesthesia, local anesthesia and analgesic techniques may be used in those patients who require them.

Q. Can you give me the name or names of Dentists in my area who are willing to put someone completely to sleep before fixing teeth?

A. There are a number of dentists who render dental care under general anesthesia. Other dentists use analgesic or inhalation sedation techniques and most dentists will prescribe preoperative sedatives or tranquilizers. Ask your regular family dentist. If he does not render care in the manner you wish, ask him to refer you to someone else who does.

The use of general anesthesia, gas, or intravenous sedatives, adds an additional, though slight, risk to your dental treatment. As a result, having routine care administered with these procedures is usually more costly.

I am sorry that I cannot provide you with the names of dentists who put their patients to sleep before fixing their teeth, but it is impossible for me to know which dentists (there are over 2,000 in Maryland) use what techniques, materials, or procedures.

Finding a dentist to give you the care you want should be relatively easy. All you have to do is inquire.

Q. My lower jaw and teeth protrude out farther than my upper teeth, but my dentist never suggested a remedy. Now, a younger man at work (I am 56) had an operation and braces for this same condition and now has a normal bite and a better appearance. Could I be helped in such a manner?

A. The operation you are probably referring to is usually called a "mandibular reduction" and there are a number of different techniques for this procedure. However, your age may indeed be a factor determining whether or not this procedure is advisable for you. Actually, it is not age per se, but the ability to move teeth which determines the chances of success.

Other factors determining the advisability of this treatment include both oral and general health, how much reduction (movement) is needed, appearance requirements, jaw relationship, and the patient's psychological state of mind in regards to the jaw protrusion.

If you have gone 56 years without any physical or psychological problems because of your jaw protrusion, then it may not be advisable to have it done now.

Q. I know that Tetracycline, the antibiotic that Dermatologists prescribe to control Acne, can cause staining of teeth. What do you suggest?

A. This antibiotic only causes discoloration in teeth that are developing under the gum in the bone and are not yet fully formed. So, tetracycline may cause staining of teeth in children whose teeth are still forming and are not yet erupted. Since tetracycline is usually prescribed for acne in adults and teenagers, it will not affect the teeth. We are most concerned about this discoloration in young children especially under the age of 10 or so. The younger the child, the more teeth that could be affected.

Most physicians today are quite aware of tetracycline staining of developing teeth and try to avoid prescribing it in tooth-forming years.

Q. My taste buds are farther up on my tongue than they should be and no matter how many times I brush my teeth or gargle, my breath still gives out an odor. Could you please tell me what to do?

A. I am not certain that I understand how your taste buds can be "up farther" on your tongue "than they should be" or how this would affect your breath. Occasionally, food particles and bacterial colonies may collect on the hair-like cells of the tongue, forming a coating. Therefore, brushing of the tongue is a good daily habit.

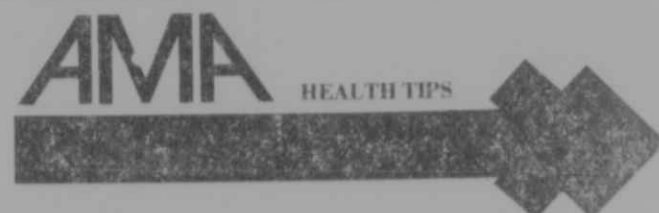

The most common cause of bad breath is unhealthy teeth and/or gums, so the first thing you should do is to see your family dentist. After your oral health is as good as possible, your bad breath should cease. If it persists, then you must look farther.

Other possible causes of mouth odor include sinus infections, post-nasal drip, throat infections (such as tonsillar inflammations) lung and/or stomach problems. Foods and some medications, as well as smoking, can also cause a mouth odor.

Remember, almost everyone experiences bad breath at some time, if only for a short period. Sometimes, when we think that our breath is offensive, no one else notices, because what we have is a temporary change in our oral environment. But persistent bad breath should be investigated.

Q. My 2 year old son has green vertical and horizontal marks on his teeth. What causes this? Will his second teeth have it?

A. The green stain on his teeth is most likely the remains of the developing membrane of the teeth, with bacteria or food incorporated in the membrane. This membrane can be removed with cleaning procedures by a dentist or dental hygienist.

Walk to Lose Weight

Want to lose ten pounds in the next year?

One way you can do it is to walk an extra mile every day.

The American Medical Association points out that a walk of just an extra mile per day for 36 days is a simple, pleasant device for shedding an extra pound of fat. In a year this would mount up to about ten pounds. The extra mile means just that — a mile of walking in addition to the customary walking you now do each day. And walking at a brisk clip, not just sauntering along. And without increasing your present food intake.

Once regarded as a major factor in losing weight, physical activity was later accorded less importance. It was recalled that considerable effort was required to shed even one pound of extra tissue. Would-be reducers found comfort in some expert opinion that calories expended through exercise would be immediately replaced, due to automatic increase in appetite.

Fortunately for fitness as well as for fatness, exercise has been restored to grace and enjoys respectability. It still takes calorie control to keep weight under control permanently, but exercise helps expend calories; within the usual range of activity, it need not stimulate appetite excessively. The energy output required to offset a pound of fat is approximately 3,500 calories, but the weight need not be lost all at once.

Instead of the exhausting, often impossible, 36-mile hike within a span of hours, a walk of just one extra mile a day for 36 days will get rid of that extra pound. Weight gain usually is relatively slow, and the extra mile will — for most of us — help keep weight down to a reasonable figure.

To be effective for both weight reduction and for general physical conditioning, exercise must be a regular part of your way of life, and not something that is overdone spasmodically.

Two From Northern Commended For Test Achievements

Janice S. Riggs and Mary G. Wheeler, seniors at Northern High School, have achieved Commended student status in the 23rd annual National Merit Scholarship program. The announcement was made this week by J. Kenneth Bittinger, principal of Northern.

The students were honored as a result of their outstanding performances on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) which was administered nationwide to high school juniors in October 1976.

A total of approximately 35,000 commended students throughout the United States are being honored by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation which administers the yearly scholarship competition. Students in this group represent less than two percent of the total of graduating U. S. secondary school seniors.

Commended students do not continue in the Merit Scholarship competition, but to increase their opportunities for college admission and financial aid, NMSC has offered each an opportunity to have identifying information sent by the corporation to two higher education institutions selected by the student.

Janice Riggs is presently attending Frostburg State College under the Early College Admissions program.

GARRETT COUNTY'S JUNIOR RIFLE CLUB is sponsoring a special 4-H project, a competitive rifle team, under instruction of Doug Oxford and Russell Stewart. The project is a joint effort through 4-H and the National Rifle Association, and the group has attended competitive shooting matches in Denton and Hagerstown. The team is composed of eight youngsters, above, front row, Joe Metheny, Jimmy Beitzel, Matt and George Scheffel; back row, Melanie Ryan, Patty Harsh, Kim Trickett, and Karen Dickie. Mats for shooters have been donated by Finch's Carpet, Fitzwater Furniture and Mt. Top Carpet. Rifle stands were donated by Bausch and Lomb. The team, formed after Christmas last year, is planning to enter a float in the Autumn Glory parade and to decorate a window in the town during the festival. They also will be attending a competition match in Quantico, Va., in November. Any rifle experts with competitive shooting experience who would like to help train the group may contact either of the instructors, or Mrs. Russell Stewart or Mrs. George Scheffel.

Mrs. Richard Morris is the circle leader.

Circle 1 will meet at the church at 1:15 p.m. The program study will be "The On-going Journey, Women of the Bible," by Sharon Neuffer Emswiler. Mrs. Ralph Cross is circle leader.

The U. S. Customs has tightened regulations to combat drug dealers and pornographers.

Protecting Our Children

By Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

One of the most difficult problems we have faced in the United States in recent years is the wave of child pornography hitting newsstands and magazine racks all over the country. Child pornography is difficult to define, but generally speaking, it portrays children in acts which could only be the result of persuasion or motivation by adults. It amounts to a form of abusing children and making them participate in activities that are unnatural and repugnant to most people.

This wave of child pornography has become a very lucrative business. Somebody is making a lot of money out of it. Moreover, it's been conducted in interstate commerce which is relatively immune from restraint by law. The use of children in such pornographic exhibitions and for other immoral purposes, has obviously grown. There are even pornographic catalogs which are sent through the United States mails. As a result, we face a shocking exploitation of children and young people. I think it is equally shocking that the law is not equipped to grant protection to the children who have been enlisted or drafted into this immoral and tragic behavior.

The Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee on which I serve, has now drafted a statute which I think will protect children in several ways.

First, the statute establishes procuring children and persuading them to participate in exhibitions for immoral purposes as a federal crime. Not only will the materials resulting from such exhibitions be proscribed, but it makes these exhibitions illegal acts if they involve the use, procurement or abuse of children.

Second, it broadens the Mann Act, which heretofore has made it illegal to transport women across state lines for immoral purposes. The statute extends the authority of the Mann Act making it equally illegal for young males to be transported across state lines for immoral purposes.

Finally, our bill provides for sharply increased penalties against individuals who disseminate and distribute in interstate commerce child pornography materials — magazines, pictures, films — which result from exhibitions arranged or procured in violation of the law.

It's a tough bill. It's a bill which has teeth; but, this is a tough subject, and I think this is one subject on which the American people want to be tough.

Three Home-Grown Vegetables In Harvest Casserole

Has your carefully nurtured backyard garden inspired a search for new recipes featuring fresh vegetables? With a bumper crop of home-grown zucchini, carrots and squash, one new recipe to try is Herbed Zucchini Bake. The vegetables are complemented by a creamy sour cream sauce with the added touch of savory Kellogg's® Croustettes. Fresh seasoned croustettes. A topping of additional buttery-crisp croustettes adds a crunchy accent to this harvest-time casserole.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 2 1/2 cups Croustettes herb-seasoned croustettes | 1/2 cup regular margarine or butter |
| 2 tablespoons regular margarine or butter, melted | 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup |
| 4 medium zucchini squash, cubed | 1/2 cup dairy sour cream |
| 1/2 cup grated carrots | 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento |
| 1/2 cup chopped onions | 1 teaspoon salt |
| | 1/2 teaspoon pepper |

- In medium-size mixing bowl, toss 1/2 cup of the Croustettes croustettes with the 2 tablespoons melted margarine. Set aside.
- In large saucepan, cook zucchini squash in lightly salted water until tender, about 5 minutes. Drain.
- Cook carrots and onions in the 1/2 cup margarine in large saucepan until tender. Add the remaining 1 1/2 cups croustettes, the soup, sour cream, pimiento, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly. Stir in cooked squash. Spread in ungreased 16x22-inch (1 1/2 quart) glass baking dish. Top with reserved croustettes.
- Bake in oven at 350° F. about 35 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

Of all the presidents, Thomas Jefferson is considered the greatest connoisseur of fine foods. He had an active interest in sampling different types of food and spent money freely to set the most elaborate table in Washington. He is credited with introducing many European delicacies and was particularly fond of dishes such as Beef Wellington. This recipe for Beef Wellington and many other American beef favorites can be found in "The Bicentennial Beef Cookbook" available for $2 from the Beef Industry Council, Dept. 76, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Beef Wellington

- | | |
|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 3 1/2 to 4-pound beef tenderloin | 8 ounces liver sausage or liver pâté |
| Pastry | 1 egg, beaten |

Place tenderloin on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a preheated hot oven (425° F.) allowing a total, depending on size of roast, of 20 to 25 minutes for rare; 25 to 30 minutes for medium. Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes before carving.

*Pastry for Beef Wellington

|---------------------------|
| 3 cups flour |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1/4 cup lard |
| 1/2 to 3/4 cup cold water |
- Sift together flour and salt. Cut in lard to form a fine even crumb. Add water, 1 tablespoon at a time, until dough just holds together. Shape into a ball and roll on a lightly floured board or pastry cloth.

SAUERKRAUT CASSEOLE

Sauerkraut, which is becoming a fixture in the American diet, is an invention of the European peasantry from the days when salt was used as a preservative.

Sauerkraut (pronounced "zeekills") is a delicious Hungarian combination of pork, sauerkraut and sour cream. It is an inexpensive and simple dish to prepare which can also be an ideal main course for a buffet dinner.

Accompany the goulash with a salad, black or rye bread and beer or a German or American white Riesling wine.

Sauerkraut Goulash

Degree of difficulty: Easy
Time: 1 1/2 hour work time;
2 hours cooking time

- | | |
|------------------------------|-------------------|
| Ingredients: | Servings: Eight |
| 3 tablespoons lard or butter | Cost: Inexpensive |
| 2 medium onions, chopped | |
| 3 tablespoons flour | |
| 2 teaspoons paprika | |
| 2 teaspoons salt | |

- In a casserole with a cover or a Dutch oven, melt the lard or butter over medium heat. Add the chopped onions and cook, stirring frequently.
- Meanwhile, put the flour, paprika and salt into a plastic bag. Add the pork cubes to the bag a handful at a time and shake to coat thoroughly.
- When the onions are transparent but not brown, remove them from the pot and set aside.
- Add the pork and sauté over medium heat until browned on all sides.
- Now add 1 cup of bouillon and the reserved onion, cover and simmer over low heat for 1 hour. Check occasionally to make sure the bouillon doesn't boil away. Add more if necessary.
- Drain the sauerkraut into a colander. Rinse thoroughly under cold running water. Drain well, pressing gently on the bottom.
- After the meat has simmered for 1 hour, add the sauerkraut, seeds and the sauerkraut. Continue well. Bring to a boil, reduce to medium heat, reduce to low and simmer, covered, for another 30 minutes until the meat is tender.
- Put the sour cream in a bowl. Gradually blend up to 1/2 cup of the casserole liquid into the sour cream, stirring constantly. Add this mixture to the contents of the casserole and stir to combine.
- Heat throughout. Be careful. Do not let the dish boil. Serve. A Consumer Service from the CYANAMID Agricultural Division.

Meat And Potato Pie

Stick with tradition for stick-to-your-ribs goodness. Get out your rolling pin and create a meal in a pie.

A hearty meal, Meat and Potato Pie skimps on nothing except cost. Not only is this main dish easy on the pocketbook, it's also easy on the cook. Preparation is quick and simple and can be done well in advance of serving.

Enriched self-rising flour makes it a success, with a crust hearty enough for a meat filling yet light and flaky. Since self-rising flour contains baking powder and salt, there's less mixing and measuring. Because it is enriched, you get B-vitamins — niacin, thiamin and riboflavin — plus the minerals, iron and calcium . . . to say nothing of the nutritional bonanza of the filling.

Meat And Potato Pie

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---|
| 2 cups enriched self-rising flour* | 1 envelope dry onion soup mix |
| 2/3 cup shortening | 1/2 teaspoon allspice |
| 4 to 8 tablespoons cold water | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |
| 1 pound ground beef | 1 package (12 oz.) frozen, shredded hash brown potatoes, dehydrated |
| 1/2 cup water | Ketchup, optional |

Cut shortening into flour until pieces are the size of small peas. Sprinkle with cold water a tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Press into a ball, divide in half. Roll one portion on lightly floured surface into 10-inch circle. Place in 9-inch pan. Combine meat, 1/2 cup water, onion soup mix, allspice and pepper, pack lightly into pie shell. Layer potatoes on top. Roll out remaining dough. Arrange pastry on top of filling, seal and flute edges. Cut design on top of pastry. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven about 1 hour, or until lightly browned. Serve with warmed ketchup.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

Crime Resistance Alert

Crime Takes A Vacation — With You!

When you go on vacation, make sure that crime doesn't travel along with you. Unless you take the proper precautions, crime can become an unpleasant part of your vacation. When the summer months arrive, criminals seem to work harder and the number of crime victims increases. To insure that you can fully enjoy your vacation, I'd like to suggest some strategies that should make you and your family less vulnerable to crime. Before you even leave home, however, make sure that your residence has that "occupied-at-the-moment" appearance while you are gone.

(1) As you travel, try to avoid having that "I'm a tourist" look about your car. Vacationers' autos are frequently victimized because thieves know that travelers often leave valuables in their vehicles. Maps and travel brochures left on the dash and seats are telltale signs that the occupants of the car are on vacation.

(2) Clothing hanging in a car or luggage on the back seat is an open invitation to car prowlers. Even though it only takes a thief a very short time to break into the trunk of a car, your spare clothing and luggage are safer in the trunk. Whenever possible, do not leave those items in your car while the vehicle is unattended.

(3) Don't carry an excessive amount of cash. If it is necessary to travel with a large sum of money, don't display it openly.

(4) Don't leave valuables in your hotel or motel room. Most lodging facilities will provide a safe place to secure your valuables while you are staying in their accommodations.

Be careful, not careless. Enjoy a carefree vacation.

Assault, Battery Cases Fill District Court Docket

Several assault and battery cases were heard in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones. A number of bad check cases were dismissed. All trials were held Monday, September 26.

Clyde K. Welch, Loch Lynn, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Patricia A. Welch on Glendale-Meadow Mountain road on August 14. He was found guilty and a presentence investigation was ordered. A charge of disturbing the peace involved in the same incident was settled on the agreement of parties involved.

Patricia A. Welch and Genevieve Friend, both of RD 2, Swanton, were each charged with disorderly conduct, being involved in the above incident. These cases were settled also on the agreement of the parties involved.

Earl and Hazel Self, both of Flintstone, both pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Cerina Kahl at Accident on August 13. Both were found guilty. A 10-day jail sentence was suspended and they were placed on probation for one year. Each paid costs.

Melvin M. England, Grantsville, pleaded guilty of assault and battery on Judith Ann England on Main street in Grantsville on September 8. A presentence investigation was ordered.

Randy Allen Nugent, RD 3, Deer Park, pleaded not guilty of assault on Michael C. Fitzwater on RD 4, Deer Park, August 30. He was placed on probation before judgment for one year and paid costs. His "not guilty" plea of unlawful use of the telephone was sustained. Charges of trespassing and disorderly conduct were dismissed.

Barbara Terrant, Bradley Manor, Oakland, has been charged with two counts of false pretense by passing worthless checks. Both counts were settled as restitution had been made.

Brian Lenhart, Star Route, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on a 13-year-old girl on Shade Hollow road September 3. His plea was sustained.

Administrative Director of the Maryland Optometric Association, agrees, and adds:

"While older people generally do not have to give up driving, they should recognize their visual limitations and confine driving activities to places, speeds and hours when they are most comfortable and competent."

To help older Marylanders remain active and help them drive safely, the Office on Aging and Maryland Optometric Association offer these safety tips to older drivers:

—Have a professional vision examination not less than once every two years.

—Be sure you have the proper glasses for both day and night driving.

—During the day, if sunlight glare is a problem, wear quality sunglasses; do not, however, wear them at night when they drastically reduce the light needed to see clearly.

—Study the cars and roadway far ahead, check both sides of the roadway, and glance frequently at the rear view mirror; by keeping your head and eyes moving, you will be more alert and compensate for the loss of some peripheral or side vision that occurs with age.

—Choose a car without a tinted windshield because it reduces the amount of light entering the eyes and can be a handicap at night.

—Be sure headlights are clean and adjusted to adequately light the roadway.

—Keep the windshield clean inside and out and be sure the rear view mirrors are clean and adjusted.

—Because drugs can affect vision, know the side effects of any drugs being taken before getting behind the wheel.

—Avoid drinking and smoking, which can both affect the visual skills needed to drive.

Faculty Forum

Kristin Milne
Garrett County
Teachers Association

I'm not an alarmist, really. Having been in this education biz for an unimpressive three years, however, I've learned to expect just about anything. Volumes have already been published on classroom anecdotes, discipline theories, and motivational exercises — therefore, I won't add to the collection. I am here to shed light upon the unspoken horrors of Back-to-School, a.k.a. Migraine City or the Nauseum Shuffle (usually reserved for the novice).

Teachers can often gather strength from administrators during this most trying of days. With a graduate degree in education and a principal's sign over the door, they reek of confidence and A-U-T-H-O-R-I-T-Y. Unraveling the mystery of master schedules is a favorite pastime, not to mention the revised revision of the Administrator's Handbook, that Book of books not, Heaven forbid, to be forsaken.

They are a mighty species, these administrators, and take delight in the intercom system, inter-departmental memos, the faculty pow-wow at the close of the first day, and a private office to huddle in when the best laid plans of, well, I believe I've said enough. Probably too much. Admittedly, when the going gets rough, the Rough get going.

The real mystery lies in how they manage to cope with it all. I could not hope to answer that one, but what is in that brown bag in the bottom of the — no, it couldn't be. What blasphemy to even suggest...

Consider once suggested a survival kit for just this occasion: one leather whip (Attention Getting Device), a battery-powered cattle prod (Hall Duty), six blasting caps (Motivation) and a cyanide capsule (Early Retirement Plan).

Actually, teachers are eased into this thing. The very first day is slightly padded with frills. Fellow faculty members are tanned, smiling, even mingling as if performing last rites to one another. The coffee urn is firing away cups of coffee (for free!) and a box of raised and glazed doughnuts invites the most stringent dieter to binge — just this once.

The Summer Reports ensue. Nothing formal, you understand, but just as intriguing. And what did you do this summer?

[heard at random]
"Finished my Master's" (accompanied by a lean and hungry look).

"Learned to play tennis." (pretend not to notice the light-weight cast).

"Finally went out West!" (run, plead sickness, do anything to avoid the wad of $X's poised for action).

"We're expecting our first child." (no need to pursue this one).

The first faculty meeting of the year is called to order. Greetings and salutations. Check. Introductions of new colleagues, emphasis marital status. Check. Social committee and coffee chairman designated. Check. Christmas Bash planned. Check.

The serious stuff now put aside, the minor details of academic standards, rules, policies, and forms upon forms are mentioned. The dismissal to organize classrooms couldn't have come sooner as the person in the next chair has chain-smoked (you quit three months ago) and one has consumed enough coffee to support every stockholder of Maxwell House for months.

Two days later, still in a fog, the first busload of dispersing students is confronted. Has it only been two and a half months? No, there must be some mistake. Like showing up here in the first place.

Judging from the stern countenance of the masses, it appears that the students aren't exactly vibrating with bliss over this rude interruption of leisure. It's nigh impossible for some, but I recall the first day of school with astounding clarity. I especially remember my best friend summarizing the event with these few but precise words: "What's for lunch?"

Young people frequently relish the martyr's role on the first day. A young, furrowed brow is not to be taken lightly, is it? The tears of loathing and the gnashing of teeth bring to mind the Ninth Circle (see Dante). The short shorts and halter tops seen parading about often add to the decor, depending upon whose point of view is taken.

All of this is soon to be resolved. Once in homeroom and then to classes, seated for three consecutive hours, the truth sets in. The first homework assignment brings it down to an unmistakable awakening. This is all for real.

One sixth-grader summed it up beautifully by saying, "I certainly hope this year works out for me."

Me too, kid!

Fire Levels House

Thursday Afternoon

Fire leveled a vacant house last Thursday afternoon on the Wilson-Corunna Road near Gorman.

Robert H. Shimer, fire investigator of Garrett and Allegany counties, is investigating the blaze. The house, property of Kenneth Liller, Fairfax, Va., had been vacant 15 to 20 years.

The Gorman Volunteer fire company was called to the scene at 1:15 p.m. but when firemen reached the site the building was at ground level.

A nearby chicken coop was also on fire but that blaze was extinguished with little damage.

Members of the Bayard fire department were called and stood by at the Gorman fire hall in case they were needed.

PSC Proposes Regulation On Customer Deposit

The Maryland Public Service Commission today issued an order proposing new regulations which would exempt residential gas, electric and telephone users 60 years of age or older from making a cash deposit.

This regulation is being proposed as a result of new legislation sponsored by Delegate Charles J. Sullivan, Jr., of Prince George's County, and enacted during the 1977 Session of the General Assembly. Present customers who are eligible under this proposed Regulation will be entitled to refund of any deposit.

Senior citizens will be exempt from a deposit if the subscriber presents satisfactory proof of age, is the primary user (service account is in his or her name and responsible for the bill), and does not have a past due or uncollected bill owing to that public service company.

The Commission solicits and welcomes written comments. The address is Public Service Commission, 904 State Office Building, 301 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201. A copy of the proposed Regulation 4.8 can be obtained by writing to the Commission.

Applications Being Taken For Conference

Applications are now being accepted for youth to attend the Tenth Annual Maryland Mid-Atlantic 4-H and FFA Dairy Conference, according to Alice Heyner, extension agent. This youth conference will be held at the National 4-H Center, Chevy Chase, on November 3, 4, and 5.

Youth between the ages of 15 and 19 with an interest in the Dairy industry are encouraged to submit an application by October 7th. For details and an application, contact the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service in Oakland.

The three day program includes tours of an ice cream plant and a dairy; guest speakers on topics ranging from Careers, Financing, Marketing and Quality Milk; a banquet, plus an evening at the theatre.

The conference is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland, and related dairy organizations.

With these facts in mind, I believe ridership should increase on Amtrak in our area and, for that reason, I am opposing any reduction of train service through Brunswick, Cumberland and Oakland.

Concerning your offer of government publications which you sent, is it too late to send in my order?

As I've traveled around our area I've been happy to hear that these cards have been so well received. These government publications are usually very useful and informative. Since they were available, I wanted to be sure that residents of Western and Central Maryland had the opportunity to obtain them.

To answer your question, yes, you may still return your order but you should do it right

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with my fellow residents of central and western Maryland. Send your questions or comments to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While I'll be unable to print all replies, I will answer each of you who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

What can be done to halt Amtrak's planned reduction of train service through Western and Central Maryland?
Amtrak now runs trains seven days a week through Cumberland, Oakland and Brunswick. They plan, however, to reduce this service to just 4 days a week and I find that unsatisfactory. On behalf of the residents in our area that use the Amtrak service, and there are more than 15,000 of you using it each year, I have written to Amtrak president Paul Reistrup and urged him to insure us that the service will not be reduced.

As I said, over 15,000 people use the Amtrak service each year. With an outlook bright for the future it is safe to predict that this number will increase. Take a look at the potential in western Maryland. We are making progress toward completing the National Freeway which would open up recreational opportunities in Garrett County and economic opportunities in Allegany County. Also, increased coal production should mean more jobs in Garrett County.

With these facts in mind, I believe ridership should increase on Amtrak in our area and, for that reason, I am opposing any reduction of train service through Brunswick, Cumberland and Oakland.

Concerning your offer of government publications which you sent, is it too late to send in my order?

As I've traveled around our area I've been happy to hear that these cards have been so well received. These government publications are usually very useful and informative. Since they were available, I wanted to be sure that residents of Western and Central Maryland had the opportunity to obtain them.

To answer your question, yes, you may still return your order but you should do it right away. Our supplies are limited and the return and response has been heavy. I hope you get your order back to me as soon as possible so we are able to send you the booklets you want.

What are the details of the announced Grant for Home Repairs in Allegany County?

I recently announced that the Appalachian Regional Commission approved a grant of $105,000 to the Allegany County Commission for a basic home improvement and emergency repair program to serve low-income families in Mt. Savage and George's Creek. These dollars will help to repair homes in these two towns before the cold winter months set in. The grant provides 25 home improvement grants of up to $5,000 per unit and 50 emergency home repair grants at $500 per unit.

To complete the project the Allegany County Commission should receive an additional grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
STATE HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION IS PLANNING

THE IMPROVEMENT AND RELOCATION OF MARYLAND ROUTE 560 IN GARRETT COUNTY.

The proposed improvement involves the relocation of Maryland Route 560 in the vicinity of Loch Lynn Heights, and the provision of a grade separation with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The section of the existing route proposed to be relocated extends between Garrett Road and Maryland Route 135, along Third Avenue and Paul Street, a distance of approximately 0.5 miles.

This project is currently in the Department's Consolidated Transportation Program (1978-1982). However, construction activity is projected beyond the program period because of time required to complete project planning, project design and right of way acquisition. This meeting is one of the initial steps in meeting Federal and State requirements to progress the project in an expeditious manner to construction.

New Manufacturers Edition Published

The eighth and revised edition of the Directory of Maryland Manufacturers has been published by the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

The directory's Index to Products Manufactured in Maryland illustrates the Free State's leadership in industrial diversification. Of the 451 different kinds of manufacturing classifications in the United States, 396 or nearly 88 percent are represented by plants in Maryland. Products range from abdominal boards to zinc plating.

The 517-page publication lists 2,987 manufacturers. Each company listing provides the firm's name, address, telephone numbers, year of establishment in Maryland, parent company (where applicable), subsidiaries located in Maryland, and products grouped by Standard Industrial Classification four-digit industry number.

In the past, the Directory of Maryland Manufacturers has won four national awards from the American Industrial Development Council. Because of its wealth of information, the publication is used extensively by marketing and purchasing agents, sales personnel and others throughout the United States.

Copies of the directory can be obtained from the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, 1748 Forest Drive, Annapolis, Maryland 21401. The per copy price is $18.00 plus 5 percent State sales tax for purchases delivered in Maryland. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

Mathias Speaks Out On Energy Crisis

Calling energy the most critical and least understood problem on our national agenda, Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) last week criticized "all the cant and hypocrisy about energy," saying, "There's so much talk about energy conservation and so little action that it's no wonder people are confused."

He noted that experts differ strongly on the nature of our energy problem and on what should be done about it, and added, "The public, too, is divided and confused. Many people don't believe there is a problem . . . Mathias believes, however, that "our number one national priority is to convince the American people that the energy crisis is real."

The forces opposing each other on the energy question, he said, spend too much of their time disparaging each other. According to Mathias: "Conservationists take on public utilities; consumer groups dispute oil companies; oil companies mistrust the federal government, so do state and local governments. Too little time has gone to sorting out the truth so that we can somehow reach a consensus about purpose. Yet each of these advocate groups recognizes the problem and has a sincere interest in developing a coherent energy policy."

"If we are to meet the energy challenge, then, we must begin to bind the disparate forces of our society into a coalition of common purpose. The time for advocacy is past. We must have a new dynamic in American life — a new partnership between government, business, and the people."

Mathias called on the President to bring business leaders, scientists, representatives of government and private organizations together in a White House Conference on Energy, "the same way that labor and management routinely meet — each wants to win concessions but neither wants to put the company out of business. In that same spirit — we can link our energy problems."

Speaking before the Prince George's County Jaycees in College Park, Mathias said: "The stakes are high: The peace and progress of the world depend on how soon and how widely we as a nation can make up our minds about whether there is an energy problem, about what it is, whose it is, and what we are going to do about it — and then roll up our sleeves and get on with the job."

Riffles Attend Annual Conference

Rev. and Mrs. Roy J. Riffle of Friendsville, attended the 33rd Annual Conference of the United Pentecostal Church, International, September 21-28, in Indianapolis, Ind.

The principal meetings were held in the Market Place Arena and record crowds of more than 25,000 were attracted by the central location, the rapid growth of the United Pentecostal Church and the fact that a successor would be chosen for the Rev. Stanley W. Chambers, who has been General Superintendent since 1975.

The United Pentecostal Church came into existence in 1915 through the merger of two smaller organizations of virtually identical beliefs, with those two groups dating back to 1924.

Rev. Riffle is pastor of the United Pentecostal Church, Gravel Hill in Friendsville.

Panel Approves Mathias Social Security Revisions

The Senate Finance Committee has agreed to eliminate the remarriage prohibition of the Social Security Act, and to set $6,000 as the maximum income retirees can earn without paying a penalty, Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) said today.

The Committee adopted amendments introduced by Senator Mathias which are aimed at resolving two questions of critical concern to senior citizens — the right to remarry without losing half of their social security benefits, and the opportunity to hold a job paying $3,000 or more a year without a reduction in social security payments.

The Mathias amendments to the Social Security Act would:

1. Eliminate immediate penalty for remarriage now caused by abrupt cutoff of benefits derived from a former marriage.
2. Raise the penalty level on earned income in two steps from $3,000 to $6,000 annually. The Committee agreed to increase the earned income level to $4,500 next January 1, and to $6,000 on January 1, 1979.

"Perhaps the cruelest feature of the present law is the limiting of personal freedom to choose to remarry or accept a job offer," said Mathias. Present laws make these decisions costly for the senior citizen. Remarriage can mean an immediate 50 percent reduction in Social Security benefits.

Mathias sees the real cost to the elderly as a loss of dignity. "Loss of combined income forces older couples to live together without being married or to avoid a rewarding relationship altogether," he said. "A job which may provide needed income, as well as personal fulfillment, has to be weighed against the low penalty level for earned income."

The social security law now requires men and women receiving widow's or widower's benefits to forfeit them immediately upon remarriage.

Erase "Race"

Another interesting court case making national headlines last week involved a California student who was not granted acceptance to graduate school. He claimed that he was better qualified than certain other students, those belonging to minority groups, who were admitted. This student lost out because of a quota system.

This quota system exists, not only in schools and universities, but also in many areas of the labor force. Let's examine this controversy.

The quota, or percentage, systems were originated to guarantee that minority groups could have as fair a chance of achievement, both in education and the job market, as the white, Anglo-Saxon. Those who support the quota laws claim that, without these restrictions, minorities would again be completely overlooked as they were two decades ago. They say that the minority individual would be the last to get a job and the last to be accepted into graduate school, if indeed he would be accepted at all. Unfortunately, their claims are probably correct.

On the other side of the fence, those against the system claim that it creates the very thing it is meant to destroy, discrimination. If the applicant is white and the quota has not yet been satisfied, he is rejected, regardless of his qualifications. Their claims are also correct. Both sides have a fairly good argument.

The fact is, however, there should be no need for a quota system. If human beings could totally do away with judgement by color of skin, there would be no problem. Men and women would then be chosen only on ability, qualifications and personality. Thus, if a medical school accepts 100 students, theoretically, all 100 could be white, all 100 could be black, yellow or red. And, best of all, it wouldn't matter.

Maybe a good step in the right direction of attempting to grasp this ideal would be to take the word "Race" off of all application forms.

Board of Commissioners Supports Redistribution Of Coal Surcharge

The Board of County Commissioners voted Monday to support proposed legislation to redistribute money collected from the state's coal production surcharge. The commissioners also issued a statement concerning parking on the lot adjacent to the Courthouse, and made three appointments.

The commissioners voiced their approval of a bill to be introduced by Sen. Edward J. Mason (R-Allegany, Garrett) which will mandate that 10 cents of the 18 cent-per-ton surcharge be returned to the counties. The other five cents would remain with the state. The surcharge is presently on the books but the fees for the titanic Open Pit Mining Reclamation Fund are collected by the state, and the law states only that the surcharge "may" be shared with the county.

Garrett has received only $2,400, much less than the $125,000 which would have been received had the state granted even 50 percent of the surcharge to the county. Garrett and Allegany counties are the only two subdivisions in Maryland producing coal.

The county commissioners are asked that the additional money be placed in Garrett's general fund, since the money is needed to offset some of the impact the coal industry boom will have on roads, schools and other services.

Sen. Mason intends to prefile the legislation for the 1978 General Assembly session in January.

Garrett County Commissioner George Edwards proposed that parking at the Oakland Courthouse be reserved for the general public while the Courthouse renovation and construction project is in progress.

He noted that the construction workers and courthouse employees are presently taking up all of the available parking spaces, and suggested that the area adjacent to the Courthouse be reserved for general public use so that individuals may have easy access to conduct their business with the county.

He suggested that employee and construction worker vehicles should be parked elsewhere, and Commissioner Wayne Hamilton agreed that the Board should send a letter to the contractors so they may inform their employees of the new policy.

The Board is currently looking into alternate parking areas for the employees and construction workers. The construction and renovation project is expected to take two years to complete.

The Commissioners appointed Mrs. Carma White to the Garrett County Department of Social Services Advisory Board for a three year term. Mrs. White is a resident of Ritzmiller and is an active volunteer for the March of

G.C.C. To Receive Funds To Help Train Over 500 in Mining Techniques

State school superintendent David W. Hornbeck has announced an award of over $300,000 to help train more than 500 Garrett County workers in modern local mining techniques.

The project was undertaken in cooperation with the Metallurgical Coal Corporation, which is constructing a deep mine on Backbone Mountain, near Kempton, expected to produce 2 million tons of coal a year for a generation.

"This enterprise has a number of specific objectives," says Hornbeck, "to qualify individuals for entry level jobs, to increase the skills and effectiveness of employed miners, and to improve the administrative and interpersonal skills of administrators and supervisors. But more broadly speaking our objective is to help attract and hold job-producing industries to the state of Maryland."

Don Dunham, assistant state superintendent for vocational education, said the opportunity to help create jobs in the high unemployment areas of western Maryland is particularly gratifying.

"Now that coal is again figuring in our national energy picture, we will be watching for more opportunities to extend the state industrial training program in those regions," he said.

Bus System To

in a position to make any necessary route changes and also decide whether a fare increase will be necessary.

The new director will begin his duties with a survey of current operations and if necessary, revise schedules. Anyone with questions about the bus system may call 334-3986.

The bus system started as an Appalachian Regional Commission pilot program three years ago. However, the ARC discontinued funding after a year and a half, saying it did not believe the ridership justified the expense involved.

Three buses served a number of areas in the county, and a few of the routes have had very good ridership, especially where workers are commuting to and from work. However, many other routes have not done as well.

Once the ARC funding for the project ceased, the state signed an agreement with the county to provide 70 percent of a total cost of $22,000 a year and any cost above that would be the county's responsibility.

Based on that agreement, the commissioners had estimated that the county would have to spend another $5,000 over the next year to keep the buses running.

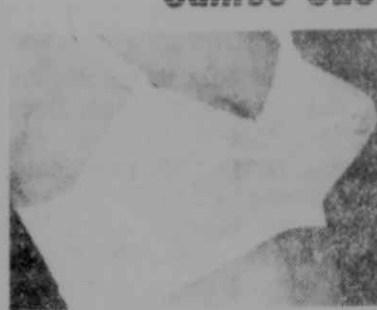

Mr. Hamilton said that with some revisions in the bus system, a possible rate increase for fares and the fact that ridership has shown an increase recently, the Commission on Aging may be able to operate the system and meet expenses.

Mr. Ford said the Commission on Aging will operate the bus lines at least until next November 30, when the state's fiscal year ends. He said that in the meantime the commission will be looking for other areas of funding assistance to help keep the buses in business.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor: Recently we called for the resignation of a school board member. We now want to enumerate a few reasons for that request.

1. Mr. Harman cited the reading program for being "ten years too late" and the science curriculum as a total disaster. We doubt that this is true, but if it is, why has he waited so long to take corrective action? He has been a school board member for more than five years. Curriculum improvements were his responsibility.

2. In criticizing the lack of female enrollment in vocational programs, Mr. Harman demonstrated no knowledge of past enrollment or the psychological ramifications encountered by girls in predominantly male vocational fields.

3. If Mr. Harman is truly concerned about the enrollment in vocational education, why has he so staunchly opposed the Voc-Tech Center and eliminated a home economics teacher from Southern High? Both of these would provide additional vocational opportunities for all students.

4. Mr. Harman based his evaluation of an industrial arts program and teacher solely on the information conveyed by his son. This is a direct violation of the teacher's contract signed by him. This contract guarantees evaluations in accordance with adopted procedures and free from public reprimands without cause.

5. Mr. Harman was a school board member when RCEDA funds were abused. Was this an incompetent or fraudulent act? In either case, GCC must repay $159,380. In the end the taxpayers and the students of GCC will bear the burden of repayment.

Open criticisms of the County School System should never be made by a member of the school board. Statements of this nature demonstrate an inadequate understanding of the responsibility of a school board official. They only cause discord among the employees and lead the students to believe that they are receiving an inferior education. The aim of GCFT has always been to improve education in Garrett County. Our goal does not change when we ask for the resignation of Herbert Harman.

Editor:

The letter by State's Attorney Ralph Burnett failed to answer the central question which I think is on the mind of most interested people, which is, How did the name of an important County Official happen to get on the list of persons to be selected for service on the Grand Jury? What is to prevent the name of Ralph Burnett from appearing on the next list? Also, How does it come that this never happened before?

Clifford Friend

Dear Mr. Friend: Your questions were directed to Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer this week. He stated that the method of selecting persons to serve on the Grand Jury, though slightly complicated, are honest and totally random. Every voting citizen in the county has an equal chance of being chosen, regardless of his or her occupation. In the event that a county commissioner or the state's attorney was chosen to serve, normally he would ask to be excused. If he did not ask to be excused, there exist certain procedures within the law to remove him from duty. Those procedures are too involved to present in this letter. Any further questions about jury selection could be directed to Mrs. Jean Selby, Jury Commissioner, at the courthouse.

Editor:

I am a handicapped veteran, living on a small pension. My vision and hearing are slowly leaving me. The doctors say they can do nothing, so I have many hobbies and projects to keep busy and fight off periods of depression and despondency, which seem to plague me most of the time.

While I am collecting antique valentines and old post cards, I am also collecting old calendars, advertising cards and old tins, in hopes of writing a book about the items I collect, and earn enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have medical care, which the VA is unable to afford me.

Living on limited funds, I depend greatly upon friends and others for many of the items I collect. I was wondering if any of your readers had any antique valentines, rare old calendars or old tins, which they do not want. I would be happy to have any they may care to send me.

Thank you.

Respectfully yours,
Leon Thompson

Sir:

Life hands us a strange and cruel deal once in a while. Last Sunday morning, I let my little dog out, but when I called him about five minutes later he didn't come bouncing back.

He was a good pet and my grandson loved him, as I did, but someone, somewhere decided we didn't need him. Why, when we try so hard to live right and help others, do those around us do all they can to hurt us?

A small, innocent dog was the victim of malicious neighbors when it's really the dog's owner they wanted to kill or haul off. Yes, the law would take care of that misdeed involving the owner but someday the guilty ones must answer to their great creator for their misdeeds, which will bring a greater punishment than our so-called law could ever hand out.

This isn't the first experience I've had like this.

A resident of the Steyer-White Church Road

Dear Sir:

I would like to voice my opinion on a matter that really, to me, doesn't seem ethical. I am an employee at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and many times while on duty, co-workers or I glance out the window to see a town police car and driver hiding on a side road off Memorial Drive. As some motorists come down the road, the policeman will turn flasher lights on and go after them. Then they will return and repeat the same procedure time and again.

Often we will see him go after as many as six to ten different motorists in less than an hour. This happens mostly on weekends.

As the route I take to work goes from Twelfth Street to Memorial Drive, there is no speed limit sign until almost at the entrance of the hospital. There is then a sign limiting drivers to 25 m.p.h. (the first speed limit sign since on Route 219 south of Oakland).

How is a motorist to know the proper speed? I feel this is a very dishonest way of stopping motorists and wonder what procedures can be taken to stop this unfairness.

Concerned Citizen

Dear Concerned,

Sneaky, yes. Dishonest, no.

Editor

Dear Editor: There are many problems in the Garrett County school system just as there are in every other school system. Constant efforts are being made to solve these problems by teachers and administrators at all levels. Unfortunately when the president of the Board of Education decided to vocalize his misinformed and untimely attack on the staff at Northern High School, he did more to destroy teacher morale and incentive than can be imagined. He not only condemned a school program for which he is responsible, but put all of Garrett County to public ridicule by readers of the Cumberland Times and viewers of a local television station.

Mr. Harman claimed to the Northern faculty that his statements in the Cumberland paper were "misquoted" and "taken out of context." Maybe this is so, but there are questions that still remain unanswered.

First, why did it take 5 days from the appearance of the article before Mr. Harman commented on it to the faculty at Northern? Second, why has Mr. Harman not apologized in the mass media to the satisfaction of all parties involved?

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers has been accused of acting in an unprofessional manner. May I say that it is difficult to maintain your professionalism when there is none shown by the President of the Board of Education. Teachers today expect to be treated as professionals. They do not intend to stand idly by and be publicly chastised in print by anyone who has not first made himself aware of the facts. Members of any public board are in a position of public trust. They are expected to maintain an objective, detached view of the problems.

The damage that has been done to the Garrett County school system by Mr. Harman's unjustified remarks can never be determined. The trust and respect that the people of Garrett County had for teachers has been gravely undermined.

Sincerely,

Northern Faculty Representative

Garrett County Federation of Teachers

NOT GAINING MUCH GROUND is this Bulldog who is shown surrounded by Northern Huskies during a grid battle last Friday evening at the Bruce field. Early in the first quarter of play a Bulldog carried a blocked punt 25 yards for the only score in the Tri-Valley Conference game, giving Bruce the 7-0 win. A strong and determined Husky defense

repeatedly kept Bruce away from the end zone as near as three and five yards out during the tilt. The Huskies are now 1-3 for the early season and will take on Parsons tomorrow evening at the Northern field. Northern Stopped By Bulldogs, 7-0

The Northern Huskies Bruce since 1974 when the traveled to Bruce High last Friday evening for a Tri-Valley Conference contest and were stopped by the Bulldogs, 7-0, after they, the Huskies, were unable to move their offense and fumbled the ball three in critical turf positions.

Early in the first quarter of play, Mike Watson picked up a blocked punt and raced 25 yards for the only touchdown in the evenly matched game.

Northern's offense was held to only 17 yards in the grid battle, with the Huskies completing none of nine aerial attempts.

Northern attempted 32 rushing plays, but wound up with minus two yards for their game average.

It was a tough Husky defense that kept the Bulldogs from scoring from the three and five yard line.

Northern penetrated Bruce territory only once, losing the ball on downs at the 48 yard line.

Southern Deflates Musselman, 24-14

The Southern High Rams, led by the passing of Fred Gregg, the receiving of Steve Liller and the rushing of John Toston, overcame an 85-yard opening kickoff return by John Dick to wind up on top, 24-14, over host Musselman last Friday evening.

Toston scored twice, once on a run of five yards and another on a three yard bolt. Liller ran both times for the successful conversions.

Liller, who caught nine passes for 198 yards, got his touchdown on a 30 yard pass from Gregg. Toston ran for the conversion for another two points.

Gregg completed 14 of 27 tosses for 219 yards.

Defensive standouts for the Rams were Jim Clark, Mike Bolding and Greg Shockey. Offensive line standouts included Shockey, Joe Paluzzi, Jeff Hinebaugh and Tim Par-rack.

It was clearly a two-to-one edge for the Rams in total yards gained in the air. The Rams completed 14 passes for a gain of 219 yards as opposed to the Applemen who caught nine for 101 yards. Penalty flags went down on Southern for a loss of 133 yards. The host team was set back 53 yards.

According to coach Tom Woods, of the Southern camp, "We can beat Hampshire tomorrow evening if we put forth the extra effort we gave the Applemen last Friday. It was our best showing to date and we are very pleased with our aerial completions and offensive drives."

Southern is now 2-2 for the season and will take on the Hampshire squad tomorrow evening at the Southern grid beginning at 8 p.m.

Lakers Sweep Allegany and Allegheny

The Garrett Community College Laker baseball team traveled to Boyce Community College in Allegany Friday afternoon and conquered the Allegany squad 3-2 and 5-4 in a doubleheader match that gave GCC a 9-1 record for the early Fall season.

Pat Pockstaller and Fred Griffin both turned in three-hit performances and both upped their personal ledgers to 3-0 for the season.

Pockstaller struck out ten batters in winning the first game and Griffin fanned out six to aid in the nightcap win.

Terry Barkey drove in all three first-game runs with a two-run double in the opening frame and another RBI double in the fifth.

Rex Walbolt and Tim Hornick had three hits each for the Laker team.

In the nightcap, Kevin Kline's two-run single in the seventh inning highlighted the evening game, as he and Craig McGary rapped out two hits each.

The Lakers swept a doubleheader from Allegheny South of Pittsburgh yesterday evening at McHenry boosting the Lakers to an 11-1 record, after downing them 7-6 and 12-3.

In the opener, Craig McCory flied to center with one down to bring home Bill McGarvey who had walked and moved to third on a single by Mike Filosemi to end the extra inning test.

Rex Walbolt, Tim Hornick, Mark Martini, Kevin Kline and McCory had two hits each for the Lakers in the first game.

Pat Pockstaller got the win from the mound coming on in the seventh for Ron Kaufman. Kaufman fanned 10 before leaving the mound.

In the nightcap, the Lakers got 10 runs in the first and coasted to the win.

Filosemi rapped a pair of triples and Jim Hassinger added a double and two singles for the Laker victory.

Being a baby must be a frightening existence — that is, if viewed objectively with adult minds. New things are always happening to you — things too involved to understand... people are so big... and there are such strange sounds.

Yet the experts tell us that the natural frights of babyhood dissolve as the child realizes he is loved. Every new experience takes on happy dimensions because he has such complete trust in those who love him.

Discovering God's love for all his children is what the Christian religion is about. Men's fears and tensions give way to the realization that the Creator is someone we can trust.

This Jesus stresses when He teaches His followers to pray to the Almighty with the same confidence loving parents inspire in their child... OUR FATHER!

THORNS ON THE FRUIT TREE

Lesson for October 9, 1977

Background Scripture: Luke 9:43-45; 22:27
Devotional Reading: Matthew 7:21-25

Many Christians today seemed obsessed with Satan. They look for him in every nook and cranny — particularly their neighbor's nook and cranny! As some of our forefathers implored their own souls with their inquiries and witch-hunts, so there are today "hooked on the Devil."

When ever these people find themselves in some theological or doctrinal disagreement with another follower of Christ, they begin to sanctimoniously wonder out loud whether their "brother" might not be the "tool of Satan."

Let their fellow Christian perform some act that puzzles them or fails to fit into their own prescribed Christian lifestyle and they begin to intone the words "counterfeit works of the Devil!"

Offs and thorns

The problem here is not that there is no evil in the world, no demonic force, for Jesus himself acknowledged this reality. But though he acknowledged the reality, he did not focus upon it. What he focused on was the Spirit of God working in the world.

He chose to accentuate the positive — God's presence and power — instead of the negative disposition to see Satan wherever he looked.

The key to this approach was extremely pragmatic. There were no chemical, psychological or mechanical tests or devices to determine who or what had the demon. So Jesus employed a simple but profound rule-of-thumb. For no good tree bears bad fruit, nor again does a bad tree bear good fruit, for each tree is known by its own fruit" (Luke 6:43-44). The proof was to be found not in our judgment of each other's theology, doctrines and religious lifestyles, but by our evaluation of the fruits that issue from these. In other words, a lifestyle that bears good fruit that issues in loving service to our fellowman must be a good tree. Thorns do not bear fruit. Satan-possessed people do not live loving, redemptive lives.

Why call me Lord?
For me the only test of the authenticity of another's faith must be its fruitfulness. If a person comes to me with a "new discovery" in his spiritual life, claiming "I've found it," who am I to question the particulars of that spiritual style so long as it is productive of Christlike love and service? Of course, if you really have "found it," then the obvious results should be a humility and love that finds its fruition not in judging others, but in serving them.

Because the term "Lord" means one to whom we give our obedience, there is nothing more numerous than a Christian who claims around saying "I've found Lord," but doesn't live the redemptive life to which he or she is called. If we are truly Christians who have found our Lord, we will not only hear and know his words, but we will do them and these will be no thorns in our fruit tree.

Federal Offices Must Pay Surcharges Assessed By State

Attorney General Francis B. Burch, in an opinion released today has advised that agencies and instrumentalities of the United States government must pay the environmental surcharge assessed by the State on electric energy furnished them.

Mr. Burch said that State law establishes an environmental surcharge per kilowatt hour of electric energy generated in the State to be paid by the electric company. The surcharge is a cost of generation which the company may add to a customer's bill. Funds collected via the surcharge are used for environmental purposes, such as research programs for power plant site evaluation and related land use considerations.

The opinion, requested by John P. Mannion of the Comptroller's office, arose from the Navy Department's assertion that it was immune from paying the surcharge and its claim for reimbursement from the Baltimore Gas & Electric Company for amounts previously paid.

Attorney General Burch said that State law is clear that legal incidence of the surcharge is on the electric company. "The Legislature was very precise in imposing the charge on the electric company, authorizing the charge to be passed through to customers and allowing electric companies to recoup those surcharges not collected from customers. The Legislature has clearly designated the surcharge as a business expense of the electric company. Accordingly, every electric company, including the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, must remit to the Comptroller the sum of 0.1 mill for each kilowatt hour of electric energy which it generates in Maryland, regardless of whether the electric company collects the amount of the surcharge from its customer. However, to the extent that the electric company does not collect from its customer, the surcharge is deemed a 'cost of generation' to be considered in the rate-making process."

Relying on a 1939 Supreme Court case, Mr. Burch said that because the legal incidence of the charge is on someone other than the federal government, the Constitution does not prevent the State from imposing it, even if the charge places an economic burden on federal facilities. "The Constitution immunizes the United States and its property from taxation by the States, but it does not forbid a tax whose legal incidence is upon a contractor doing business with the United States, even though the economic burden of the tax, by contract or otherwise, is ultimately borne by the United States."

Sarbanes Announces Military Academy Applications Available

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes announced this week that applications for Maryland residents seeking appointment to the United States Military, Naval, Air Force, and Merchant Marine Academies are available through his Baltimore office.

"This is a fine opportunity for young men and women who wish to pursue military careers and obtain an excellent college education," Senator Sarbanes said. "I urge all those students who are interested in attending one of the service academies to apply to my office as soon as possible."

Senator Sarbanes also pointed out that appointments to the Air Force Academy are not currently available to him although interested students are still encouraged to apply in the event openings develop.

Teachers To Meet In Baltimore For Annual Convention

Legal responsibilities borne by classroom teachers, school violence, retirement and Social Security, teacher centers, consumerism, and the education of handicapped youngsters will be only a few of the topics to be explored by teachers during the 10th Annual Convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA), to be held in Baltimore, October 13-15.

Thousands of the state, including several representing the Garrett County Teachers' Association, will visit Baltimore for all or part of the three-day meeting which was originally called "the teachers' institute" when it began in 1886.

In addition to the professional seminars such as those mentioned, teachers will meet with their local groups and with other teachers who are involved with the same disciplines. These departmental meetings will be held in downtown hotels, in the Civic Center, and in schools throughout the metropolitan area.

Social events scheduled for the convention include an "All Nations Friendship Night," featuring various ethnic groups from the Baltimore area, an informal reception, and a dance, all on Thursday evening.

Friday evening's program features the Gala Concert by the All Maryland High School Chorus and Orchestra. Guest conductor for the chorus is Paul Salamunovich of Loyola University, Los Angeles. Karel Husa, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, is guest conductor for the All Maryland Orchestra. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

While the majority of teachers are attending meetings on such subjects as art, English, history, mathematics, and science, more than 700 elected delegates will be busy in meetings of the MSTA's Representative Assembly. The Assembly is the policymaking body of the Association and sets the course of the organization for the year to come.

Pete V. Trebley, Montgomery County, is president of the 37,000-member group.

Other companies wanting to be represented in the contest are asked to contact Willis Wilson, 724-1096.

The firemen's ball will be held at the Clarysville Inn on October 22 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be furnished by Wally Ginger Orchestra. The dance will be open to the public and tickets may be purchased from any volunteer fire department.

Seven Vie For Fire Queen Title

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will name the new fire prevention queen Sunday, highlighting the start of the annual fire prevention week.

The association's executive committee met Sunday to discuss the contest plans. Seven contestants have entered the field representing Shaft, Frostburg, District 16, Clarysville, Bowman's Addition, Barton and Baltimore Pike fire companies.

Other companies wanting to be represented in the contest are asked to contact Willis Wilson, 724-1096.

The firemen's ball will be held at the Clarysville Inn on October 22 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be furnished by Wally Ginger Orchestra. The dance will be open to the public and tickets may be purchased from any volunteer fire department.

Southern Speaks

By Patti Keefe

This week marks the Homecoming celebration at Southern. Festivities open with a parade tonight, at 6:30. Friday, at 8:00 on Southern's field, the annual homecoming game will be played against Hampshire. Saturday night, a dance sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association will feature the music of Crosstown Traffic. The dance will run from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Activities during the week in school included crazy tee-shirt day, a hall decoration contest, and a pep assembly Friday.

Each club in the school is required to prepare a float for Thursday's parade. Failure to do so will result in members receiving no credit for this year's activities. This measure was adopted by the Student Council in order to promote more school interest and to establish the homecoming parade as an annual event once again.

The Future Business Leaders of America Club has installed the following officers: president, Mark Raynovich; secretary, Teresa Switzer; treasurer, Karen Biser. The vice president will be elected at the next club meeting scheduled for October 11.

If your grandfather has ever told you a wild story about losing his breeches during a skirmish with a big, bad bear in the early 1900's, it may well be a true experience. According to the personals column in 1968, three men were returning to their homes from a trip near Elkins when a mother bear and her three cubs attacked them. The men had been engaged in building a bark camp in the West Virginia locale when the incident occurred. They managed to fight the big one off and captured the cubs, but not before the momma bear ripped the trousers off one of the men. It was said no one had seen him since, owing to his "embarrassment."

Speaking of escapes, also in the personals column was a lengthy account of a newly married couple who went their separate ways after the groom sneaked out of a hotel. It seems as though the bride and groom checked into the Schley Hotel in Oakland after they were married in one of its rooms, and only a few hours later the bride was reported to have requested a glass of water from her groom. The groom honored the request and went to find a glass of water. After nearly an hour's passing, the bride called downstairs to the clerk who stated he had fled the hotel with what appeared to be her pocketbook. A few days passed and finally the mayor of Oakland sent her back home to Kingwood. The honeymoon may well be one of the briefest on record.

In the town of Gorman, another kind of mystery had taken place when, on Sunday morning, March 30, 1966, six spirited horses drew up to the church driven by a nice man all clothed in fur. He summoned a number of children to his awaiting sled and then drove away through a light snow fall. The gentleman concealed his identity and was muffled to his ears in fur with a fur cap covering his eyes. The boys and girls "trusted him never-the-less. They were taken amid shouts of laughter and jingling of many bells to Conaway's Hotel, a famous resort only five miles from Gorman. A small accident occurred when the sled upset and gently threw them into a soft snowdrift. The muffled friend stood and chuckled at the sight. The sled was soon righted, and all went on to the resort. They were ushered into the drawing room, where a cheerful log fire was crackling a bright welcome. Then they were taken to the dining room where an enormous table was loaded down with 'goodies.' The room was profusely decorated with green palms and red roses with sprinklings of carnations. At each plate setting was a fresh rosebud. Everyone partook of the goodies. Although the girls begged on their knees, and even some of the most winsome maids put their arms around the stranger's neck, he chose to keep his identity unknown. After the party the mysterious gentleman returned the children to the church.

Today, of course, we call it kidnapping. A contract was secured with a leading scenic souvenir publishing house to photograph a set of postcards for the following hotels and boarding houses in the Park: Alleghany House, The Hotel Chautauqua, Loch Lynn Hotel, Assembly House, The Romney Cottage, The Burlington, Maryland Home, The Ohio Cottage and Faith Cottage.

The next time you're rooting around in the attic for nostalgic paraphernalia, look for one of the above mentioned postcards. They are at least 70 years old and collectors' items.

Interesting item in the Bittinger letter column was this tidbit: "Charles Tressler, a farmer of near Confluence, was riding a horse valued at $200 on the Klondike Road which skirts the Casselman River. At the highest point Tressler's horse stumbled in the dark and fell over the cliff that was a sheer drop of 300 feet. Both horse and rider tumbled the entire distance to the edge of the river. The horse was killed. Tressler was not badly injured though he was unconscious when he reached the bottom of the hill. He soon came to however, and is none the worse for the THRILLING experience."

Thrills like that I can do without. For unknown reasons, in the Oakland personals column was this brief passage: "A very valuable cow belonging to Mr. John Feity died suddenly last Friday morning..."

Could it be the four-legged creature was well liked in the community? In April '06, an avalanche occurred on the Blaine Road and it was reported that no less than fifteen feet of rock covered the road.

It was quite another disorder in San Francisco when the nation and world were jarred by news of the awesome and devastating earthquake there. That was on April 19, 1906. The newspaper was filled with personal accounts from reporters and area friends and

A & P Supermarket Robbed Saturday

The A&P Supermarket at Tri-Towns Shopping Center near Westernport was robbed sometime Saturday night, according to the LaVale detachment of the Maryland

State Police.

A safe was broken into and another safe, along with an undetermined amount of money, was removed from the store.

A rear door was forced open to get into the store, according to police. The safe taken from the store was removed from a concrete reinforced casing, leading police to assume that more than one person was involved in the burglary.

State police were notified at about 9 a.m. Sunday when one of the store's employees discovered the open safe and placed the call to LaVale. Sgt. Bernard J. Chabot is in charge of the investigation.

Auxiliary To Meet

Speed Enforcement To Be Increased On Interstates

DON'T GET STUNG — State Police Superintendent, Colonel Thomas S. Smith, left, and Trooper First Class Leonard F. McHugh, of Randallstown, place a new bumper sticker on the back of a patrol car. The new bumper sticker is a reminder to motorists to obey the speed limit and helps launch the speed enforcement effort on the Interstate system. Persons interested in obtaining a bumper sticker may contact their nearest State Police installation. State Police photo by Cpl. Tom Moore.

The Maryland State Police announce a concentrated speed enforcement effort on Interstate highways — I-70, I-83, I-85 and I-495.

The average speed on Maryland's Interstate system has been creeping up for the last several months; the severity of the motor vehicle accidents is increasing at the same rate. Interstate 70, 83, 85 and 495 have experienced the most dramatic average speed increase according to the monthly speed surveys conducted by the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Colonel Thomas S. Smith, Superintendent of the State Police, has ordered his Troopers to step-up enforcement on these Interstate routes. Selective enforcement on these routes will include Troopers patrolling in a wide variety of vehicles including the 18 wheel tractor and trailer, known as "Mother Goose," foreign cars, campers and other trucks. Frequency of patrols in these areas will be increased and sophisticated electronic speed detecting devices will be utilized.

"Our goal," Colonel Smith stresses, "is to obtain maximum voluntary compliance with the 55 mph national maximum speed limit and not increased enforcement documents."

There are many factors which make 55 mph a safer speed according to Col. Smith. For example, reduced speed allows for greater margin of driver error. The effects of inattention, overcontrolling, following too closely and weather elements are less critical at the lower speed. Tires and brakes are taxed less and gross mechanical failure can be dealt with easier. Evasive actions, which are perhaps the greatest accident preventers can be accomplished more safely as speed goes down. In general, moderate speed takes the critical edge from potentially disastrous conditions.

Unfortunately, the most effective ways found to reduce highway speed are also the most unpopular he continued. But it is certain that concentrated random, strict speed enforcement does reduce excess speeds and also is a major factor in reducing the number and severity of accidents.

Colonel Smith states, "The National Speed Limit is a law, a law which produces measurable payoffs in lives and fuel conservation at a relatively small cost of personal inconvenience. I enlist your support in bringing this fact to the attention of the motoring public, judges, the media and our elected representatives. Although the extreme energy crisis has somewhat subsided, the benefits of the 55 speed limit continue in direct proportion to support which we give to the law."

Show Tickets Are Offered To Seniors

Twenty-five tickets have been reserved for the Freddy Fender Show November 12, at Jamboree USA in Wheeling, W. Va.

W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs for Garrett County Community Action, said the deadline to make reservations would be October 31 when the $6.50 ticket money would have to be in his office.

Fender has had such hits as, "Before The Next Teardrop Falls," "Wasted Days and Wasted Nights," and "Secret Love."

Ellis said that people other than Senior Citizens should also let him know of their interest in bus trips so other arrangements could possibly be made.

Two buses took a group of Senior Citizens to the Jamboree Saturday night to see the Statler Brothers.

Senior Citizens are making a trip to Cass this Saturday, leaving Community Action parking lot at 8 a.m. Thirty elderly will be making the Fall foliage excursion on the train.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with my fellow residents of central and western Maryland. Send your questions or comments to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While I'll be unable to print all replies, I will answer each of you who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

Is information yet available on your next District Tour?

Currently the House of Representatives is working on a very heavy schedule. There is still much legislation to be considered. After I am sure of our schedule in the House, I will finalize the schedule for a fall tour throughout central and western Maryland, and will also be sure that everyone is notified of the schedule. In the meantime, if anyone would like to discuss current legislation or is having a problem in dealing with the federal government, they should write or call me in Washington or any of our District Offices in Columbia, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland.

I have already scheduled several important public meetings that I want each of you to be aware of, and, hopefully attend. At 7 p.m. on the evening of Monday, October 10th, I will hold a Town Meeting On Energy at the Allegany Community College Theater in Cumberland. This will give me the opportunity to discuss the vital energy issue with Allegany County residents and to hear their views and opinions. This is another in a series of Town Meetings I am holding throughout the 6th District.

Also, I have scheduled several People's Press Conferences. These meetings have been very popular as I schedule them around western and central Maryland. These People's Press Conferences give residents of the 6th District, including myself the opportunity to sit down and discuss the many important issues that are facing us. They are informal, you ask the questions and, together, we toss various ideas around. The next People's Press Conference will be October 17th, at 8 p.m. in the Catonsville Library at 1100 Frederick Road. On October 25th, at 8 p.m. we hold another P.P.C. in Baltimore County, this one at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 2004 Gwynn Oak Avenue in Woodlawn.

I hope you will make every effort to attend these important public meetings.

What can be done to halt Forced Retirement at age 65?

The House of Representatives has taken a major step to bring to a halt the forced retirement of people at age 65. I supported the legislation which passed the House. It extends the Age Discrimination in Employment Act to protect workers up to age 70. And, the bill clarifies existing language to prohibit the use of pension plans or seniority systems as an excuse for involuntary retirement on account of age for any worker within the protected age group. Also important is the fact that this legislation does bar mandatory retirement and other age discrimination in federal civilian employment, including job advancement and hiring.

I am happy the measure passed the House and I'm hopeful it will be quickly passed by the Senate and become law. We need the knowledge and expertise of those over sixty five who choose to continue working.

How do you feel about your work on the House Armed Services Committee?

My work on the Armed Services Committee is particularly interesting and rewarding. In my work here, I can continue to represent the wishes of 6th District residents. Our fellow residents in western and central Maryland indicated in the questionnaire earlier this year that they feel it is important to maintain a strong national security. Also, we have many military and military-related installations in the 6th District. With those two facts in mind, my work on the Armed Services Committee is important to all of us living in central and western Maryland.

Considering the New Postal Regulations, how can I find out the best way to mail special packages?

The Postal Service has outlined new prices and new ways to mail letters and packages, so, there might be some confusion over which way is best to mail.

Since the Postal Service wants you to select what best meets your needs, they have put out a booklet called Consumer's Guide to Postal Services And Products. This booklet pretty much outlines the operation of the Postal Service and you may have a free copy by sending a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Department 655-E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Of course, I still believe the best way to find out how to handle your special mailing needs is to stop by your local post office and ask your postmaster.

ACNE
Something can be done about acne.

Acne, says the American Medical Association, is a very common condition afflicting the skin of most people during the teen years.

The fact that acne is so common does not mean that nothing can be done about it. Waiting to "outgrow" acne can be a serious mistake.

Acne consists of blackheads, pimples, and sometimes deeper, boil-like blemishes. It can be seriously disfiguring at the time of life when young people are most sensitive about their appearances. The blemishes can lead to serious and permanent scarring.

Acne is caused by a faulty adjustment of parts of the skin to the influence of maturing endocrine glands, the glands which produce hormones. The imbalance in the hormone secretions will correct itself in time.

There is no instant and permanent cure for acne.

DNR Secretary Named President Of Engineer Group

James B. Coulter, Maryland's Secretary of Natural Resources, is receiving national recognition this week (October 2) when he will be installed new president of the American Academy of Environmental Engineers.

The installation is being held in conjunction with the beginning of the 50th Annual Conference of the Water Pollution Control Federation in Philadelphia. Mr. Coulter also is a member of the executive board of the federation.

The Academy is made up of the top 1,500 registered professional engineers in the nation with specialties in the environmental field.

The Academy defines environmental engineering as the application of scientific principles and technical practices to the improvement of the health and well being of mankind and his surroundings. Members of the Academy are nationally recognized professionals whose work has been dedicated to the improvement of the air, water and land resources of the country.

It is the second honor bestowed on Secretary Coulter by the Academy. In 1971, he was the first recipient of the Academy's Gordon M. Fair Award for achievement in environmental management.

The Water Pollution Control Federation has a membership of 27,000 all men and women engaged in the management of liquid and solid wastes, both industrial and municipal, as they affect the waters of the nation.

Secretary Coulter has been a member of the WPCF's executive board for four years.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenues Up 9% In August

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported last week that Alcohol and Tobacco Tax revenues totaled $7,517,030 for the month of August, 1977, a 9.02 percent growth over the $6,896,222 collected during the same month last year. Tobacco and Distilled Spirits Tax revenues led the increases, reversing trends of recent months. Beer Tax receipts during August, 1977, were off 6.09 percent, probably reflecting the stockpiling by retailers which took place earlier in the year.

"August is generally the largest month for Beer Tax revenues, and the $26,576 collected represents the fourth highest amount of revenue since January, 1977. The August, 1977, revenue figure would undoubtedly have been higher were it not for the earlier buying by retailers," Mr. Goldstein noted.

For the first two months of Fiscal Year 1978, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax revenues total $12,148,206, down 0.8 percent from the $12,245,695 collected for the identical period of Fiscal Year 1977.

SOLAR ECLIPSE

The New Moon is exactly between the earth and the sun on Wednesday. During the eclipse, the shadow of the moon falls on the earth in the Pacific Ocean and part of Columbia, South America. All of North America will experience a partial eclipse of the sun. The east coast will see part of the moon in front of the sun in the late afternoon. It may not be noticeable since only a small part of the sun will be hidden to our eyes. However, with proper equipment the partial eclipse can be observed. One should not look at the sun without proper eye protection, since the sun's rays will burn the eye, causing blindness. The best method of viewing the eclipse is by projecting its image on a screen.

New Moon occurs at 4:31 p.m. Wednesday afternoon. Only when there is a New Moon can the moon pass directly between earth and sun. When this happens a solar eclipse may occur if distances are not too great and if the moon is exactly in line with the sun. Moonrise varies from 52 minutes past midnight this morning to 7:03 a.m. next Wednesday morning.

Visible planets to the unaided eye this week are: Venus, Jupiter, Saturn, and Mars. Venus rises about two hours before the sun. Mars, in Gemini, rises well before midnight. Jupiter, also in Gemini, rises in the evening before Mars rises. Saturn, in Leo, rises about four hours before the sun.

Fifteen minutes less daylight will be available next Wednesday than today. Sunrise was at 7:18 this morning. Sunset will be at 6:53 this evening. Wednesday the sun will rise at 7:24 a.m. and set 11 hours 25 minutes later at 6:44 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Open burning is prohibited under regulations governing the control of air pollution.

The Street Department will remove leaves at its earliest convenience. Bagged leaves will be picked up every Friday.

Filibuster Inside A Filibuster

By Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

In the Senate this past week we have been creating a new record. There have been many kinds of records in the Senate over the last 200 years, but now we have a new one: a filibuster inside of a filibuster.

I'm sure the country is wondering what it is all about.

Well, it's just a new aspect of the continuing struggle over energy. The differing opinions; the differing philosophies as to how we should increase our production of energy, how we should decrease our consumption of energy and how we should keep its price under control. After many days of debate on the subject of natural gas, it is clear that there is no way to keep the price of energy at the inexpensive levels of the past. This is mainly because of increasing demand not only within the United States, but around the world.

Today, and in the future we face new pressures on energy markets, because new sources of energy are becoming more and more difficult to find. Gas and oil reserves, unlike those we've lived with for many years are in more remote locations. Deeper drilling will be required which means an inevitable increase in the price.

What government can do about this is somewhat limited. We can take the route of government regulation, which means that the increases in price will come about as a result of a bureaucratic decision made by some government official. Or we can take the route of a free market decision which means that both consumers and producers will let the market place determine what that price increase is going to be. But I think it is simply pulling the wool over the public's eyes to say that a price increase can be totally avoided. So, then the question comes down to: How are we going to guarantee an adequate supply of energy?

I have to look at the record in Maryland in the winter of 1976-77 during which thousands of Marylanders were laid off.

Factories closed and local plants like Stroh's Bakery in Cumberland were shut down throwing 300 people out of work on an hour's notice because the gas supply failed. These are the kinds of situations that must be avoided, and that are very much on my mind as the Senate slowly and painfully, and sleeplessly, approaches a decision on the question of how to organize the natural gas industry so that we can cope with our diminishing supplies of energy, the increasing costs of energy and the increasing need for energy.

When we complete the natural gas bill, as we will one way or another, we'll have to make other decisions in the field of energy. They will include decisions about nuclear power, funds for energy development techniques, for coal conversion, new drilling methods, and technologies for producing oil not only on land but in the seas around us. Many different ways to increase our supplies of energy are being explored and exploited. Yet, I'm afraid the one thing that we all have to recognize — as painful as it is when we drive up to the gas pump or when we adjust the heat in our living room, when we turn on the electricity in our houses — is the fact that there is less energy available and it is going to cost us a good deal more.

That simply means we all have to work together to make what we have go farther.

DAV To Distribute "Forget-Me-Not"

The Disabled American Veterans of Mt. Top Chapter 29, Oakland, will participate in the annual distribution of "Forget-Me-Not" in October.

Sheffield-Bowser Vows Exchanged

Wedding vows were exchanged by Ruth Joanne Bowser and Arthur Joel Sheffield on Saturday, July 16, at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church in Oakland.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:00 p.m. by Reverend Martin Field. The altar was decorated with mums and gladioli and organist Ted Switzer played traditional wedding music. Donald Yoder sang The Ave Maria, The Wedding Song, and The Wedding Prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Bowser, Sr., Accident, are the parents of the bride. Mr. Sheffield is the son of Mrs. Wanda Sheffield, Grantsville, and the late Arthur Sheffield.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor length gown of nylon organza over taffeta. The bodice was trimmed with scalloped sequined Chantilly lace, as were the cuffs of the bishop sleeves and the high neckline. The lace extended onto the A-line skirt in a redingote effect. The wattleau chapel train fell from a be-ribboned empire waistline with Chantilly lace extending the length. A chapel length mantilla of bridal illusion, edged in scalloped Chantilly lace, was affixed to a camelot hat of lace. She carried a shallow white wicker basket of white daisies, bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

A wedding reception was held at the Accident Fire Hall. Mrs. Wanda Bowser, sisters-in-law of the bride, served punch. The wedding cake, decorated by the bride's sister, Mrs. Suzanne Dolan, was served by Mrs. Alice Moore and Mrs. Peggy Bean, sisters of the bride. Powell-Cooper Wedding Held July 23

Miss Melanie G. Cooper and Walter E. Powell were united in marriage, with a double ring ceremony July 23. The Fairview Church of the Brethren was the setting for the service performed by Rev. Simon Oats, of Romney, W. Va.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Cooper, Route 3, Oakland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wash, Dundalk.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Janet Cooper, cousin of the bride, served as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Vickie Wash, Dundalk, and Mrs. Linda Shaffer, Railroad, Pa., both sisters of the groom.

The bride wore a gown of white organza with an A-line skirt curving to a chapel train. Her headpiece was a camelot style, trimmed with seed pearls and lace to match the gown. She carried a bouquet of red rose buds and baby's breath.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were attired in floor length gowns of blue, complemented with wide brim hats of matching color. Each carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations, baby's breath and daisies. Miss Julie Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary B. Cooper, acted as her aunt's flower girl. She wore a yellow, floor-length gown and a white summer hat and carried a basket of mixed summer flowers.

The bridegroom selected Kenny Norton, Baltimore, to serve as his best man. The ushers were Dale Price, Railroad, and the groom's brother, Frankie Wash, Dundalk. David Wash acted as his brother's ring bearer.

Miss Gail Sue Rohrbaugh, a friend of the bride, presented a musical prelude including a selection of the bride and groom, "You Are The Only Woman."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. Mrs. Wilma Cooper and Mrs. Evelyn Harvey, aunts of the bride, were in charge of serving the punch and the blue and white wedding cake baked by Mrs. Naomi Wolf, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Ruth Ann Cooper registered the guests.

A rehearsal dinner had been given by the maid of honor and her family on Friday evening.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Southern High School and was employed at the C & P Telephone Co. in Oakland. Now she works as a tupperware representative in Pennsylvania.

The groom is employed by General Motors in Baltimore.

The couple spent a honeymoon in Ocean City. They reside at P.O. Box 117, Railroad, Pa., 17355.

Miss Cozad Bride Of Dr. Marburg

Miss Jan LaMar Cozad became the bride of Dr. Galen Sanford Marburg on August 27 at the LaVale United Methodist Church.

The ceremony, written by the bride and bridegroom, was interspersed with songs and classical music. Participating in the ceremony were Rev. Manning Smith, Oakland, Donny Stephens, pianist; Tom Yeager, violinist, and Dr. Edwin Weldon, soloist. The violin composition, "Sonata III in F Major," was played as a tribute to the bride's father, the late Sam Cozad.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Floyd V. Cozad and the late Floyd V. (Sam) Cozad. Dr. Marburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Marburg, Falls Church, Va.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Morton Cozad, Arnold, the bride wore a long traditional white chiffon wedding gown trimmed in seed pearls and lace. A finger-tip length veil was trimmed in matching lace and a band of ivy, stephanotis and baby's breath. Her jewelry, a family heirloom, was a diamond and platinum pendant on a platinum chain inherited from the grandmother of the bridegroom. The bridegroom wore a diamond stick pin inherited from his maternal grandfather. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis, baby's breath, and trailing ivy.

Miss Linda Ford of LaVale was maid of honor. Miss Ellen Golden was bridesmaid and Neida Tice, LaVale, was flower girl.

Bill Dudley, Frostburg, was best man. Groomsmen were Cliff Woodward, Jr., Hillsmere Shores, and Richard Roberts, brother of the bride, Arnold. Ringbearer was Seth Roberts and candle lighters were Patrick and Brian Roberts, nephews of the bride.

Wedding guests were presented programs of the service by William Chandler, Daytona Beach, Fla., and gifts of daisies by Sandra Marburg, sister of the bridegroom, Charlestown, R. I., and Mrs. Richard Roberts and daughter Sarah, Arnold.

A torch-lit reception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride on LaVale Terrace. Guests were registered by Mrs. Richard Golden, aunt of the bride. The four-tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. William Chandler, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Terry McClanathan. Punch and fruit were served by Mrs. Cliff Woodward, Jr. and Mrs. Larry Roberts. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Galen Metzger and daughters Ann and Molly, Mrs. Sander LeWine, Mrs. Ardell Haines, Mrs. Edward Ewald, Mrs. Robert Tomsko, Tricia Tomsko and Mrs. Edward Strickler.

The bride is a graduate of Allegheny High School, Allegheny Community College and received a bachelor of science degree in early childhood education from Frostburg State College. She was employed by the Garrett County Board of Education as a special education teacher in Grantsville, and had previously been employed as a kindergarten teacher in the Oakland area.

Dr. Marburg graduated from Colby College and recently received a master's and doctoral degree in human growth and development from the University of Maryland. In addition, he has completed advanced training and research in psychology at Case Western Reserve University and at the University of Florida. He is also certified as a psychologist in Maryland, West Virginia and Washington. Dr. Marburg was employed by the department of education at Frostburg State College.

Women Can Do It

The Equal Rights Amendment may not yet have been ratified, but that does not mean women cannot seek equal working opportunities with men.

Helen Stull, for instance, is a graduate of the Mine Safety course at GCC, and has also completed GCC's 80-hour Emergency Medical Technician classroom training. With these qualifications, she is now employed at the Long Branch Mining Company, where she became the fifth female miner.

Mrs. Stull does not work the face of the mine, but, according to her, she does "everything else the men do."

NATIONALLY RANKED — The Southern Highlander Majorettes attended a National Majorette clinic this summer at Frostburg State College and walked away with the coveted "National Majorette" trophy, the highest award given at these clinics which are held throughout the country. GCC To Present Evening With Mr. Fingers October 12

Students at Garrett Community College may see a campus presentation of "An Evening with Mr. Fingers," also known as Mr. Fingers, next Wednesday, October 12, at the auditorium at GCC.

The show will begin at 8 p.m., featuring Mr. Weiner who graduated and then taught at Chavez College in Los Angeles, which is the only accredited sleight-of-hand college in the world. He is acclaimed as a master of the sleight-of-hand art, bringing back the skills of the past greats of vaudeville.

Last year, he framed and developed the present one-man show aimed at the college audience after years as a speaker and entertainer for clubs, industrial groups, and schools.

He says, "I have probed back into the most unique acts of early vaudeville — Houdini, Thurston, Malini, and Cardini, all great sleight-of-handers and showmen."

He noted that students are interested in the stories he tells of the Houdini life and his own thoughts on ESP and predictions of the future. "When I show them what a card cheat can do, they really flip," he commented.

Weeks before his appearance, Mr. Weiner mails a sealed package to the dean of the college to be guarded until show time. When the package is opened on stage, it's found to contain a factory-sealed tin can. "Mr. Fingers" promises that inside the can is his written prediction of the present day's news headlines.

Admission for adults is $2, $1 for students. To reserve tickets call the college, 387-6666, extension 33.

present director.

The chorus has performed worldwide by radio, television, and concerts. There are approximately 50 members, some of whom drive 50 miles to the once-a-week practice session. Everyone is welcome to

Crime Resistance Alert

WHEELING AND STEALING

Thinking back a few years to the time when I was a boy in Missouri, bicycles were, for the most part, considered toys. When one disappeared, it was usually because some youngster took it for a joy ride and failed to return it. Unfortunately, that's often not the case today. Many bicycles are hardly toys. They are quite valuable, especially those equipped with finely machined gears and accessories. As a result, bicycles are stolen in great numbers by professional thieves.

Bicycles are often stolen off of lawns or porches and out of unlocked garages at night. School yards and playgrounds are popular targets of bike thieves during the daytime.

Don't make it easy for a bike thief to steal your bicycle. Practice these few crime resistance reminders which could help you to "keep on biking."

(2) Don't leave bicycles on the lawn, on the porch or in an unlocked garage — especially at night. If a bicycle must be left unattended anywhere, it should be secured to a solidly fixed rack or tree with a good quality chain and lock. The chain should not be looped just through a wheel but through the frame and both wheels.

(3) Regularly remind your children that just as bicycle safety rules will reduce the chances of their being hurt in an accident, crime safety practices will reduce the chances that their bike will be stolen.

(4) Encourage school and recreation authorities to provide secure bike racks located where they can be viewed by employees of the facility.

Keep your wits — and keep your wheels.

At this moment, a television set is blasting away in at least 70 million homes across America. This does not account for those multiple-televisioned homes (houses with more than one t.v.), nor can it lay claim to untold numbers of public viewing areas — waiting rooms, lounges, bars — in which sets hold their revered positions.

The price of Zenith stock per share is still within the budget of most salaries. Considering the aforementioned, it may not be a bad idea to enlist the advice of your friendly broker. I am not terribly concerned with Wall Street. I do hope they keep their wits about them as reliving another market crash is not my idea of a swell time. The following may well serve as a surrogate "depression" as many as 30% of Garrett County students are reading two or more grade levels below what is normal for a given grade. I am concerned about that.

Okay, you are thinking, so what has this to do with Charlie's Angels or Happy Days? Not much except when one realizes that kids can readily identify Jaclyn Smith or Fionnula but rarely their own language! We are rapidly becoming a nation of addicts, the habitforming, anaesthetic nose other than The Tube.

I can not argue with the person who says a bad book is as sleep-inducing as the latest influx of sit-coms, soaps, and otherwise insulting video-taped productions that dare masquerade as quality entertainment. The writing is on the wall, no doubt misspelled; most students wouldn't even know a bad book from a good one if they tried. Most have given up trying.

Last week's front-page editorial statement prompted

NOW, THAT'S A HANDEL — The Republican office was visited Tuesday by this gentleman from Accident, who proudly displayed these giant beets he dug from his garden Sunday. The beets weighed in at 5 1/2 and 6 pounds and measured 24 inches around and seven inches across. The surprised owner is Nelson Alexander. Mr. Alexander said he grew some last year that weighed slightly over three pounds.

some inquiry regarding the residual effects of television versus learning? Just how does television enhance or detract from student learning? With television programming offered in schools now, is it wise to opt for audio-visual stimulation rather than the "old fashioned" approach of reading-thinking-application? Has television altered the ability or necessity to think?

The t.v. set has some redeeming qualities, but those assets are usually slow in recognition. Public broadcasting has a tremendous wealth of informative, curriculum-centered programs. These can be useful tools in the hands of a teacher who experiences motivation problems. The "educational" programs, however, are not a problem. Commercial television is.

The steady gripe seems to stem from lack of reading and listening skills; it only follows, then, that when a student does not read or listen, he or she will not be inclined to do either very well. It's much more convenient, not to mention fun, to sit before a screen and be entertained. After the "show" is over, the follow-up activity is limited to, say, Alka-Seltzer, Duncan Hines cake mixes, or maybe the hottest new item off the Detroit assembly line. Whatever was gained from the previous viewing is never considered as important as bad breath or garbage bags, lest we forget our unfailing sponsors.

What price are we as a nation paying for this sacrifice? What is being sacrificed, anyway? Simply this: reading, comprehending, and thought-processing are irrevocably linked. By removing the necessity to read, the ability to express one's own thoughts is also diminished. It takes longer to read about a topic and mentally digest the material than to see it flashed across a screen. Watching requires very little skill; reading and understanding call for more of an investment than mere passive interest if anything is to be gained.

Oh yes — the price we're paying. In her article entitled "The Classroom's No Longer Prime Time" (Today's Education), Susan Feinberg reiterates the symptoms and warning signals concerning Television Junkies. Homework assignments take a back seat to M.A.S.H. Especially alarming is that "... with a lifetime of commercial messages that regularly bombard their concentration and redirect their train of thought, students have developed eight-12 minute attention spans." coupled with the ability to "turn off" or screen out background noise, including the teachers' voice giving instructions or content material.

Why can't kids read? Because they don't have to. Why don't they have to read? Because reading interferes with watching the television. Why are they watching television? Because it's fun.

Fun. Life in general has apparently been reduced to what degree of fun it can provide. School is part of that life-management scheme of things, but ask any kid how much fun "school" is and the answer is an inevitable groan. (Excepting, of course, football, band trips, and entertainment are at odds. Perhaps learning critical judgment or algebra could be the next Danny and Marie Spockular. If the Hollywood producers don't buy that idea, then I guess we educators are stuck with an awesome task: learn to tap dance, or you're out of the ball game. A boring teacher just isn't any fun!

As a parent (which I am not, thank you) there are some alternatives. Don't buy a television set. Subscribe to a book club instead. If you own a t.v., supervise the hours spent before it with a firm but fair policy of "work first, t.v. later". After all, you didn't learn long division from Star Trek and Hutch, so don't pretend your kids will, either. One other important "don't" to add to the pile: don't be afraid to turn that dial — OFF. Try Our Want Ads. They Pay.

Erase "Race"

Another interesting court case making national headlines last week involved a California student who was not granted acceptance to graduate school. He claimed that he was better qualified than certain other students, those belonging to minority groups, who were admitted. This student lost out because of a quota system.

This quota system exists, not only in schools and universities, but also in many areas of the labor force. Let's examine this controversy.

The quota, or percentage, systems were originated to guarantee that minority groups could have as fair a chance of achievement, both in education and the job market, as the white, Anglo Saxon. Those who support the quota laws claim that, without these restrictions, minorities would again be completely overlooked as they were two decades ago. They say that the minority individual would be the last to get a job and the last to be accepted into graduate school, if indeed he would be accepted at all. Unfortunately, their claims are probably correct.

On the other side of the fence, those against the system claim that it creates the very thing it is meant to destroy, discrimination. If the applicant is white and the quota has not yet been satisfied, he is rejected, regardless of his qualifications. Their claims are also correct. Both sides have a fairly good argument.

The fact is, however, there should be no need for a quota system. If human beings could totally do away with judgement by color of skin, there would be no problem. Men and women would then be chosen only on ability, qualifications and personality. Thus, if a medical school accepts 100 students, theoretically, all 100 could be white, all 100 could be black, yellow or red. And, best of all, it wouldn't matter.

Maybe a good step in the right direction of at attempting to grasp this ideal would be to take the word "Race" off of all application forms.

Board of Commissioners Supports Redistribution Of Coal Surcharge

The Board of County Commissioners voted Monday to support proposed legislation to redistribute money collected from the state's coal production surcharge. The commissioners also issued a statement concerning parking on the lot adjacent to the Courthouse, and made three appointments.

The commissioners voted their approval of a bill to be introduced by Sen. Edward J. Mason (R-Allegany, Garrett) which will mandate that 10 cents of the 15 cents-per-ton surcharge be returned to the counties. The other five cents would remain with the state.

The surcharge is presently on the books but the fees for the bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Reclamation Fund are collected by the state, and the law states only that the surcharge "may" be shared with the county.

Garrett has received only $22,400, much less than the $125,000 which would have been received had the state granted even 50 percent of the surcharge to the county.

Garrett and Allegany counties are the only two subdivisions in Maryland producing coal.

The county commissioners are asked that the additional money be placed in Garrett's general fund, since the money is needed to offset some of the impact the coal industry boom will have on roads, schools and other services.

Sen. Mason intends to pre-file the legislation for the 1978 General Assembly session in January.

Garrett County Commissioner George Edwards proposed that parking at the Oakland Courthouse be reserved for the general public while the Courthouse renovation and construction project is in progress.

He noted that the construction workers and courthouse employees are presently taking up all of the available parking spaces, and suggested that the area adjacent to the Courthouse be reserved for general public use so that individuals may have easy access to conduct their business with the county.

He suggested that employee and construction worker vehicles should be parked elsewhere, and Commissioner Wayne Hamilton agreed that the Board should send a letter to the contractors so they may inform their employees of the new policy.

The Board is currently looking into alternate parking areas for the employees and construction workers. The construction and renovation project is expected to take two years to complete.

The Commissioners appointed Mrs. Carme White to the Garrett County Department of Social Services Advisory Board for a three-year term. Mrs. White is a resident of Kitzmiller and is an active volunteer for the March of Dimes crusade.

Mrs. Curtis Miller, Swanton, and Bob Bailey, Mayhew Inn Road, were appointed as alternate members to the Deep Creek Lake Board of Zoning Appeals. Alternates will serve in the event one of the regular members of the Board cannot participate in a zoning hearing.

After a unanimous decision, the Commissioners approved the signing of a proclamation declaring October 16-22 as National Business Women's Week in Garrett County. The proclamation, sponsored by the local Business and Professional Women's club, honors all working women. Members accepting the proclamation were Mrs. Carol Canon, president; Mrs. Anne Connor, Business Women's week chairman, and Mrs. Bonnie Cowan.

G.C.C. To Receive Funds To Help Train Over 500 In Mining Techniques

State school superintendent David W. Hornbeck has announced an award of over $60,000 to help train more than 500 Garrett County workers in modern local mining techniques.

The courses offered under this project at Garrett Community College are already under way. The college intends, within the next few weeks, to propose a formal two-year associate degree program to the State Board of Community Colleges and Higher Education.

The present project is a joint effort of the state education agency, the Department of Human Resources, the Department of Economic and Community Development, and the State Board for Community Colleges under the terms of the State Industrial Training Program.

As many as 50 miners and 30 foremen will be trained by next June under a curriculum which places strong emphasis on mining safety, coal production skills, and equipment operation and maintenance. Two hundred more will be trained during each of the next two years.

County To Receive No Money For Construction Of Grantsville School

In correspondence received from the Interagency Committee for Public School Construction, none of the sixty million dollars tentatively budgeted for school construction in Maryland was allocated to Garrett County.

Both the Garrett County Board of Education and the Garrett County Commissioners had approved requests for construction funds for a new Grantsville Elementary School. Leo J. Ritter, Executive Director of the IAC, indicated he believed it would be practically impossible to complete design development drawings for this project by December 1, 1977, as required by state guidelines. Dr. William H. Buser, Superintendent of Garrett County Schools, indicated that every effort is being made by the school system to have these completed. He also stated that with a major effort on the part of the architectural firm of J. Prentiss Broome, Inc. and cooperation from the Maryland Interagency Committee for Public School Construction he believed the December 1, 1977 date could be met and that partial funding for construction of the Grantsville Elementary School should be allocated in the FY 1979 state school construction budget.

Committee Will Study Salaries Of Elected Officials

Del. DeWayne E. Bolden has appointed five persons to a citizens committee to study the salaries of some elected officials in Garrett County.

The committee will recommend salaries for persons serving as county commissioners, the county treasurer, sheriff and judges of the orphans' court.

Committee members will also evaluate the pay of members of the liquor control board, who are appointed officials.

Appointed to the study group were Dorothy B. Leighton, representing the League of Women Voters of Garrett County; Thomas B. Dabney, representing the Democratic State Central Committee; Jack Jones, of the Republican State Central Committee; James Adair, the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce; and William F. DeWitt, Garrett County Farm Bureau.

Del. Bolden noted that certain salaries may only be increased through state legislation. He also said that once the study is completed and the recommendations are made, "I anticipate an increase in every category" of salary positions studies.

The committee, set up through a bill sponsored by the delegate during the last General Assembly session, was formed to study the public officials' salaries in relation to what other Maryland counties pay their elected officials.

Del. Bolden said he intends to file the salary bills before December 30, the deadline for early filing of bills for the 1978 General Assembly session. The session will begin in January and last for 90 days.

A similar study had been proposed by the Allegany County delegation last session. However, the bill was withdrawn after local legislators decided that the Allegany County Governmental Study Commission should make recommendations regarding public officials' salaries.

Bus System To

in a position to make any necessary route changes and also decide whether a fare increase will be necessary.

The new director will begin his duties with a survey of current operations and if necessary, revise schedules. Anyone with questions about the bus system may call 334-3996.

The bus system started as an Appalachian Regional Commission pilot program three years ago. However, the ARC discontinued funding after a year and a half, saying it did not believe the ridership justified the expense involved.

Three buses served a number of areas in the county, and a few of the routes have had very good ridership, especially where workers are commuting to and from work. However, many other routes have not done as well.

Once the ARC funding for the project ceased, the state signed an agreement with the county to provide 70 percent of a total cost of $22,000 a year and any cost above that would be the county's responsibility.

Based on that agreement, the commissioners had estimated that the county would have to spend another $5,000 over the next year to keep the buses running.

Mr. Hamilton said that with some revisions in the bus system, a possible rate increase for fares and the fact that ridership has shown an increase recently, the Commission on Aging may be able to operate the system and meet expenses.

Mr. Ford said the Commission on Aging will operate the bus lines at least until next November 30, when the state's fiscal year ends. He said that in the meantime the commission will be looking for other areas of funding assistance to help keep the buses in business.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Recently we called for the resignation of a school board member. We now want to enumerate a few reasons for that request.

1. Mr. Harman cited the reading program for being "ten years too late" and the science curriculum as a total disaster. We doubt that this is true, but if it is, why has he waited so long to take corrective action? He has been a school board member for more than five years. Curriculum improvements were his responsibility.

2. In criticizing the lack of female enrollment in vocational programs, Mr. Harman demonstrated no knowledge of past enrollment or the psychological ramifications encountered by girls in predominantly male vocational fields.

3. If Mr. Harman is truly concerned about the enrollment in vocational education, why has he so staunchly opposed the V-Tech Center and eliminated a home economics teacher from Southern High? Both of these would provide additional vocational opportunities for all students.

4. Mr. Harman based his evaluation of an industrial arts program and teacher solely on the information conveyed by his son. This is a direct violation of the teacher's contract signed by him. This contract guarantees evaluations in accordance with adopted procedures and free from public reprimands without cause.

5. Mr. Harman was a school board member when BGEA funds were abused. Was this an incompetent or fraudulent act? In either case, GCC must repay $159,380. In the end the taxpayers and the students of GCC will bear the burden of repayment.

Open criticisms of the County School System should never be made by a member of the school board. Statements of this nature demonstrate an inadequate understanding of the responsibility of a school board official. They only cause discord among the employees and lead the students to believe that they are receiving an inferior education.

The aim of GCFT has always been to improve education in Garrett County. Our goal does not change when we ask for the resignation of Herbert Harman.

Editor:

The letter by State's Attorney Ralph Burnett failed to answer the central question which I think is on the mind of most interested people, which is, How did the name of an important County Official happen to get on the list of persons to be selected for service on the Grand Jury? What is to prevent the name of Ralph Burnett from appearing on the next list? Also, How does it come that this never happened before?

Clifford Friend

Dear Mr. Friend:
Your questions were directed to Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer this week. He stated that the method of selecting persons to serve on the Grand Jury, though slightly complicated, are honest and totally random. Every voting citizen in the county has an equal chance of being chosen, regardless of his or her occupation. In the event that a county commissioner or the state's attorney was chosen to serve, normally he would ask to be excused. If he did not ask to be excused, there exist certain procedures within the law to remove him from duty. Those procedures are too involved to present in this letter. Any further questions about jury selection could be directed to Mrs. Jean Selby, Jury Commissioner, at the courthouse.

Editor

Dear Editor:
I am a handicapped veteran, living on a small pension. My vision and hearing are slowly leaving me. The doctors say they can do nothing, so I have many hobbies and projects to keep busy and fight off periods of depression and despondency, which seem to plague me most of the time.

While I am collecting antique valentines and old post cards, I am also collecting old calendars, advertising cards and old tins, in hopes of writing a book about the items I collect, and earn enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have medical care, which the VA is unable to afford me.

Living on limited funds, I depend greatly upon friends and others for many of the items I collect. I was wondering if any of your readers had any antique valentines, rare old calendars or old tins, photos they do not want. I would be happy to have any they may care to send me.

Thank you.
Respectfully yours,
Leon Thompson

Sir:

Life hands us a strange and cruel deal once in a while. Last Sunday morning, I let my little dog out, but when I called him about five minutes later he didn't come bouncing back.

He was a good pet and my grandson loved him, as I did, but someone, somewhere decided we didn't need him. Why, when we try so hard to live right and help others, do those around us do all they can to hurt us?

A small, innocent dog was the victim of malicious neighbors when it's really the dog's owner they wanted to kill or haul off. Yes, the law would take care of that misdeed involving the owner but someday the guilty ones must answer to their great creator for their misdeeds, which will bring a greater punishment than our so-called law could ever hand out.

This isn't the first experience I've had like this.

A resident of the Steyer-White Church Road

Dear Sir:
I would like to voice my opinion on a matter that really, to me, doesn't seem ethical. I am an employee at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and many times while on duty, co-workers or I glance out the window to see a town police car and driver hiding on a side road off Memorial Drive. As some motorists come down the road, the policeman will turn flasher lights on and go after them. Then they will return and repeat the same procedure time and again.

Often we will see him go after as many as six to ten different motorists in less than an hour. This happens mostly on weekends.

As the route I take to work goes from Twelfth Street to Memorial Drive, there is no speed limit sign until almost at the entrance of the hospital. There is then a sign limiting drivers to 25 m.p.h. (the first speed limit sign since on Route 219 south of Oakland).

How is a motorist to know the proper speed? I feel this is a very dishonest way of stopping motorists and wonder what procedures can be taken to stop this unfairness.

Dear Concerned:

Dear Editor:
There are many problems in the Garrett County school system just as there are in every other school system. Constant efforts are being made to solve these problems by teachers and administrators at all levels. Unfortunately when the president of the Board of Education decided to vocalize his misinformed and untimely attack on the staff at Northern High School, he did more to destroy teacher morale and incentive than can be imagined. He not only condemned a school program for which he is responsible, but put all of Garrett County to public ridicule by readers of the Cumberland Times and viewers of a local television station.

Mr. Harman claimed to be Northern faculty that his statements in the Cumberland paper were "misquoted" and "taken out of context." Maybe this is so, but there are questions that still remain unanswered.

First, why did it take 5 days from the appearance of the article before Mr. Harman commented on it to the faculty at Northern? Second, why has Mr. Harman not apologized to the mass media to the satisfaction of all parties involved?

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers has been accused of acting in an unprofessional manner. May I say that it is difficult to maintain your professionalism when there is none shown by the President of the Board of Education. Teachers today expect to be treated as professionals. They do not intend to stand idly by and be publicly chastised in print by anyone who has not first made himself aware of the facts. Members of any public board are in a position of public trust. They are expected to maintain an objective, detached view of the problems.

The damage that has been done to the Garrett County school system by Mr. Harman's unjustified remarks can never be determined. The trust and respect that the people of Garrett County had for teachers has been gravely undermined.

Sincerely,
Northern Faculty

The retreat was held for districts 11 and 12. Pastor William Carlson, along with several members of the choir and the organist of the Cove Lutheran Church, came to Bittering on Thursday evening to hear and play the Allen organ which was purchased for Emmanuel's use some four years ago. The congregation is planning to purchase a new organ soon for their use in the Cove, and plan to buy a similar one in the near future.

NOT GAINING MUCH GROUND is this Bulldog who is shown surrounded by Northern Huskies during a grid battle last Friday evening at the Bruce field. Early in the first quarter of play a Bulldog carried a blocked punt 25 yards for the only score in the Tri-Valley Conference game, giving Bruce the 7-0 win. A strong and determined Husky defense

repeatedly kept Bruce away from the end zone as near as three and five yards out during the tilt. The Huskies are now 1-3 for the early season and will take on Parsons tomorrow evening at the Northern field. Pictured, left to right, are Huskies, Bob Thomas #50, Tom VanSickle #63, Mark Diehl #41, Terry Breneman #43, and Kurt Lear #10.

Northern Stopped By Bulldogs, 7-0

The Northern Huskies have not won a game since 1974 when the Bulldogs stopped Havre de Grace, 12-0.

The Huskies will take on visiting Parsons High at their home grid tomorrow evening beginning at 8 p.m.

Northern is now 1-3 for the season.

Early in the first quarter of play, Mike Watson picked up a blocked punt and raced 25 yards for the only touchdown in the evenly matched game.

Northern's offense was held to only 17 yards in the grid battle, with the Huskies completing none of nine aerial attempts.

Northern attempted 32 rushing plays, but wound up with minus two yards for their game average.

It was a tough Husky defense that kept the Bulldogs from scoring from the three and five yard line.

Northern penetrated Bruce territory only once, losing the ball on downs at the 48 yard line. The shutout was the first for

Southern Deflates Musselman, 24-14

The Southern High Rams, led by the passing of Fred Gregg, the receiving of Steve Liller and the rushing of John Toston, overcame an 85-yard opening kickoff return by John Dick to wind up on top, 24-14, over host Musselman last Friday evening.

Toston scored twice, once on a run of five yards and another on a three yard bolt. Liller ran both times for the successful conversions.

Liller, who caught nine passes for 198 yards, got his touchdown on a 30 yard pass from Gregg. Toston ran for the conversion for another two points.

Gregg completed 14 of 27 tosses for 219 yards.

Defensive standouts for the Rams were Jim Clark, Mike Bolding and Greg Shockey.

Offensive line standouts included Shockey, Joe Paluzzi, Jeff Hinebaugh and Tim Parack.

It was clearly a two-to-one edge for the Rams in total yards gained in the air. The Rams completed 14 passes for a gain of 219 yards as opposed to the Applenmen who caught nine for 101 yards. Penalty flags went down on Southern for a loss of 133 yards. The host team was set back 55 yards.

According to coach Tom Woods, of the Southern camp, "We can beat Hampshire tomorrow evening if we put forth the extra effort we gave the Applenmen last Friday. It was our best showing to date and we are very pleased with our aerial completions and offensive drives."

Southern is now 2-2 for the season and will take on the Hampshire squad tomorrow evening at the Southern grid beginning at 8 p.m.

Henry L. (Hank) Aaron broke the home run record set by Babe Ruth of 714 home runs.

Who are the Lutherans?

Lutherans trust in Jesus Christ as God and Savior. The name comes from a great leader, scholar, and theologian, Martin Luther.

Through years of spiritual struggle, after long hours of prayer and searching Bible study, Luther concluded that the truth spoken by Christ had been tragically distorted during the centuries.

Luther's concern that pure New Testament truth should again be known gained wide attention when he nailed 95 theses or statements for debate to a church door in the university town of Wittenberg, Germany, on October 31, 1517.

Within twenty years Luther's rediscovery of New Testament Christianity had set hearts aflame throughout the western world. His unveiling of long forgotten Christian truth was accepted across most of northern Europe.

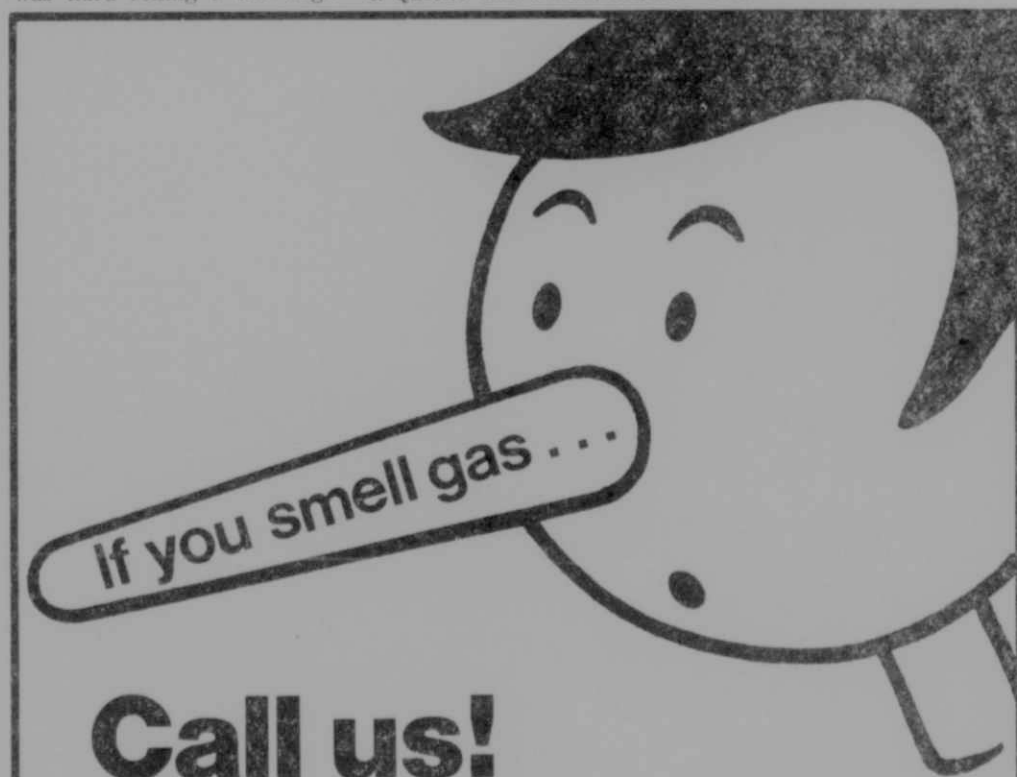

Today around the world Lutherans number millions of people of every race and language on every continent and island.

Largest of all Protestant churches with over seventy million adherents, the Lutheran Church continues to proclaim to all persons that Christ is the Way, the Truth and the Life.

Are you without a church home? Then you are invited into our fellowship. Are you a Lutheran? You may wish to refresh your awareness and appreciation of the faith.

Natural gas has a distinctive odor added for your protection. When you smell gas, first check pilot lights and burners on gas appliances and equipment.

If you still smell gas after making these checks, then call us. Why not make a note of the telephone number now?

Also, be aware that the source of a gas odor could be external — gas from leaks in service lines or street mains that could migrate into your premises through walls or drain lines.

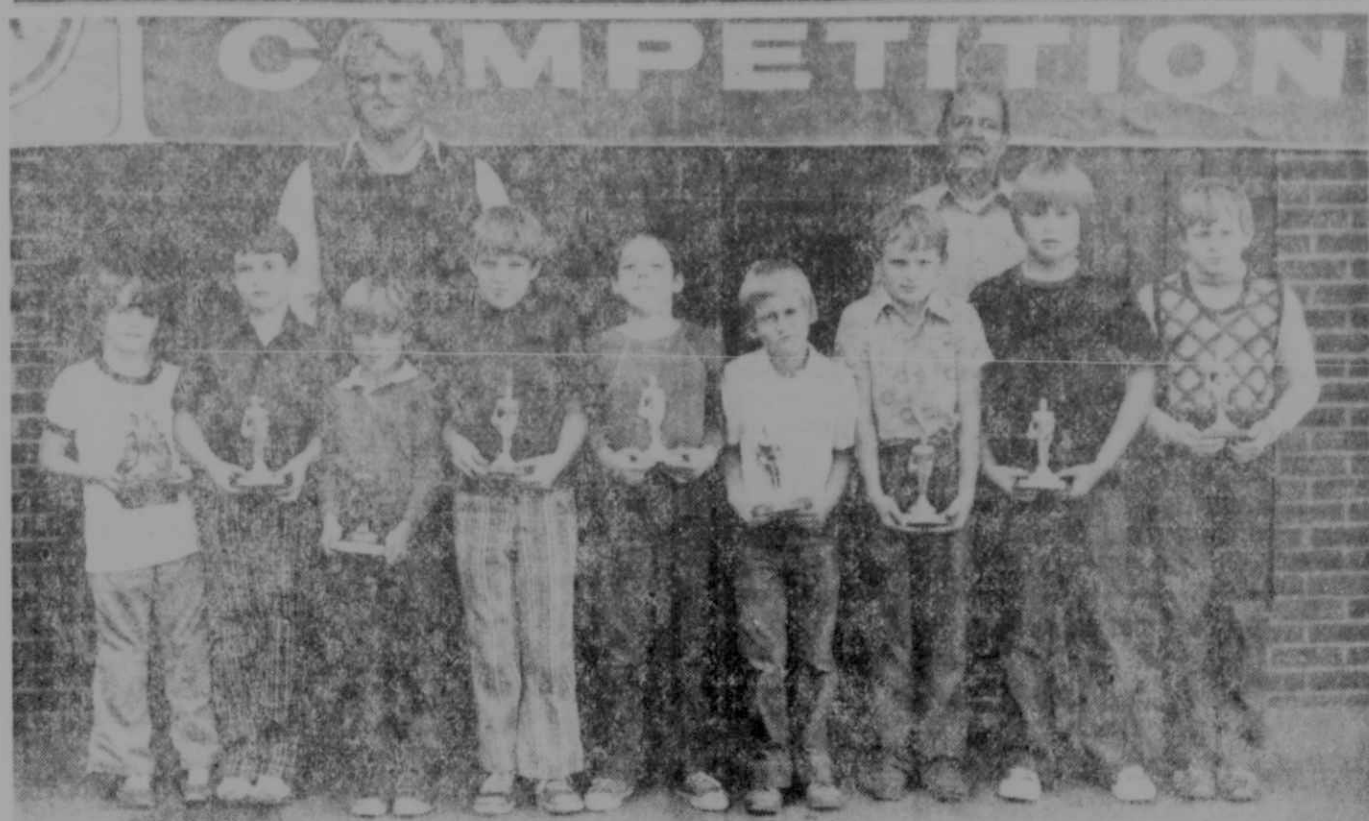

If the odor is strong:

- Ventilate the house — open doors and windows.
- Shut off appliance valves.
- Don't use matches or operate any electrical appliances. Don't use any light switches or other switches. Leave them alone!
- Leave the house — make your call to the Gas Company from a neighbor's home.

Federal Offices Must Pay Surcharges Assessed By State

Attorney General Francis B. Burch, in an opinion released today, has advised that agencies and instrumentalities of the United States government must pay the environmental surcharge assessed by the State on electric energy furnished them.

Mr. Burch said that State law establishes an environmental surcharge per kilowatt hour of electric energy generated in the State to be paid by the electric company. The surcharge is a cost of generation which the company may add to a customer's bill. Funds collected via the surcharge are used for environmental purposes, such as research programs for power plant site evaluation and related land use considerations.

The opinion, requested by John P. Mannion of the Comptroller's office, arose from the Navy Department's assertion that it was immune from paying the surcharge and its claim for reimbursement from the Baltimore Gas & Electric Company for amounts previously paid.

Attorney General Burch said that State law is clear that legal incidence of the surcharge is on the electric company. "The Legislature was very precise in imposing the charge on the electric company, authorizing the charge to be passed through to customers and allowing electric companies to recoup those surcharges not collected from customers. The Legislature has clearly designated the surcharge as a business expense of the electric company. Accordingly, every electric company, including the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, must remit to the Comptroller the sum of 0.1 mill for each kilowatt hour of electric energy which it generates in Maryland, regardless of whether the electric company collects the amount of the surcharge from its customer. However, to the extent that the electric company does not collect from its customer, the surcharge is deemed a 'cost of generation' to be considered in the rate-making process."

Relying on a 1939 Supreme Court case, Mr. Burch said that because the legal incidence of the charge is on someone other than the federal government, the Constitution does not prevent the State from imposing it, even if the charge places an economic burden on federal facilities. "The Constitution immunizes the United States and its property from taxation by the States, but it does not forbid a tax whose legal incidence is upon a contractor doing business with the United States, even though the economic burden of the tax, by contract or otherwise, is ultimately borne by the United States."

Sarbanes Announces Military Academy Applications Available

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes announced this week that applications for Maryland residents seeking appointment to the United States Military, Naval, Air Force, and Merchant Marine Academies are available through his Baltimore office.

"This is a fine opportunity for young men and women who wish to pursue military careers and obtain an excellent college education," Senator Sarbanes said. "I urge all those students who are interested in attending one of the service academies to apply to try office as soon as possible."

Senator Sarbanes also pointed out that appointments to the Air Force Academy are not currently available to him although interested students are still encouraged to apply in the event openings develop. Items required to complete the application file include most recent scholastic transcripts, SAT scores, letters of recommendation, application, and affidavit of residence.

Nominations will be made in January, 1978, and all pertinent information must be received by Senator Sarbanes before December 9, 1977.

Students should contact their school guidance counselor for more complete information on admission requirements.

Applications are available through the Senator's Baltimore office at 1518 Federal Office Building, 31 Hopkins Plaza, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

Teachers To Meet In Baltimore For Annual Convention

Legal responsibilities borne by classroom teachers, school violence, retirement and Social Security, teacher centers, consumerism, and the education of handicapped youngsters will be only a few of the topics to be explored by teachers during the 110th Annual Convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA), to be held in Baltimore, October 13-15.

Thousands of teachers from all parts of the state, including several representing the Garrett County Teachers' Association, will visit Baltimore for all or part of the three-day meeting which was originally called "the teachers' institute" when it began in 1866.

In addition to the professional seminars such as those mentioned, teachers will meet with their local groups and with other teachers who are involved with the same disciplines. These departmental meetings will be held in downtown hotels, in the Civic Center, and in schools throughout the metropolitan area.

Social events scheduled for the convention include an "All Nations Friendship Night," featuring various ethnic groups from the Baltimore area, an informal reception, and a dance, all on Thursday evening.

Friday evening's program features the Gala Concert by the All Maryland High School Chorus and Orchestra. Guest conductor for the chorus is Paul Salamunovich of Loyola University, Los Angeles. Karel Husa, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, is guest conductor for the All Maryland Orchestra. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

While the majority of teachers are attending meetings on such subjects as art, English, history, mathematics, and science, more than 700 elected delegates will be busy in meetings of the MSTA's Representative Assembly. The Assembly is the policymaking body of the Association and sets the course of the organization for the year to come.

Pete V. Treibley, Montgomery County, is president of the 37,000-member group.

Seven Vie For Fire Queen Title

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will name the new fire prevention queen Sunday, highlighting the start of the annual fire prevention week.

The association's executive committee met Sunday to discuss the contest plans. Seven contestants have entered the field representing Shaft, Frostburg, District 16, Clarysville, Bowman's Addition, Barton and Baltimore Pike fire companies.

Other companies wanting to be represented in the contest are asked to contact Willis Wilson, 724-1096.

The firemen's ball will be held at the Clarysville Inn on October 22 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be furnished by Wally Ginger Orchestra. The dance will be open to the public and tickets may be purchased from any volunteer fire department.

Southern Speaks

By Patti Keefe

This week marks the Homecoming celebration at Southern. Festivities open with a parade tonight, at 6:30. Friday, at 8:00 on Southern's field, the annual homecoming game will be played against Hampshire. Saturday night, a dance sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association will feature the music of Crosstown Traffic. The dance will run from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Activities during the week in school included crazy tee-shirt day, a hall decoration contest, and a pep assembly Friday.

Each club in the school is required to prepare a float for Thursday's parade. Failure to do so will result in members receiving no credit for this year's activities. This measure was adopted by the Student Council in order to promote more school interest and to establish the homecoming parade as an annual event once again.

The Future Business Leaders of America Club has installed the following officers: president, Mark Raynovich; secretary, Teresa Sweitzer; treasurer, Karen Biser. The vice president will be elected at the next club meeting scheduled for October 11.

If your grandfather has ever told you a wild story about losing his breeches during a skirmish with a big, bad bear in the early 1900's, it may well be a true experience. According to the personals column in 1906, three men were returning to their homes from a trip near Elkins when a mother bear and her three cubs attacked them. The men had been engaged in building a bark camp in the West Virginia locale when the incident occurred. They managed to fight the big one off and captured the cubs, but not before the mamma bear ripped the trousers off one of the men. It was said no one had seen him since, owing to his "embarrassment."

Speaking of escapes, also in the personals column was a lengthy account of a newly married couple who went their separate ways after the groom sneaked out of a hotel. It seems as though the bride and groom checked into the Schley Hotel in Oakland after they were married in one of its rooms, and only a few hours later the bride was reported to have requested a glass of water from her groom. The groom honored the request and went to find a glass of water. After nearly an hour's passing, the bride called downstairs to the clerk who stated he had fled the hotel with what appeared to be her pocketbook. A few days passed and finally the mayor of Oakland sent her back home to Kingwood. The honeymoon may well be one of the briefest on record.

In the town of Gorman, another kind of mystery had taken place when, on Sunday morning, March 30, 1906, six spirited horses drew up to the church driven by a nice man all clothed in fur. He summoned a number of children to his awaiting sled and then drove away through a light snow fall. The gentleman concealed his identity and was muffled to his ears in fur with a fur cap covering his eyes. The boys and girls "trusted him never-the-less. They were taken amid shouts of laughter and jingling of many bells to Conaway's Hotel, a famous resort only five miles from Gorman. A small accident occurred when the sled upset and gently threw them into a soft snowdrift. The muffled friend stood and chuckled at the sight. The sled was soon righted, and all went on to the resort. They were ushered into the drawing room, where a cheerful log fire was crackling and an enormous table was loaded down with "goodies." The room was profusely decorated with green palms and red roses with sprinklings of carnations. At each plate setting was a fresh rosebud. Everyone partook of the goodies. Although the girls begged on their knees, and even some of the most winsome maids put their arms around the stranger's neck, he chose to keep his identity unknown. After the party the mysterious gentleman returned the children to the church.

Today, of course, we call it kidnapping. A contract was secured with a leading scenic souvenir publishing house to photograph a set of postcards for the following hotels and boarding houses in the Park Allegany House, The Hotel Chautauqua, Loch Lynn Hotel, Assembly House, The Romney Cottage, The Burlington, Maryland Home, The Ohio Cottage and Faith Cottage.

The next time you're rooting around in the attic for nostalgic paraphernalia, look for one of the above mentioned postcards. They are at least 70 years old and collectors' items. Interesting item in the Bittering letter column was this tidbit:

"Charles Tressler, a farmer of near Confluence, was riding a horse valued at $200 on the Klondike Road which skirts the Casselman River. At the highest point Tressler's horse stumbled in the dark and fell over the cliff that was a sheer drop of 300 feet. Both horse and rider tumbled the entire distance to the edge of the river. The horse was killed. Tressler was not badly injured though he was unconscious when he reached the bottom of the hill. He soon came to however, and is none the worse for the "THRILLING experience."

"Thrills like that I can do without. For unknown reasons, in the Oakland personals column was this brief passage: "A very valuable cow belonging to Mr. John Felty died suddenly last Friday morning."

Could it be the four-legged creature was well liked in the community?

In April '06, an avalanche occurred on the Blaine Road and it was reported that no less than fifteen feet of rock covered the road.

It was quite another disorder in San Francisco when the nation and world were jarred by news of the awesome and devastating earthquake there. That was on April 19, 1906. The newspaper was filled with personal accounts from reporters and area friends and relatives who were in the quake. Rebuilding efforts began the day after the tragedy.

New building activities at home were the St. Mark's Evangelical Church to be erected on Second Street and, in Kitzmiller, a postoffice was planned.

The Deer Park Village Improvement Society was engaged in a "fancy trifle" sale to raise funds for road work on the stretch from Deer Park to Mt. Lake Park and Bolling Springs.

Another newspaper in town was offering a prize for the best answer to the conundrum, "Why Is A Newspaper Like A Woman?" The prize was won by a lady in Oakland, who sent in the following reply:

"Because every man should have his own and not run after his neighbor's..."

A & P Supermarket Robbed Saturday

The A&P Supermarket at Tri-Towns Shopping Center near Westernport was robbed sometime Saturday night, according to the LaVale detachment of the Maryland

State Police.

A safe was broken into and another safe, along with an undetermined amount of money, was removed from the store.

A rear door was forced open to get into the store, according to police. The safe taken from the store was removed from a concrete reinforced casing, leading police to assume that more than one person was involved in the burglary.

State police were notified at about 9 a.m. Sunday when one of the store's employees discovered the open safe and placed the call to LaVale Sgt. Bernard J. Chabot is in charge of the investigation.

Speed Enforcement To Be Increased On Interstates

DON'T GET STUNG — State Police Superintendent, Colonel Thomas S. Smith, left, and Trooper First Class Leonard F. McHugh, of Randallstown, place a new bumper sticker on the back of a patrol car. The new bumper sticker is a reminder to motorists to obey the speed limit and helps launch the speed enforcement effort on the interstate system. Persons interested in obtaining a bumper sticker may contact their nearest State Police installation. State Police photo by Cpl. Tom Moore.

The Maryland State Police announce a concentrated speed enforcement effort on Interstate highways — I-70, I-83, I-95 and I-495.

The average speed on Maryland's Interstate system has been creeping up for the last several months; the severity of the motor vehicle accidents is increasing at the same ratio. Interstate 70, 83, 95 and 495 have experienced the most dramatic average speed increase according to the monthly speed surveys conducted by the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Colonel Thomas S. Smith, Superintendent of the State Police, has ordered his Troopers to step-up enforcement on these Interstate routes. Selective enforcement on these routes will include Troopers patrolling in a wide variety of vehicles including the 18 wheel tractor and trailer, known as "Mother Goose," foreign cars, campers and other trucks. Frequency of patrols in these areas will be increased and sophisticated electronic speed detecting devices will be utilized.

"Our goal," Colonel Smith stresses, "is to obtain maximum voluntary compliance with the 55 mph national maximum speed limit and not increased enforcement documents."

There are many factors which make 55 mph a safer speed according to Col. Smith. For example, reduced speed allows for greater margin of driver error. The effects of inattention, overcontrolling, following too closely and weather elements are less critical at the lower speed. Tires and brakes are taxed less and gross mechanical failure can be dealt with easier. Evasive actions, which are perhaps the greatest accident preventers can be accomplished more safely as speed goes down. In general, moderate speed takes the critical edge from potentially disastrous conditions.

Unfortunately, the most effective ways found to reduce highway speed are also the most unpopular he continued. But it is certain that concentrated random, strict speed enforcement does reduce excess speeds and also is a major factor in reducing the number and severity of accidents.

Colonel Smith states, "The National Speed Limit is a law, a law which produces measurable payoffs in lives and fuel conservation at a relatively small cost of personal inconvenience. I enlist your support in bringing this fact to the attention of the motoring public, judges, the media and our elected representatives. Although the extreme energy crisis has somewhat subsided, the benefits of the 55 speed limit continue in direct proportion to support which we give to the law."

Show Tickets Are Offered To Seniors

Twenty-five tickets have been reserved for the Freddy Fender Show November 12, at Jamboree USA in Wheeling, W. Va.

W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs for Garrett County Community Action, said the deadline to make reservations would be October 31 when the $6.50 ticket money would have to be in his office.

Fender has had such hits as, "Before The Next Teardrop Falls," "Wasted Days and Wasted Nights," and "Secret Love."

Ellis said that people other than Senior Citizens should also let him know of their interest in bus trips so other arrangements could possibly be made.

Two buses took a group of Senior Citizens to the Jamboree Saturday night to see the Statler Brothers.

Senior Citizens are making a trip to Cass this Saturday, leaving Community Action parking lot at 8 a.m. Thirty elderly will be making the Fall foliage excursion on the train.

By Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with my fellow residents of central and western Maryland. Send your questions or comments to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives; Washington, D. C. 20515. While I'll be unable to print all replies, I will answer each of you who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

Is information yet available on your next District Tour?

Currently the House of Representatives is working on a very heavy schedule. There is still much legislation to be considered. After I am sure of our schedule in the House, I will finalize the schedule for a fall tour throughout central and western Maryland, and will also be sure that everyone is notified of the schedule. In the meantime, if anyone would like to discuss current legislation or is having a problem in dealing with the federal government, they should write or call me in Washington or any of our District Offices in Columbia, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland.

I have already scheduled several important public meetings that I want each of you to be aware of, and, hopefully attend. At 7 p.m. on the evening of Monday, October 10th, I will hold a Town Meeting On Energy at the Allegany Community College Theater in Cumberland. This will give me the opportunity to discuss the vital energy issue with Allegany County residents and to hear their views and opinions. This is another in a series of Town Meetings I am holding throughout the 6th District.

Also, I have scheduled several People's Press Conferences. These meetings have been very popular as I schedule them around western and central Maryland. These People's Press Conferences give residents of the 6th District, including myself the opportunity to sit down and discuss the many important issues that are facing us. They are informal, you ask the questions and, together, we toss various ideas around. The next People's Press Conference will be October 17th, at 8 p.m. in the Catonsville Library at 1100 Frederick Road. On October 25th, at 8 p.m. we hold another P.P.C. in Baltimore County, this one at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 2004 Gwynn Oak Avenue in Woodlawn.

I hope you will make every effort to attend these important public meetings.

What can be done to halt Forced Retirement at age 65?

The House of Representatives has taken a major step to bring to a halt the forced retirement of people at age 65. I supported the legislation which passed the House. It extends the Age Discrimination in Employment Act to protect workers up to age 70. And, the bill clarifies existing language to prohibit the use of pension plans or seniority systems as an excuse for involuntary retirement on account of age for any worker within the protected age group. Also important is the fact that this legislation does bar mandatory retirement and other age discrimination in federal civilian employment, including job advancement and hiring.

I am happy the measure passed the House and I'm hopeful it will be quickly passed by the Senate and become law. We need the knowledge and expertise of those over sixty five who choose to continue working.

How do you feel about your work on the House Armed Services Committee?

My work on the Armed Services Committee is particularly interesting and rewarding. In my work here, I can continue to represent the wishes of 6th District residents. Our fellow residents in western and central Maryland indicated in the questionnaire earlier this year that they feel it is important to maintain a strong national security. Also, we have many military and military-related installations in the 6th District. With those two facts in mind, my work on the Armed Services Committee is important to all of us living in central and western Maryland.

Considering the New Postal Regulations, how can I find out the best way to mail special packages?

The Postal Service has outlined new prices and new ways to mail letters and packages, so, there might be some confusion over which way is best to mail.

Since the Postal Service wants you to select what best meets your needs, they have put out a booklet called Consumer's Guide to Postal Services And Products. This booklet pretty much outlines the operation of the Postal Service and you may have a free copy by sending a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Department 650-E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Of course, I still believe the best way to find out how to handle your special mailing needs is to stop by your local post office and ask your postmaster.

Cooperative To Hold Elections

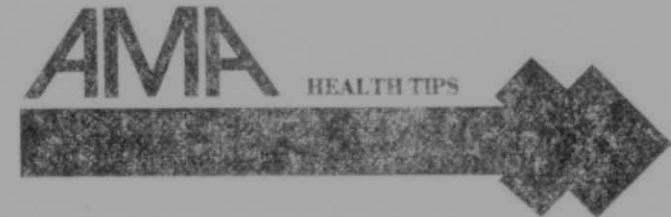

Frank Stanton, Grantsville; Richard W. Heibig, Deer Park; Carl Bender, Accident; Alden P. Wilt, Eggon, and Charles Enlow, Friendsville, will represent Southern States Cooperative members from their respective areas at the cooperative's district election meeting to be held October 6 at the Village Inn, Deep Creek Lake. ACNE

Something can be done about acne.

Acne, says the American Medical Association, is a very common condition afflicting the skin of most people during the teen years.

The fact that acne is so common does not mean that nothing can be done about it. Waiting to "outgrow" acne can be a serious mistake.

Acne consists of blackheads, pimples, and sometimes deeper, boil-like blemishes. It can be seriously disfiguring at the time of life when young people are most sensitive about their appearances. The blemishes can lead to serious and permanent scarring.

Acne is caused by a faulty adjustment of parts of the skin to the influence of maturing endocrine glands, the glands which produce hormones. The imbalance in the hormone secretions will correct itself in time.

There is no instant and permanent cure for acne.

DNR Secretary Named President Of Engineer Group

James B. Coulter, Maryland's Secretary of Natural Resources, is receiving national recognition this week (October 2) when he will be installed new president of the American Academy of Environmental Engineers.

The installation is being held in conjunction with the beginning of the 90th Annual Conference of the Water Pollution Control Federation in Philadelphia. Mr. Coulter also is a member of the executive board of the federation.

The Academy is made up of the top 1,500 registered professional engineers in the nation with specialties in the environmental field.

The Academy defines environmental engineering as the application of scientific principles and technical practices to the improvement to the health and well being of mankind and his surroundings. Members of the Academy are nationally recognized professionals whose work has been dedicated to the improvement of the air, water and land resources of the country.

It is the second honor bestowed on Secretary Coulter by the Academy. In 1971, he was the first recipient of the Academy's Gordon M. Fair Award for achievement in environmental management.

The Water Pollution Control Federation has a membership of 27,000 all men and women engaged in the management of liquid and solid wastes, both industrial and municipal, as they affect the waters of the nation.

Secretary Coulter has been a member of the WPCF's executive board for four years.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenues Up 9% In August

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported last week that Alcohol and Tobacco Tax revenues totaled $7,517,030 for the month of August, 1977, a 9.02 percent growth over the $6,895,222 collected during the same month last year. Tobacco and Distilled Spirits Tax revenues led the increases, reversing trends of recent months. Beer Tax receipts during August, 1977, were off 6.09 percent, probably reflecting the stockpiling by retailers which took place earlier in the year.

"August is generally the largest month for Beer Tax revenues, and the $826,576 collected represents the fourth highest amount of revenue since January, 1977. The August, 1977, revenue figure would undoubtedly have been higher were it not for the earlier buying by retailers," Mr. Goldstein noted.

For the first two months of Fiscal Year 1978, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax revenues total $12,148,206, down 0.8 percent from the $12,245,655 collected for the identical period of Fiscal Year 1977.

SOLAR ECLIPSE

The New Moon is exactly between the earth and the sun on Wednesday. During the eclipse, the shadow of the moon falls on the earth in the Pacific Ocean and part of Columbia, South America. All of North America will experience a partial eclipse of the sun. The east coast will see part of the moon in front of the sun in the late afternoon. It may not be noticeable since only a small part of the sun will be hidden to our eyes. However, with proper equipment the partial eclipse can be observed. One should not look at the sun without proper eye protection, since the sun's rays will burn the eye, causing blindness. The best method of viewing the eclipse is by projecting its image on a screen.

New Moon occurs at 4:31 p.m. Wednesday afternoon. Only when there is a New Moon can the moon pass directly between earth and sun. When this happens a solar eclipse may occur if distances are not too great and if the moon is exactly in line with the sun. Moonrise varies from 52 minutes past midnight this morning to 7:03 a.m. next Wednesday morning.

Visible planets to the unaided eye this week are: Venus, Jupiter, Saturn, and Mars. Venus rises about two hours before the sun. Mars, in Gemini, rises well before midnight. Jupiter, also in Gemini, rises in the evening before Mars rises. Saturn, in Leo, rises about four hours before the sun.

Fifteen minutes less daylight will be available next Wednesday than today. Sunrise was at 7:16 this morning. Sunset will be at 6:53 this evening. Wednesday the sun will rise at 7:24 a.m. and set 11 hours 20 minutes later at 6:44 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Open burning is prohibited under regulations governing the control of air pollution.

The Street Department will remove leaves at its earliest convenience. Bagged leaves will be picked up every Friday.

DAV To Distribute "Forget-Me-Not"

The Disabled American Veterans of Mt. Top Chapter 29, Oakland, will participate in the annual distribution of "Forget-Me-Not" in October.

"Forget-Me-Not" is the symbol which reminds citizens of the lasting gratitude owed to all who served the nation in times of war and in the maintenance of freedom.

Acting Gov. Blair Lee has given his approval for the state of Maryland, and Mayor H. D. Swartzentruber of Oakland has signed a proclamation honoring the veterans.

On October 10 the DAV mobile unit will visit Oakland, locating at Second and Liberty Streets. There will be two National Service officers aboard between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. to serve all disabled veterans, their families, and eligible survivors of DAV's.

Today, and in the future we face new pressures on energy markets, because new sources of energy are becoming more and more difficult to find. Gas and oil reserves, unlike those we've lived with for many years are in more remote locations. Deeper drilling will be required which means an inevitable increase in the price.

What government can do about this is somewhat limited. We can take the route of government regulation, which means that the increases in price will come about as a result of a bureaucratic decision made by some government official. Or we can take the route of a free market decision which means that both consumers and producers will let the market place determine what that price increase is going to be. But I think it is simply pulling the wool over the public's eyes to say that a price increase can be totally avoided. So, then the question comes down to: How are we going to guarantee an adequate supply of energy?

I have to look at the record in Maryland in the winter of 1976-77 during which thousands of Marylanders were laid off. Factories closed and local plants like Stroh's Bakery in Cumberland were shut down throwing 300 people out of work on an hour's notice because the gas supply failed. These are the kinds of situations that must be avoided, and that are very much on my mind as the Senate slowly and painfully, and sleeplessly, approaches a decision on the question of how to organize the natural gas industry so that we can cope with our diminishing supplies of energy, the increasing costs of energy and the increasing need for energy.

Filibuster Inside A Filibuster

By Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

In the Senate this past week we have been creating a new record. There have been many kinds of records in the Senate over the last 200 years, but now we have a new one: a filibuster inside of a filibuster.

I'm sure the country is wondering what it is all about.

Well, it's just a new aspect of the continuing struggle over the country faces over energy. The differing opinions; the differing philosophies as to how we should increase our production of energy, how we should decrease our consumption of energy and how we should keep its price under control. After many days of debate on the subject of natural gas, it is clear that there is no way to keep the price of energy at the inexpensive levels of the past. This is mainly because of increasing demand not only within the United States, but around the world.

Today, and in the future we face new pressures on energy markets, because new sources of energy are becoming more and more difficult to find. Gas and oil reserves, unlike those we've lived with for many years are in more remote locations. Deeper drilling will be required which means an inevitable increase in the price.

What government can do about this is somewhat limited. We can take the route of government regulation, which means that the increases in price will come about as a result of a bureaucratic decision made by some government official. Or we can take the route of a free market decision which means that both consumers and producers will

Appraisal Service

Powell-Cooper Wedding Held July 23

Miss Melanie G. Cooper and Walter E. Powell were united in marriage, with a double ring ceremony July 23. The Fairview Church of the Brethren was the setting for the service performed by Rev. Simon Oats, of Romney, W. Va.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Cooper, Route 3, Oakland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wash, Dundalk.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Janet Cooper, cousin of the bride, served as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Vickie Wash, Dundalk, and Mrs. Linda Shaffer, Railroad, Pa., both sisters of the groom.

The bride wore a gown of white organza with an A-line skirt curving to a chapel train. Her headpiece was a camelot style, trimmed with seed pearls and lace to match the gown. She carried a bouquet of red rose buds and baby's breath.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were attired in floor length gowns of blue, complemented with wide brim hats of matching color. Each carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations, baby's breath and daisies.

Miss Julie Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary B. Cooper, acted as her aunt's flower girl. She wore a yellow, floor-length gown and a white summer hat and carried a basket of mixed summer flowers.

The bridegroom selected Kenny Norton, Baltimore, to serve as his best man. The ushers were Dale Price, Railroad, and the groom's brother, Frankie Wash, Dundalk. David Wash acted as his brother's ring bearer.

Miss Gail Sue Rohrbaugh, a friend of the bride, presented a musical prelude including a selection of the bride and groom, "You Are The Only Woman."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. Mrs. Wilma Cooper and Mrs. Evelyn Harvey, aunts of the bride, were in charge of serving the punch and the blue and white wedding cake baked by Mrs. Naomi Wolf, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Ruth Ann Cooper registered the guests.

A rehearsal dinner had been given by the maid of honor and her family on Friday evening.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Southern High School and was employed at the C & P Telephone Co. in Oakland. Now she works as a tupperware representative in Pennsylvania.

The groom is employed by General Motors in Baltimore.

The couple spent a honeymoon in Ocean City. They reside at P.O. Box 117, Railroad, Pa., 17355.

Miss Cozad Bride Of Dr. Marburg

Miss Jan LaMarr Cozad became the bride of Dr. Galen Sanford Marburg on August 27 at the LaVale United Methodist Church.

The ceremony, written by the bride and bridegroom, was interspersed with songs and classical music. Participating in the ceremony were Rev. Manning Smith, Oakland, Donny Stephens, pianist; Tom Yeager, violinist, and Dr. Edwin Weldon, soloist.

The violin composition, "Sonata III in F Major," was played as a tribute to the bride's father, the late Sam Cozad.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Floyd V. Cozad and the late Floyd V. (Sam) Cozad. Dr. Marburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Marburg, Falls Church, Va.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Morton Cozad, Arnold, the bride wore a long traditional white chiffon wedding gown trimmed in seed pearls and lace. A finger-tip length veil was trimmed in matching lace and a band of ivy, stephanotis and baby's breath. Her jewelry, a family heirloom, was a diamond and platinum pendant on a platinum chain inherited from the grandmother of the bridegroom. The bridegroom wore a diamond stick pin inherited from his maternal grandfather. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis, baby's breath, and trailing ivy.

Miss Linda Ford of LaVale was maid of honor. Miss Ellen Golden was bridesmaid and Neida Tice, LaVale, was flower girl.

Bill Dudley, Frostburg, was best man. Groomsmen were Cliff Woodward, Jr., Hillsmere Shores, and Richard Roberts, brother of the bride, Arnold. Ringbearer was Seth Roberts and candle lighters were Patrick and Brian Roberts, nephews of the bride.

Wedding guests were presented programs of the service by William Chandlee, Daytona Beach, Fla., and gifts of daisies by Sandra Marburg, sister of the bridegroom, Charlestown, R. I., and Mrs. Richard Roberts and daughter Sarah, Arnold.

A torch-lit reception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride on LaVale Terrace. Guests were registered by Mrs. Richard Golden, aunt of the bride. The four-tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. William Chandlee, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Terry McClanathan. Punch and fruit were served by Mrs. Cliff Woodward, Jr. and Mrs. Larry Roberts. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Galen Metzger and daughters Ann and Molly, Mrs. Sander Levine, Mrs. Ardell Haines, Mrs. Edward Ewald, Mrs. Robert Tomsko, Tricia Tomsko and Mrs. Edward Strickler.

She was employed by the Garrett County Board of Education as a special education teacher in Grantsville, and had previously been employed as a kindergarten teacher in the Oakland area.

Dr. Marburg graduated from Colby College and received a master's and doctoral degree in human growth and development from the University of Maryland. In addition, he has completed advanced training and research in psychology at Case Western Reserve University and at the University of Florida. He is also certified as a psychologist in Maryland, West Virginia and Washington. Dr. Marburg was employed by the department of education at Frostburg State College.

Attend Management Seminar In Pikesville

George F. Comp, Jr., Civil Defense Director, and Kenneth M. Kenner, of the Garrett County Civil Defense office, attended a Preparedness Management Seminar Thursday and Friday of last week, held in the Holiday Inn at Pikesville.

General Rinaldo Van Brunt, Director of State Civil Defense Agency, opened the Seminar with remarks regarding the studies to follow. Regional Director John Bex presented an overview of the Defense Civil Preparedness Agencies National Program.

Maj. General Robert E. L. Eaton, past National Commander of The American Legion, was the guest speaker at the banquet held Thursday evening. His subject was National Defense.

Charles Gill, State Communications Officer, along with Harold Hass of the Army Communications command, spoke on the Emergency Communications Systems in Maryland supporting the Civil Preparedness Program in the state. State and Federal support of the Emergency Communications effort was emphasized. A question and answer period followed.

The workshop sessions consisted of studies of Program Status and Reporting Systems.

Crisis relocation, a plan to relocate people from target, high risk areas into areas of lower risk made up one of the sessions under the direction of Christian Hanburger, State Community Shelter Officer.

The availability, acquisition and management of matching funds, excess and surplus military property to support the counties' Civil Preparedness Programs was explained by Dr. Charles B. Browne, Logistics Officer MCD and DPA.

Radiological Defense Programs were emphasized by Jack Ashbrook, Radiological Officer, speaking specifically of an increased effort to improve and expand the Radiological Monitoring Systems now existing in the counties. Supporting equipment and assistance in training and re-training of monitors was offered to the counties by state and federal DCPA.

The seminar ended Friday afternoon with closing remarks by State Director Gen. Van Brunt.

Women Can Do It

The Equal Rights Amendment may not yet have been ratified, but that does not mean women cannot seek equal working opportunities with men.

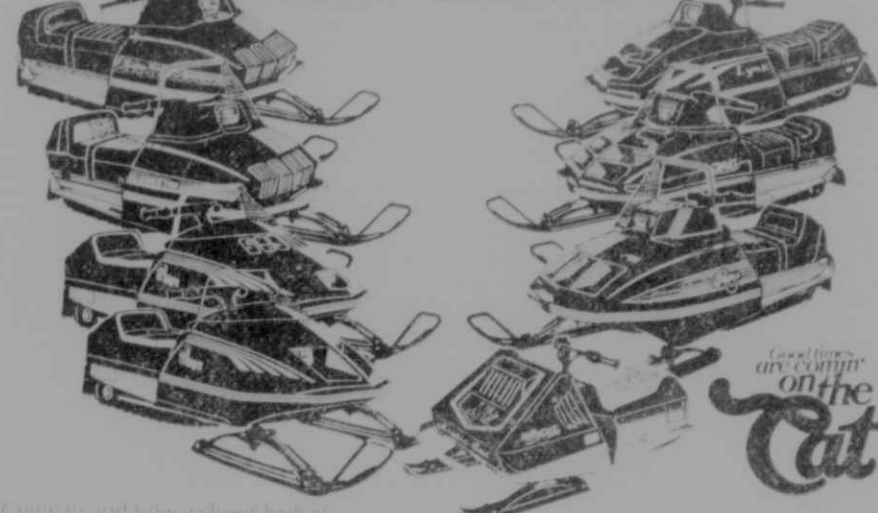

Helen Stull, for instance, is a graduate of the Mine Safety course at GCC, and has also completed GCC's 80-hour Emergency Medical Technician classroom training.

With these qualifications, she is now employed at the Long

Branch Mining Company, where she became the fifth female miner.

Mrs. Stull does not work the face of the mine, but, according to her, she does "everything else the men do."

GCC To Present Evening With Mr. Fingers October 12

Students at Garrett Community College may see a campus presentation of "An Evening with Mr. Fingers," also known as Mr. Fingers, next Wednesday, October 12, at the auditorium at GCC.

The show will begin at 8 p.m., featuring Mr. Weiner who graduated and then taught at Chavez College in Los Angeles, which is the only accredited sleight-of-hand college in the world. He is acclaimed as a master of the sleight-of-hand art, bringing back the skills of the past greats of vaudeville.

Last year, he framed and developed the present one-man show aimed at the college audience after years as a speaker and entertainer for clubs, industrial groups, and schools.

He says, "I have probed back into the most unique acts of early vaudeville — Houdini, Thurston, Malini, and Cardini, all great sleight-of-handers and showmen."

He noted that students are interested in the stories he tells of the Houdini life and his own thoughts on ESP and predictions of the future. "When I show them what a card cheat can do, they really flip," he commented.

Weeks before his appearance, Mr. Weiner mails a sealed package to the dean of the college to be guarded until show time. When the package is opened on stage, it's found to contain a factory-sealed tin can. "Mr. Fingers" promises that inside the can is his written prediction of the present day's news headlines.

present director.

The chorus has performed worldwide by radio, television, and concerts. There are approximately 50 members, some of whom drive 50 miles to the once-a-week practice session. Everyone is welcome to

Crime Resistance Alert

WHEELING AND STEALING

Thinking back a few years to the time when I was a boy in Missouri, bicycles were, for the most part, considered toys. When one disappeared, it was usually because some youngster took it for a joy ride and failed to return it. Unfortunately, that's often not the case today. Many bicycles are stolen. They are quite valuable, especially those equipped with finely machined gears and accessories. As a result, bicycles are stolen in great numbers by professional thieves.

Bicycles are often stolen off of lawns or porches and out of unlocked garages at night. School yards and playgrounds are popular targets of bike thieves during the daytime.

Don't make it easy for a bike thief to steal your bicycle. Practice these few crime resistance reminders which could help you to "keep on biking."

(1) Register all bicycles with the appropriate local agency. Permanently etch your driver's license number preceded by your state's initials on the frame of all your family's bicycles. This will make it identifiable to a police agency. Report the theft of any bicycle to the police.

(2) Don't leave bicycles on the lawn, on the porch or in an unlocked garage — especially at night. If a bicycle must be left unattended anywhere, it should be secured to a solidly fixed rack or tree with a good quality chain and lock. The chain should not be looped just through a wheel but through the frame and both wheels.

(3) Regularly remind your children that just as bicycle safety rules will reduce the chances of their being hurt in an accident, crime safety practices will reduce the chance that their bike will be stolen.

(4) Encourage school and recreation authorities to provide secure bike racks located where they can be viewed by employees of the facility.

Keep your wits — and keep your wheels.

At this moment, a television set is blasting away in at least 70 million homes across America. This does not account for those multiple-televisioned homes (houses with more than one t.v.), nor can it lay claim to untold numbers of public viewing areas — waiting rooms, lounges, bars — in which sets hold their revered positions.

The price of Zenith stock per share is still within the budget of most salaries. Considering the aforementioned, it may not be a bad idea to enlist the advice of your friendly broker. I am not terribly concerned with Wall Street. I do hope they keep their wits about them as reliving another market crash is not my idea of a swell time. The following may well serve as a surrogate "depression."

As many as 30% of Garrett County students are reading

two or more grade levels below what is normal for a given grade. I am concerned about that.

Okay, you are thinking, so what has this to do with Charlie's Angels or Happy Days? Not much except when one realizes that kids can readily identify Jacklyn Smith or Fionnie but rarely their own language! We are rapidly becoming a nation of addicts, the habit-forming amphetamine none other than The Tube.

I can not argue with the person who says a bad book is as sleep-inducing as the latest influx of sit-coms, soaps, and otherwise insulting video-taped productions that dare masquerade as quality entertainment. The writing is on the wall, no doubt misspelled: most students wouldn't even know a bad book from a good one if they tried. Most have given up trying.

Last week's front-page editorial statement prompted

NOW, THAT'S A HANDFUL — The Republican office was visited Tuesday by this gentleman from Accident, who proudly displayed these giant beetles he dug from his garden Sunday. The beetles weighed in at 5 1/2 and 4 pounds and measured 24 inches around and seven inches across. The surprised owner is Nelson Alexander. Mr. Alexander said he grew some last year that weighed slightly over three pounds.

some inquiry regarding the residual effects of television versus learning? Just how does television enhance or detract from student learning? With television programming forced in schools now, is it wise to opt for audio-visual stimulation rather than the "old fashioned" approach of reading-thinking-application? Has television altered the ability or necessity to think?

The t.v. set has some redeeming qualities, but those assets are usually slow in recognition. Public broadcasting has a tremendous wealth of informative, curriculum-centered programs. These can be useful tools in the hands of a teacher who experiences motivation problems. The "educational" programs, however, are not a problem. Commercial television is.

The steady grip seems to stem from lack of reading and listening skills; if only follows, then, that when a student does not read or listen, he or she will not be inclined to do either very well. It's much more convenient, not to mention fun, to sit before a screen and be entertained. After the "show" is over, the follow-up activity is limited to, say, Alka-Seltzer, Duncan Hines cake mixes, or maybe the hottest new item off the Detroit assembly line. Whatever was gained from the previous viewing is never considered as important as bad breath or garbage bags, lest we forget our untalented spouses.

What price are we as a nation paying for this sacrifice? What is being sacrificed, anyway? Simply this: reading, comprehending, and thought-processing are irreversibly linked. By removing the necessity to read, the ability to express one's own thoughts is also diminished. It takes longer to read about a topic and mentally digest the material than to see it flashed across a screen. Watching requires very little skill; reading and understanding call for more of an investment than more passive interest if anything is to be gained.

Oh yes — the price we're paying. In her article entitled "The Classroom's No longer Prime Time" (Today's Education), Susan Feinberg reiterates the symptoms and warning signals concerning Television Junkies. Homework assignments take a back seat to M.A.S.H. Especially alarming is that — with a lifetime of commercial messages that regularly bombard their concentration and redirect their train of thought, students have developed eight-12 minute attention spans.

Coupled with the ability to "turn off" or screen out background noise, including the teachers' voice giving instructions or content material.

Why can't kids read? Because they don't have to. Why don't they have to read? Because reading interferes with watching the television. Why are they watching television? Because it's fun.

Fun. Life in general has apparently been reduced to what degree of fun it can provide. School is part of that life-in-general scheme of things, but ask any kid how much fun school is and the answer is an inevitable groan. (Excepting, of course, football, band trips, etc.) It seems that education

Liberty St. Oakland, Md. 21223

and entertainment are at odds. Perhaps learning critical judgment or algebra could be the next Denny and Marie Spectacular. If the Hollywood producers don't buy that idea, then I guess we educators are stuck with an awesome task: learn to tap dance, or you're out of the ball game. A boring teacher just isn't any fun!

As a parent (which I am not, thank you) there are some alternatives: Don't buy a television set. Subscribe to a book club instead. If you own a t.v., supervise the hours spent before it with a firm but fair policy of "work first, t.v. later". After all, you didn't learn long division from Starkey and Hatch, so don't pretend your kids will, either. One other important "don't" to add to the pile: don't be afraid to turn that dial — OFF!

Fun Festival . . .

Once again Autumn Glory is upon us. Once again we look forward to all the events and entertainment associated with the annual festival.

When we think of natural resources in Garrett County, coal and timber are about the only two that quickly come to mind. However, the Autumn Glory Festival originated through the utilization of one of Garrett County's little thought of, yet essential, natural resources — leaves. The autumn "glory", one of God's gifts, has always been here. Many hard working individuals have simply added a festival to it, a festival which has truly gotten bigger and better each year of its decade of existence.

The Autumn Glory Festival provides substance to the health and well being of Garrett County. It gives us a chance to show off our county to many outsiders who might be here for the first time. This is a tremendous boost to Garrett County's number one industry, tourism.

The events of the festival are so varied, nearly everyone should be able to pick at least one that he or she would enjoy.

The grand feature parade allows all the civic clubs, student organizations, charity groups, scouting and 4-H members, bands, etc., to be recognized for what they are, what they stand for and what they do. This recognition is vital to the futures of these various organizations.

The festival adds color and excitement to an already beautiful county. It shows Garrett County to be alive and well, instead of dull and stagnant.

More than anything else, the Autumn Glory Festival is fun, fun for everyone, and fun is an important part of life.

Have a good time.

Home Severely Damaged By Fire

A house fire last Friday morning near Oakland caused a minimum of $30,000 damage to the home of R. Thomas Thayer, Oakland-Song Run Road.

Edward L. Nutter, an employee of Garrettsville Construction Company who reported to the residence for work, suspected a fire inside the house at 7:30 a.m. and summoned the Garrett County Sheriff's office with a neighbor's telephone. A deputy who happened to be in the area of the home at the time also stopped by the residence to check out the report. The deputy discovered no fire.

Approximately one hour later, another call was made to the sheriff's office reporting fire at the same location and this time the Oakland Fire Department alarm was sounded.

Upon arrival, firefighters found a sofa and a carpet consumed by fire and still smoldering. Robert Shiner, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett Counties, said that the fire started at an electrical floor outlet near the sofa. He stated that although the structure sustained minor fire damage, the heat and smoke damage was excessive throughout the entire house.

The Thayers were on a fishing trip in North Carolina at the time of the fire. The loss will be covered by fire insurance.

Firefighters were at the scene until 9:45 a.m. There were no injuries.

The home is located along the Youghiogheny River about three and a half miles west of Oakland, just off the Oakland-Song Run Road.

Oakland firefighters were again called out Friday afternoon at about 2:30 to the Oakland Landramat when a fluorescent light ballast shorted, causing a ceiling tile to catch fire. Damage was minor.

Oakland and Deer Park firefighters were called out simultaneously Monday afternoon at 4:15 when a fire alarm light for Garrett County Memorial Hospital flashed at the sheriff's office. However upon

HVTS Acquires Majority Interest In Accident Firm

American HV Test Systems, Inc. is a Maryland Corporation founded in 1973 and is presently located in the Central Garrett Industrial Park in Accident. American HV manufactures and markets testing equipment in the United States which is similar to the products manufactured by the partners of HVTS.

This new joint venture will extend the existing product lines and strengthen the capability of HVTS to market and service such equipment. American HV Test Systems will act as distributor for HVTS products in the United States, while HVTS, in turn, will market the products of its American partner in the rest of the world.

Keith Reed, founder of American HV Test Systems, will remain as President of that company. The company currently employs some 18 persons. A thirty-month growth plan for American HV reflects a total employment of between 40 and 50 persons in 1980. At that time, it is projected that some 60% of the firm's total sales will be to markets overseas.

ASEA is a multinational company having major subsidiaries in most of the western European nations, including, as well as Canada, the U. S., Mexico, Brazil and Australia.

ASEA deals in a multitude of products such as power transformers, steam and gas turbines, military, construction, hydraulic and mining equipment, aluminum, steel, and copper wire and their insulation, and fiberglass.

Micafil is a subsidiary of Brown, Boveri and specializes in manufacturing heavy machine tools. Emil Hufely & Cie specializes in manufacturing large electrical motors and armatures, as well as a variety of electrical testing equipment.

Arne Mark is president of ASEA and chairman of the Board of American HV Test Systems, Inc. James (Smookey) Stanton, president of the town council, reminded the group that the January or February meeting might be directed toward drawing up mutual guidelines for future business growth in Oakland.

The group plans to send a letter of endorsement to Kenneth Richmond, administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, supporting the proposed hospital expansion plan, and to the Chamber of Commerce, supporting the Christmas parade-December 17.

Glen Van Woert, of the small business division of VISTA volunteers, was a guest speaker. The next meeting will be November 8.

Each year, the local club and other 27 clubs in the Maryland federation choose a candidate as woman of the year, one who exemplified characteristics needed in community and club work.

Mrs. Connor has been president of the Garrett County club two times, treasurer two times, and has served on every committee. She has been a member since 1966.

She is now a nurse at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she had previously been anesthesiologist for many years. She is a member of St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, the McVeigh Holy Cross Mission club, and the Garrett County Historical Society.

Another special guest for the program was Miss Mary Speicher, one of the 21 charter members of the club when it was formed in 1959. Miss Speicher gave a brief presentation on the founding of the club and her part in the organization.

Following the special program, a business meeting was conducted by the president. The club will have an entry in the Autumn Glory parade October 15, driven by Pam Ashby and carrying three candy.

Friends Of Garrett County Dinner Kicks Off Autumn Glory Festival

The 1977 Autumn Glory Festival was officially kicked off last night at the Friends of Garrett County Dinner at Wisp Ski Area, McHenry. Some 300 persons attended the event which featured comedian Van Harris who kept the crowd roaring for nearly an hour with a wide array of humor, complete with facial expressions, ethnic dialects and a musical, joke-telling, Vaudeville finale.

Paige Shanklin, chairman of the dinner, was emcee. Seated at the head table and making brief comments were Wendell Beitzel, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council; Edwin Walshall, executive director; Teresa Hinebaugh, 1977 Autumn Glory Queen; Scott Schwing, queen's escort; Mr. Harris, and Rev. James Remley, who offered the invocation.

Among the guests were Fred Windland, Maryland Secretary of State; Senator Edward Mason, Del. DeCorsey Bolden, and county commissioners, Wayne Hamilton and George Edwards.

The members of the promotion council were also recognized by Mr. Beitzel.

Next scheduled event for the festival is a firemen's parade, scheduled this evening in Oakland at 7 p.m. Exhibitions will include drill teams, bands, and marching groups, including one Pennsylvania group which features a 72-year-old majorette. The best in area fire fighting equipment will be appearing.

Events will begin Friday at 10 a.m. at the National Guard Armory in Oakland, with the annual Antique show and Sale sponsored by the Oakland Civic Club. Crafts will also be displayed at the Armory this year.

The Maryland Five-String Banjo Championships will be held at 8 p.m. at Southern High School, followed by the Kenny Price-Kon Westberry Show.

On Saturday at 10 a.m., the Club Hill Cloggers dancing group will begin their performance at St. Matthew's Episcopal church lawn in Oakland. At 1 p.m., Kevin Hahn hopes to baffle a local lumber company and the watching crowd by escaping from a specially-built "escape proof" box.

Saturday's main event will be the feature parade, this year featuring more than 80 units which will be routed through downtown Oakland.

The parade will begin promptly at 2 p.m. This year, sam-pots will be offered for public use in front of the new Naylor's Hardware store on Third Street.

Ed Haydock, the director of Coal Mining Technology at GCC, has said that bids for the new building will be let as soon as possible and that the building will be ready for students by the fall semester, 1978.

Throughout the nation, similar proclamations, made 22:00-12 by officials as part of the effort at the Business and Professional Women's clubs to promote the interests of working women. Back row, left to right, are Mrs. Bonnie Cowan, Garrett B.P.W. member; Mrs. Anne Connor, chairman of the National Business Women's Week Committee and recently named "Outstanding Club Woman of the Year" by the B.P.W.; and Mrs. Carol Canan, club president. Radio spot announcements next week over WMSG will salute each of the club's 27 members as part of the week's observances.

A VERY FUNNY MAN — Comedian Van Harris kept a crowd of 300 persons laughing last night for nearly an hour at the Friends of Garrett County Dinner. The event, held at the Wisp Ski Area, McHenry, kicked off the slate of activities of the 1977 Autumn Glory Festival. Paige Shanklin, dinner chairman, was the emcee for the evening. Forums Planned On Child Abuse

A repeat of two workshops on child abuse sponsored by the Regional Education Service Agency (RESA) and the Appalachian Education Satellite Program (AESP) will be conducted here October 17 and 31, from 5:30-8:00 p.m.

The problems and issues surrounding diagnosis, treatment and prevention of child abuse will be featured.

Workshop activities broadcast via satellite, will involve participants viewing selected media on child abuse and participating in a question and answer period with a panel of experts hosting the TV seminar. In addition, packets of resource materials, prepared for each session of the workshop, will be provided.

Because the workshops will address the multidisciplinary approach to the problem of child abuse, the intended audience includes professionals from the fields of medicine, law, health, mental health, social services, and education. These general areas of expertise will also be represented by the seminar panelists. Each session will be moderated by Diane Erbe, Director of Alliance - A Coordination Program of Child Abuse.

In Maryland for more information, contact Hilda Lee, Garrett County Board of Education, Oakland.

Mr. Flinn Lists Bus Inspections

Eugene Flinn, supervisor of transportation for the Garrett County Board of Education, announces there will be school bus inspections October 17-19.

In this, the second inspection of the year, chains and sanders will also be inspected. Inspectors will be at Southern High School October 17 from 8:30 a.m. until early afternoon. On October 18, inspectors will be at Northern High School from 9 to 11 a.m.; and at Friendsville school from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

On October 19, the inspection crews will be at Grantsville School from 9 to 11 a.m.; and at Bloomington School from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

Commissioners Give Endorsement To Road Needs Projection

The Board of County Commissioners voted at Monday's meeting to send a letter of endorsement to the Maryland Department of Transportation concerning the 20-year needs study presented by the State Highway Association.

The commissioners included in their letter a request that the bridge on Route 50 at Gorman be replaced.

The letter is in response to the state's highway needs study projection for 1979-1998.

Some of the projects for consideration include the Maryland 546 Finzel Road access ramp onto U. S. Route 48; relocation of Route 219 at Oakland; a new bridge at Deep Creek Lake on Route 219; relocation of Route 219 from 48 to the Pennsylvania state line; reconstruction of two lanes of Maryland Route 38 from the north end of the Potomac River bridge to 3 mile south of Maryland 135, and many other proposals.

Tom Jones, executive director of the Garrett County Development Corporation, told the commissioners that over 100 persons had responded to an advertisement that they would like to have employment in a planned garment factory in Friendsville.

Tim Dugan, county planning director, discussed zoning amendments and informed them of a hearing date which has been set. Announcement of the public hearing appears in today's issue of The Republican.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
We are in complete accord with the Editor in his answer to the letter from "Concerned Citizen" about the Police Department. People driving at a fast rate of speed, make entrance for emergency vehicle to the hospital an impossibility, besides people crossing the intersection at Fourth Street and Memorial Drive are always in jeopardy.

We are fortunate to have a Police Department that is cognizant of drivers who are driving in excess of speed that is posted or not posted in the State of Maryland. Everyone obtaining a driver's license is also supposed to be familiar with speed regulations in the State of Maryland — what method the police use to track these "speedy" people down apparently is very effective.

Respectfully,
Another "Concerned Citizen"

Dear Editor:
I think it is about time someone spoke out about the teachers of Garrett County. I am completely fed up with the teachers being out of school so much and using a substitute teacher, which is no more than a baby sitter.

I think when a teacher signs a contract for a year, she should be able to fulfill that contract. She should not be allowed to miss more than three days at a time without a doctor's excuse. It is our tax money paying their salary, yet our children are being neglected.

When a teacher misses a month or even a few weeks, there is no way the child can make that work up. Housewives with no experience at all are being used as substitute teachers. When I asked why, I was told they didn't have to pay them as much as a college degree student, yet there are a lot of qualified teachers without jobs in Garrett County.

When a teacher has to be off for a long period of time, she should have to resign for the year, so a qualified teacher may be obtained to teach.

There are cases in Garrett County where the teacher has not been there more than two weeks out of the seven school has been in session. It is about time the parents took action and did something about this. It is our children and our money, so we should have some say on the matter. No wonder we have high school graduates that can't read or write, they miss half of their schooling.

A Concerned Parent,
Jean Deem

Dear Ms. Deem,
Your accusations in some cases are undoubtedly correct and we appreciate your concern. However, to label all Garrett County teachers this way is a mistake. We believe that the majority of Garrett County teachers take great pride in their work and generally do a good job.

Remember, there are "slackers" in every line of work, not just teaching.

Editor

Dear Mr. Sinzell:
The Garrett County Association of Home Economists is concerned about the reduction in the home economics staff at Southern High.

Home economics offers students an invaluable contact for learning life skills. For many this is a last opportunity for supervised instruction prior to graduation and formation of family units, while others will have an opportunity to explore careers in home economics through classroom experience.

With this in mind we question the staff reduction this year. During 1975-76 there were three home economics teachers at Southern High. With Southern Middle opening one teaching position was eliminated at the high school. This provided two home economics teachers at each school. During that year home economics was required for all students at Southern Middle and Southern High opened classes to boys and implemented bachelor living and co-ed ninth grade classes.

After the apparent increase in class availability the staff remained unchanged at the

Middle School while only one position was filled in the high school to cover four grades. Reducing the staff resulted in making home economics available to a mere 13% of the student body. This indicates that expensive classroom materials and equipment are standing idle or that classes are too large for available equipment. Federal vocational education funds may also be jeopardized if based on the number of students enrolled in home economics.

Would this position at Southern High have been eliminated if two vacancies hadn't occurred in the staff simultaneously? Why were efforts made to provide more classes last year only for interested students to find reduction in class availability this year?

Those of us professionally dedicated to the improvement of family living implore the Board of Education to reconsider their action and reinstate the second home economics teaching position at Southern.

We offer support and assistance with this request.

Respectfully submitted,
The Garrett County Assoc. of Home Economists

State Accepting Applications For Housing Grants

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development has announced that it is accepting applications for loans and grants which can be drawn upon the recently established Appalachia Maryland Housing Fund.

Some $252,000, made available by the Federal Appalachian Regional Commission, will be used to assist sponsors of housing for low — and moderate — income residents in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties where there is a "significant" shortage of housing for these groups.

Project planning loans are available to eligible sponsors for 80 per cent of approved pre-construction expenses. Such expenses include legal, application, architectural and engineering fees, land options, and surveys, which are necessary to obtain financing for housing developments.

Site development and off-site improvements grants are also available, intended to defray reasonable development costs and necessary off-site improvement expenses. Grants may not exceed 10 percent.

Additional information and application forms can be obtained from the Garrett County Housing Coordinator, Garrett County Housing Office, 202 East Alder Street, Oakland.

Lakers End Fall Season With Impressive 11-1 Record

A BRILLIANT BASEBALL SEASON — The Garrett Community College Laker baseball team wound up its fall season with an impressive 11-1 record. Because of adverse weather conditions that prevailed during the last week of September and the first week of October, several games in the region were rescheduled time and time again until the tri-state area teams decided to call off remaining games. Pictured left to right, front

TAKING TO THE AIR was a frequent offensive tactic in last Friday evening's battle between visiting Hampshire High and the Southern Rams. Southern managed to gain only 16 yards in the air on five completions out of 24 attempts, as opposed to the Panthers whose entire offense was on the ground for a gain of 144 yards. Pictured at far

Hampshire Puts Down Rams, 14-0

Early offensive strikes by visiting Hampshire High last Friday evening in the first quarter, at the Southern field was enough to insure the 14-0 win for the Trojans who scored two touchdowns and completed both conversions before settling down to a defensive struggle with the Rams.

Kirby Smith scored twice for the Trojans on runs of 36 yards and 15 yards while teammate Kevin Adrian booted both conversions before the opening quarter had ended.

The Trojans undoubtedly studied game films of the Southern-Musselman contest the previous week, as they almost completely shut off Fred Gregg's passing game. Gregg passed for over 200 yards against Musselman, but could manage only 16 yards in the air against Hampshire on five of 24 attempts.

The Trojans' entire offense was on the ground with 144 yards, as all five aerial attempts failed.

Neither team gained a first down on aerials, but on the turf, it was Hampshire getting six to the Rams' three. In total number of offensive plays, the stats tell the story of the defensive grid battle. The visitors tried 54 times to move the ball while the Rams had possession 30 times.

There were no fumbles in the action and penalty markers cost each team only 15 yards.

Jim Clark, Greg Shockey and Perry Clark were defensive standouts for the Rams who have gone down to defeat three times in the last five outings. The Rams' PVC record is now 0-2.

The Rams will be on the road tomorrow evening when they meet Parsons at their field beginning at 7:30 p.m.

According to Rams coach, Tom Woods, "Our offense need only to be consistent tomorrow night. Parsons is quick and we have to be on guard at all times. We can do it."

HUSKY CARRIER Ron Lipscomb is suddenly surrounded by opponents during a game last Friday evening at the Northern field against visiting Parsons. Lipscomb, #22, drove over from the three yard line to put the Huskies on the scoreboard in the last quarter. He was followed by Kurt Lear who plunged over from the one to make it a close 13-12, still trailing by one. With seconds remaining on the clock, Parsons' McWilliams raced over from the three yard line for the 19-12 victory. The Huskies will be taking a break this week, but will travel to Beall Oct. 21, for a Tri-Valley Conference tilt.

Jets Blank The Raiders 19-0

The Oakland Jets and Raiders met Sunday afternoon in a steady, cold drizzle at the Southern High field, with the outcome of the tilt going to the Jets 19-0.

According to Ernie Gregg, one of the coaches for the Jets, "Both teams did a terrific job under adverse weather conditions and the Jets offense and defense really excelled."

Don Bosley surged for two touchdowns in the game and Pat Roddeheaver went over for the third score. David Scott rushed for the extra point.

Playoffs will begin Sunday beginning at 2:30 p.m. at Terra Alta. In the first game, the Jets will take on the Friendsville Steelers, followed by a contest between the Raiders and the Terra Alta Dolphins.

Campaign Scheduled October 18 To Raise Funds For Scouting

A house to house campaign to raise funds for Boy Scout projects will be conducted in Oakland Tuesday evening, October 18, starting at 6 p.m.

The campaign was announced by M. S. Brookhart, Deep Creek District finance chairman, who asks that everyone be as generous as possible and make a special effort to increase contributions this year, as there is an all-time high number of boys registered in the county.

Mr. Brookhart added that although the county portion of Council budget has increased to $8,500, this still averages about $25 per boy, which is considerably lower than the national average of almost $100.

Mr. Brookhart is also requesting ten adult volunteers to help that evening. Those interested are asked to meet at the Oakland fire hall at 6 p.m. October 18.

A crackdown on drug sales involved a mass roundup in southern California recently.

waterproof leather.

CUDAHY DRY DUCK LEATHER. It's a special treated waterproof leather guaranteed not only to resist water but also resists acids, alkalis, salts and perspiration.

One piece pattern with waterproof seams.

A one piece pattern eliminates much of the stitching that is normally needed in a boot. And all the stitching that is needed employs a lock-stitch using strong, durable nylon thread. We also apply a rubber sealant to all the seams both before and after stitching to keep the boots watertight.

Waterproof molded soles.

They are made of oil and skid-resistant, injection molded PLIOTUF[®] and backed with a cushioned insole for comfort. Then the boot is completely leather lined and fully insulated with ENSOLITE[®] for warmth.

Waterproof guarantee.

Wolverine[®] guarantees these Waterproof Leather Boots to be waterproof for the life of the boot. If the leather fails under normal use, Wolverine[®] will replace the boots free of charge.

"I THINK THAT I SHALL NEVER SEE ... A TOMATO TREE?" — This tomato "tree" owned by the Hugh Maffett family, Sanders Lane, doesn't seem to know when to stop ... growing, that is. The plant currently measures just over eight and a half feet tall and carries nearly forty not-quite-ripe tomatoes. The Maffetts have kept the plant covered the past several mornings to protect it from the frost. They hope to harvest at least some of the tomatoes before the snow flies. Mrs. Maffett said that the plant just sprang up from a wayward seed beside the house. Pictured are Carol Maffett, left, and her mother, Ada Maffett.

Rev. Feild To Chair UNICEF Day Activities

The Rev. Martin Feild, St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, has been appointed to chair the 1977 UNICEF Day activities in Garrett County. He can provide information to any countians about the United Nations Children's Fund and the resource materials that are available for persons of all ages for educational and fund-raising purposes.

The Rev. Mr. Feild was named by the Maryland UNICEF Day Chairman, former U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr., to head the activities in the county in celebration of National UNICEF Day, October 31. UNICEF support activities take many forms, including benefit events and door-to-door collections, and support is given nationally and locally by a wide variety of religious and civic organizations.

Money for UNICEF, which does not share in the United Nations budget, is voluntarily contributed by private citizens in many countries and by governments of over 100 nations. Most of UNICEF's funds are used to purchase supplies and equipment for long-term projects of permanent help to children in the most deprived regions of the poorest countries, in the area of health, nutrition and education. The partner country always provides substantial resources.

With one dollar, UNICEF can provide 1000 tablets of Dapsone, a drug widely used to treat infants and children who have leprosy; or enough high-dose Vitamin A capsules to protect 25 toddlers against nutritionally-caused blindness for one year. With $10 UNICEF can provide a feeder for 30 hens for a school or community poultry farm, for increasing the local protein food supply, according to Chairman Beall.

Information is available this year about the needs of children and what UNICEF is doing in Senegal, Thailand, and Bolivia, and about UNICEF's world-wide efforts to make safe water accessible. In these countries and elsewhere UNICEF is working to improve the well-being of children, increasing emphasis is being placed on training of local persons to provide basic services on an integrated basis for their own children, including how to grow more and better foods, how to dig a well or a latrine, how to diagnose some of the more common health problems and refer to a professional medical worker, and how to care for young children, Beall said. Studies have shown that 90 per cent of young child deaths in the world's poor countries can be averted by such simple preventive measures.

Seven Lose Lives Last Week On State Highways

Maryland State Police Seven persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the weekly news release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of the persons who were killed four were drivers, one was a passenger and two were pedestrians.

Reflecting upon this weekly release, a large percentage of the fatal accidents and personal injuries are one-vehicle incidents. Vehicles running off the roadway accounted for almost all of these crashes, and the only accidents more numerous were those where the vehicle struck another moving vehicle.

If we add the crashes where vehicles struck a parked car, a fixed object such as a culvert, bridge or overpass, or some other object off the road, the single moving vehicle was probably involved in one-fourth of the reported crashes.

Road conditions contributed to some of the accidents. There was an average of two contributing circumstances for every accident. Road conditions alone, however, would not have caused most of the incidents. For instance, driving too fast for conditions, inattentive driving and drinking contributed to more deaths than just road conditions. It goes without saying, reduced speeds would have prevented many of these accidents. The operator may have been able to regain control of his vehicle before the crash occurred.

Persons killed through October 9 total 496, compared to 506 for the same period last year.

Appalachian Trail Support Listed

Congressman Goodloe Byron has voiced his pleasure at the strong show of support witnesses have offered during House hearings on his legislation, H.R. 8803, to preserve and protect the Appalachian Trail.

More than 12 witnesses supported Byron's legislation during the hearing held by the Subcommittee on National Parks and Insular Affairs of the full House Committee of the Interior.

Byron explained that "The Appalachian Trail is the best-known long distance (2000 miles) hiking trail in the world, extending through 14 states, from Maine to Georgia."

The trail was proposed by the late Benton Mackaye in 1921 and was built entirely through volunteer efforts from 1922-37. The tradition of voluntary support of the Trail by dedicated citizens continues today, as the Trail is maintained by the 70,000 members of the Appalachian Trail Conference and its 63 affiliated clubs."

Byron also noted that the footpath is "within a half day's drive of 150 million people — 60 percent of the population of the United States."

Byron, when serving as State Senator in Annapolis in 1969, introduced legislation which became law and has resulted in Maryland leading the way in preservation of the Appalachian Trail by protecting most of her 40-mile section of the famous hiking path.

Congressman Byron presented the legislation since, "despite the National Trails System Act of 1968, 40 percent of the trail — 800 miles — has no public protection and 180 miles of it follow roads for a lack of right-of-way."

BELTONE HEARING AID SERVICE

442 B. W. Pike St. Clarksburg, WV. 26301

A church steeple, spearing the sky! What does it do for you? All across the country, slender church spires punctuate the landscape. To many of us, they are a part of the scenery, like autumn foliage, rolling hills and city streets.

To some of us, they bring back memories of childhood. Sunday. Going to church. Something many of us have gotten away from. Yet with or without us the Church is still standing, the steeple is still there. But without any of us those spires would most certainly disappear. There would be a void. Do you really want this to happen? Something to think about, isn't it? It is certainly something to explore.

Settlement Fee By Auto Dealers Illegal

Attorney General Francis B. Burch, in an opinion requested by Commissioner of Consumer Credit, Alan T. Fell, has advised that State law prohibits auto dealers from charging a "settlement fee" in connection with the purchase of a car. In addition, Mr. Burch said that a finance charge may not be assessed on such fees included in the amount financed in a car purchase.

Mr. Burch said that the opinion request arose from a complaint received by Commissioner Fell "concerning a practice in the sale of automobiles whereby a dealer charges a buyer a 'settlement fee' when the purchase is consummated, and this charge is included as a part of the unpaid balance upon which a finance charge is assessed."

Attorney General Burch said that Maryland's Retail Installment Sales Act prohibits additional charges in connection with the retail installment sales of a motor vehicle. "The Act is remedial in character and was intended to curb serious or potential evils. It was passed to protect installment plan buyers and was intended not only to prevent actual fraud, but to close avenues to fraud," he said thus, "we believe that the 'settlement fee' in question is prohibited by State law."

Mr. Burch also stated that nothing in the Retail Installment Sales Act would constitute a waiver by the buyer of the benefits of the law's prohibitions against the assessment of such fees.

Would you believe the big thing at the Maryland Theatre in the spring of 1930, was none other than Amos'n Andy? Advertised in this newspaper were the much admired comedians who were to be heard on a radio program prior to the showing of the main attraction.

People on the mountaintop were either going to the movies or dancing. Some of the groups singing or playing at that time were, Jackson's Black Diamond Orchestra, the Midnight Bellhops, the Marylanders and the Harmony Boys. Regular dances were held at McCullough's Hall in Friendsville.

bert's Unfinished Symphony. Interesting was the ad which listed 25 cents and 50 cents admission, respectively. Does that imply the symphony was more than the movie?

For some reason or other, in the Oakland personals was this little ditty in May, 1930: "Science has failed to bring sleep to a former European army officer. Perhaps someone could send him a copy of the Congressional Record."

Did you know that a national election was held in America to determine a National Flower? Voters from across the land turned out to cast their ballots on the delicate matter and after the polls closed, the Wild Rose was chosen. Others making it in the top five were the Columbine, Goldenrod, Phlox and Mountain Laurel.

Appearing on the front page was an article about the Fair-sweep School, which was located about two and a half miles south of Oakland. For a period of five school months, the entire student body of 13 recorded a perfect attendance. Coming in second place was Accident and in third place was Grantsville.

The pupils at Fair-sweep were so excited at their own first place ranking, they all marched into Oakland with their teacher to have their picture taken. The photo made the news the following week. Good show!

Whatever happened to Mage? Or, better yet, does anyone know what Mage is or was? A small column of news appeared about the item which declared it to be a composite of paper, rags, rubbish and sawdust, and was said to produce as much heat as coal at only a fraction of the cost. Funny how good things disappear...

In '30, if you had to be in at midnight, quite often you'd have missed the after-midnight movie at the Maryland Theatre. A Paramount talking picture starring the Marx Brothers was on called, "The Cocoanuts." Could that have been considered flashy at the time?

Making considerable news at the time were the many moonshine raids throughout the county. Near Thayerville, as many as 7,650 gallons of mash were overturned along with four stills that were destroyed.

Prohibition agents from Cumberland seized nearly a thousand gallons of whiskey in that area, Bloomington and Westernport before leaving the scene.

Some of the local organizations active at that time were, The Owls, The Wildlife League, The T.L.C. Club, Solstice Club, the Anti-Saloon League and the B&O Potato Club. Can anyone dig up a reasonable answer as to what the potato club was all about?

Grover C. Stemple was mayor of Oakland and was heavily involved in making the town more attractive. A contest was sponsored by the mayor and The Republican for those interested in improving their yards and gardens. After a few weeks had passed, it was said "over 200 had entered the contest and that Oakland was already more beautiful for it."

The 1930 Census showed Kitzmiller and Loch Lynn Heights drastically decreasing in population as opposed to Mt. Lake Park, Oakland and Grantsville which rose sharply in numbers. Deer Park which showed a population of 247 in 1920 and gained one within ten years to make it 248 in '30.

In Scoop's column was this remark, "Our heart goes out to the fellow who pondered census taker Wellington Yutzy's question concerning his marital status and announced, 'precarious.'"

A boy from Kempton won the coveted marble contest in a county-wide meet and was rewarded a free trip to Ocean City, New Jersey. That had to be a big day in 1930 as money was extremely scarce during the Depression.

Alas, in the Mt. Lake news column was this item:

"Mr. Glenn X of Terra Alta, W. Va., fainted when he emerged from the Maryland Theatre Tuesday evening and saw his Nash automobile badly damaged. Mr. X had parked the Nash in front of the courthouse steps earlier in the evening. The car was said to be wrecked nicely."

"Fore" was a new sound in downtown Oakland as a miniature golf course was situated on the site now occupied by the First National Bank building. The 18 hole course was said to be heavily used prior to its being purchased by the bank. The course came complete with sand traps and was a guest treat at the old William-James Hotel site.

A national controversy loomed for decades about the true whereabouts of Francis Scott Key when he wrote the Star Spangled Banner. Historians put Key aboard a British vessel, but later historians discounted that theory and placed him aboard an American ship. It was said in the news release that the United States took a deep sigh... and that the Home of the Brave felt a bit better after the discovery.

"I'm a local, independent businessman and here's where I hang out my shingle"

"My name is Ray Bittinger. For the past 29 years I've lived and worked in Garrett County, Maryland. I'm an independent timber contractor serving the local wood products industries. Working in the timber is what I enjoy doing best," says Ray. "Being self-employed allows me the independence to accomplish all that I want to."

Ray, together with his father, Peter, joined in business in 1948 by harvesting timber on Meadow Mountain. Producing mostly mine posts for the deep coal mines of nearby Pennsylvania, Peter and Ray worked with their two horses, skidding down the steep mountain slopes.

In 1960, in cooperation with Westvaco foresters, Ray introduced the first set of winch-on pulpwood truck pallets. In years to follow, mechanization became necessary, and a crawler tractor replaced the horses and the knuckle boom type loader easily picked up the pulpwood.

Half of the pulpwood purchased at Westvaco's Luke mill originates in the surrounding nine-county area. Over 250 independent contractors purchase and harvest timber from hundreds of private woodland owners.

During 1976, Westvaco paid $11.2 million for pulpwood delivered. The pulpwood contractor is an essential part of the process and economy of producing 1000 tons of fine paper each day at Luke through his consistent deliveries. He is the link between the market and the timberland owner who finds it economically sound to practice forestry by harvesting trees, nature's renewable resource.

Preparing a child for entry into his or her educational experience is a gradual process. Various toys and childhood activities are labeled "educational," but what have children really learned by the time the school bus arrives, hauling them off to first grade? Shocking as it may seem, most parents do not understand that they have already predetermined the degree of success their children will meet at school, personal attitudes toward education notwithstanding. Parents have conditioned their children into blind acceptance of a limited pattern of roles, based on gender, and later reflected in scholastic aptitude tests — more on those later.

This conditioning is hardly a premeditated act by parents. Parents were also victims of the same and, not unlike genetic makeup, unwittingly provide what they consider "best" for their offspring. Ignorance, in this case, hardly resembles bliss; not being enlightened to the inherent dangers involved with role-typing is unfair and not at all in the best interest of the child. Our national standardized test scores have already supported this theory by presenting educators and parents with sad proof that such stereotyping exists.

What comes into play, long before a young person tackles an aptitude exam, is the reinforcement of specific behaviors of that child. From infancy, children are sexually segregated, and the biases take root. Boys are wrapped in blue blankets and girls, in pink. Male infants are handled physically different than their "less hardy" female counterparts. Boy babies are addressed as "handsome" or "strong," yet girl babies are seen as "cute" and "pretty."

As these same infants become older children, they seldom view the toy box in equal light. Billy is given a toy truck and told that when he grows up, he'll be a "big, strong man" and will rule the highways (provided we still have fuel) with his CB radio and 18-wheeler. Linda, on the other hand, is given a doll and the prophecy is to grow up into a "beautiful young lady, get married, and have real, live babies of your own."

Nowhere, with few exceptions, is it mentioned that maybe Billy would rather tend the dolls and later become a nurse, or that Linda might enjoy the excitement of toy trucks, later being an expert mechanic. Should these conditions exist, Linda's behavior would be dismissed as that of a tomboy's ("She'll grow out of it"), but Billy's would be far more seriously "damaging" ("Isn't it queer that Billy should like playing with dolls?") What hogwash!

Still need convincing? Read on: adolescent girls are encouraged to flirt, be dainty, coy, charmingly aloof; boys are supposed to be rough, tough, strong-silent types. Girls sew, cook, write poetry, and polish their fingernails. Boys fight, race bikes, seldom write anything unless required, and polish their cars. These behavioral patterns are serving as systematic conditioning for roles which adults readily accept as predetermined, no questions asked. God's-will-be-done.

Adults of all ages, then, are not at all immune from their upbringing. These patterns are at first subtle, yet they introduce the power strata within a given culture which is manifest in areas such as employment, politics, parenting, and life styles, to name a few.

Even the English language carries connotations based on sexual identity. Many phrases and words are thematic and archetypal in nature; their very usage brings to mind, either feminine or masculine, qualities, albeit elusive. "Rugged," "terse," and "history" are male-oriented terms, while "beautiful," "gracious," and "yield" are considered more female in tone and application.

What is more, the number of skilled and proficient male students in an English or Language Arts program usually follows the female lead. Women have been accused of being loquacious, yet an underlying truth exists in that claim: females are encouraged to be more verbal, more expressive with thought and language than are males, hence, the differential attitudes and achievement. Logical and abstract thinking — components of mathematical and scientific studies — are considered the realm of masculinity, thereby exempting the majority of female students.

This is neither opinionated prose nor fabrication. A quick take at some recent surveys discloses that, even in this age of relatively widespread enlightenment, myths die hard. Only one out of every four law school graduates is female, aside from the encouraging 1000% increase (1967-77) in female enrollment. 33% of American teenagers still believe that a woman's place is in the home and that employment is permissible only under certain circumstances! This survey, by the way, was sponsored by the Educational Commission of the States earlier this year.

The S.A.T. (Scholastic Aptitude Test) is administered annually to high school students. The alarm being sounded nationwide asks why the sudden drop in national score levels has occurred. An NEA task force has discovered that the drop in national averages may or may not indicate a lower competency level, but most likely the problem lies in the testing pool: there are more minority and female students being tested than ever before, thus lowering the average scores due to lack of educational opportunities and background. Again, that stigma of a biased education is tacked onto still another social aspect.

What was once delegated as strictly the battle cry of feminists has now been and should continue to be researched by educators. Although present evidence is sketchy, one message rings loud and clear — boys and girls are separate but unequal in the classroom. The result is an uneven and inequitable distribution within the labor force of our country. It is no wonder that so many children grow up firmly believing that girls are best suited for menial jobs and boys are molded best for executive or physically demanding positions when their textbooks and scholastic interaction dictates such. Rarely do students question the authority of a textbook, but even this is beginning to undergo some alteration.

Changes are indeed slow and painful. We are only starting to realize the ramifications of a prejudiced education. All too late the hostility surfaces when some well-meaning community action group raises an angry question regarding the enrollment of boys versus girls in vocational/technical programs. What is even more disheartening is when the equal distribution of enrollees becomes a legislative measure, no longer a matter of choice. Tokenism and reverse discrimination are two formidable by-products; the future holds in stock more unforeseen hazards.

If education truly begins at home, then teaching children to be receptive of many values and opportunities may prove a greater favor than limiting their horizons while they are still too young, too naive to see those qualities on their own. Parental pride and educational bias should no longer be the major contributing guidelines for personal development. Self-efficacy is and should always be in direct relationship with the self, not the selfish.

Area Gets Publicity

In "Travel" Magazine

Oakland and Cumberland and areas in neighboring West Virginia received national publicity in the October issue of "Travel," self-described as the magazine that roams the globe.

Published monthly in Floral Park, N.Y., "Travel" is circulated among all members of the National Travel Club.

The article points out that the North Branch of the Potomac and in some of the most appealing country in both Maryland and West Virginia — Maryland's Deep Creek Lake and Backbone Mountain, and West Virginia's promised land, the Canaan Valley.

All six photographs accompanying the article are scenes from neighboring West Virginia, including sheep grazing by a hay-filled barn near Riverton, skiing in the Canaan Valley, the Sloan House built in 1790, spelunkers entering the Sinks of Gandy, ski lodge restaurant in Canaan Valley, and winter scenes at one of the Potomac tributaries.

Festival celebrations which attract tourists are also given some emphasis in the magazine article.

Scouts Attend Weekend Camp

Cadettes, Senior and adult Girl Scouts attended an advanced outdoor training weekend recently at a nearby camping area.

During the weekend, those attending were made familiar with different types of tents and lashings, cooking in a pit, in a tin can, and in wine box ovens.

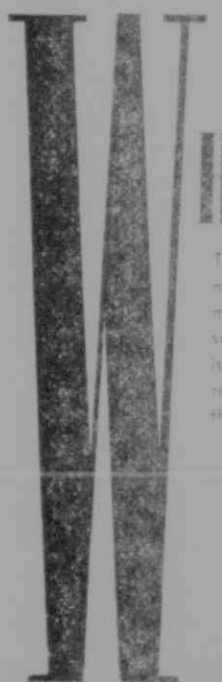

Backpacking was also demonstrated. A nondemon-stration church service was held on Sunday before the group returned to their homes.

Adults attending were Sally Schwing, field assistant for Shawnee Girl Scout Council in Garrett County, and trainer; Deanne Johnson, outdoor skills specialist; Linda Fleming, CIT and skills specialist; Pat Rolf, Judy Hauser, Velora Durs, Betty Wolford, Donna Steadman, and Cadette and scouters from Red House, Swanton, Oakland and Acc-dent.

Will Perform At UMBC Concert

Two local musical groups will be featured in a concert of traditional music of Maryland, to be held at 8 p.m. October 26, in the University of Maryland Baltimore County's Fine Arts Recital Hall.

Among the performers will be the Broadwaters — Grover, Robert, Herbert and Sheridan — a family of traditional musicians from Garrett and Allegany counties. The Ivan J. Miller Family, from Grantsville, which provides one of the mainstays of the Mennonite Community in Western Maryland, will perform traditional music of the Mennonite Church.

Others presented will be the Ola Belle Reed family, Rising Sun; and The Little Wonders of Havre de Grace, a gospel group which has performed at Kennedy Center.

The concert is sponsored by UMBC's American Studies department and will be coordinated by students in Dr. David Whisnant's "Music of Appalachia" class. According to Dr. Whisnant, a "performance consisting entirely of traditional Maryland musicians has never before been presented either at UMBC or, to our knowledge, at any other college or university in the state."

Admission is free.

$28,000 ALLOCATION — Don S. Bender, president of the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners, left, and State Senator Edward J. Mason, right, accept Garrett County's $28,000 housing rehabilitation allocation from Joseph G. Anastasi, secretary of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development. The presentations were made September 20 in Anne Arundel County. See separate story.

County Receives $28,000 For Housing Rehab

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development held its first allocation awards ceremonies for the Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program on September 20.

Garrett County received a $28,000 allocation. Donald S. Bender, county commissioner, and Edward J. Mason, state senator, represented Garrett County and received the check from Joseph G. Anastasi, secretary of the department.

The meeting was held in the Anne Arundel County Board of Education building. Sixteen counties and Baltimore City received allocations. The seven remaining counties will participate in the new state program through local municipalities. These presentations will take place at a later date.

Derived from a recent sale of State general obligation bonds, the funds will be used primarily to finance housing rehabilitation by limited-income homeowners. The loans from the allocation to each subdivision will be made at a below-market interest rate of 6 percent for terms up to 20 years. The money may be used for the rehabilitation of single-family dwellings and one-to-four unit buildings in target areas selected by each of the participating local governments.

Baltimore City and the counties that took part in the first presentations were allocated a total of $1,980,000. Other counties receiving checks were: Anne Arundel, Allegany, Baltimore, Calvert, Charles, Dorchester, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, Prince George's, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's and Washington.

Rev. Hinz Will Speak To Zion Lutherans Sunday

Rev. Richard T. Hinz, Executive Secretary of Missions, South-eastern District, Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, and well-known speaker of the Gospel, will be the guest speaker at the annual "Mission Festival" at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, October 16.

Rev. Hinz will speak at the 10:30 a.m. service.

A graduate of Concordia College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, he had been pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Seaford, Del., and Dean of Instruction, Baltimore Lutheran High School, Baltimore.

He and his wife Deanne have four children, Paul, John, Timothy, and Stephen, and reside in Rockville.

"Mission Sunday" climaxes the "Crusade for Christ Week" held at Zion during October 9-14. Mission funds collected on that day have been projected towards special projects at the Mission Hospital in Wandoo, India, where Dr. J. C. Vijayan is director of medical staff.

A covered dish luncheon by Zion's congregation will be held following the church services. Everyone is welcome.

Rooms Available In Homes Of Senior Citizens

About 20 homes of elderly persons in Garrett County are available to anyone who needs a place to live according to the director of the Senior Citizens Program for Garrett County Community Action.

W. Dale Ellis said that some of the elderly are offering free room and board and some, a small salary to help with light housekeeping duties.

"We have only matched up seven persons thus far with persons who need someone to live in," Ellis stated. "We have also used one person in three homes."

Ellis pointed out that the availability of someone to live in is almost nonexistent.

However, the director pointed out it would be a good arrangement for someone who wants privacy and to help other people.

"There has been a good relationship between the ones we have matched up thus far," Ellis explained.

ASCS Office Now Receiving Nominations

Farmers are reminded that the county ASCS office is now receiving nominations for ASC county and community committee election candidates. Paul A. Crowl, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation State Committee, encourages farmers to use this opportunity to nominate their farm neighbors as candidates in the ASC committee election.

Crowl said the ASC committee provides the service of administering government farm programs to the farm community. The election will be conducted by mail from Nov. 25 to Dec. 5. Eligible farm voters will be provided with instructions for filling out the secret ballot and returning it to the county ASCS office.

Most resident farmers are eligible to hold office as ASCS committeemen. If a farmer would like detailed information concerning eligibility requirements, he or she should contact the county ASCS office Mr. Crowl said.

In filling out a petition, farmers should be careful to include the name of only one nominee, the signatures of at least three eligible ASC voters who support the nominee, and certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, according to Mr. Crowl. Petitions must contain this information; without it, they will not be accepted. The completed petition should be dated and mailed or hand-delivered to the county ASCS office no later than Oct. 31.

ASC committee elections are open to all eligible ASC voters without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Crowl explains that any concerned farmer with an interest in serving fellow producers would be an asset to the ASC committee. For this reason, farmers are urged to petition for the farmers of their choice. The individual producer will benefit in the long run from a responsible, concerned team of ASC committeemen in the local administration of U. S. government farm programs, Crowl said.

Permanent Blinds For Hunting Said Illegal By DNR

It is unlawful to construct permanent blinds for hunting waterfowl on those lands owned or controlled by the Wildlife Administration according to the Department of Natural Resources.

A permanent blind means any structure constructed from manufactured materials or materials other than natural vegetation, and which is not taken with the hunter upon his departure from the site.

Phragmites (Phragmites communis) may not be used in any manner for the construction of blinds on wildlife management areas and its use elsewhere in the state is strongly discouraged.

Phragmites is the 7'-9" grass with a plume-like head that is found on spoil banks and dredge fill areas throughout Maryland. It is the obvious plant that is so abundant on either side of U. S. Route 50 at Kent Narrows.

Phragmites spreads vigorously through root systems and seeds. The plant is undesirable because it benefits few wildlife species and will crowd out those plants which offer better food and cover for wildlife. The versatile plant will grow in marshes ranging from very saline to fresh.

If convicted of constructing a permanent blind on state property the fine is $30 for the first offense. If convicted of using Phragmites on state wildlife management areas the violator is subject to a fine not exceeding $500.

Child Abuse Team To Attend PTA

The regular meeting of the Dennett Road PTA will be held on Thursday, October 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The Garrett County Child Abuse Team will present a program on child abuse. The film, "Cradle of Violence," will be shown, followed by a question and answer session.

The PTA membership drive will continue through the month of October. Cost is $1.00 per member.

A membership contest is being conducted between homerooms, according to Carolyn Kelley, publicity chairman.

Senior Citizen Program Active In September

Forty-four Senior Citizens were assisted during September with various matters by the director of the Senior Citizens Program of Garrett County Community Action.

W. Dale Ellis said the assistance ranged from filling out papers for various benefits, housing assistance, and to transportation.

The director said another 25 elderly were transported to Cass Scenic Railway September 10 and 63 participated in the third annual bowling tournament at Par-Matt Lanes.

Approximately another 30 either received the discount card or the State Park pass issued at our office, he pointed out.

"I am very pleased that our program is serving a wide range of needs of the elderly," Ellis said. "I feel we still have a long way to go in making the elderly aware of our programs and services."

Eighteen area Senior Citizens rode on the Cass Scenic Railway Saturday in a trip sponsored by the CAC.

The seniors were transported by mini buses to ride on the train and to see the Fall foliage on top of Bald Knob.

The trip to Cass was the third of the year for the program and 93 different people toured the facility, many for the first time.

A trip through Canaan Valley was called off on the way home because of the inclement weather all day.

A trip to the Cass Scenic Railway, the final one of the year will be made Saturday, October 29.

Mr. Ellis said the trip will be open to anyone, regardless of age, as a community service.

Reservations can be made by contacting Community Action by October 21.

Buses will leave the Community Action parking lot at 8 a.m.

Studded Tire Policy Announced By MVA

Snow tires equipped with studs meeting state design standards may be used from October 15 to April 15, the Motor Vehicle Administration announced this week.

The standards, according to Ejner J. Johnson, MVA Administrator, allow up to 150 studs per tire and may protrude no more than 1/16th of an inch from the surface of the tire.

He added that except for emergency vehicles and school buses, studded tires are prohibited on vehicles weighing more than 10,000 pounds registered gross weight.

During a snow emergency, snow tires or chains are required for vehicles traveling on state highways designated "snow emergency routes." Violators are subject to a fine of up to $500.00.

altitude of 40 kilometers (25 miles).

The Gypsy Wagon- A Fancy Eyeful For The Inquisitive

CREATIVE WOODEN TOYS, such as the rocker-horse pictured here, are plentiful in the gypsy wagon designed by Dave Wissel. The rocker toy is multi-colored and is a delight for children when visiting the wagon at craft fairs. Prior to designing and creating toys, Dave spent most of his time in designing and creating furniture. He saw a good market in the toy line and has been engaged in making unusual and unique toys and wooden items for the home since 1973.

In a busy, humdrum world that rarely takes time to view anything other than chrome and glass, it's refreshing to get a glimpse firsthand of a home-made gypsy wagon pictured at right fashioned by area visitor Dave Wissel.

Dave, currently residing in Ingram, Pennsylvania, has been a regular visitor to the mountaintop since early childhood days when he was accompanied by his parents.

He and a small crew of staff have traveled throughout Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia, in the gypsy wagon that easily converts into a sleeping van.

Sales counters fold up to reveal foam bunks lit by a candle chandelier, and is complete with radio, fan and storage space.

The fancy wagon was designed and made by Dave, his father Robert, brother Bill, and a longtime friend Nick Taylor of Ingram.

It is designed to resemble those wagons which were popular in England in the 18th and 19th centuries.

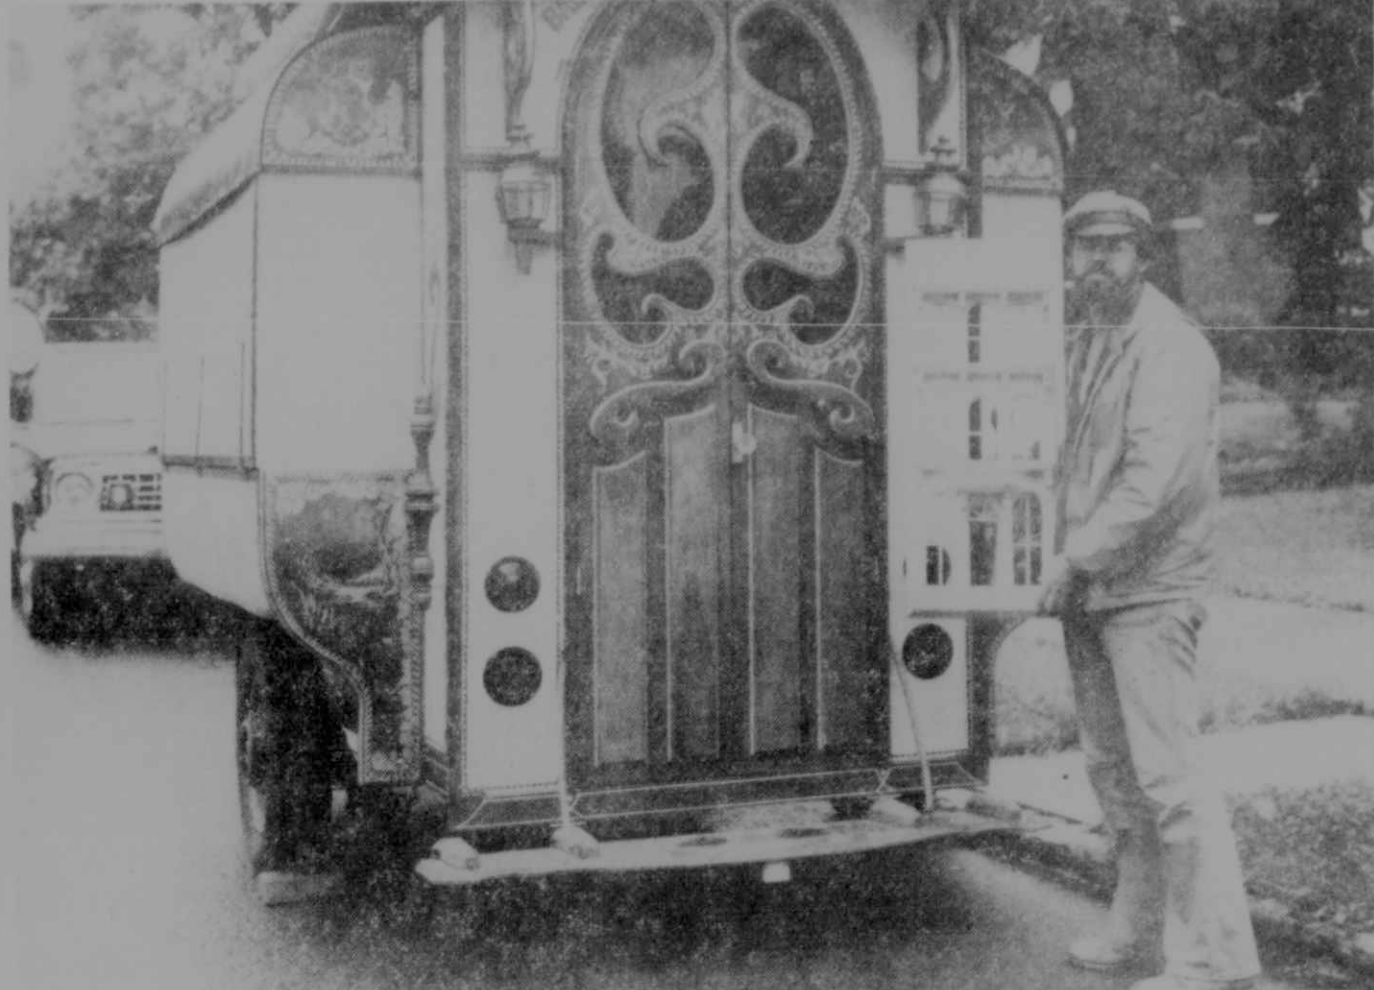

The wagon's reputation in Ingram has been a source of pride and delight after successful showings were made at Three Rivers Arts Festival, Civic Arena Antique and Arts Show, and Fair In The Park, all of Pittsburgh.

Last year, it was one of many features in the annual Autumn Glory Festivities held in Oakland.

Dave, owner of Wisselwood Ltd., in Ingram since 1973, decided recently to turn his creativity from handcrafted furniture to an unusual and unique line of wooden toys and a select number of creative wooden items for the home. He saw a good market for his products in the growing number of craft fairs springing up in the four-state area.

The colorful wagon will be on

THE WISSELWOOD GYPSY WAGON pictured here is the result of hard work and creativity by a clever group of individuals who reside in Ingram, Pennsylvania. Dave Wissel, pictured, father Robert, a brother, Bill, and friend Nick Taylor all contributed to designing and constructing the intricate and colorful wagon. Currently, Dave is busy producing interesting and unique wooden items such as this "three-story" wall decor. The gypsy wagon will be one of many featured attractions during Autumn Glory festivities.

AURORA-EGILON

A seven lb. 10 oz. baby girl was born September 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McDonald of Arlington, Va. She is their first child and has been named Stephanie LaShawn. The mother is the former Penny Crawford, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Crawford and the late Charles Crawford of Aurora. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McDonald, Sr., of Kingwood.

SSG and Mrs. Thomas Tinney and family have returned to Aurora after a year at Fort Bliss near El Paso, Texas. SSG Tinney has received special orders to the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. While he is assigned to the Pentagon, his wife and family will reside with her mother, Mrs. Bessie Deakins, in Aurora.

Mrs. Tinney returned from El Paso in August to enroll the children in school and to establish residence prior to his return.

Mrs. Bonnie Cox of Aurora went recently to Tucson, Ariz., where her father is critically ill.

Mrs. Opal Myers and Mrs. Mary Wotring of Aurora attended a workshop on making organza roses Monday in Kingwood.

Visiting last week with Mr. and Mrs. Galen Fike, Eglon, were their friends, Tom and Ruth Quinter, formerly of Crab Orchard and now living in Tucson, Ariz. Their son, Melvin Fike, a student at Bridgewater College, Va., spent the weekend with them. Saturday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Life and Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Morris of Harrisonburg.

The regular meeting of the Eglon Homemakers Club in Eglon Memorial Building was held October 4. The lesson was on breadmaking and was presented by Mrs. Lorraine Fike. She began with the Biblical origin of bread and Mildred Wilt read a poem, "The Changing Times, on bread baking." She then presented information as to the ingredients used in bread, how to be sure the bread is good plus reasons for failure.

Nina Layman presented devotions with a reading from John 14 and a poem "I Met A Man." She also showed the special feature, an afghan of broomstick lace and a hand-painted ceramic vase.

The business session was conducted by the ex-president, Linda Lewis. Due to the resignation of Carolyn Wilt, Ruth Teets was elected as secretary.

At the close of the business session, the meeting adjourned for participants to have a short work session in completing felt rose napkin rings for the Achievement Day luncheon. Refreshments were served to the thirteen members and two children present of potato rolls, whole wheat rolls and zucchini bread with their accompan-ments.

Mrs. Rose Ina Harsh and son, Mark, returned Tuesday afternoon from a two-week trip to Iceland where they visited with her son-in-law and daughter, AG2 Donald and Nova Frantz.

Mr. and Mrs. Brad Teets of Copley, Ohio, visited this weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets, Eglon and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brown, Jr., Horse Shoe Run.

The Eglon Homemakers hosted the Freston County Homemakers Achievement Day on October 6 in the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. About one hundred twenty-five women attended this annual event with representatives from most of the seventeen clubs throughout the county. Dr. B. B. Maurer of West Virginia University Extension Service was the guest speaker and his topic was "Energy, The Future and You."

Annual committee reports and history were presented. Awards were made to the Homemakers of the Year from each club, to the County Homemaker of the year, Violet Nuce of Pleasant Dale, to Blue Ribbon Clubs and to persons selling tickets for the car awarded at the Buckwheat Festival by the Kingwood VFD. A skit, "Thinking Metric," was presented by the Evansville Club as the concluding feature of the day.

Representing Eglon Homemakers in the County Council will be Linda Lewis who was installed as the new secretary. Luncheon was served by the ladies of the church.

An event of the weekend for Eglon was the auction sale of the contents of Fike's Store. A business in the Fike family since 1927, the store has been in existence in this community since 1880.

With the Galen Fikes this weekend for the sale were their sons, Michael Fike and Melvin Fike of Bridgewater, Va., and their son-in-law, Frank Riley of Luray, Va.

Visiting with Mrs. Elva Bland for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Vester Fike of Easton, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Olonzo Fike were also visitors in the community and guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wotring in Aurora. Miss Angela Myers of Huntington was home last weekend for the two-story home at Jackson's Mill the week previous.

George Winters of Eglon was admitted Monday evening to the Garrett Memorial Hospital after suffering a heart attack while at work. He is improving, but remains a patient in the hospital.

Also patients at Garrett Memorial are two women known locally. Lucy Fike of Oakland is a medical patient there as well as Mrs. Baily (Florence) Ridder, of Sunnyside. Mrs. Ridder is a sister of Mrs. Etta Shillingburg of Brookside.

Mrs. John (Shirley) Parsons of Aurora, was discharged Friday from Freston Memorial Hospital where she had undergone surgery last Monday.

John David Shepherd, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Shepherd of Advance, North Carolina, underwent surgery last Wednesday at Grace Baptist Hospital in Wake Forest. He is reported to be improving. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Teets of Eglon.

Mrs. Leland (Ardis) Teets of Eglon spent from Sunday to Wednesday in Gatlinburg, Tenn., where she attended a Stanley Training Program for dealers. While there, she was notified that she has been promoted to Unit Sales Leader.

Shawn Dale is the name given to their second child and son by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sisler of Amboy. The baby was born October 6 at Morgantown and weighed 7 lbs. and 14 ozs. The mother is the former June Jackson, the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Jackson of Rowlesburg. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sisler, of Aurora. Paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hauser, Stemple Ridge, and Mrs. James Sisler, Amboy.

Mrs. Earl (Ruth) Teets of Aurora has been named to the post of postmaster and officer-in-charge of the Hopemont Post Office. She is assuming the position due to the retirement of Kenneth Taylor.

The dinner which had been planned for October 23 to honor the shut-ins, widows and widowers by the Union District Senior Citizens has been postponed until the regular meeting date of November 5. The dinner will be at 6:00 p.m. and all of those who can be urged to attend. If in need of transportation, call Mary Wotring at 735-4405.

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club provided place mats for the Homemakers' Achievement Day, used stickers promoting 4-H and passed 4-H suckers to friends as their observance of National 4-H Week which was October 2-9.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY — Several tables were set up and colorfully decorated by various members of the Garrett County Homemakers' Clubs during the organizations' Achievement Day festivities held Tuesday at the 4-H camp situated at Bittinger. Pictured holding a koala bear made by a member is Virginia Warner, left, Home Demonstrator for Hardy and Grant Counties, West Virginia; and Alice Hevner, Extension Agent for the 4-H and Youth programs, Garrett County. Both women presented a program called, "Around the World," to more than 125 club members active in Garrett County Homemakers' Clubs.

North Garrett 4-H Sends Three To Camp

On October 7, the Junior North Garrett FFA sent three representatives to a leadership training camp at Lake Summit Camp Retreat in Emmitsburg. Representatives were Patty Durst, chapter reporter; Dwayne Wilhelm, chapter secretary; and John Martin, committee chairman.

Patty Durst accepted a plaque award for the superior chapter for 1977. Patty also got the "most enthusiastic" award while she was there. Each representative also received a certificate for attendance.

Wye Oak Seedlings Offered For Sale

Once again, Marylanders and others across the country will have a chance to purchase and plant a seedling from the Wye Oak, the National Champion White Oak.

Two thousand, five hundred (2500) Wye Oak seedlings are being offered for sale on a first come, first serve basis by the Maryland Forest Service, Department of Natural Resources.

Orders are being taken by mail for the one year old seedlings. The seedlings were grown at the Buckingham Tree Nursery, Harman, Maryland from acorns gathered from around the Wye Oak, Maryland's state tree.

Mail $3.00 (three dollars) for each seedling requested to the Maryland Forest Service, Buckingham Forest Tree Nursery, Harman, Maryland 21077. Please print name and address where trees are to be sent. Order now. These seedlings are in limited supply and great demand.

The seedlings will be mailed the first part of March, 1978. A certificate will accompany the seedling stating that it is a bona fide seedling from the Wye Oak in Wye Mills, Maryland.

The Wye Oak is about 440 years old, stands 96 feet tall and has a spread of about 165 feet. The trunk measures 50 feet around at its base.

Antlerless DeerPermits Misread

The DNR Wildlife Administration has learned that a number of antlerless deer permit applications are being misread by the U. S. Postal Service and returned to the sender. It is recommended that those submitting applications send the card in an envelope to avoid delay in getting the application to Annapolis. This should be done even though the application states that it should not be mailed in an envelope.

The deer firearms season, November 26, 1977 — December 3, 1977, is restricted to antlerless deer, unless the hunter possesses an antlerless deer permit for the county in which he is hunting, in which case he may take either sex deer. However, in Dorchester County, deer of either sex may be taken without the need for a special permit.

Applications for an antlerless deer permit must be in the Wildlife Administration's office no later than 4:30 p.m., November 1, 1977. Hunters selected will receive a permit for one county approximately one week prior to the firearms season.

The Wildlife Administration wishes to remind sportsmen that if your application was returned, this is not your antlerless permit. You should immediately resubmit it in an envelope to make the November 1 deadline.
